Daily Chronicle.

—One of the girl students burned out by the destruction of Swarthmore college informed her parents of her safety by a laconic despatch, saying: "I am alive; send me a trunk."

—The "utterly utter" kind of talk has infected the street gamins, one of whom, after picking up a more than usually fragrant cigar stump, exclaimed to his friend: "Jack, this is quite too positively bully."

—At a wedding recently, when the clergyman asked the lady, "Wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband?" she, with a modesty which lent her beauty an additional grace, replied: "If you please."

—To a late husband coming into the house softly at night, thinking there is another step at the top of the stairs when there is no such thing, and steps accordingly, it is one of the most aggravating things in the known household world.

—They couldn't get the boy to take an emetic anyhow. But the doctor knew boy-nature. He had the boy's father forbid him to smoke, and then went and got a bootblack to propose to the boy to get out behind the barn and try his first Havana.

—When we see a pile of peanut shells in front of a gate, mornings, we can imagine how tenderly he shucked that aromatic fruit and passed the kernel over the picket. And then in the vista of the future, see her chopping wood and tacking down carpets.

—This is the way a Texas paper talks about a resident minister of the gospel: "Rev. W. W. Kane, a talented pulpiteer of this city, has had a most flattering call to fill the vacant pastorate of the Baptist church of Tuscumbia, Ala. This clerical hunts around after the devil with a terrible bludgeon."

—Gabe Snodgrass recently applied to Rev. Aminidab Bledso, of the Blue Light Austin tabernacle, for some pecuniary assistance. "I jess can't do it," replied Parson Bledso; "I has to s'port my pore old mudder." "But yer pore ole mudder says you don't do nuffin for her." "Well, den, ef I don't do nuffin for my pore ole mudder, what's de use of an outsider like you tryin' ter make me shell out?"—Texas Siftings.

A sure means of becoming useful and popular, in this section at least, is to keep St. Jacobs Oil on hand. Then, when people are seized with rheumatism or neuralgia, they use your remedy, get well, praise you and buy some for future use.

—A young man in the city, who practised in the gymnasium one afternoon only, was able to jump his board bill the very next day.

Unhealthy or inactive kidneys cause gravel, Bright's disease, rheumatism, and a horde of other serious and fatal diseases, which can be prevented with Hop Bitters, if taken in time.

—The present style of ladies' evening dress is the low and behold style.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

News and Notes.

The general assembly of Rhode Island on the 5th inst. elected Nelson W. Aldrich to the United States senate, to succeed the late Senator Burnside.

The democratic state convention of Massachusetts was held on the 5th inst. Hon. Charles P. Thompson was nominated for governor. The attendance was small.

One of the oddest rumors is that Secretary Blaine will be invited to remain in the state departments. It takes a trifle of credulity to believe it, but still stranger things have happened.

Franklin J. Moses, formerly governor of South Carolina, was arrested in New York on the 3d inst., on a charge of swindling William L. Hall, a retired hotel keeper. Moses, under an assumed name, visited Hall last June and obtained $25 from him, under pretence of recovering for Hall $2,500, out of which he had been swindled by the noted confidence man, Phil White. Moses offered to return the $25, but Hall will not abandon the prosecution.

At Danville, Ohio, Oct. 3d, Mrs. Raphael Durban, her daughter, a young lady, and her sister, Martha Buck, were drowned while trying to ford a swollen stream.

At Pitkin, Col., several citizens have lately been robbed and badly beaten. The robberies were traced to Charles Briggs, proprietor of a dance hall, and his associates. On Monday, Oct. 3d, a citizens' mob, after warning the inmates, set fire to the hall. Briggs fired into the crowd without effect. An unknown man returned the fire, fatally wounding him.

The annual report of the light-house board recommends that $5000 be appropriated to introduce electric light in several of the more prominent light-houses. The estimates for the current year amount to about $5,000,000.

Second Assistant Postmaster General Elmer reports a net reduction in the cost of the star route and steamboat mail service, during Septembe, amounting to $63,478.

Capt. Hooper, of the Arctic steamer Corwin, in a private letter writes that all the crew of the whaler Daniel Webster, which was wrecked in the pack ice, have been picked up by different vessels along the coast, after journeying many miles across the ice. Nine of the Webster's crew are on the Corwin.

John C. Putnam died at Springfield, Mass., Sunday night, Oct. 2d, from hydrophobia, so clearly marked as to leave no question of its presence, although he had not been bitten by any dog within twenty years, according to his own statement. He was sixty-eight years old, and a man of some property, although classed in the directory as a laborer. He had been threatened with consumption, and a year ago the doctors feared he would die from it.

Mrs. Alma R. Smith was put upon trial at Burlington, Vt., Oct. 4th, charged with murder in the first degree. In October, 1879, the respondent and her father, Joseph B. Wood, shot and killed her husband, Luman A. Smith. They were tried in October, 1880, and convicted of murder in the second degree. The case was taken to the supreme court, and remanded for a new trial. In the meantime Wood died in jail.

In the monthly draft from the Lowell, Mass., city treasury for September is a bill of over $13,000 for free text books furnished the public schools.

A chimney 110 feet high at the Washburne Car Wheel works in Worcester, Mass., fell over Tuesday afternoon, the 4th inst., instantly killing John Flaherty, a man eighty years old, and demolishing the company's office.

The Sydney (Australia) Telegraph of Aug. 29th, gives an account of the ransom by an exploring expedition from Bouka island of an Italian named Luigi Boero, who has been held prisoner by the natives for fifteen months. He and five others were captured and held as slaves, and subjected to most terrible treatment. All succumbed to the ill usage, and died, except Boero and perhaps one other, who was heard of but could not be recovered.

Rev. J. H. Bournes, charged with a dozen acts of dishonesty, is on trial before the Chicago presbytery. A demurrer was entered to the effect that the charges were over a year old, and consequently could not be tried. A spirited and not altogether temperate debate ensued. It ended in the chair deciding that nine-tenths of the charges were stale and could not be tried. Two of the prosecutors indignantly withdrew, and the case was continued.

Capt. Howgate, the defaulting signal service officer, returned to Washington on the 4th inst., and claimed to be ready for trial.

The grand jury of the District of Columbia on the 4th inst. found a true bill against Charles J. Guiteau for murder. District Attorney Corkhill informed Mr. Scoville, Guiteau's counsel, that he should proceed against Guiteau as in ordinary murder cases; and Mr. Scoville intimated that he should rest the defence on the plea of insanity.

Reports from Springfield, Ill., say that Mrs. Lincoln is in a sad state of mind over the assassination and death of President Garfield. She fears constantly that her son Robert will be assassinated, and cannot be induced to abandon this belief.

The deaths among horses in Chicago from the new disease, "pink-eye," are increasing. In many cases the attack is followed by lockjaw.

An "international cricket match" was played at Philadelphia on the 4th inst., on the Nyetown grounds, between Shaw's picked team of English professionals and twelve amateur players of Philadelphia, the Englishmen making 277 runs in their first inning, winning in one inning and having 104 runs to spare.

Ralph B. Richards and Edward F. Gross were arraigned at Rockland, Me., Oct. 4th, for the murder of Willie Cain at Rockport, and pleaded not guilty. A jury was impanelled; County Attorney Robinson and Washington Gilbert of Bath appear for the state, and L. M. Staples for defence. Charles W. G. Smith was arraigned the same day for the murder of his infant son. He said when called to plead that he was guilty of shooting his wife, but knows nothing about the shooting of the child, and a plea of not guilty was entered. D. N. Martland, Esq., was assigned to his defence, and if he persists in the plea of not guilty and demands a trial, it will take place at the close of the Rockport murder case.

Mrs. Jacob Powers, Barnum's fat woman, died at Danville, Ind., Monday night, 3d inst., of dropsy of the heart. She weighed 600 pounds.

A mammoth tree cut down in Lewis county, Ky., recently, and believed to be 300 years old, produced 33,462 feet of lumber and twenty-five cords of firewood. It was sixteen feet in diameter and 120 feet high.

Louisiana will not have fifty per cent of the sugar product of last year. Then 140,000 hogsheads were gained; this year perhaps 50,000. The ordinary put-out is 100,000.

A fruit grower in Sacramento county, Cal., will this season pack from his vineyard 250,000 boxes of raisins, which will bring at least two dollars per box, besides some $20,000 worth of grapes. Another grower has sold $10,300 worth of fruit from twenty acres of orchard, the profits being over $7,000.

Seventeen persons were convicted of violating the liquor law at the late term of the superior court in Kennebec county, Me., and were heavily fined or imprisoned. Sixteen persons charged with liquor selling are now in Kennebec county jail.

The naval reconstruction board appointed by the secretary of the navy to consider plans for the reconstruction of the navy, met at noon on the 4th inst. in the library room of the navy department at Washington. There was a full attendance.

On Sunday night, the 2d inst., the fourth class of cadets, newly entered in the naval academy at Annapolis, Md., were hazed unmercifully. Members of the third class were suspected of it, and when the matter was investigated refused to divulge what they knew, so the whole class of fifty members was sent on board the Santee. They had to take bedding and other articles, and will have to stay on board the ship until further orders, not being allowed to speak to each other.

New Hampshire Items.

In Loudon, Oct. 4th, while Mr. Amos C. Bennett was sitting in a chair, his wife went to the woodshed, got an axe, and returning made a heavy blow at her husband's head, cutting through both plates of the skull. She would have killed him at once had the axe not glanced. She then took to the woods, and had not been found up to a late hour at night. Mrs. Bennett is fifty-five years old and is much respected. She has been insane at times for years.

The State Sunday School convention of the Universalists met in Nashua on the 4th inst., with the Pearl street church of that city.

The necessary papers having been received from Washington, a new national bank, with $75,000 capital, will be organized at Plymouth. The stock is now nearly all taken.

After just a year's existence, the Lake-Side News of Lake Village has consolidated with the Belknap Tocsin of Laconia.

Col. Levi B. Tucker, a prominent citizen of Plaistow, was instantly killed on Tuesday, the 4th inst., at the crossing near the station of the Boston & Maine railroad at that place, by being run over by a passing express train. Mr. Tucker was for many years a brick manufacturer and lumber dealer. He was prominently identified with New Hampshire politics, having held several town offices, represented his town for several years in the legislature, and for some years been a deputy sheriff of Rockingham county. For twenty years the station now known as Plaistow was called "Tucker's Depot," from the interest Mr. Tucker manifested in the railroad. Mr. Tucker's age was about seventy years.

An adjourned meeting of the full board of trustees of Dartmouth college was held at Hanover, Oct. 3d, afternoon and evening. Besides the transaction of considerable routine business an elective course of studies for junior and senior classes, to go into effect next year, substantially the same as unanimously agreed upon by the faculty, was established. A letter of declination from Rev. Francis Brown of Union Theological seminary, New York city, recently appointed to the Greek professorship of Dartmouth college, was presented. Prof. Brown will retain his present position.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cts. a box everywhere. m,th & f cl1488

CHANDLER VS. CONSOLIDATION.

We shall give our readers to-morrow morning the very sprightly and facetious letter of W. E. Chandler of Concord upon the new move in railroad "contracts" upon the Merrimack. Mr. Chandler is one of the few lawyers in Concord who has not a railway pass because he declines it, and who is not retained because he is a member of the legislature and it would be improper. In the language of the late lamented Col. Thomas Scott, Mr. Chandler "knows the efficacy of a pass among law makers," and he is just the man to wake up the "sleeping beauties" of the river towns. The gentle dig which Mr. Chandler lets off at his Manchester neighbors concerning State House matters, is a remainder of the times when W. E., as speaker, cut a wider swath in the General Court than he shew last summer. But times and things change.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 5; Batchelder, J.

Two continued cases, both against the same defendant, were called up, and again continued until Tuesday, Oct. 11th.

HUMANITY.

Mr. Editor: I was an amused and interested reader of the complaint which "Humanity" made to the CHRONICLE in a reported case of cruelty to a load of sheep on their way to some slaughter house in this city, and his appeal to the S. P. C. A. to increased acitivity and vigilance in the prosecution of their humane work. The spirited reply signed "S. P. C. A." in your issue of the 3d inst. was full of suggestions to the public that it has some responsibilities in the matter, and some duties to perform before the Society can justly be criticized or charged with a lack of vigor in the prosecution of offenders against the humane laws of the state.

It is undoubtedly true that any private citizen can cause the arrest and punishment of offenders against the cruelty law; but it seems to me that the officers of the society have been invested with the power to make arrests and bring to trial all offenders against the provisions of the law for the protection of dumb animals. A law passed by the legislature at the June session provides that sheriffs may designate officers of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and thus invest them with the power and authority to arrest, in cruelty cases, which sheriffs, police officers and constables have, within their several jurisdictions.

Now it is not probable that "Humanity" has had any such legal authority conferred upon him, which would ensure his personal safety from the violence of the cruel driver who abused the sheep in case he should divert the rage of that irate personage from the prostrate body of his woolly victim, to his own head, by any active interference on his part—to say nothing of his liability to arrest and prosecution himself, for assault and battery, if his hands should fall and "buffet" the head of the offender though caught in the very act of abuse.

Let the officers of the society who are able and legally qualified seize the uplifted arm of brutal men, and ward off the impending blow from the heads of unoffending dumb creatures. I have watched with interest and satisfaction the growth of the humane sentiment in our midst, which has culminated in the formation of the S. P. C. A., and the enactment by our legislature of humane laws which are more indicative of the civilization and intelligence of the age than any other landmark which has marked its progress during any century of its history.

Like "Humanity," I too must say, "Arouse, Messrs. S. P. C. A., and push your reform more vigorously. The fight is yours, and the eyes of a watching community are upon you." SPECTATOR.

AROUND HOME.

To-morrow evening, at Music hall, Corinne as "The Mascot," in Audran's comic opera of that name. Saturday evening, as "Olivette." Supported by a large company, and with all needed accessories. Tickets at Prestons. See advertisement.

There was a faint attempt at a snow squall on Wednesday afternoon of this week.

Several gentlemen of this city, interested in mining stocks, are in Corrinna, Maine, to-day, looking over a mineral bonanza in that town.

A number of pear trees in various gardens in the city were blown down by the high wind on the night of the 4th inst. A large shade tree near the Academy, on the opposite side of the street, was also so much damaged as to be dangerous, and had to be felled.

Some of the persons who left on the excursion train for the White mountains on Tuesday, the 3d inst., intending to stay a week or ten days, found that they were not prepared with sufficient clothing for the extremely cold weather they met with, and returned on Wednesday, passing through a severe snow squall on their way through the Notch.

Mrs. M. W. Edney, who for many years has been the familiarly known landlady of the boarding house near Market square, has retired from that service after faithful duty, and will make her future home with her daughter in Newmarket.—Journal.

Among the veterans who were present at the reunion of the 12th New Hampshire was Dr. J. F. Hall of Portsmouth, a man whose head is level upon the progressive and reformatory questions of the day. The doctor has many friends in this region, one of the results of long years of faithful service in his profession. If people would more closely follow his precepts and example in their life habits, they would have less use for his professional services.—Granite State News.

Officer Abbott has made a bet with the chief marshal that he can walk fourteen miles in three hours. The stakes are $10 a side.—Times.

Several gravel-train loads of material for the Short street extension arrived on Wednesday of this week, over the Eastern railroad.

There are very few prominent men in politics whose names are not mentioned in connection with a cabinet position about this time. The other evening in a Congress street grocery, some one suggested that Ex-Gov. Walter Harriman might be appointed secretary of war, but another man persisted in suggesting that there is no sort of likelihood of the appointment.

Commencing Oct. 10th, the steamer Acushnet changes her sailing days and hours, and until further notice will leave Boston each Wednesday at nine A. M., and Portsmouth each Friday at eight o'clock A. M.

Mr. N. G. Wadleigh of Great Falls, who during "the season" recently ended conducted the Gorgeana house at York beach, has been engaged to take charge of a stationary engine on the Concord railroad wharf in this city, commencing on Monday next. Mr. Wadleigh will make his residence in Portsmouth.

The Eastern railroad's pits on Noble's island for wood-preserving are finished. Mr. True, who had charge of the work, proceeds to Newington to build culverts there; after which he will go to Warren's branch for the same purpose. The well formerly belonging to the ship-yard at Noble's island is being excavated, to secure a larger supply of water if possible. It now belongs to the railroad.

A new sidewalk is being laid in front of Mr. Wm. D. Fernald's property on Market street. It has been needed for years.

The Boston Evening Star of Tuesday, Oct. 4th, said: "Some people think a hot planet must have strayed from the milky way, and come visiting. It is respectfully invited to move on." If they had the same weather in Boston which we had in Portsmouth six hours after the paper was issued, the Star man must have concluded, as he buttoned up his overcoat and determined to take hot peppermint before going to bed, that the "hot planet" had "moved on" with uncommon celerity.

Mr. Emery Dresser, formerly of this city and at one time city marshal, but for fifteen years past a member of the police force of Boston, has been spending a few days in Portsmouth.

The Methodist church in Hampton situated on the road from Hampton to Portsmouth just east of the village, has been removed westerly towards the village. The society has purchased of Simon Towle a larger lot of land than that upon which the church formerly stood, so that now sheds can be erected for the accommodation of attendants coming by teams.

A correspondent suggests the propriety of the city having medals struck for presentation to the persons and officials most actively responsible for the "Short street extension;" we think the suggestion not a good one, for the street will cost the city enough as things are now, before it is finished. He further suggests that the horse trough which for a few days occupied a position in front of the post-office be placed in the middle of the Elm street end of the "extension" to help fill up the opening, which is 134 feet wide; and that it be kept filled with carbolic acid, to help neutralize the odors from the millpond. The latter suggestion may be of value. Another correspondent, alluding to the saving from drowning of a drunken man at Noble's island bridge on a recent dark night, says: "Frank Wendell [who aided effectively in the rescue alluded to] has within the last twelve years saved the lives of four persons who were on the point of being drowned, and he ought to be rewarded for it; he would be if he were in some places, for he has taken some hard chances."

Considerable excitement exists at the north end regarding the small-pox case recently discovered on board a schooner at one of the wharves there. Residents in that vicinity say the man had been sick for thirteen days before the disease was diagnosed, and that from the time of the vessel's arrival there was free communication between her and the shore; also that the small-pox signal was hauled down before there was any possibility of knowing whether other members of the schooner's crew were not infected with the disease, and that her men have since mixed freely with people on shore. A case of sickness on board another vessel in that vicinity was adding to the uneasiness on Wednesday.

A reunion of the Hubbard family took place in Berwick last month, at the old mansion which has been in possession of the Hubbards since long before the revolutionary war. It is now owned and occupied by Mr. Samuel Hubbard, of the third generation. There were about fifty persons present, from the little one of three years up to "Uncle James," who is nearly eighty. They came from four different states, one coming from Wisconsin after an absence of fourteen years.

A party of gunners from this city are camping out for a week near the "Nubble," at York, and wasting lots of ammunition.

George B. Fellows, Esq., of New York, an officer of the American, European & Canadian Press Association, was in this city on Wednesday.

Ice five-eighths of an inch in thickness formed on buckets and other vessels exposed out of doors during the night of the 4th inst., in some places in this city.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 450 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. ta p15,82

DAVID KIMBALL & CO.,

No. 36 Market street

Portsmouth, N. H.

The "Granite Monthly" for October has a sketch of A. P. Gwendam, a wealthy stocking-maker of Manchester, which is devoid of public interest; an address of Daniel Webster, delivered in 1806 to the federalists of Concord; the "Towne Memorial," by Frank W. Hackett, being an account of the memorial fund given by the late Wm. R. Towne; "The Sullivan Home at Durham," by Mr. Colby; "The First Baptist church at Concord," by H. M. Cooke; with some lines which perhaps the writers call "poetry," which were probably written by New Hampshire people, but which have no special interest to readers of a magazine like this, though the authors perhaps will be pleased to see these productions in print.

A Fatal Recommendation.

The Deadwood maiden is sometimes vivacious, never sentimental, and always frank. The shades of night were falling fast as she moved a little closer to him, and playfully toying with the lobe of his left ear, said: "I've a favor to ask of you, Ferdinand." "Anything that I can do for you, Clara darling, you know I'll be only too happy to undertake." She changed to the lobe of the right ear, and went on: "Well, then, I want you to leave off whisky straight for awhile, and try rock and rye." His looks expressed his astonishment as he uttered only the single monosyllable, "Why?" "Because," she answered, continuing her caresses, "Charley Benton drinks nothing but rock and rye, and his moustache tastes so much sweeter than your does." Three months later Ferdinand entered the holy state of matrimony, but Clara still pines upon the stem.—Brooklyn Eagle.

—American students in Germany have fallen into the habit, when challenged, of naming pistols or bowie knives as their weapons and demanding that the armor in which the German students, are in the habit of incasing the most of their persons shall be discarded. The result is that nobody wants to fight with them.

—A Texas man went and substituted an empty for a full beehive, and then bet he could put his hand in there without being stung. Folks thought it was the full beehive and bet him, and he boldly walked up and thrust his hand into it, and as it chanced that several of the bees, which had been absent when he changed the hives, had returned and got into the new hive, he not only lost his money, but was intensely disgusted.

—A clergyman, formerly pastor of a church in Newburyport, is father of a four-years-old boy and of twin girl babes. The other day the boy came from his chamber down the stairs, and his mother asked him what he had been doing. "Praying," was the reply. "And what have you been praying for?" inquired the mother. "For boy twins," said the young saint. "Now pray that they shall not come yet," ordered the mother, "for your little sisters are teething, and we cannot attend to another pair of twins at present."

Tickling induces laughter, except tickling in the throat, which causes coughing,—at once removed by Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. 25 cents a bottle.

—A new play is being written, in which the hero is found lost and flying in a desert, chained to the tare back of a bicycle. His deliverer proves to be a princess, who marries him and makes him captain of a base ball nine.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Feb. 2d, 1880.

I know Hop Bitters will bear recommendation honestly. All who use them confer upon them the highest encomiums, and give them credit for making cures—all the proprietors claim for them. I have kept them since they were first offered to the public. They took high rank from the first, and maintained it, and are more called for than all others combined. So long as they keep up their high reputation for purity and usefulness, I shall continue to recommend them—something I have never before done with any other patent medicine. J. J. BABCOCK, M. D.

—When a boy reaches the age of ten years he condescendingly begings to talk about "the children."

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

—The principal difference between Flipper and Howaie seems to be that Flipper stole $1,000 and is in jail, while Howgate stole $100,000 and is in Canada.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

—"Show me the way to an ice cream foundry," was the mild request of a long-legged stranger to a policeman on the streets last evening.

Ash-Tonic.

A perfected purifier of the system In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, Ash-tonic is acknowledgedly the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

—A Cincinnati paper says that the politest young man going is a resident of that city. He took off his hat to talk to a young lady through the telephone.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching occasioning the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Defiance of Law by Railroads.

NEW HAMPSHIRE INTERESTS SOLD TO MASSACHUSETTS CORPORATIONS.

Subserviency, Degradation, and Cowardice of Legislature and People.

The more the transaction is examined by which the Concord Railroad, a prosperous corporation, has been turned over to a foreign corporation, the Boston & Lowell Railroad, which, notwithstanding the management of Judge Josiah G. Abbott, and Col. John H. George, has almost tottered into bankruptcy like the Eastern Railroad, the more flagrant is the outrage and the defiance of the laws of our state. If submitted to, our subserviency, degradation, and cowardice are complete. Those citizens who agree to it deserve to have rings put in their noses, and to be led and exhibited about our highways by Col. George with the inscription, "Hired by free passes, mileage tickets, and money to surrender to railroads the supremacy of the laws and the rights of the people."

There has been a suggestion that Judge Abbott has given an opinion that the contract is not forbidden by our laws. If so, where is it? Why is it kept secret like the contract? Suppose he has given it, and suppose the 500, more or less, lawyers of New Hampshire, who have yielded their professional and personal honor to railroad seductions, join in the chorus! They are all paid to give such an opinion! Where is there one unbought lawyer, with a thimbleful of brains, who will say that a contract by which the Boston & Lowell and the Concord railroads are in all respects to be "worked and managed as one road" is not a contract "between two or more railroad corporations for the use of their roads," which section 10 of chapter 164 of the General Laws says shall not be "legal or binding" "unless sanctioned in writing by the railroad commissioners and approved by the governor and council?" Let us see such a lawyer step to the front and maintain that proposition.

The people of New Hampshire need not be deceived, if they choose to lie supinely, and be bound and degraded and then despised by Messrs. Abbott, George, and Sherburne, let them not pretend they did not know they were submitting to shame. The Concord and Manchester & Lawrence roads, and the Boston & Lowell road, with their hundreds of miles of leased lines, are as much united to-day as if they had become one corporation with a capital of ten millions arbitrarily assigned, six millions to the B. & L. proprietors and four millions to the Concord & Lawrence proprietors. The Northern and the B. C. & Montreal roads are practically already a part of the union, for they own the controlling stock interest in the Concord Railroad. They can complete the union in form, by only changing the contract of August 19th in one paragraph by adding, "The Northern Railroad and the B. C. & Montreal Railroad are hereby made parties to this contract on similar terms, and the net income shall hereafter be divided, 35 per cent. to the B. & L., 25 per cent. to the Concord, 20 per cent. to the Northern, and 20 per cent. to the B. C. & Montreal."

Talk about consolidation in the future! It is already accomplished, and this whole network of railroads is already bound up in one great consolidation, and is to be manipulated and controlled outside our state at Boston by the three able, aggressive, arbitrary, and law-defying gentlemen whose names are above called. Do you like your masters, citizens of New Hampshire?

Every step of this consolidation has not only been without authority of law, but in defiance of express statutes all along the line of its progress.

(1) The Manchester & Lawrence Railroad has been run by the Concord Railroad in contempt of express law and order of the supreme court.

(2) The Northern Railroad and the B. C. & Montreal Railroad, with attendant circumstances of scandal and disgrace, have bought up and hold for years the controlling stock power in the Concord road, contrary to explicit law, and they have forfeited their charters thereby, as

Attorney-General Tappan well knows.

(3) The Nashua & Lowell Railroad was last year leased for 99 years to the Boston & Lowell without consent of the New Hampshire authorities, and in avowed disregard of statutory prohibitions.

(4) August 19, 1881—the day the legislature adjourned—the Concord and Lawrence companies, and all their railroads, branches, and leased lines, all located and mainly owned within the state, were united with and passed over to the control of the Boston & Lowell Railroad, which has not a foot of road outside of Massachusetts, all is bold, naked, desperate disobedience and defiance of a plain, unmistakable law of New Hampshire, made to prevent just such a wrong.

Can such things be and come among us like a summer cloud without our special wonder? Probably the most high-handed railroad outrage ever before committed in New Hampshire was the leasing of the Concord Railroad to the Northern in order to ravish the former away from a new board of directors. But the concoctors of that iniquity respected the forms of law. The railroad commissioners' consent was obtained—to be sure, secretly, in a disgraceful manner, in an obscure hotel in Boston, where they were summoned to degrade themselves; and the governor and council approved the contract—it is true, without delay, notice, or hearing, and the governor himself was president of one of the railroads. But these modern conspirators to disobey law do not even respect its forms; they deliberately, willfully, flagrantly throw to the winds all pretence of conformity, and openly defy the statute, saying to the people: "Help yourselves if you can. We have employed the lawyers, smothered the editors, stifled the legislators; we dare the governor, the attorney-general, and the courts to touch us!" Mark the degeneracy of the times. Hitherto railroad consolidationists have proceeded cautiously, because they feared the people. Now they proceed recklessly and defiantly, because they despise them. Why should they not despise them when they find themselves able to corrupt, seduce, or silence, as they have, every prominent or representative man in the state, of both political parties?

WHAT WILL CONCORD DO?

What has happened to paralyze the forces that should oppose and crush this law-defying consolidation movement? Once our city held the president of the Concord road, and was its principal place of business and power. Under consolidation it will be a mere way-station on the Boston, Lowell & Northern consolidated line; and our citizens will not even find Superintendent Chamberlin at his office giving away free passes and mileage tickets, but only Mr. James M. Jones, directing the shifting of baggage and trying to keep clean the dirtiest, smallest, and most inconvenient depot in the world for the amount of business transacted. Concord's vital interests are assailed by this conspiracy. The Concord Railroad shops, property, employes, money, patronage, and power will centre in Lowell or Boston, if consolidation proceeds. Concord has never been any too thoroughly united on any question affecting her own welfare. Will she now, while the Concord Railroad is being handed over to Boston control, say and do nothing, simply because half a hundred of her citizens get free passes and mileage tickets? Have not the business men, who pay the enormous fares and freights and express charges, some rights and power as well as the dead-heads? If Concord fails to protest and fight against this violation of law, which strikes at the foundation of her prosperity, she deserves to see the state-house put on cars and trundled to Manchester, while grass grows in the middle of Main street!

WHAT WILL MANCHESTER DO?

Manchester is cowardly, even more than Concord. Manchester built the Lawrence Railroad to have a second outlet to Boston. She wrenched from Concord the line to Portsmouth, a third connection with tide-water; and now allows all three to be united in one, and that one to be handed over to the Boston & Lowell road. A special statute and a decision of the supreme court forbid what has been done with the Lawrence road. But Manchester, and her corporations, and her business men, instead of vindicating and enforcing the law with all that energy and unanimity which that wealthy and splendid city manifested when she unkindly wished to seize the state-house from Concord, came pitifully whining to the late legislature, pretending that she wanted to build another line to Boston. Why do you talk about another line, if you have not the courage and the manliness and the persistency to protect what you now have, and what the law plainly secures to you? If you were to build another, and the Boston, Lowell & Concord company were to demand it, you would tremblingly hand it over, saying "Here it is, don't strike us!"

Where are the Mirror and Mr. John B. Clarke? How fearlessly they began their youthful career with denunciations of railroad monopoly! How their early fame and the foundations of their fortunes were secured by loud vociferation against corporations and in favor of popular rights! Have they surrendered to the fascinations of passes and mileage tickets? Have the people no rights worth defending now that the Mirror and its proprietor have become rich?

Where is the Union, with Senator Moore and Mr. Stilson Hutchins? Their great feat of modern journalism,—does it take no note of a plan which hands over the five railroads centring into Manchester to one Boston interest? The Union waxed valiant over the outrage upon the people of refusing the Lake Shore charter and the general railroad law. How loud the onset; how cowardly the retreat! The house unanimously passed a bill which was designed to prevent and would have prevented this transfer of the Concord and Lawrence railroad to Boston control. It was defeated in the senate, and Senator Moore led the fight against it, and grew loudly indignant because Senator Gilmore was understood to say that the Concord Railroad owned the legislature. But Senator Gilmore had only said, it seemed as if that were the fact. Is it a dangerous assertion to say it so seemed? The Concord railroad directors must have thought it so seemed when they paid their legislative bills; and people may possibly think so when they are published. But the Union gets none of the money,—only cheap railroad transportation for its immense editions. How does it think this consolidation will affect Manchester? Shall it be heard from?

Where are Messrs. Livermore, Briggs, Currier, Weston, Clark (the U. S. judge,) Cross, Cheney, Blood, Dodge, Parker (the superseded Concord R. R. treasurer,) Smyth, Heath, and the hundreds of other leading citizens of Manchester, usually so quick to protect its interests? Do they propose to let any one corporation, or one man, or one set of men, control unrestrainedly every railroad line entering their city? It would seem so. The Manchester demonstration in June was mere bluster and vapor. Special contracts and free transportation tickets and retainers have also shorn the locks of the Manchester Samson. He is blind and helpless. Poor, degenerate Manchester!

WHERE ARE THE CONCORD RAILROAD STOCKHOLDERS?

The finest railroad property in New Hampshire,—almost the best in New England,—prosperous and free from debt, is being illegally, and without the consent of its stockholders, tied to and united with an overgrown Massachusetts railroad, heavily indebted, incumbered with unprofitable leases, and badly and recklessly managed. This union is made that the Massachusetts road may unduly use and burden the New Hampshire road, and thus rebuild its own fallen fortunes. Do the Concord Railroad stockholders submit to this? If not, where are they? Where are Messrs. John H. Pearson, Edmund Burke, and their associate stockholders? The facts are clear; the law is plain; the process is apparent; the courts are open, independent, and fearless. Is it possible that the grand consolidation propose to purchase their stock at a heavy bonus, and thus buy off their opposition? Will they sell? They will either fight or sell! The people can look on and see which. If they do see, the public danger will be even greater than before, and the public authorities should act with more vigor.

WHAT WILL THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY DO?

Least of all will the democratic party do anything. It was originally the great demagogical foe of monopoly. It most unwisely opposed railroad construction in New Hampshire, and a political revolution was required to overcome its opposition to wise and necessary charters. Now, it is the cheap slave of its rival party, and of any corporation which chooses to purchase it. Its representative men are Samuel J. Tilden, rich from railroad wrecking; William H. English, from usury and extortion; Frank Jones, from beer selling and Eastern Railroad speculation; John W. Sanborn, A. W. Sulloway, George A. Bingham, and John H. George, combination railroad stockholders, officials, and employes. Its smaller politicians in this state, during the late session of the legislature, hung around waiting for the railroad crumbs which fell from Republican tables, ready to be employed for merely a five hundred mile mileage ticket and their board bills. Of course modern New Hampshire Democrats, who manage their party with imbecility and sell their services around the legislature so cheaply that Messrs. Bingham and Sulloway return all their account of its grouped as "miscellaneous," will do nothing to break up a railroad consolidation scheme already accompli-hed, the very mention of which should almost make Franklin Pierce, and Charles G. Atherton, and John S. Wells, and Isaac Hill rise from their graves in indignation, to look with scorn upon their unpatriotic, cowardly, and contemptible successors! The new Boston, Lowell & Concord Railroad need not waste money nor passes upon them. It can get them all with a few loads of old sleepers. They have not virtue nor back-bone enough to stand upright!

WILL REPUBLICANS DO THEIR DUTY?

The nation has been controlled by the Republican party for twenty years,—this state for twenty-five years. It has professed to advocate and defend high principles, popular rights, and OBEDIENCE TO LAW. It has also protected corporate rights, aggregated capital, and property in all forms, against the assaults of the communist and the demagogue. Has it so degenerated that it dare not defend the manifest rights of the people against DISOBEDIENCE TO LAW BY RAILROAD CORPORATIONS?

Are the Republicans of New Hampshire afraid of this "Boston, Lowell & Concord Railroad," which has been newly and illegally contrived and established by Judge Abbott and Colonel George to seize and dominate, from Boston, all the railroads of New Hampshire, and do the Republican leaders propose to offer no objection to their lawless defiance of our railroad policy, defined and fixed by long-called legislation? If they show such faithlessness and cowardice, do they not peril their political ascendency?

In 1871 a so-called "labor reform" movement, based upon no real comprehensible idea and striking at no real grievance, defeated a Republican governor, controlled the house of representatives, and would have traded off to the rebel Democracy the entire legislature had it not been for the patriotism and firmness of Senator Alvah Smith of Lempster. Is there no danger of a similar result in 1882, from movements based upon the present subserviency of both political parties to railroad schemes? Contemptible, corrupt, and railroad-ridden as the Democratic minority is, yet it will, merely because it is the minority, reap the direct benefit of any movement to relieve the people from slavery to railroad influences. It is best to speak plainly. The Republican party has majorities of the governor and council, and of both branches of the legislature, and the attorney-general, and a majority of the judges of the supreme court, and all the senators and representatives in Congress. With the complete supremacy and full and ample governmental power in its hands, dare it consent to allow the following state of affairs in New Hampshire:

I.

The degrading subjection to railroad control and direction, by means of irregular retainers and illegal free passes and mileage tickets, of substantially all the republican lawyers, editors, and prominent politicians, and the public officials in the executive and legislative branches of the state government!

II.

The consolidation, "to be worked and managed as one road," of making 544 miles of railroad out of 1,005 within the state of New Hampshire; and all to be transferred and delivered to the Boston & Lowell railroad, a Massachusetts corporation, controlled and manipulated in Boston, wholly by foreign owners, and entirely outside the jurisdiction of the legislature and courts of New Hampshire, and not having the legal right to hold, manage, or have any interest whatever in one single mile of railroad in this state!

If the republican party, by its governor, councillors, legislators, congressmen, judges, and political leaders, deliberately permits all this, nay, does not quickly and boldly succeed in preventing it, it needs no prophet nor the son of a prophet to predict that—it will some day wish it had done otherwise.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

FRIDAY, OCT. 7, 1881.

George Gilman Fogg.

Hon. George G. Fogg died at his residence in Concord on the 5th inst., after a long illness, at the age of sixty-eight years. Mr. Fogg graduated from Dartmouth in 1839. He subsequently became editor and proprietor of the Independent Democrat, of Concord, in which capacity he continued for many years, being very prominent in and closely identified with the free-soil and abolition movements. He was minister to Switzerland from 1861 to 1865, and United States senator in 1866-7. Bates college conferred the degree of LL. D. upon him in 1874. He was unmarried. He was a man of marked ability, well known throughout the country, and enjoyed the intimate friendship of the distinguished men of his day.

The Dover Democrat says that "Col. M. F. Wentworth, Lieut. A. F. Howard and Aaron Young, and Col. A. H. Young and Hon. E. H. Rollins of Dover," dined at the Kimball house in that city on the 4th inst.

Henry F. Durant, the lay evangelist, well remembered here as having some years ago conducted a quite extensive revival in this city, the meetings being held in the North church, is dead. Mr. Durant's only son died in 1863, and the father, then a prominent and wealthy lawyer of Boston, never tried another case. He was the founder of Wellesley college for women.

Mr. Frank Hayden, the tenor, well known in this city through having appeared here in several opera companies, and also in one of the church choirs, is a member of the Corinne Merry Makers, and takes the part of Pippo in "The Mascot."

The advance agent of Hazel Kirke is soon to arrive in this city to make arrangements for the production of that play here by the Madison Square Theatre Co. of New York, with Miss Georgie Cayvan in the title role—a character she has impersonated at the Madison Square theatre over two hundred times.

In October, when the woods are glorious in their golden drapery, is the time to seek the autumn leaves and ferns. A severe cold is often the result of such pleasure trips. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup always cures coughs and colds. Price 25 cents.

The republican state convention of New York was held on the 5th inst., and Gen. Joseph Carr renominated for secretary of state.

Doctors!

Of all the different schools in the country, have thousands die every year of Bright's disease of the kidneys, who could be living to-day if they had used Sulphur Bitters. They are unequalled in the world for all diseases of the kidneys. —New Haven Union.

At Richmond, Va., on the 5th inst., Marvin, alias Gen. Morton, alias fifty other names, the man of seventeen wives, pleaded guilty of bigamy and forgery, and was sent to state prison for ten years.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

CONCORD & PORTSMOUTH RAILROAD.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Concord & Portsmouth railroad was held at the common council room in Manchester, on Thursday, the 6th inst., Stephen Kenrick, Esq., presiding.

The call for the meeting was read by the clerk, William H. Hackett, Esq.; the report of the treasurer, Hon. Moody Currier, was accepted, and the stockholders proceeded to choose directors. The whole number of shares voted upon was 1682. A committee consisting of J. Horace Jenness of New York, N. P. Hunt of Manchester and Thos. H. Odion of Portsmouth was appointed to receive, sort and count the votes for directors, and their report shew the unanimous election of the following gentlemen:

Stephen Kenrick, of Franklin; Samuel N. Bell, Benjamin F. Martin and Walter M. Parker, of Manchester; Joseph B. Walker, of Concord; John J. Pickering, of Portsmouth; John J. Bell, of Exeter.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the President be instructed to take such measures as may be necessary to protect the interests of this road under the alleged contract entered into by the Concord railroad with the Boston & Lowell railroad.

The meeting then dissolved.

At a meeting of the directors for organization, Hon. Stephen Kenrick was re-elected president, and William H. Hackett clerk.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, Oct. 6th, Mayor Sise in the chair:

A message was received from the Common Council, announcing that board in session.

The committee on accounts presented bills from the several departments amounting to $3231.46, among the bills being one of $200 for "the new Vaughan street." Ordered paid. Several other small bills were also ordered paid.

Requests for relaying of a sidewalk on Pleasant street, and permission to encumber Washington street, were granted.

Mrs. S. P. Rogers asked permission to remove a tree. Granted.

Ald. Vaughan reported that the Aqueduct Co. would put up a fonntain with a stop-cock on Market square for $300 or $400, to be furnished with a reasonable supply of water, free, and the company to retain full control of it.

Common Council gave notice of proposed adjournment in five minutes.

Ald. Vaughan brought up the question of the $5000 loan. In answer to a question if the $5000 past due had been paid, the mayor stated that provision had been made for the payment of the bond, but it had not yet been presented.

Adjourned for one week.

"THE "MASCOT."

This evening at Music hall the Corinne Merry Makers will present "The Mascot," its first presentation in this city. How the company has been received in other places the following extract from the Manchester Mirror of the 1st inst. indicates:

A better satisfied audience never left the Manchester Opera house than that which witnessed the performance of the reigning musical success, "The Mascot," by the Corinne Merrie Makers last evening. It was the first presentation of the opera in this city, but it received a remarkably fine rendition, the parts being richly and appropriately dressed, and the company strong individually and as a whole. The choruses were given with a vigor and exactness that awakened the grandest emotions. Little Corinne as "Bettina" was however the centre of attraction, receiving enthusiastic applause, and was made the recipient of distinguished favors throughout the evening. She has a style of using her well-developed contralto voice, that is decidedly womanly, and she enunciates with remarkable distinctness in singing. Her carriage is winsome and confident, and in the rendition of duets with "Pippo," she sang with marvelous power and aroused a perfect storm of applause. Mr. M. W. Fiske sustained the role of Lorenzo XVII. in a grand manner, creating uncontrollable laughter among the audience by his remakably lucid conception of the ludicrous phases in the character which he was so eminently fitted to represent, and the remaining members of the company were highly successful in the roles which they essayed.

To-morrow evening the Merry Makers will give "Olivette," in which they have won encomiums as positive as the one given above, wherever they have appeared.

RAILROAD SMASHUP.

About seven o'clock Tuesday evening, the 4th inst., there was a collision on the Eastern railroad, a gravel train and a passenger train coming together in the tunnel at Salem. The engine of the gravel train was going stern foremost, pulling the train after it, and the cow-catcher of the passenger engine rooted under the tender of the other locomotive, raising it to the roof of the tunnel and smashing it badly, and forcing it forward upon the cab of its engine. The passenger locomotive had its front smashed and the smokestack knocked off. None of the cars left the track, and only one person (Officer Seaver of Lynn, who was badly bruished about the back,) was injured, though the passengers were greatly frightened, as was unnatural. The Conway train to Boston, and the Bangor express from Boston, were delayed several hours by the accident. No blame is attached to the train men, the signal that the tunnel was clear having been given to both trains.

A SLIPPERY CUSTOMER.

On the 5th of March, 1877, John Bly was received at the jail in this city, charged with breaking and entering the store in Epping kept by J. S. James, (now a flour dealer in this city,) and remained in jail until April 16th, 1878, when he was sent to state prison for two years. He had previously served jail sentences for stealing, and had graduated at the reform school when still younger. After Bly was discharged from state prison, in the spring of 1880, he behaved well for some months, but his reformation did not last long, for in June of this year he was charged with stealing from a man named Melvin, at Fremont, a pocket-book with fifty dollars, for which he was arrested and lodged in the Epping lock-up over night, preparatory to a trial next morning. But when called for trial the bird—jail bird—had flown, and he remained at large until Tuesday night, the 4th inst., although not at ease, as the officers from whom he escaped were constantly stirring him up, though they could not get their hands on him.

One night during last week Sheriff Kent took a hand in the game, having with him Officer Jeffers of Haverhill. Learning that Bly was in a house at Plaistow, the sheriff at midnight, with warrant in hand, burst in the door and entered; but Bly was too smart for Kent, and went through the attic window to the yard below, a piece of "lofty and ground tumbling" the sheriff did not feel moved to imitate. From Plaistow, Jeffers and Kent followed the fugitive through Newton and other towns to Boston, where he attempted to enlist, Bly keeping all the time a little ahead of the officers; but at last he was run down at a house in Plaistow where he was being secreted, and at one o'clock Wednesday morning, the 5th inst., Kent clapped the handcuffs on him while he was asleep in bed. Bly and the keeper of the den where he was found both assured the officers that he was a man named Wilson, from Boston; but this did not prevent his being taken before a magistrate, held for trial, and lodged in jail to await the sitting of the court this month. Bly is a bad fellow, no doubt, but the sheriff does not think him guilty of all the crimes he is charged with, particularly the recent burglaries at Hampton and South Newmarket.

Since the foregoing was in type we learn that Bly has confessed that on Sunday morning, the 2d inst., he in company with a man named Miles stole from a pasture in Plaistow four cows, belonging to J. Wallace Palmer of Haverhill, Mass., and drove them to Newburyport, where they sold one to George H. Roaf for $23, and another to a Mr. Hall of West Newbury for $20. Bly then left Miles and the other two cows in the road. Miles afterward attempted to sell the cows, and was arrested. The sheriff on Thursday saw Messrs. Roaf and Hall, who corroborated Bly's story so far as they are concerned.

AROUND HOME.

The City Guards were out for a street drill on Thursday evening.

The Harding weir at the mouth of the harbor was taken up several weeks ago. The Mitchell weir still remains, and on Thursday a good take of herring was made—estimated at 200 barrels. C. Morris Tredick purchased the entire catch.

The body of Mr. John A. Yeaton was brought home from Boston on Thursday evening last, he having died in the hospital there, to which he went for treatment some days previous. Mr. Yeaton was a skillful rigger, and had been employed in that capacity on the navy yard for some years.

At Boston, on the 5th inst., the schooner Christie Campbell of this port arrived with 25,000 lbs. of fish. The Mayor Jones arrived on the 6th with 200 barrels of salt mackerel, and the Addie & Hattie with 3000 lbs. of pollock. The Northern Eagle, which last winter fished out of Portsmouth with cod-nets, arrived at Boston on the 5th with fifty-eight barrels of salt mackerel and 35,000 fresh mackerel, stocking $1400. The wind blew very heavily off Boston bay on the 5th, and several of the fishing vessels arrived with their sails in ribbons.

Joseph W. P. Carter was on Thursday evening drawn as a grand juror from ward two, to serve at the October term of the supreme court.

The schooner Albert Woodbury, Downs master, on Thursday last brought in two swordfish—probably the last that will arrived here this year, a cold weather drives these fish to the southward very quickly. They were bought by George Herbert & Co., one being shipped to Boston by rail, and the other resold to local retailers.

The schooner Mary S. Hontvet was towed to Kittery on the 6th inst. by the steamer Mystic, and taken up on the ways.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. New Hampshire Items.

An earthquake lasting several seconds was felt in Tilton, Bath and neighboring towns, about midnight on the 5th inst. Houses were perceptibly jarred, and dishes rattled.

Mrs. Amos C. Bennett of Loudon, who disappeared on Tuesday, the 4th inst., after making a deadly assault on her husband with an axe, was found in Hooksett on Wednesday. She was crazed by the death of her son at the battle of Chancellorville, and has since been several times in asylums, but was not thought to be dangerous until her attempt on her husband's life.

At a meeting of the state board of health, on the 5th inst., an organization was effected as follows: President, Dr. G. P. Conn; secretary, Dr. I. A. Watson; committee on finance, Gov. Bell; committee on sanitary engineering and topography, Ex-Gov. James A. Weston; committee on legislation and legal questions, Atty. Gen. Tappan; committee on registration and vital statistics, the secretary; committee on inspection of public buildings, the physicians of the board and the sanitary engineer; committee on sanitary matters, epidemics and contagious diseases, the physicians of the board. Rules and regulations for the government of the board were adopted, and future work discussed and considered.

Horace Fabyan, for over twenty-five years proprietor of the Fabyan house in the White mountains, died at Bradford, Vt., Oct. 5th, at the age of seventy-five years.

The barn of Samuel J. Hanson, at Mount Pleasant, Dover, was burned on the 5th inst., with fifteen tons of hay. Loss $700; insurance $150.

Two Newburyporters went out for a sail on the 4th inst., in the yacht Nellie, and while going down the harbor attempted to pass between a tug and her tow, and the yacht was of course capsized by the tow-line. The remarkable yachtsmen were fished out of the water and sent home, and the yacht was towed into shoal water. On the 5th the yachtsmen started down river in a rowboat to look after the Nellie, but very soon ran into a steamer lying at a wharf, and were again capsized.

Fletcher U. Harper, a member of the publishing house of Harper & Brothers of New York, died Oct. 4th, leaving a widow and three children.

The Newport, R. I., News says: "It is pretty certain that the naval training school will not be permanently located at Newport. Some of the officials feel that while the city has many advantages, and offers numerous attractions, there are serious drawbacks and peculiar embarrassments not likely to be overcome."

"Why bless my stars!" said Mr. Wm. G. Dennisen, 1924 South Tenth street, Philadelphia, Pa., "after bathing my limb thoroughly with St. Jacobs Oil, I was relieved of the pain of my rheumatic gout and was soon well. It cures every time."

As a letter deposited in the Morisburg (Canada) postoffice was struck with the cancelling stamp a loud explosion followed, and the envelope was in a blaze. It was addressed to Mrs. William Sproule, Hoosac, and probably contained fulminating paper.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

The shipments of stamps from the internal revenue bureau on the 5th inst. were larger than for any one day on record, 125 mail-pouches full, representing a face value of over $13,000,000, being sent off.

18 Negroes!

Who left the United States for Liberia last year, have lately returned, being unable to stand the climate. Everybody going to a new climate should have a bottle of Sulphur Bitters with them as a safeguard against disease. — Hartford Courant.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the "thing nameless" called the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a pile that won't work both ways.

Daily Chronicle.

Major Sanger and the Mule Whacker.

Major Sanger, who is known in military slang as a "bantam" was returning one day recently from Bismarck to Fort Lincoln, which was across the river, and the ambulance in which he was riding was delayed by a team and wagon driven by one of that class known as mule whackers in this country. The driver of the ambulance and the mule whacker got into a wordy altercation, and Maj. Sanger got very indignant at what he believed to be impertinent language and unwarranted interference in his journey. He jumped from the ambulance—a Tom Thumb in size, but a Goliah in fury, and exclaimed:

"Get that mule out of the way."

The mule whacker looked at him quizzically, and asked:

"Who the devil are you?"

"I am Major Sanger of the army, sir, and I want you to get that wagon out of the way."

The mule whacker ejected a mouthful of tobacco into the road and remarked:

"Do you know what I will do with you Major Sanger of the army, sir, if you don't make less noise with your mouth?"

"What will you do?" inquired the major, looking as large and as fierce as possible.

"I'll set a mouse trap and catch you, Major Sanger of the army, sir, and give you to my puppy to play with.—Cor. Chicago Inter-Ocean.

The last candidate for the office of county treasurer, Mr. Charles A. Miller, of Cummisville (Cincinnati,) Ohio, says: "I have had occasion to use St. Jacobs Oil several times for horses, and always found its workings wonderful enough to surprise me. St. Jacobs Oil never fails to cure, and no owner of a livery stable should be without it."

Persons living in malarious districts may protect themselves from attacks of fevers by using Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites; its effect in toning up the system enables us to ward off contagious disorders and successfully combat disease.

Fellows' Hypophosphites is administered by the leading medical men in Canada, a large number of whom have written of its efficacy in specific cases.

I know Hop Bitters will bear recommendation honestly. All who use them confer upon them the highest encomiums, and give them credit for making cures—all the proprietors claim for them. I have kept them since they were first offered to the public. They took high rank from the first, and maintained it, and are more called for than all others combined. So long as they keep up their high reputation for purity and usefulness, I shall continue to recommend them—something I have never before done with any other patent medicine. J. J. BARCOCK, M. D.

—"Your meal is ready, sir," said the waiter to Hayseed, just from the rural districts, "Meal!" exclaimed Hayseed, contemptuously. "Do yer think I'm a hoss? Get me some corned beef and cabbage, young man."

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board as crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

—The growing custom of putting the choir at the pulpit end of the church has the very serious drawback that it prevents a man from turning round and looking up at the organ in a critical manner just before the contribution-box approaches his pew.

News and Notes.

Hon. E. M. Boynton of Newburyport shows indisputably that the report sent from that city to Boston papers regarding trouble between himself and Gen. Butler, as members of the Pentucket Navigation Co., is false; and that the only deficit that has ever occurred in the company's finances was due to the grab of a former employe, who was discharged on that account, and is supposed to be the author of the recent slanderous attack on Mr. Boynton.

At Lancaster, Pa., Wednesday night, Oct. 5th, Edward Sanders and Phillip Rogers, two notorious characters, forced their way into the room of Mrs. Mary Seymour, and, in the presence of her three children, Sanders criminally assaulted her. The woman struggled desperately to escape, and at length succeeded, Sanders following her into the street and knocking her down several times. Mrs. Seymour shortly died from the effects of her injuries. Both brutes were arrested.

Many who are pursuing a musical education will be glad to hear that Mr. John O'Neill, one of Boston's most thorough teachers, has made aarangements to receive private pupils in voice culture at 146 Tremont street. Mr. O'Neill has met with great success, among his pupils being Lilian B. Norton, whose voice and execution have won enthusiastic praise in that land of music—Italy.

Dr. A. W. K. Newton, a dentist of Boston, has been arrested for illegal complicity in te "Western Sea" cotton swindle perpetrated by Gardner A. Fuller some months ago.

Mrs. Jennie McGraw Fiske, who last year while travelling in Europe was married to Prof. Fiske of Cornell university, has died, leaving a fortune of between two and three millions of dollars. She gives her husband $300,000, her mother and five cousins $100,000 each, and several other relatives $25,000 each; Cornell university receives several heavy bequests, and is residuary legatee.

Prof. Wm. R. Brooks, of the observatory at Phelps, N. Y., announces the discovery of a comet in the constellation Leo, ten degrees west of star Regulus. Denning's comet was observed by Prof. Frisby at Washington on the 5th inst.; it is quite bright, and has a well defined nucleus and small tail.

The frost of Wednesday night, the 5th inst., reached to South Carolina, where in the northern part of the state the cotton crop was destroyed. In some parts of Virginia the tobacco crop was ruined.

The horses of Augusta, Me., and vicinity, are troubled with a sort of epizootic.

There has been a fall of snow sufficient to cover the ground, along the Kennebec river between Waterville and Augusta, Maine.

Capt. Howard Darrel, who brought letters of introduction from well known London, Eng., firms, has swindled storekeepers, hotels and boarding houses in Montreal, to the extent of $2,000. He married a fifteen-years-old Canadian girl, who has followed him to Boston.

Recently in Detroit, Mich., a bill in chancery was filed by certain members of St. Paul's German-Lutheran Evangelical church of that city, declaring that the pastor, Rev. Charles Rhoe, habitually preached the anti-German-Lutheran doctrine, and praying that he and all who agreed with him in the society be commanded to turn over the church possessions to the complainants. The grounds on which the complainants proceed were minutely set forth in the bill, and subsequently Alfred Russell, Esq., solicito for the defendants, presented the other side of the question in a learned and interesting argument in support of a motion to dissolve the temporary injunction granted by the circuit court. The argument was legal, not clerical. Mr. Russell, who is a prominent lawyer in Detroit, was a native of Plymouth, N. H., but after his entering the practice of law went to Michigan, where he has since resided.

New Hampshire Items.

Atty. Gen. Tappan arrived in Lancaster last Thursday, and was in consultation with the county authorities and local physicians, concerning the Towne-Bugbee poisoning affair. The object of his visit is believed to have been an examination of the evidence already accummulated, and to determine in what manner to bring it before the courts. No new developments have been made public, and it is not probable that any arrests will be made before presenting the matter to the grand jury, which will be in session Oct. 18th.

Water froze an inch thick at Orford on Tuesday, the 4th inst., and snow fell there on Wednesday.

The first annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, connected with the Episcopal church of the state, was held at Concord on the 6th inst. Considerable routine business was done, and the attendance was very good.

The convention of the Woman's Temperance Union of New Hampshire, at Claremont, closed Thursday, the 6th inst. After the reports of county conventions Miss Willard conducted a prayer meeting, and various committee reports were made. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. H. H. Knox, Claremont; recording secretary, Mrs. Thorndike, Portsmouth; corresponding secretary, Miss C. R. Wendell, Dover; treasurer, Mrs. George Jenks, Concord. Delegates to the national convention at Washington—The president and corresponding secretary from the first congressional district, Mrs. Gen. Griffin from the second district, and Mrs. George Jenks and Miss Abbie McIntire from the third. The convention closed with addresses by Mrs. Richardson, Miss Larkin and Miss Willard.

This fall elections will be held in several states, to choose officers, as follows:

Iowa—A governor, state officers and a legislature.

Maryland—A comptroller, house of delegates and half the senate.

Massachusetts—A governor and full board of state officers and the legislature.

New Jersey—An assembly and one-third the senate.

New York—A partial board of state officers and a full legislature. Also member of Congress in the ninth district, in place of Fernando Wood, deceased; in the eleventh district, in place of Levi P. Morton, appointed minister to France; and in the twenty-second and twenty-seventh districts in place of Warner Miller and Elbridge G. Lapham, elected senators of the United States.

Ohio—A Governor and three other state officers, and a full legislature.

Pennsylvania—A state treasurer and full legislature.

The legislatures to be elected in Iowa, Massachusetts and Mississippi will have to choose United States senators. Seven governors are to be elected.

"CRITIC" CRITICISED.

Mr. Editor: The following attempt at criticism is, I think, open to a sufficient number of corrections and qualifications to entirely deprive its author of the right to the assumed privilege of a critic:

Editor Chronicle: A writer in your paper of Monday, over the initials "S. P. C. A.," says "the land is full of half-fledged humanitarians, who stand with hands uplifted in holy horror," and so forth. He evidently misunderstood the meaning of the word "humanitarian." Webster defines it thus: "One who denies the divinity of Christ and believes him to be a mere man;" a definition which fails to express the meaning that the writer probably intended to convey. The spirit of the article wherein the error occurs is good. Let us have the letter in keeping with it. The word especially alluded to cannot be used except in reference to a sect or to a believer in the doctrine that denies the divinity of Christ. Scire facias, as the lawyers say.

CRITIC.

He quotes Webster's definition of the word "humanitarian" to prove that I (or Webster?) did not understand the meaning of the word. Well! if the dictionary's definition "fails to express the meaning the writer probably intended to convey," so much the worse for Webster.

If our forth-putting sciolist had given a little more time to his subject before attempting to philologize on my use of a word the significance of which he is evidently ignorant of, he could have learned, or have been taught, perhaps, that I have the sanction of eminent authority for my use of the term in the sense in which I employed it. Joseph Worcester, LL. D., and the Westminster Review, are usually accepted as reliable authority. They use the word "Humanitarianism" as synonymous with "Humanity" and "Philanthropy." If Mr. Webster in the compilation of his dictionary failed to give the word "humanitarian" more than one shade of meaning, it ought to be corrected in that particular before another edition is issued. "Critic" can, it seems, enrich his vocabulary by a close perusal of even my hastily prepared arguments in defence of the

What is known as "shaped iron," which enters largely into the construction of buildings and steamships, has been advanced $8 per ton, so that the standard price is now $74. This is in consequence of the greatly increased demand. The advance will fall heavily upon such contractors as have work to do and have not already made their purchases. There are but seven mills in the country engaged in manufacturing this sort of iron.

Gov. Hoyt of Pennsylvania has given notice that he will not issue any more licenses to mutual assessment insurance companies, on the ground that the business is not being legally conducted.

THE CORINNE OPERA CO.

The Corinne Merry Makers, at Music hall Friday evening, had a small audience, though deserving a large one. "The Mascot" was performed, and received with marked demonstrations of approval; the company are adults, with the exception of Corinne, and the chorus is a better one than is ordinarily found travelling.

This evening the company will present the comic opera of "Olivette" in its entirety, with little Corinne in the title role. Of her assumption of this part the Boston Advertiser says:

The microscopic dot of creature named Corinne, who impersonates "Olivette," sings correctly, with a voice absolutely huge for such a midget, and acts with extraordinary drollery. The child herself is much funnier than anything she does, of course; but her solemnity, her sentiment, her melo-drama, are each and all irresistible. It is really quite a marked event in one's theatrical life to hear her sing "Torpedo and the Whale."

The Providence Journal says "she gives the impersonation with an evident enjoyment that relieves it of any painful association as far as appearance is concerned. She is supported by an excellent company. The chorus is large and well trained, giving the songs with excellent effect." The Albany Argus says:

Nothing better can be said of the company, as a whole, than that after "Olivette" had been killed here by a company of pretended stars, they have brought it to life and established its success as a favorite here. Their choruses are very rarely equalled by operatic companies of much greater pretensions.

Miss Jennie Kimball, formerly a great favorite here in the Grand Duchess, will take a part this evening.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, Oct. 7; Batchelder, J.

Edwin Murphy, drunk, fined $3, costs $6.90; paid.

James Crow and William Kelly, drunk, $9.90 each, fine and costs. Went to Brentwood.

James Hurley, drunk; signed the pledge, and was let off on probation.

REFORM CLUB.

At the regular meeting of the Portsmouth Reform Club for the election of officers, Wednesday evening, Oct. 5th, the following were chosen to serve for the ensuing term:

President, Joseph T. French;

Vice Presidents, Edward F. Hall, B. Stowe Laskey, C. W. Lolley, Georgianna Laskey, Mary C. Sanborn;

Secretary, Francis E. Hall;

Treasurer, James Janvrin;

Chaplain, James Janvrin;

Ticket Takers, Richard May, Reuben Rand;

Ticket Seller, A. L. Stringer;

Finance Committee, James Sanborn, Charles T. Wiggin, Daniel L. Randall.

AROUND HOME.

Corinne assisted by her thirty Merrie Makers will give a grand concert in Music hall to-morrow (Sunday) evening. Corinne will appear as a reader as well as a vocalist. Admission to parquette and balcony, twenty-five cents. Gallery, fifteen cents.

A large bill-board has been erected in front of the Peirce field on Pleasant street.

Jos. G. Knights, Esq., superintendent of the Portsmouth shoe factory, is dangerously ill at his residence on Islington street, from rheumatism of the heart.

Messrs. George W. Raitt, and Daniel Webster, the former a well known stevedore and the latter a former police officer of this city, both for a long time employed on the Concord railroad wharf, and both good citizens, propose to leave some time next week for Florida, where they will seek permanent employment.

The Manchester Union, in its notes of the Universalist state convention at Nashua, says that Rev. J. M. Carr of Portsmouth was elected on the board of trustees, and that Rev. Q. H. Shinn of Portsmouth was elected a delegate to the general convention of the denomination.

"All is not gold that glitters," as is evidenced by the numerous and handsome specimens of iron pyrites brought home from the "Eastern Bonanza" by the local mining board.

Mr. William Ward, one of the vice presidents of the National Distillers' Association, leaves the city this morning to attend the convention of that body to be held at the Grand Pacific hotel, Chicago, commencing on Oct. 12th and extending through several days. The convention will discuss the advisability of petitioning Congress at its next session to reduce the tax on distilled spirits from ninety to fifty cents per gallon, and also that spirits shall not be distilled in any place other than a registered distillery. Mr. Ward will be absent from the city about three weeks.

Mr. O. L. Frisbee of Bates college has been re-engaged as clerk of the Appledore house, Isles of Shoals, for next season.

Col. Robinson's Humpty Dumpty Pantomime & Specialty Company will give an entertainment at Music hall on Wednesday evening of next week. See advertisement.

Rev. F. L. Piper will preach in the Advent church on Sunday.

Mrs. Dick of Boston will address the Society of Spiritualists in Good Templars' hall, over Morse & Ilsley's, Sunday afternoon and evening.

Rev. W. H. Alden, D. D., will preach in the Pearl street church to-morrow afternoon at 2:45 o'clock.

The Reform Club will have a meeting Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at Sons of Temperance hall, corner of Ladd and Market streets.

The concert at Franklin theatre next Wednesday evening presents in another column a very inviting programme. These home-begotten entertainments, when they really possess merit, are generally well appreciated by our citizens; and we think this one will not be remiss in the first nor fail in the latter element of success. That the concert will be a very nice affair we feel assured, from the fact that it is in excellent hands. We cannot better commend it to our readers than by referring them to the advertisement, which gives full details of the entertainment. The proceeds go to the aid of a good cause.

On Wednesday evening, the 5th inst., as the Eastern railroad train which arrived in this city from Boston at nine o'clock was passing through Ipswich, Benjamin H. Smith, a blacksmith of that town and about fifty-seven years old, attempted to drive across the track. The flag-man tried to stop him by waving his lantern and shouting, but Smith whipped up the horse, and the team and locomotive both reached the crossing at the same moment. The horse and buggy were knocked a long way, the horse being instantly killed and the carriage demolished. Smith was thrown seventy-five feet, and though alive and conscious when picked up, died in a few moments, all the ribs on his left side having been broken off at the spinal column, and his head badly cut. Mr. Smith was a prominent freemason; and his death, following closely on three other accidents in the same vicinity, two of which are likely to prove fatal, causes a great deal of talk in that region.

Mr. Thomas D. Wardwell, machinist and boiler maker, has a shop on Charles street where he constantly gives employment to six men in the construction of Magee furnaces, his manufacture of these standard furnaces (or the parts which he makes) reaching nearly 800 a year.

It is reported that the Eastern railroad proposes the erection of wharves on Noble's island between the corporation's present wharf and Portsmouth bridge. Also that the company, and citizens of Portsmouth, will put up extensive ice-houses and coal-houses there.

Through the accidental misplacing of a sheet of the copy prepared by our contributor "Hickory," who wrote our recently-published article concerning the Old North burying-ground, it was omitted to state in the article that Mr. John Smith, the widely and favorably known bill-poster, is a grandson of Prince Whipple, Gen. Whipple's body-servant during the revolutionary war, and who is represented by Trumbull, in his famous picture of Washington crossing the Delaware, as standing in the bow of the boat and pushing aside the floating cakes of ice.

At the fall meeting of the Dartmouth College Athletic Association, Oct. 5th, at Hanover, the running long jump was won by C. W. Oakes of South Berwick, who cleared nineteen feet and eight inches. Mr. Oakes also won one heat in the hundred yards race, and one in the hurdle race.

Assistant Engineer O. P. Remick, United States Revenue Marine, stationed at Newport, R. I., is visiting his friends in Kittery, on leave of absence.

Mr. Stephen B. Decatur, of Kittery, in three mornings' gunning at Sea point, Gerrish's island, this week, bagged one hundred and seventeen sea birds, mostly coots and black ducks.

The schooner Mary S. Hontvet, which went on the marine railway at Kittery on Thursday last, came off on Friday, the examination of her bottom proving entirely satisfactory.

KITTERY, ME., Oct. 6th.

Gunning season has again arrived. Usher B. Thompson, Esq., and Mr. James E. Chase, of this town, left this afternoon for York woods, duly equipped with guns, ammunition, game bags, etc., —not forgetting the "T. D. Pipes"—and we expect on their return to see many trophies of their skill as marksmen; and knowing their reputation as we do, we cannot be disappointed. OBSERVER.

Mrs. Eliza Allen, who it was alleged some months ago pushed her mother-in-law from the piazza of their house in Biddeford, from which fall she died in a few hours, was indicted at the present term of the supreme judicial court for assault and battery, to which she pleaded nolo contendere and paid a fine of $59.60, including costs.

York county sends twelve students to Colby university as follows: Sanford, six; Wells, two; Biddeford, Saco, South Berwick and Kennebunk, one each.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever tried it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere, 25 cents a bottle. m,w & s & w n82

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

After numerous experiments Mr. Fellows succeeded in producing this combination of Hypophosphites, which has not only restored him to health, but has since been found so successful in the treatment of disease emanating from loss of nerve power, and consequently muscular relaxation, viz:

Aphonia (loss of voice),	Neuralgia,
Anæmia,	Nervous debility,
Chronic Diarrhœa,	Whooping Cough,
Dyspepsia,	Congestion of the Lungs,
Fever and Ague,	Palpitation of the Heart,
Leucorrhœa,	Melancholy,
Malaria,	Mental Depression,
	Nervousness.

MALARIA.

Persons living in Malarious districts may protect themselves from attacks of fever by the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. Its effects in toning up the system enables us to ward off contagious disorders, and successfully combat disease.

The soluble phosphites and the other life-sustaining principles composing Fellows' Hypophosphites are so carefully proportioned and so judiciously mingled, that their action upon the nerves, muscles and membranes in imparting vitality, strength and healthy action is generally apparent within twenty four hours, and the good effects experienced are of a permanent character.

"RE ORM IS NECESSARY."

The investigation by the court into the charges brought by certain liquor dealers of Dover against William H. Dodge, Esq., a lawyer of that city, has shown up the Dover reform club in anything but a favorable light. The only conclusion to be arrived at from the evidence offered is that for a long time past the club has been used by its leading men simply as a blackmailing machine, and that the last thing the manipulators thought of was the advancing of the cause of temperance. According to the Democrat's report of the hearing, Oliver A. Dodge, a brother of the lawyer under investigation, in his testimony said that "he knew soon after its being started that the temperance business meant temperance on one hand and money on the other; at first I thought it was honest, but soon found out that the dollars was the object; that there was no honesty in the temperance movement; there might have been at first, but the animus had changed;" and other things of like import. The Democrat further says:

In about every instance in regard to which there is any testimony of parties prosecuted on complaints and warrants written by Wm. H. Dodge as justice of the peace, there was subsequently paid to him what was called a "retainer" by the prosecuted party. Some of them say the money thus paid was for the express and only purpose of securing protection in the liquor business in which they were engaged, and they were never troubled afterwards. Others said that it was paid as retaining fees for all law business they had or might in future have within a specified time, and although it covered this general ground yet they were not troubled afterwards in their liquor business. We submit that it is very plain what the real purpose of these "retainers" was. This fact therefore, stands out in open field, that money was the object of these prosecutions, while the professed purpose of stopping the sale of liquor, preventing drunkenness and aiding the cause of temperance, was a sham, pretense and fraud. Those "retainers" seemed to have had a wonderful effect, not only in settling cases and getting them out of court, but in preventing the molestation of those who generously paid them to Mr. Dodge. Butler and Hurd, the most conspicuous complainants, kept as still as church mice, and with Brothers Dodge, Noonan, Ogden et id omnes genus they also kept up their solemn exhortations, prayers and psalms in the reform club meetings.

—Astronomy is a beautiful science. We are told that if a railway was run from the earth to the nearest fixed star, and the fare was one penny for every hundred miles, and if you took a mass of gold to the ticket office equal to the national debt—$3,800,000,000—it would not be sufficient to pay for a ticket to the nearest fixed star aforesaid. If this be the case, it matters very little to us whether such a railroad is ever constructed. It would be mighty discouraging to go to the ticket office with a mass of gold equal to $3,800,000,000, and be informed that the fare was $5,678,082,000.

"Ah, how well do I remember—it was in the bleak November," when I caught the cold that was wearing me surely and swiftly away; but I heard of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup; took it, and am as well as ever.

—At a convention of dime-novel writers held in New York the other day it was unanimously resolved not to introduce in their works of fiction hereafter any boy or hero who has not robbed his father of $5000, tortured his little brother, served six months in jail, set fire to a neighbor's house, committed highway robbery, and run away from home to exterminate Indians.

—"You see, its just this way," says a local politician; "a bummer votes forty times—a decent man won't perhaps vote once. Now, if a man wants an office, to whom shall he go for votes?"

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

—Dean Stanley was once much distressed at the loss of a favorite parrot. While he was receiving some friends, a servant rushed in, saying that the bird was in the garden. The dean went out eagerly, accompanied by his friends. When Polly saw the large audience below her, she said, solemnly, "Let us pray."

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Daily Chronicle.

A Religious Adviser.

Mr. Robert H. Debeck, of Cumberland Mills, Me., writes to the Portland Advertiser a letter in which he says:

There has been a great deal of praying done throughout the country for the President and country at large, and special times and seasons have been set apart for this purpose. Admitting this to be the proper thing to do, are we not required by the Christian religion to go farther and pray for Guiteau, the one who shot the President, that his soul may be saved? or is it our duty as Christians to kill him as soon as possible and send him into hell? We have some duty towards him. I think a day of prayer for him would be a benefit.

In answer to this, the editor condenses a first-class sermon into a paragraph, as follows:

It is not the province of a newspaper to stand between any man and his Creator, and instruct him for what he may or may not pray. These are matters which must be determined by every man for himself, on his conscience and his personal and sole responsibility. If Mr. Debeck feels moved to pray for Guiteau, let him go into his closet and pray as fervently as he chooses; and leave the rest of us like freedom of choice. It is well, however, to remember that forgiveness of injuries done to ourselves is one thing, and forgiveness of injuries done to our neighbors is another. It is nowhere written that impenitent criminals shall be forgiven for injuries done to other people.

The organ rolled its notes from the growling diapason to the gentle flute; and the congregation accompanied by deep sepulchral coughs to coughs scarcely audible, because they had not yet heard of the wonderful efficacy of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Louise Laplante, a married woman, was fatally burned at Lawrence, Mass., Friday afternoon, while lighting a fire with kerosene. Every article of clothing was burned from her body.

Do not delay, but bear in mind that consumption often begins with a neglected cold or cough. Adamson's Botanic Balsam wins the day in curing coughs and colds. Price, 35 and 75 cts. Trial bottles, 10 cts.

A man named Church, in jail at Newton, N. C., charged with the murder of a Miss Thompson in August last, was hanged by a mob on the night of the 6th inst.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Dad Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

The funeral of the late George G. Fogg occurred at Concord on Saturday, the 8th inst. After prayers at the house of the deceased on Main street, the body was conveyed to the Unitarian church, where a remarkably appropriate eulogy was pronounced by his friend and former pastor, Rev. Augustus Woodbury of Providence, R. I., and prayer was offered by Rev. S. C. Beane, pastor of the church. The choir under the direction of Warren K. Day rendered appropriate chants. There were present Ex-Govs. Cheney and Prescott, Judge Clark of the United States court, Ex-Judges Foster and Samuel C. Eastman, Hon. Samuel M. Wheeler, A. F. Pike, E. A. Jenks of the Statesman, John M. Hill, William H. Hackett, Esq., and others from different sections of the state. Among the pall bearers were his former business associate Amos Hadley, with John H. Pearson, P. B. Coggswell, Sylvester Dana, a college classmate, and Mr. Eastman, the well-known druggist of Concord. Mr. Fogg was when in good health a constant attendant at this church, his religious views being as pronounced and unmistakable as were his political principles.

Lewis J. McP. Rundlett, for several years pitcher of the Dartmouth college base ball nine, has signed with the Worcester club for the season of 1882. It is expected he will be the regular pitcher of the nine. Thus does base ball take rank with the learned professions.

The New Hampshire branch of the Women's Board of Missions has re-elected last years' officers, as follows: President, Mrs. Helen G. Knight of Portsmouth; treasurer, Miss Abbie E. McIntire of Exeter; secretaries, Mrs. C. W. Wallace and Mrs. Horace Pettee of Manchester.

The Manchester fire department had its second annual parade Friday, and made a very creditable appearance. Delegations were present from Concord, Nashua and other cities. At the conclusion of the parade a banquet was served at the city hall, and speeches were made by several prominent citizens. Chief Engineer Thomas W. Lane presided.

Deputy Sheriff Swan of Winchester recently attached the property of Henry Adams of Hinsdale in a suit for damages instituted by his brother, William Adams, the latter accusing the defendant of complicity in the burning of his buildings by the Blackmers. This puts a new complexion on the case which continues to be an interesting topic in Cheshire county.

News and Notes.

The United States senate meets in extra session to-day.

At Socarro, New Mexico, Oct. 7th, "Butch" and "Fenchy," two of the Stockton gang of robbers, were lynched; and Wm. Nicholson, a murderer, was lynched at Saunders Station the same day.

Messrs. Henry Cabot Lodge and John T. Morse, Jr., have resigned their positions as editors of the International Review, their work closing with the November number.

J. T. Furber, general superintendent of the Boston & Maine railroad, has declined a similar position with the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern road.

John H. Surratt is engaged as a clerk on the wharf in the freight department of the Norfolk Steamboat company in Baltimore.

Worth has caused a war in Paris by his attempt to revive moire antique, leading inevitably to a resurrection of the much-detested crinoline.

Paul H. Hayne, the poet of the south, lives on a tree-clad hillside sixteen miles from Augusta, Ga. His sitting room is papered with pictures from the illustrated journals. He is of medium height and round bodied, with an olive complexion and dark brown eyes under a projecting brow. He is fifty-one years old. Longfellow and Whittier are his favorite American poets, although he thinks that Holmes has the greatest genius. The north bought more of Hayne's books than the south did.

Mr. Isaac Sprague, an old resident of Tottenville, Staten Island, died suddenly on Wednesday of last week at his home in that village. Mr. Sprague, who was eighty years old, was to have been married Wednesday to Miss Woglum. He had returned from a short walk, and was waiting for the hour appointed for the wedding ceremony, when his death occurred.

About six hundred barrels of herring were taken off Norman's Woe and Rockport, Mass., on the night of the 6th inst. The herring season is opening favorably.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

We have received from H. H. Warner & Co., Rochester, N. Y., an elegant 18x24 colored lithograph of the late "President Garfield and Cabinet." The late executive is represented in full dress at an informal reception of the cabinet, and his splendid form and figure are conspicuously shown. The secretaries are well drawn and to the life. The picture is not only accurate but it is historic and valuable.

The "Art Amateur" for October contains a great variety of designs for china painting, art needlework, and general decoration, including some clever silhouette menu cards, and some capital sarcomic figures of Oscar Wilde and his fellow "esthetes" for outline embroidery or "etching" on linen. The frontispiece is a Deck plaque with a border of doves, drawn by Camille Piton. Sketches of paintings by G. H. Boughton and J. J. Cusachs, and two pages of portrait sketches by Emile Bayard, full of spirit, form especially attractive features. The principal illustrated articles are on "The Cluny museum," "Deck faience," "The China of our grandmothers," and "New ceiling paper designs." There are also entertaining articles on "Bogus pictures," "The Gray collection of engravings," and "Recent art importations." The practical instructions in this number relate especialy to harmony in colors, monograms needlework, china painting, and painting in water colors. Price, $4 per annum; thirty-five cents a number. THE CRUISE OF THE SARAH ATKINS.

We stated in our issue of Sept, 17th, that previous to the sailing of the schooner Pacific on a sealing voyage, a similar trip was made by the schooner Sarah Atkins. In the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE of January, 1826, it is stated that on Friday, January 15th, of that year: "Cleared Sch. Sarah Atkins, Kenney, for the South Sea on a sealing voyage." This vessel, built in Essex county, was known as "the pink-stern schooner," and the following was her crew at the time she sailed from this port on the above voyage: Joshua W. Kenney, captain; William O. Bodge, mate; John Card, (Newcastle,) 2d mate; Geo. Hunt, Joseph Simpson, Robert Shillaber, Morris Ham and Isaac Waldron, before the mast. The Sarah Atkins was fitted for a three-years voyage, but returned in eighteen months, and from "Uncle Bob" Shillaber, who was in the vessel through the whole trip, we learn that the result of her voyage was the bringing home of about 2550 fur seal skins, 100 hair seal skins and 2000 pup seal skins, besides four hog skins and two cattle hides, all taken on the Falkland islands. The schooner's cargo was taken to Stonington, Mass., and sold for about $10,000. Our good friend "Uncle Bob" has, as a memento of that trip, a doggerel written at the time, two verses of which we quote:

"On the fifteenth day of January,
From Portsmouth we set sail,
Bound for the South Atlantic
With a sweet and pleasant gale.

Sarah Atkins was her name,
Full forty tons or more.
She ship'd a crew for South Shetland,
To seal that dismal shore."

"Uncle Bob," who is the only survivor of that company, relates pleasant incidents of the trip for which wish we had room.—Journal.

Literary Wares.

The late James T. Fields, while an active partner in the firm of Ticknor & Fields, was waited upon by a young sugar merchant who had poetic aspirations. The mercantile man complained that his manuscript poems had been rejected by the firm, and he wanted to know the reason why, inasmuch as all of his friends had heard the verses read and unanimously declared them to be an accession to American literature.

"Our reader decides that," said Mr. Fields in his blandest tones.

"Then I would like to see the reader."

Always the personification of amiability himself, the publisher took the merchant upstairs to the reader. That mighty personage sat at a desk heaped high with manuscripts; he carefully read a few pages of each package, then dropped it into a basket at his side. Occasionally he became more than ordinarily interested; in that case he placed the package inside his desk.

"Why, he goes through 'em just as I sample sugar," exclaimed the would-be poet, in amazement.

"That's because he's familiar with literary wares as you are with sugars," rejoined Mr. Fields.

"I am satisfied," said the merchant; "let us go."

They went, and the disappointed bard gave up verse-making, but he made a large fortune in sugar.

A Faithful Lover.

"And I am rich," she said, turning her face so that she could look into her lover's eyes. "Pa says that when he dies I will have $298,000."

But there was no shade of passing shadow of renunciation in his steadfast eyes. Twining his arm around her yet more closely, he said, more earnestly than he had spoken yet:

"And am I base enough to give you up for that? Think you I will tear you from my arms for that? Fairest and best, believe me, I do love you well enough to overlook your wealth, and if you will but come to these arms of mine, bring it all with you—nay, do not start; believe me, for me heart is in the words—bring it with you, every whit, and see if to me constant heart it will make you even doubly dear."

A Railroad in the Tree Tops.

It may not be known outside of the neighborhood where it is situated, but it is nevertheless a fact, that in Sonoma county we have an original and successful piece of railroad engineering and building that is not to be found in the books. In the upper part of this county, near the coast, may be seen an actual roadbed in the tree tops. Between the Clipper Mills and Stuart's Point, where the road crosses a deep ravine, the trees are sawed off on the level, and the timber and ties laid on the stumps. In the centre of the ravine mentioned, two huge redwood trees, standing side by side, form a substantial support, and they are cut off seventy-five feet above the ground, and cars loaded with heavy saw-logs pass over them with as much security as if it were framed in the most scientific manner. "All roads lead to Rome," except this one. The builders never contemplated a terminus at San Francisco, Petaluma or Chicago, but merely to convey heavy timber from the woods to their mill. There are many places in our redwood forests where this example might be followed profitably, as it would be cheaper to guide through with a cross-cut saw and lay the ties on the stumps than to remove the trees. We can boast of a broad gauge, a narrow gauge, and a road in the tree tops—and yet we are not all happy.—Petaluma (Cal.) Argus.

—One of our exchanges says: "It is not, unfortunately, generally known that in the case of fire in buildings containing horses, if the harness be merely put on—if only thrown on—the horses will quit the stables. A knowledge of this fact may be the means of saving many valuable animals from a horrible death.

MARINE DISASTERS.

The schooner Richard W. Denham, of and from Bath for New York, F. J. Hinckley master, was towed into the lower harbor at four o'clock Saturday morning by the fishing schooner Mary E. Macdonald of Gloucester, Mass., the Richard W. Denham being waterlogged. Capt. Hinckley reports that he sailed from Bath on the 4th inst., and that on the same night, the weather being calm and the moon shining brightly, it was discovered that the schooner was rapidly making water, and in a very short time she was waterlogged, the vessel at the time being about thirty-five miles east-northeast of Cape Cod. Four hours later a heavy gale set in, and for about twelve hours the sea made a clean breach over the wreck, the crew being lashed in the rigging, and suffering greatly. At the end of that time the Mary E. Macdonald came along, and after lying by for a time took off the crew, and made fast to the vessel, bringing her in to the lower harbor as above related. Capt. Hinckley it is reported agreed with the master of the other schooner for him to tow in the Richard W. Denham for $1500; the vessel is eight years old, registers 116 tons, is owned by C. B. Minot and others of Bath, Me., and is not insured.

Capt. Hinckley reports sighting the schooner Royal Oak, abandoned, waterlogged, dismasted and with decks swept. This vessel was also picked up by a Gloucester fishing schooner, and towed into the lower harbor on Saturday. A lady's shawl and hat could be seen in the cabin, and the salvors feared there might be dead bodies on board. [An item in another column announces the arrival of the Royal Oak's crew at Portland, Me.; no mention of any loss of life was made on their arrival.]

AROUND HOME.

This city was supplied with a very select and varied assortment of weather last week. On Wednesday morning the thermometer was below the freezing point, and ice more than half an inch thick was to be seen on buckets and basins left out of doors over night; Wednesday afternoon there was a snow-squall; Saturday afternoon at two o'clock the thermometer marked eighty-one degrees above zero in the shade.

A gondola discharged at Liberty bridge wharf, Friday night, 30,000 bricks for Mr. William J. Fraser, from Pinkham's brickyard at Dover point.

Messrs. Warren Keen and Wentworth Dame returned on Saturday from Appledore island, where they have been engaged in putting in a new dam at the bathing pond. Two cottages are being erected on the island, each thirty feet by forty on the ground, and of eighteen feet posts; one of them it is said being intended as a residence for Mr. Cedric Laighton. The schooner "E. A. Creed" is loading at Kittery with oak and pine timber for a cob-wharf at Appledore. A large amount of lumber for the new houses and other improvements on the island has been sent out by Mr. John H. Broughton, and more is to follow.

The biggest peppers we have seen this year were two raised in East Kingston, and handed in by Mr. Frank E. Dearborn of this city. The largest one is six inches and a quarter long, and the other five and a half inches; and both are very full and fair.

Mr. James Sanborn is enlarging his fish market at Liberty bridge, finding it too small to accommodate his increasing retail business.

The schooner Fannie A. Bailey, formerly of this port but now owned in Portland, arrived on Friday from Richmond, Va., with 392 tons of coal, and the schooner Laconia from Rondout, N. Y., with 1000 barrels of cement—both to J. Albert Walker.

The schooner Clara Belle, with a crew of three men, arrived at Tredick's wharf on Saturday with seventy-two barrels of large herring, taken just outside the weir at the mouth of the harbor. The weir was reported also to be full, on Saturday evening.

The schooner Royal Oak, of Ellsworth, Me., eighty-four tons register, bound from Bangor to Boston with a load of lumber, lost her sails and sprung a leak off Boon island in the blow of Wednesday, Oct. 5th. The vessel became waterlogged, and the crew suffered much from cold and hunger until the morning of the 7th, when they were taken off by a passing schooner and taken into Portland. When abandoned the Royal Oak was about forty miles off Cape Elizabeth, Me.

The schooner Breeze arrived on Saturday with 15,000 lbs. of fresh fish to C. Morris Tredick. The busiest spot in the city, last week, was Tredick's fish-wharf, which was literally filled with men engaged in the several operations of fish-curing.

The schooner Nettie Adams is being calked by Mr. Ben. Bailey, preparatory to going on a pollocking trip under Capt. Oren Caswell. Capt. James Burke, who has been in the Nettie Adams, is going whaleboat-fishing after herring.

The funeral services of the late John A. Yeaton took place on Sunday. They were largely attended by the encampments and subordinate lodges of Odd Fellows, of which order Mr. Yeaton was an honored member.

The black fever scare at Newmarket has subsided; the fever was found to be only typhoid in a severe form, which still continues.

The funeral of Col. Levi B. Tucker of Plaistow, who was instantly killed by a train of cars while crossing the railroad last week, took place in Plaistow on Friday, and was very largely attended. Col. Tucker's wife was a Portsmouth lady, Miss Lydia Mudge.

One great feature of Col. Robinson's Humpy Dumpty Pantomime & Specialty Co., (which will perform in Music hall next Wednesday evening,) is the popular free exhibition in front of the hall, consisting of extraordinary performances on the tight rope, and a grand display of fireworks, Roman candles and sky rockets, Bengal lights, etc., together with a concert by Robinson's brass band. See advertisement.

Mr. Editor: I do not intend to test your patience by a discussion of the point raised in relation to the improper use of the word "humanitarian," in a recent communication in your columns. I will merely say that Webster, who is a standard authority with our best scholars, I believe, defines the word as I have already stated. I think he knew more about it than I do, or even your learned correspondent S. P. C. A., who is evidently not a sciolist, as he is pleased to term me. In referring to Worcester, I find that he, too, gives the same definition as Webster. It is straining the point to assert that the former defines "humanitarianism" in a manner that justifies S. P. C. A. in his use of the word "humanitarian." The fact is, two distinguished and standard lexicographers give the same meaning to the word in question. One of them, in defining humanitarian*ism* gives "humanity, philanthropy," and credits the definition to the Westminster Review. That is all I have to say about it, and will trouble you no further now or hereafter. CRITIC.

The schooner Addie, of York, Costello master, from Hoboken and bound for Dover, went on the middle ground at Vineyard Haven on the afternoon of the 7th inst., but got off without apparent damage.

Wm. Harvey, formerly of South Berwick, recently returned for a visit after an absence of nearly twenty-five years. His relatives had long supposed him dead.

The dwelling and outbuildings of Mrs. Emma Littlefield, in Wells, were burned some days ago. Loss $1000; insured.

The bay at Ogunquit, Wells, was last week reported to be "full of herring."

A case of malignant small-pox was discovered in Biddeford last week. Considerable excitement was caused, and the board of health at once took all possible precautions to guard against the disease becoming epidemic. The mayor of the city on Thursday publicly recommended all persons who had not been vaccinated to attend to the matter at once.

KITTERY, ME., Oct. 8th.

Editor of Chronicle: The gunning excursion of Messrs. Thompson and Chase, referred to in the communication of "Observer" in your edition of this date, terminated in a glorious manner. After scouring York woods for a whole day, and breaking one "T. D. pipe," they at last succeeded in hunting down one chipmunk of the most ferocious variety. But the best result of the expedition was attained on the return of the travel-worn hunters to civilization, when Mr. Chase on entering his store discovered two big rats, and his trusty bouble-barrel being loaded,—he not having had occasion to empty it during the day,—brought them both down. Mr. Thompson got the chipmunk and Mr. Chase bagged the rats. Sport is looking up. H....

On Monday night of last week Mr. Theodore Weare of Ogunquit had fourteen sheep—his entire flock—killed by dogs. Mr. Eben Moulton of the same village on a recent night had twenty-two bushels of potatoes stolen from his field, where they had been dug and put in a pile.

Passed Asst. Engr. John A. Tobin, who has been on special duty in Europe for some time, has concluded his duties and will sail for home on the 13th inst.

The following is the record of a vote passed at a parish meeting in Alfred, April 6th, 1784, providing for furnishing supplies to be used at the raising of the first meeting-house erected in that town: "At a meeting of the Inhabitants of this Parish it was voted to purchase two barrels of Rum, one barrel of Pork, four bushels of Beans, ten gallons of Molasses, ten pounds of Coffee and twenty-eight pounds of Sugar."

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

SATURDAY Oct. 8th; Clark J.

The court came in at Concord on Saturday, Judge Clark on the bench. No business was transacted except arranging cases for hearing. The first jury case will be Ince vs. Hodgdon, and the next will be Huntress vs. town of Epsom. The jurymen summoned to appear on Wednesday are as follows:

Grand Jurors—Joseph S. Kimball, Charles Rafferty, Canterbury; Jona K. Moulton, John Taylor, Franklin; John S. Ford, Danbury; Clark Durgin, Andover; Wm. B. Clark, Wm. G. Hannaford, Northfield; Alfred Burroughs, Bow; Mason B. Presley, Geo. W. Ennis, Bradford; Chas. J. Chadwick, Caleb C. Hall, Boscaswen; Paul Whitcomb, John W. Morse, New London; Henry J. Osgood, Loudon; Jos. B. Smart, Joshua B. Merrill, James H. Rowell, Concord.

Petit Jurors—John Lyford, Canterbury; Rufus S. Bean, Edw. H. Sturtevant, Franklin; John F. Bromer, Danbury; Henry M. Thompson, Andover; Joseph C. Wyatt, Northfield; Eli Alexander, Bow; Benj. F. Abbott, Bradford; Wm. P. Abbott, Boscawen; Jacob H. Todd, New London; John B. Perkins, Loudon; Gilbert S. Foster, Chas. E. Savoy, Philip Flanders, Concord.

Judge Lowell is expected to be present on Wednesday.

—"What I'd like to know," said a school boy, is how the mouths of rivers can be so much larger than their heads."

—A Roman Catholic writer, wearing the appropriate name of Furniss, represents that a single spark of hell-fire no larger than a pin-head, if thrown into the ocean would dry up all its waters and set the world in a blaze.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. For the Yorktown Centennial.

The steamer Francis, of Providence, R. I., has been chartered to carry the governor and staff, and the New Hampshire battalion, to the celebration of the centennial anniversary of the capture of Cornwallis at Yorktown, Virginia. The Francis will leave Providence on the evening of Saturday, October 15th, and return thither on the morning of Saturday, Oct. 22d, remaining four days at Yorktown. A limited number of passengers will be taken, at $30 per passage, for the trip, from Providence to Yorktown and back, board included. Passengers will sleep on board while the steamer remains at Yorktown. Those desiring passage should make immediate application to Gen. George E. Lane, Exeter, N. H.

The French Visitors.

The French visitors to this country to take part in the Yorktown centennial, arrived at West Point last Friday afternoon in the war vessels Vandalia and Kearsarge. The entire party, including ladies, numbers 150. The French visitors are attended by representatives of the federal, New York state and New York city governments, and by officers of the army and navy. Prominent among the escort are Gen. Hancock and Assistant Secretary of State Walter Blaine. The French tri-color and the stars and stripes floated together from the West Point staff. After the firing of salutes, the visitors were given a review and dress parade by the corps. The reviewing party was headed by Gen. Hancock and a representative of the Lafayette family. Friday the visitors were dined at the hotel, and after the banquet there was a reception under the auspices of the New York state commission. It was a brilliant affair and was greatly enjoyed by the visitors. Saturday morning the visitors started for Niagara Falls.

Another Electric Light.

Some of the most active men of the New York stock exchange have incorporated a new electric light company, under a patent granted in August last to W. H. Markland, who it is claimed has discovered a new departure in electricity, and has produced what the company consider a most wonderful lamp, which stands pre-eminent in its clear, perfect and unchanged steadiness, the light being free from flittering or wavering, and claimed to be the only light possessing this property. The Edison stock is reported to be selling at $1,000 per share, and it is expected that the stock of the Markland Electric Light company will be in demand at a premium over par, after the present offerings are sold.

"We have sold St. Jacobs Oil for about one year. Have sold more of it than of all other liniments. It has given universal satisfaction in every instance. We consider it the best remedy for rheumatism ever offered to the public." D. J. Pratt & Co., North Brookfield, Mass.

18 Negroes!

Who left the United States for Liberia last year, have lately returned, being unable to stand the climate. Everybody going to a new climate should have a bottle of Sulphur Bitters with them as a safeguard against disease. — Hartford Courant.

Ham White, the noted "Lone Highwayman" of Texas, recently arrested in Mexico, has been sentenced to the penitentiary for ninety-nine years.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

An order has been issued from the office of the grand master of the grand encampment of Knights Templar, deploring the death of President Garfield, and directing that the asylum banners and swords of each grand and subordinate commandery be draped in mourning for the period of forty days.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

The great superiority of DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP over all other cough remedies is attested by the immense popular demand for that old established remedy.

DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP

For the Cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Incipient Consumption and for the relief of consumptive persons in advanced stages of the Disease. For Sale by all Druggists.—Price, 25 cents.

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

After numerous experiments Mr. Fellows succeeded in producing this combination of Hypophosphites, which has not only restored him to health, but has since been found so successful in the treatment of disease emanating from loss of nerve power, and consequently muscular relaxation, viz.:

Aphonia (loss of voice), Anæmia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Dyspepsia, Fever and Ague, Leucorrhœa, Malaria, Neuralgia, Nervous debility, Whooping Cough, Congestion of the Lungs, Palpitation of the Heart, Melancholy, Mental Depression, Nervousness.

MALARIA.

Persons living in Malarious districts may protect themselves from attacks of fever by the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. Its effects in toning up the system enables us to ward off contagious disorders, and successfully combat disease.

The soluble phosphites and the other life-sustaining principles composing Fellows' Hypophosphites are so carefully proportioned and so judiciously mingled, that their action upon the nerves, muscles and membranes in imparting vitality, strength and healthy action is generally apparent within twenty four hours, and the good effects experienced are of a permanent character.

HOLMAN'S PAD

TRADE MARK.

ACTS BY ABSORPTION THROUGH THE NERVE FORCES AND THE CIRCULATION.

Dr. Holman's Pad is the Original and Only Genuine Curative Pad, the only remedy that has an honestly-acquired right to use the title-word "Pad" in connection with a treatment for chronic diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Spleen and Malarial Blood Poisoning.

Holman's Pad has such complete control over the most persistent Chronic Diseases of the Stomach and Liver, including Indigestion, all forms of Dyspepsia, Bilious and Sick Headaches, Nervous Prostration and Sleeplessness, as to amply justify the eminent Professor Loomis' high encomium: "It is nearer a Universal Panacea than anything in medicine!"

Beware of Bogus and Imitation Pads. Each Genuine HOLMAN PAD bears the Private Revenue Stamp of the Holman Pad Company, being the above Trade Mark printed in green.

Daily Chronicle.

Joseph C. Abbott.

Gen. Joseph C. Abbott died at Wilmington, N. C., Saturday, Oct. 8th. Gen. Abbott was born in Concord, N. H., and was educated at Phillips Andover academy. He read law with L. D. Stevens, was admitted to practice, and afterward was editor of the Manchester American, and subsequently of a paper in Boston. He was for several years adjutant general of New Hampshire, and went to the war as lieutenant colonel of the seventh regiment. On the death of Col. Putnam of that regiment he became colonel, and was made brevet brigadier general for gallant conduct in the Florida campaign of 1862. After the war he went to Wilmington, and engaged in the lumber manufacturing business with other officers of his regiment. He was a member of the constitutional convention and legislature of North Carolina, and afterward United States senator, serving a full term. He was also collector of the port of Wilmington. He was fifty-six years old, and leaves a widow.

That was a happy suggestion of our friend Jones' four-year-old hopeful, who instantly prescribed St. Jacobs Oil for his grandmother, who was limping around with rheumatism.

A Vienna despatch says 200 Russian Jews, whom the Austrian police stopped at Boody, in Galicia, while they were emigrating to America, have been permitted to resume their journey to Antwerp, where they will embark for this country.

Unhealthy or inactive kidneys cause gravel, Bright's disease, rheumatism, and a horde of other serious and fatal diseases, which can be prevented with Hop Bitters, if taken in time.

John O'Conner of New York, during a drunken carousal with his family Saturday night, shot his wife dead in cold blood. The police on Sunday found O'Connor, and the woman's son by a former husband, both stupidly drunk in the room with the corpse. They were arrested.

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

Samuel Maxwell, eighteen years old, of Somerville, Mass., jumped from a moving train near his home on Saturday, and was fatally hurt, his skull being fractured.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

The South Boston Iron Co. is reported to be financially embarrassed. The extensive shops of the company will not be closed, there being on hand orders enough to keep them going six months.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptons indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

Edwin Gilmore of Worcester, Mass., eleven years of age, fell from a chestnut tree in Webster, Saturday, struck on his head, and died in a short time.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

TUESDAY, OCT. 11, 1881.

The United States Senate.

The senate met in called session at noon on Monday, Oct. 10th. Senator Harris called the body to order.

Pendleton moved that Bayard be declared president pro tem.; Edmunds moved that senators-elect Miller, Lapham and Aldrich be sworn in first; Pendleton moved to lay Edmunds' resolution on the table, which was carried by a vote of thirty-six to thirty-four, Senator Davis voting with the republicans.

At 2:45 o'clock Pendleton's resolution was passed, and Bayard took the chair.

Edmunds then asked that the new senators be sworn in; Pendleton objected, and the democrats forced an adjournment without notifying the President that the senate had assembled.

Dishonest Pension Clerks.

Commissioner Dudley, of the pension office, discovered some time ago what he believed to be an extensive ring of clerks in his bureau, organized for the purpose of passing fraudulent pension claims. Mr. Brooks, chief of the secret service, has been engaged for several weeks in bringing to light the members of the ring and exposing their operations. The commissioner thinks the government has been defrauded out of large sums of money in this way. The investigation has been going on very quietly, and for that reason it is claimed the proof against the members of the ring has been much more easily and effectually obtained. The number composing the ring is said to be quite large, as it was necessary to have several clerks in each division of the bureau in order that the dishonest claims should be kept constantly in the hands of the members of the ring.

The late commissioner, Bentley, was loud and frequent in his denunciation of fraudulent claims before the pension office, which he attributed to the claim agents. His successor has made the discovery that the fraud was in the office. Meritorious claims were procrastinated in their adjustment, to give way to these schemes under Mr. Bentley's eye, but it seems he was not sharp enough to see the little game. A thorough re-organization of this bureau is needed, and this has been advocated by such men as Senator Blair of our state for a long time.

S. R. Niles, Advertising Agent.

S. R. Niles, who for more than twenty years has been widely and favorably known as the head and manager of the Niles advertising agency in Boston, has removed his office from No. 6 Tremont street to elegant and convenient quarters in the granite building owned by Harvard College 256 Washington street, over the store of Little, Brown & Co.

Mr. Niles is a gentleman with whom it is a pleasure to do business. He is familiar with the art of advertising in all its branches, and he also knows where to place advertisements so they will be most for the advantage of his patrons. Numerous imitators of Mr. Niles, who was early in this business and has continued in it for many years, are constantly starting in all the large cities; but in one respect their plan of operations differs widely from that which has ever been pursued by Mr. Niles. They agree to do a certain amount of advertising for a specified sum, for a patron. Their next care they have is to find the paper which will insert their "ads." at the lowest rate, generally regardless of the character or circulation of the paper. None of this "farming out" of advertisements has ever been done by the subject of this notice.

Every daily newspaper outside the large cities is in the constant receipt of circulars from new concerns seeking to establish themselves as advertising agencies. They are a source of annoyance to publishers, and have everything to learn before they can be of service to their clients.

One first-class advertising agency in cities like New York and Boston is all a live newspaper cares to be connected with. An experienced agent such as Mr. Niles,—and there is none better informed than he,—knows just what can be done all over the United States, in the way of advertising. He has the rates and knows the character of every paper, and just the value of each as a circulating medium.

Mr. Niles too, knows what very many do not, of what an advertisement should consist; in fact, he has all the elements of a successful business man, and no one better deserves success than he. His office has always been a model in the way of system and convenience for the transaction of business, and we doubt not that the new Washington street establishment will reflect the traits of its enterprising proprietor, as have his former offices.

News and Notes.

It would seem odd if the bullett of an assassin should do what the votes of the whole democratic party failed to effect—elect a President of the United States.

At Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 8th, Cox, Stephens and Delaney, the Iron Mountain train robbers, pleaded guilty, and were sentenced to prison for seventy years each. The sentences are cumulative, fourteen years being the limit for robbery. The robbery occurred on the 22d of September, and the robbers were captured on the 28th. A special term of court was held to try them.

The schooner Catawamteak, Kennedy master, from Rockland for Richmond, Va., with lime, put into Edgartown on the 7th inst. on fire, and with two of her crew dead, they having inhaled the fumes of the burning lime.

In Louisville, Ky., on the 9th inst., two brothers named Barrett got into a fight in their mother's room, over a loan of twenty-five cents. Henry Barrett was so badly cut that he will die; Budd Barrett was shot dead.

Ex-Chief of Police John McDade of Quincy, Ill., and a gambler named Jackson, shot each other fatally on Saturday, in an affray in which McDade was the aggressor.

C. B. Butler, living near North Adams, Mass., was seriously wounded Saturday by one of a party of three persons out gunning. Mr. Butler was in an apple tree gathering apples at the time. Between thirty and forty shot entered his thighs and lower limbs. The party doing the shooting ran away undetected.

Ensign U. S. Hogg, son of the chief clerk of the navy department, has devised an invention to readily and accurately determine the speed of a vessel moving through the water regardless of the time, position of the vessel, or condition of the water. This is effected by means of a device for creating a vacuum in a pipe extending to such a distance from the vessel as to be outside of the body of water affected by the vessel's movements, yet communicating with an indicating device upon the vessel, so graduated as to show the extent of the vacuum, and consequently the speed at which the vessel is moving through the water. The invention has been tried on the. Alarm, and reported effective.

THE U. S. S. LANCASTER.

All leaves of absence of officers of the U. S. S. Lancaster were discontinued on Sunday night, in expectation of the vessel's sailing for the Mediterranean this (Tuesday) morning, to take the place of the Trenton, which is expected to arrive at Hampton roads some time this week.

The usual yarn for the marines which is circulated at naval stations as to the character and sea-going qualities of vessels built or repaired at other navy yards, was sent out by a designing person in New York regarding the Lancaster; and we are informed that some papers whose managers are not posted as to such canards, have copied the story as if they believed it.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Oct. 10; Batchelder, J.

Daniel Leary, for brawl and tumult, was fined $2, costs $6.90. Paid.

Edward Clark, for drunkenness, was sent to Brentwood for sixty days, costs $6.90.

THE CORINNE OPERA CO.

The Corinne company on Saturday evening performed "Olivette," to an audience larger than that of the previous evening, though still far less than was merited. The entertainment presented was an excellent one, a ball-room scene illuminated with the calcium light being one of the handsomest ever shown on Music Hall stage, and encored again and again. The opera was given more fully and to far better effect than by the company that performed it here some months ago, and all who attended were highly gratified.

Sunday evening the company gave a concert in Music hall, little Corinne appearing as a reader as well as a vocalist. This little mite of a thing is certainly a wonder, and her support is excellent. The concert gave great satisfaction, though the attendance was not large.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

With the next number, the title of "Scribner's Monthly" becomes "The Century Magazine." The first issue of the Century magazine will have the general appearance of the old Scribner, but the pages will be larger and without "rules," so that about fourteen pages of matter are added by the new arrangement. The publishers intend to emphasize the new series by a number (for November) of peculiar pictorial beauty and literary interest. One of the principal features of this number will be the portrait of George Eliot, by Burton, which Mrs. Cross' family put forth through the Century magazine as the authorized likeness of the great novelist. The portrait is accompanied by an account—also authorized—of her religious and philosophic beliefs, by Frederick W. H. Myers. Mr. W. J. Stillman recently made a voyage to the island of Melos, or Milo, under commission from the Century magazine, in order to gather further material for a study of the famous so-called "Venus of Melos." His article, accompanied by twenty-five illustrations, will appear in the Century for November. Mr. Stillman has his own theories as to the date and origin of the statue, and the place where it was first set up.

Mr. W. R. Balch, formerly engaged in journalism in Boston and of late in Philadelphia, has resigned his position as editor of "The American," and is devoting his attention to editing various works for Houghton, Mifflin & Co. of Boston.

"The Entomologists." A copy of the London (Ontario) Free Press, just received, contains a very interesting address delivered by Prof. Wm. Sanders before the Entomological Society of Ontario. The address is one of great practical interest to the farmers and fruit growers, not only of the Dominion, but of the northern and western states of the Union also. The science of entomology is fast claiming the attention which its importance demands, and Prof. Sanders has won a reputation which has made his name familiar to the scientists on both sides of the Atlantic. To him as much as to any one man may be attributed the progress which entomology has made in this country and in the Dominion of Canada during the last two or three years. A science to which a very few scholars in the United States gave any time or consideration, a few years ago, now numbers its devotees by hundreds; even Portsmouth has two or three. If space would permit we should republish the address.

—When we say of a shiftless fellow that he does not "earn his salt," we allude to an ancient custom among the Romans. Among them a man was said to be in possession of a salary who had his salarium, his allowance of salt-money, or of salt, wherewith to savor the food by which he lived. Thus "salary" comes from "salt," and, in this view of the word how many there are who do not "earn their salt."

AROUND HOME.

The great circus and menagerie of W. W. Coles comes to town to-day, and gives entertainments afternoon and evening.

The patch of water between Whaleback, White island and Gerrish's island, presented a busy aspect on Sunday forenoon. The pocket of the Mitchell weir contained hundreds of barrels of herrings, and though the netting on one side was lowered so as to be several feet under water, the stupid creatures did not know enough to swim out. Several small schooners were anchored near by, and their dories were engaged in hauling gill-nets, almost every mesh of which contained a big herring; other schooners, loaded down to the scuppers and with boat-loads of herring hanging astern, were waiting a favorable slant to run up town; one little schooner, deep as a sand barge and with four loaded boats in tow, made the best of her way to the eastward. In the afternoon the scene was still more animated, a gentleman counting four schooners, four large whaleboats and twenty-three dories between Wood island and bar and White island at one time, all intent on gathering in a share of the herring harvest.

The steamer Mystic, Capt. "Rashe" Trefethen, on Sunday took to Boon island the lightkeeper and his family. A select party of about forty ladies and gentlemen also went out on the steamer, and enjoyed the trip greatly, the sea being remarkably smooth and the day very fine.

The schooner Richard W. Denham, Hinckley master, before reported as towed into the lower harbor on Satuday morning in distress, waterlogged, was on Monday discharging her cargo of lumber at Commercial wharf. She was towed up on Sunday.

Capt. Wm. F. Shields, who fishes in a whaleboat, on Sunday evening about six o'clock fell (or walked) through a hatchway in the building on Herbert & Co.'s wharf, to the water below, a distance of about twenty feet. The tide was very low at the time, and Capt. Shields' head was badly cut, probably by striking a rock; he was also much bruised, and one of his shoulders sprained. He was stunned by the fall, but the water revived him so much that he was able to climb into a tub that was lowered to him; he was taken to his home and attended by a physician, and was not able to be out on Monday. Capt. Shields had just finished discharging a fare of twenty-five barrels of herring from his boat.

We would beg to call the attention of the readers of the CHRONICLE to the entertainment to be given on Wednesday evening at the Franklin theatre by the young friends of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Not only will they find the entertainment one of unusual merit, but by giving their patronage they will confer timely aid on a society which is doing its good work energetically, but is greatly hampered in so doing by lack of means, and is also prevented from taking up important work throughout the state of New Hampshire by the same cause. A full attendance on Wednesday evening will enable it to abate much suffering from the helpless creatures over whose welfare it watches so faithfully. DIRECTOR S. P. C. A.

Excursion tickets from this city to Boston and return, over the Eastern railroad, good for a passage to Boston by any regular train on Wednesday, Oct. 12th, and to return on any train until and including the 14th, will be sold at the stations in Kittery and Portsmouth on the 12th, at $1.70 each, from either place. This affords an excellent chance of visiting the Old Mechanics' or New England Institute fairs, now open in Boston, at a very cheap rate.

Mr. Charles S. Drown has recently made or is now making a gaff-topsail for the schooner Active, several sails for the schooner Cocheco, and a foresail and jib for the fishing schooner Julia A.

George Herbert & Co. received, on Sunday and up to noon Monday, 265 barrels of large herring. The quantity of cod received was very small. The herring were brought in by the schooners Julia A., Norma and Ev. Nichols, and a number of small boats.

When the schooner Ocean Eagle was coming down river, Sunday afternoon, as she rounded to above the draw of Portsmouth bridge one of her crew jumped upon the buoy to make fast a line, and immediately tumbled off into the water. He was soon picked up by a boat from the schooner, very wet and disgusted.

If we can judge from the notices of our exchanges, Col. Robinson's New Humpty Dumpty Trick Pantomine & Specialty Co., which will perform at Music hall tomorrow evening, is a big affair. They have four clowns and fifty people. The New York Herald in speaking of this company says: "Probably no travelling pantomine or specialty company on earth ever commanded such vast audiences or achieved so wide and popular a reputation, as the troupe of Col. Robinson. He and his are known to-day throughout the whole length and breadth of the United States. This is the only troupe supporting four clowns, two pantaloons, two columbines and two harlequins." A most popular feature of this company is their free show before the hall nightly. Take your children to see the free show at all events.

The schooner D. K. Ham, Freeman master, bound up the river for a load of bricks, and the Satellite and another schooner, brick-laden and outward bound were at the draw of Portsmouth bridge Monday afternoon.

Several changes have been made in the time-table of the steamer Mystic, to meet the change of working hours on the navy yard. The revised table can be found in our advertising columns.

On Thursday evening, at Music hall, the Eileen Oge Comedy Co. will produce Falconer's greatest play, "Eileen Oge," for the privilege of playing which the company paid Mr. Falconer's agent the sum of $5000. The piece will be put on the stage with the original scenery used in the Grand opera house at New York, and a strong cast from the Union Square and Daly's theatres. Prices as usual. Tickets on sale at Preston's.

The mooring buoys off the navy yard are being overhauled by the boatswain's gang of the yard.

The navy yard ferry steamer Emerald was on Monday taken off the route, to receive the customary overhaul and repair preparatory to the winter's work. The steam launch was put on in her place.

Mahn's Comic Opera Co., with a chorus of fifty voices and a long array of soloists, will on Saturday evening next perform Von Suppe's latest and greatest success, "Boccaccio," at Music hall. Among the soloists are Flora Barry, Renie Reignard, Ellis Ryse, formerly with the Emma Abbott opera company, and other well known artistes.

The derelict schooner Royal Oak was towed into Gloucester, Mass., on Sunday. The report that she was towed into Portsmouth lower harbor arose from the fact that she was seen in tow of a fishing schooner, apparently heading for this port.

The fall arrangement of the time-table of trains on the Eastern railroad begins on Sunday, the 16th inst. The trains will be run in a manner to accommodate the patrons of the road in this vicinity, as they have been during the past summer.

A new boiler is in course of construction for the steamer Acushnet, and when it has been put on board it is expected the boat will make much quicker time than now between this port and Boston.

Commodore Beaumont, commandant of the navy yard near this city, has been promoted to be a rear admiral—by the Journal.

An item has been going the rounds of the press, to the effect that "all the Pullman car conductors on the Eastern and Boston & Maine railroads have recently been discharged." There are no Pullman cars run over the Boston & Maine railroad. A few conductors on the line between Bangor and Boston, over the Eastern railroad, have been discharged for good and sufficient reasons.

The schooner Westerloo, Whittaker master, which arrived on Saturday from Rondout, N. Y., in the late gale lost her deck load of cement, and an anchor and chain; also had mainsail, both gaff topsails and jib blown away, off Nantucket shoals. The Westerloo brought in the crew of the schooner H. S. Billings, of Ellsworth, Maine, 108.59 tons register, wrecked on the 5th inst. on the passage from Hoboken to Boston with coal.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. New Hampshire Items.

Rev. C. A. Bickford, who is to have charge of the editorial department of the Morning Star of Dover, was formerly pastor of the Baptist church in Farmington.

Joshua M. Babcock, a prominent citizen and business man of Barnstead, fell from a building last Friday, receiving injuries from which he died Saturday.

Geo. W. Wilson, aged fifty-three years, employed at Briggs' piano stool manufactory at Peterboro, accidentally shot himself, Saturday, while engaged in target practice. He leaves a wife and two children.

A Splendid Police Force.

The party which captured Stephens and Delaney, two of the three Iron Mountain train robbers, consisted of four men named Huddleston, Belvines, Moore and Dollahode. When arrested the robbers had about $9,000. Huddleston proposed to the captors to divide the money among themselves, which was agreed to, the money being equally divided among the four officers in the presence of Stevens and Delaney. In consideration of the latter keeping the matter secret, each of the four swore an oath that they would annually pay to the families of the train robbers $100, and leave no means untried to secure their release from the penitentiary after conviction. They did not release them at once, because a reward awaited their delivery at Hope. On the route Belvines manifested dissatisfaction at the transaction, as he thought the money ought to be returned to the railroad company, but the party reached Hope, turned over their prisoners to the authorities, and then went to Little Rock and received the $1,000 reward offered by the state of Arkansas. At the trial of the robbers on the 8th inst. Belvines divulged the whole matter to Supt. Buchanan of the Iron Mountain road. Huddleston, Moore and Dollahode were examined separately and each made affidavit that he knew nothing of the whereabouts of any money. Subsequently Moore approached Buchanan, and stated that the money could be procured.

The schooner Horatio Nichols, formerly owned in Exeter, and which for a good part of the time during a period of seven or eight months was either ashore in the Swamscot river or on the marine railway at Kittery, was towed into Norfolk, Va., on the 7th inst., waterlogged and with loss of her deck load. She was on the way from Albany, N. Y., to Richmond, Va., with a cargo of lumber, and was disabled in the disastrous blow of the 5th inst.

The season's entertainments have been notably free from annoyance by coughing. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup does this. Price 25 cents a bottle.

"Death having removed all danger of misconstruction," telegraphs United States Minister William Walter Phelps from Vienna, "let me subscribe $5,000 to the Garfield fund."

"Buchupaiba."

New, quick, complete cure four days, urinary affections, smarting, frequent or difficult urination, kidney diseases. $1. Druggists. Depot, J. H. Thacher's.

Suicide and Dyspepsia.

Twelve deaths from yellow fever occurred at Havana during the week ending the 7th inst.

Persons living in malarious districts may protect themselves from attacks of fevers by using Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites; its effect in toning up the system enables us to ward off contagious disorders and successfully combat disease.

Fellows' Hypophosphites is administered by the leading medical men in Canada, a large number of whom have written of its efficacy in specific cases.

A soldiers' reunion at Martinsville, Ind., wound up Saturday night by several big fights. Isaac Kinley mortally stabbed Wesley Lowe. The murderer was arrested.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Feb. 2d, 1880.

I know Hop Bitters will bear recommendation honestly. All who use them confer upon them the highest encomiums, and give them credit for making cures—all the proprietors claim for them. I have kept them since they were first offered to the public. They took high rank from the first, and maintained it, and are more called for than all others combined. So long as they keep up their high reputation for purity and usefulness, I shall continue to recommend them—something I have never before done with any other patent medicine. J. J. BABCOCK, M. D.

Alfred Thomas is under arrest in Woonsocket, R. I., on a charge of poisoning Josephine Hinton, a young woman who was engaged to be married to another man, but whom Thomas desired to marry.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the suffering accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

A Bell Muffled.

Recently in Plymouth, Mass., Charles G. Davis and others commenced a suit in equity against Francis A. Sawyer and others, the celebrated woollen manufacturers, who carry on the woollen business at the place where our forefathers landed under the name of the Plymouth Woollen Company, to restrain them from ringing a bell attached to their factory at five o'clock in the morning and various other times during the day and evening, alleging that the ringing of the bell is an injury to their property and detrimental to their feelings and comfort. Before the bell was placed upon the defendants' factory they used a steam-whistle, which of late years has not been sounded before half-past six in the morning. The bell, which was a very heavy one, weighing about 2200 pounds, was placed upon the defendants' factory in January, 1880, for the purpose of awakening the operatives who worked in the defendants' mill, some of whom lived a mile and a half or two miles from the factory. The judge thought a distinction should be made between the present case, where the bell was only recently placed upon the factory and where complaint was made soon after it was placed there, and a case where, as in large manufacturing places, it is customary to have bells on all factories. He also said that he thought the repose of the people of the town ought not to be disturbed for the purpose of awakening operatives who lived two miles away, and directed a decree to be entered restraining the defendants from ringing their bell before half-past six o'clock in the morning, and that neither party shall pay any costs. The case was heard before Judge Devens, recently attorney general of the United States.

The finest stables and stock farms of the whole country, such as those of Mr. Calvin M. Priest, of New York; Mr. Mike Goodin, of Belmont Park, Pa.; Aristides Welch, Esq., of Erdenheim, near Philadelphia, and others we could name, are always provided with St. Jacobs Oil,—the horse's best physician.

Fifty thousand salmon eggs from California were received at the state hatching house, Livermore Falls, Me., on Saturday last.

Captain Courtney!

Says: While on the coast of Africa I had three men sick with malarial fever. I cured them with Sulphur Bitters. It is the greatest blood purifier I ever saw. I always keep them in my medicine chest. —Ship Nautilus, Baltimore.

Tenyon, known as the "Poultney barn burner," aimed a revolver at his counsel, Messrs. Phelps and Lawrence, in the Rutland (Vt.) house of correction on Friday, but was secured before he could do any harm. His defence on the trial is to be insanity.

Henry's Carbolic Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all kinds of skin eruptions, freckles and pimples. The salve is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every case or money refunded. Be sure you get Henry's Carbolic Salve, as all others are but imitations. Price 25 cents. For sale by all druggists.

Dr. Green's Oxygenated Bitters

Are a cheap and simple remedy for dyspepsia and billiousness in all their worst forms. It is a well known preparation, and has been known and endorsed by physicians for many years, and has been used by thousands of sufferers in all parts of the world as a standard and reliable remedy.

Charles Jones shot and killed Henry Crockett near Wytheville, Va., Monday, because he fancied the latter had insulted his wife.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

Joseph H. Warren, M. D., of Boston, has presented to Bowdoin college a painting of Hagar and Ishmael in the wilderness, said to have been painted by Titian, and an unknown doner has sent a full length portrait of John A. Andrew for Memorial hall.

I would say to my friends, and all who chance to read this, that I have used Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam in my family for a long time, and consider it a very valuable medicine. It cures when all other remedies fail, and I would cheerfully recommend it to those afflicted with coughs, colds, asthma, etc.

E. S. GETCHELL, Augusta, Me.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 12, 1881.

A Railroad War.

A bill in equity was filed in Concord on the 10th inst. against the directors of the Concord railroad, signed by stockholders representing over one-tenth of the corporation. They allege that the Concord railroad, thirty-five miles in length, has been for a long time, and must of necessity continue to be, the natural outlet for the Boston, Concord & Montreal and Northern railroads, which have their southern terminals in Concord, and has earned large sums of money from this traffic, which should yield its stockholders good profits; that the present management of the Concord railroad has but little direct pecuniary interest in the road when compared with their interest in the stock and successful operation of the two roads named and the Boston & Lowell road. They were elected directors of the Concord road by reason of their known interest in and partiality to these rival roads, whose interests are adverse to those of the Concord road; that contriving and designing to protect, improve and enhance in value and increasing the profits of their adverse interests, and to decrease the profits, and depreciate the stock of the Concord road and to give to its rivals the benefits derived from its advantageous location, they made the contract with the Lowell road on Aug. 19th, 1881, in direct violation of the laws of New Hampshire and the charter and by-laws of the Concord road; that the terms of this contract are injurious to the interests and destructive of the rights and property of the Concord road; will result in the decrease of its property and the depreciation of its stock; that the management provided for in the contract is a management and delegation of authority which are neither recognized in nor authorized by the charter of the road, which contains provisions in regard to the government and direction of its affairs; that under the contract the finances of the road are to be entrusted to a cashier outside of the state and beyond the jurisdiction of its courts or legislation, selected in part by a foreign corporation, when the charter of the road distictly provides that its funds shall be placed in the hands of a treasurer, duly elected, who shall give a suitable bond of not less than $30,000 to safely keep all monies, securities and valuable papers of the corporation, and keep the accounts in an approved form, showing the true condition of the finances at all times,—and all this notwithstanding the perpetual injunction of the circuit court of New Hampshire, forbidding the money of any corporation to be placed anywhere but in the hands of its treasurer; that by said contract both the general manager and cashier of the consolidated line may be removed by the Lowell directors at any time, without the consent and against the interests of the Concord road, thus taking the direction of the affairs of said road away from its directors, where it is placed by its charter, and lodging it with a foreign corporation, with adverse interests; that also the Concord road is deprived of making any changes in local or through rates for transportation over its road, without the approval of the foreign corporation; that matters of disagreement between the two roads are to be left to the arbitration of three individuals, the person representing the Concord road being a large stockholder in the Northern and other roads and adversely interested against the Concord road; that article six of the contract allows the Boston & Lowell company to lease roads to the Concord in which it is interested, and receive large sums in rent for useless and unprofitable roads; that it is to receive from the Concord road for the use of the Massachusetts Central, a sum equal to twenty-five per cent of its gross receipts, even if it does not pay its running expenses, and makes no net earnings; that they make complaint for all other stockholders (except defendants,) besides themselves, and that the contract is in all respects in violation of and unauthorized by the laws of New Hampshire, and the charter of the Concord railroad; that it is a scheme and conspiracy for taking a part of the earnings, profits and advantages of the Concord road, and giving them to the rival roads named, thereby to rob the former of its legitimate earnings and profits. They, therefore, pray that the directors of the Concord road be compelled to resume the control and management of their road, according to law and the provisions of their charter, and that a receiver be appointed in the meantime, to take charge of it pending litigation upon the same.

A hearing was had in Concord on Tuesday before Chief Justice Doe, on the application for a temporary injunction to restrain the Boston & Lowell and the Concord railroads from proceeding further under the recent contract. John H. George appeared for the Lowell road, Hon. Wm. L. Foster for the Concord railroad management, and W. J. Copeland for plaintiffs. Judge Doe decided that the case shall go before a referee to find the facts, and the case then be transferred to the law court. A hearing on the question of a temporary injunction was adjourned till Friday, the 28th inst.

The United States Senate.

After the journal was read on the 11th, on motion of Senator Edmunds the senator-elect from Rhode Island, Nelson W. Aldrich, was sworn in. Senators-elect Miller and Lapham, of New York, were also sworn in.

President Arthur was notified that the senate was in session, and the committee returned with word that the President would communicate in writing with the senate on the 12th.

Senator Edmunds moved a resolution that the standing committees remain as they were at the close of the last session, the president pro tem. to have power to fill any existing vacancies. Laid over under the rule.

Adjourned at 12:50 o'clock P. M., to next day.

Big Fires in New York.

The Fourth Avenue car stables in New York, owned by Wm. H. Vanderbilt, were burned Monday evening, with about 100 horses. The loss on the building and coatents is variously stated, the lowest estimate being $200,000 and the highest $500,000. The flames spread ot Morrill's furniture storage establishment, which with its contents was destroyed; the loss on the building is between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000, and the loss on the contents brings the total up above $2,000,000. The wealthy families of New York, when leaving the city for Europe or summer resorts in this country, have stored their most valuable furniture, paintings, etc., in this building, and much of that destroyed was uninsured. A painting recently purchased in Europe for Wm. H. Vanderbilt at a cost of $50,000, was burned, as were also paintings valued at $20,000 belonging to Harriet Irving. Geo. Verbinger lost $60,000 worth of furniture, and Abram S. Hewitt $10,000 worth. One lady had $10,000 worth of wedding presents destroyed.

Carl Upman's cigar factory was burned Monday morning. When the fire broke out 200 men and girls were at work in the third, fourth and fifth stories. In two minutes the building was enveloped in flames, and a panic seized upon the occupants, who were cut off from the fire escapes by the flames. Most of them were taken out through the scuttle hole in the roof, and made their escape to adjoining buildings. The factory was entirely destroyed, and the reached $100,000. No lives are reported lost.

News and Notes.

Judge Lowell of the United States Circuit Court arrived at Boston from Liverpool on Tuesday, in the Cunard steamer Atlas.

At Newmarket, England, Oct. 11th, the Czarowitz stakes were won by Keene's horse Foxhall, beating eighteen others. Foxhall came in ten lengths ahead of the second horse, in a mere canter.

A serious riot occurred at Ballyragget, county Kilkenny, Ireland, on Sunday. One man has died from bayonet wounds inflicted, and another is fatally wounded. A collision occurred the same day between the police and the people at the village of Athearry, in which severe injuries were sustained by both sides. One man lost an eye by a bayonet thrust. Five persons were arrested and taken to Galway.

On Sunday night, Oct. 9th, at Bradford, Pa., a panic occurred in the Methodist church. A woman in the gallery fainted away; an alarm was given that the gallery was falling in, which was followed by a rush for the various exits, in which men, women and children joined, many being trodden under foot and seriously injured. When the panic was at its height a man yelled fire. An alarm resulted, and the fire department and thousands of citizens rushed to the scene. For ten minutes the people surged and jammed through the doors, many women being badly crushed and seriously injured.

An explosion of petroleum occurred on the 4th inst. on board the Italian brigantine Armonia, from Barcelona for Marseilles, France. The vessel sank, and eight persons were drowned.

Frank Pollock, a farmer at Hot Springs, Ark., was shot dead, Sunday night, by Jno. Colburn. Pollock had married the divorced wife of Colburn, and had Colburn's two children with him. After killing Pollock, Colburn took the children and escaped.

A singular discovery was made at Dighton, Mass., a few days ago, of some missing checks beneath a tie on the Old Colony railroad. On July 2d last six checks were enclosed to J. S. Horton, one to S. J. Eaton, one to Geo. E. Walker, by Boston parties, in payment for strawberries, amounting to about $300, but were not received, and duplicate checks were sent. How the missing checks sent three months ago came to be deposited under the railroad tie, is a mystery unsolved.

The two freezing nights and the gale of last week had a disastrous effect on the apple crop of Maine. The many apples that were frozen on the trees would have come out all right if allowed to remain on the trees till the frost came out. But the wind gave them such a shaking that this could not be, and hundreds of barrels are reported damaged. The Shaker community at Poland report that they lost 3,000 pounds of grapes. A large part of the squash crop was ungathered, and spoiled.

It was a gala day at the Park theatre in Boston on Monday, and the theatre was dressed in becoming costume. The occation was the 1,000th performance of "Hazel Kirke," and in the evening the theatre was crowded almost to suffocation. Elegant souvenir programmes were presented to all the ladies present. The lobby of the theatre was beautifully decorated with evergreens, and presented a charming appearance.

The old Beacon Hill reservoir in Boston is being taken down. Some of the stone is being sold for building purposes, and some will be used by the city in constructing bridges on Back bay.

THE WEATHER.

U. S. SIGNAL OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
Oct. 12, 1:30 A. M.

Probabilities for New England:—

Fair weather, followed by increasing cloudiness, and rain, southerly winds, lower barometer, higher temaerature.

Sky clear.

AT IT AGAIN.

While a Mr. Wood of Boston was riding with his wife in Stratham on Sunday, they left the team to gather some pears, and in their absence it was stolen by Bob Gladding. The team was recovered, but up to Tuesday night the thief had not been arrested. This fellow is one of the notorious "Gladding boys" who displayed so much enterprise in stealing harnesses several years ago, but were finally hunted down, one of them, Harry, being sent to state prison (where he now is) for four years, and Robert serving eighteen months in Portsmouth jail, for stealing harnesses from J. W. F. Hobbs at North Hampton.

HORSE RACES.

On Wednesday and Thursday of next week, at the Rockingham trotting park, a series of races will take place, for four purses aggregating $250, two events to come off each day. First day, first race, purse of $50 for horses that have never beaten three minutes—$25 to first, $15 to second, $10 to third; second race, purse of $75 for horses that have never beaten 2:40—$45 to first, $20 to second, $10 to third. Second day, first race, purse of $50 for horses that have never beaten 2:50—$30 to first, $15 to second, $5 to third; second race, purse of $75 open to all horses—$50 to first, $15 to second, $10 to third. National rules to govern, except that drivers are to go at catch weight. Entries close Saturday evening, 15th inst., at nine o'clock. See advertisement.

AROUND HOME.

See advertisement of sale at auction by Mr. Wendell, commencing this forenoon at ten o'clock, at house No. 27 Court street, of furniture, carpets, cooking utensils and household goods generally; also, at twelve o'clock, of the house itself, and the lot on which it is situated.

The crossing of Middle street at the corner of State would be much more comfortable for being swept.

A despatch on Tuesday said: "Valentine K. Nickerson, of Harwichport, Mass., captain of the fishing schooner Daniel Marcy of Portsmouth, N. H., died suddenly on board his vessel this morning while the schooner was lying at anchor in Provincetown. Cause of death probably apoplexy."

One of the horse chestnut trees on the west side of the Storer mansion, corner of Islington and Middle streets, fell recently, breaking off about six feet from the ground, and the stump has been levelled with the earth. This tree was a favorite magazine of horse chestnut ammunition for the boys at the academy, for many years.

The schooners Addie & Hattie, Rambler, Mayor Jones and Grace Choate were in harbor at Gloucester, Mass., on the 11th inst. The Mayor Jones arrived the previous evening, with forty barrels of mackerel, and with her flying-jibboom carried away. The Grace Choate had twenty-five barrels of mackerel.

Remember the concert at Franklin theatre this evening, for the benefit of the S. P. C. A. All the children will enjoy seeing the bear dance, and hearing him sing about his wife "Mammy Muff," and his boy "Tiny Cub." Come all, and hear Goliath challenge the armies of Israel and defy David. Also other character duets, new and amusing, for young and old.

The railroad commissioners of Massachusetts have rendered a decision in the matter of the recent collision in the tunnel at Salem between two trains on the Eastern railroad, exonerating the trainmen and signal-men from all blame. The accident was caused by a limb of a tree which grew in such a position that it was swayed by the wind so as to come in contact with the telegraph wire passing through the tunnel, causing a wrong signal to be given.

This evening at Music hall Col. Robinson's Humpty Dumpty Co., claimed to be the largest and most elaborate pantomime company travelling, will give an entertainment, with four clowns, two pantaloons, two columbines and harlequins, and a long list of specialists. A free show will be given in front of the hall before the commencement of the inside performances, consisting of music by the band, fireworks and tight-rope walking.

Cole's circus made the best street show of any that has been here for years. The horses especially attracted notice, looking fat and well kept. The attendance at the tent was good, afternoon and evening, and the show gave much satisfaction. The circus is a good one—much better than any Barnum has brought this way within a dozen years.

The Eileen Oge Comedy Co. will tomorrow evening perform Edmund Falconer's comedy "Eileen Oge" at Music hall, with the favorite and well known actress, Miss Marie Elliott, in the title role, and a strong cast in support. The company has been greeted with large audiences in other cities, and the play, which is said to be brimful of fun, has given entire satisfaction. It had a great run at the Princess theatre in London when played by Mr. Falconer, and at the Grand opera house in New York. The original scenery prepared in New York will be used here, and the members of the company are from the Union Square and Daly's theatres. Tickets at Preston's.

There is to be a select social assembly at Mechanics' hall on Thursday evening, the 13th inst.; grand march at nine o'clock.

The schooner Helen F. Tredick arrived on Tuesday with 100 barrels of mackerel to C. Morris Tredick. Herring arrived in large quantities at Tredick's wharf during the day, from the weir, which was again filled with them; the receipts of herring at this wharf from Saturday to Tuesday evenings amounted to about 500 barrels.

The Times suggests to the S. P. C. A. that there is no place in the city lockup fitted for the accommodation of the unfortunate poor who may apply for lodgings, and intimates that it would be well for the "society which keeps a strict watch over horses which stand in the streets a little too long, to look into this matter, and see if something cannot be done for the human family, while looking so carefully after the dumb animals—whose value may be figured in dollars and cents." The lockup may not be all it should be, but it is absurd to ask a society which was organized and chartered for the sole purpose of preventing cruelty to animals, to look after it; as a society, the S. P. C. A. has no more business with the matter of which the Times complains than has any savings bank or railroad corporation, and no more than any of the organizations named have to do with the suppression of drinking saloons.

School street is much in need of repair. The sidewalks are in bad condition.

One solitary tautog, the only one we have heard of as being taken in these waters this season, was brought in on Tuesday by Mr. "Ashe" Randall of Newcastle, and was bought by C. Sullivan & Co., who took Mr. Randall's fare.

Mr. S. R. Hanaford, manager of the Manchester Varieties or "dime show" last year and this, will open Franklin theatre next Monday, and keep it open every evening during the week, presenting an attractive bill and charging only ten cents admission. He ran an entertainment of this kind in Manchester for six months last season, and the patronage he received was liberal enough to induce him to start again there in August of this year, presenting new attractions and performers every week.

Ed. Chronicle: Your correspondent "Critic" wastes two-thirds of his contribution to Monday's issue of your paper, in proving that Webster and Worcester defined the word "humanitarian" as he has "already stated;" so far so good. But the ingenious and ingenuous soul, having been taught that Worcester in defining humanitarian*ism* gives "humanity, philanthropy," attempts to escape from his dilemma on an exceedingly attenuated ipse dixit. He says it is straining the point to assert that Worcester defines humanitarian*ism* in a manner that justifies me in my use of the word humanitarian. I am ready to believe his modest admission that Webster knew more than he does. Reasoning from analogy makes it apparent that the same relationship exists between "humanitarian" and humanitarian*ism* that is generally recognized between the word Unitarian and Unitarian*ism*; therefore I shall continue to use the word in question as long as I find it convenient and more expressive than any other which has yet been introduced, as a vehicle for the idea I wish to convey to the minds of your readers who are interested in the work of the S. P. C. A.

The cranberry crop of Kittery and York this year is very light, in many localities all the berries having been destroyed by worms. The apple crop throughout the whole western part of York county is generally very poor, there not being even a fair yield except in a few places; number one market apples are very scarce, and command about $2.50 per barrel. The crop of butternuts and walnuts is quite heavy, being almost equal to that of 1879, which was the largest within memory; many of the farmers have commenced their nutting.

Messrs. Brooks Brothers of South Eliot, who were burned out early last summer, will immediately put up a two-story building, the lower story to be used as a store and post-office, and the upper one to be fitted for a public hall.

The amount of fines collected of liquor sellers by the supreme judicial court in York county last week, was $2600, the costs amounting to about $500 more. Liquor dealers in that county must make big profits, if they can stand that drain on their finances and still continue the business.

The are about forty Eliot men in the employ of the Eastern railroad, a large proportion of them as carpenters, bridge repairers, etc. One gang of twelve men is composed of eleven from Eliot and one from Kittery; the road does not find anywhere better or more industrious workmen than in Eliot.

An addition of twenty rooms is to be built immediately on the Goodwin house at York harbor. The Lord cottage at Long beach, York, has recently changed hands, and will be much enlarged and made into a first-class hotel in time for the next summer's travel.

Mrs. Bernard T. Garland of New Bedford, Mass., whose husband has deserted her and who said she had not had anything to eat for several days, attempted to commit suicide by hanging on Saturday, but was discovered in the act and prevented.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. m.w.&s.&x 582

One Hundred and Thirty-six Times Over!

At New Orleans, on the 13th day of September, at the 136th Grand Monthly Drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery Company, $20,000, the first capital prize, was won by ticket No. 43,712, half held by John Conners, an engineer on the L., N., and Great Southern R. R., and collected for him through the Bank of Commerce, of Memphis, Tenn.; the other half held by Simon Silverman, of Indian Bay, Ark., whose title to its ownership is disputed by Mrs. Emma Clarke, of the same place. $10,000, the second prize, to No. 83,057, collected on account of Mr. Hynes Wathen, through the First National Bank of Vincennes, Ind. Third, $5,000, drawn by No. 3,742, held by a worthy gentleman of Albany, N. Y., who is desirous of remaining unknown for personal reasons. $2,500, drawn by No. 32,568, held by Mr. G. A. Prinz, of Cullman, Ala., and No. 56,771, halves of which were held by Emily Moir, No. 737 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., and E. J. Short, of Warsaw, Ind. There were many thousands of other lucky ones. Any one anxious to know about anything connected with the next drawing should write at once to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., before November 5th, the day of the 138th drawing.

New Hampshire Items.

On the day of the funeral of Mr. Charles Pendexter at North Conway, last week, a carriage was accidentally upset, and Mrs. Hurting of Jackson sustained a broken arm and dislocated hip.

Mrs. Fanny McNeil Potter, formerly of Hillsborough, but now of Brooklyn, N. Y., has sent a valuable revolutionary relic to the Yorktown museum. It is the sword borne by her grandfather, Gov. Benjamin Pierce, father of President Pierce, who entered the continental army at Lexington and fought for his country until the close of the war. He was at Bunker Hill, Long Island and the siege of Yorktown, and remained in service until the final disbanding of the army at West Point in 1784. He was twice elected governor of this state. Mrs. Potter, who inherited the old Pierce homestead at Hillsborough, owns a number of valuable mementoes of her distinguished grandfather, and permitted his sword to be exhibited at the centennial. It was requested again for exhibition at Yorktown, and has been forwarded by Mrs. Potter. She has also the sword of her father, Gen. McNeil, used at Lundy's Lane and Chippewa.

In Newport, Sunday, Whitney D. Barrett's house and outbuildings, with their contents, were consumed by fire. Loss $3,000; insured $2,200. Cause of fire unknown.

The "pink-eye," the new equine disorder which has for some weeks been disarranging horse-railroad business in Chicago, is travelling this way quite rapidly, about fifty horses being reported sick with it in Hartford, Conn.

It is said that the late Caleb Fiske Harris and wife, of Providence, R. I., left wills bequeathing to each other their property, and if this be the case an important question to be decided is that of who died first. Mr. Harris and his wife were recently drowned while on a boating exhibition.

"Dr." Buchanan, of Philadelphia, Pa., who pleaded guilty to selling bogus medical diplomas, was on Monday morning sentenced to a year's imprisonment and a fine of $1,000. He has already been imprisoned for fifteen months for conspiracy to defraud the government.

Capt. Luce, in command of the training squadron at Newport, R. I., says that in every particular the city authorities have co-operated with him in preventing the boys from getting intoxicated, and that there has been far less drunkenness there than there was in New London. No warrants have been issued by the city authorities for anyone connected with the fleet for over two months.

At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what fine "voice" the singers were; in commending his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

Mrs. Sarah Small of Bowdoinham, Me., will in November complete the 100th year of her life. The aged lady is in good health physically and mentally, and the completion of her century of life will be properly observed.

Don't Die in the House.

Ask druggists for "Rough on Rats." It clears out rats, mice, bed-bugs, roaches, vermin, flies, ants, insects; 15c. per box.

Decline of Men.

Impotence of mind, limb, or vital function, nervous weakness, sexual debility, etc., cured by Wells' Health Renewer. $1. At druggists. Depot at Thacher's.

The mule spinners at Fall River, Mass., are again expressing dissatisfaction. They claim that the mules are run at too high a rate of speed, and of the gas light at bad. They are also not obstinately opposed to a raise in wages.

It Don't Pay!

To sling money away, but I invested a dollar for a bottle of Sulphur Bitters which cured me of dyspepsia. It saved me ten dollars in doctors and druggists bills.—Machinist, Lowell, Mass.

William A. Champlin, a lawyer, was arrested at Providence, R. I., Saturday, on complaint of Anthony Comstock, for sending prohibited matter through the mails. He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Douglass, and held in $1,000 bail.

Ye martyrs to sick-headache, neuralgia, rheumatism, sciatica, poor circulation! Dr. Holman's remedies are the only things you need. Build up just where the pulling down began—the stomach. Are you an aged person? Then assist the vital forces with the gentle, ever continuous nerve tonic found in Dr. Holman's Pad. It will sustain you as nothing else can.

In Van Buren County, Tenn., Sunday, Jesse Martin, a white man, called Ishwood, colored, out of his cabin, asked him why he had reported his infraction of internal revenue laws, and without waiting for an answer, shot him dead and escaped.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Mrs. Wilcox died next day. Wilcox was only released from jail on the previous Saturday, where he had been confined for the third attempt to murder his family.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

The Western Elections.

Elections were held in Ohio and Iowa on the 11th inst., but up to a late hour at night on that date all that could be positively asserted was that the vote in each state had been very light. The weather all over Iowa was very bad on election day, and the indications were that not over a two-thirds vote had been cast. In Ohio, both parties claimed a victory; the chairman of the republican state committee claimed the state, but declined to estimate majorities; the chairman of the democratic state committee claimed 8000 majority for Bookwalter.

A despatch from Columbus to the Chicago Tribune, on the 12th, reported the election of Foster, republican, as governor of Ohio, by 15,000 or 17,000 over Bookwalter. Iowa despatches of the same date gave the republican majority in that state as about 33,000 over all other, and 50,000 over the democrats.

News and Notes.

Dr. J. G. Holland, the widely-known editor of Scribner's Monthly, died very suddenly in New York on Wednesday, Oct. 12th, in the 63d year of his age.

The adjutant general of South Carolina has directed the Washington Light Infantry of Charleston to carry with them, to Yorktown, Col. William Washington's battle flag, which was in the cavalry charges at the battles of Cowpens and Eutaw Springs 100 years ago, and is believed to be the only revolutionary battle flag now in existence in condition for use on parade.

Equity proceedings have been instituted in the Philadelphia civil courts on behalf of the present officers of the Iowa Gulch Mining company against a number of persons, charging them with having bought a tract of land and foisted on the public 200,000 shares of stock of the Iowa Gulch company, at prices averaging $2 a share, the alleged mine proving upon examination to be worthless.

WOLFEBOROUGH RAILROAD.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Wolfeborough railroad, held in Wolfeboro' on the 11th inst., the following board of directors was chosen: William B. Bacon of Boston, Elijah B. Phillips of Boston, Willard P. Phillips of Salem, Mass., Frank Jones of Portsmouth, John W. Sanborn of Wakefield, John M. Brackett and Joseph L. Avery of Wolfeborough.

Mr. Nathan F. Mathes left on Wednesday, the 12th inst., for Summerside, Prince Edward island, where he will purchase a large quantity of potatoes on his own account and for other persons in this city.

The gondola Edgar Weston was on the 12th inst. loading with coal from the schooner Fannie A. Bailey, for Exeter.

The sloop Meridian, of Deer island, Me., was lying at Philbrick's wharf on Wednesday of this week, loading with apples, of which she takes three hundred barrels.

The schooner Maud B. Wetherell is about to sail for Summerside, Prince Edward's island, to load at that port with potatoes for Portsmouth dealers.

The Times of the 12th inst. says: "Eleven guns were fired this forenoon from the navy yard battery, in honor of the arrival at this yard of Rear Admiral Edward T. Nichols." Everybody else that heard the salute, including those who fired it, supposed the rear admiral was saluted with thirteen guns.

Mr. Benjamin Durgin of Kittery will leave in a few days, to proceed with several other persons to the Holy Land, where they propose to settle and establish a new church.

Mr. John Rogers, the florist of Kittery, raised from one potato this season a bushel and a half of good tubers, although the yeield was no doubt much reduced by the rust which took the vines. The potato was of the Late Rose variety.

The Moody house near York beach, Stephen E. Grant landlord, has been entirely refitted and refurnished this season. It will be kept open all winter for the accommodation of travellers or visitors to the beach, who can there procure an excellent meal or a comfortable bed at a very moderate price.

The city councils of Biddeford on the 10th inst. appropriated a sum of money for the immediate construction of a suitable building for use as a small-pox hospital. The reason for this action was that the health officers had reported that a case of small-pox had been discovered, the patient being one of a family of nine children, and the physicians had decided that the existing pest-house was not a suitable place to which to take the child, so she had been left in her home. Other cases of the disease must reasonably be expected, and a proper hospital was an imperative necessity.

There are in the town of Cornish five people above the age of ninety years. Mr. Wm. Woodbury is ninety-two; Miss Pamela Cole is ninety, and over; Mrs. Daniel Cole is over ninety, and goes to milking every morning; Mrs. Enoch Jewell is ninety-three, and smart; Mrs. Tabitha Pugsley is ninety-four, and goes out every other day to see her children in the neighborhood. Three weeks ago she knit a pair of stockings that took the premium at the York county fair. These people have all had large families, excepting Miss Pamela Cole. There are many people between the ages of eighty and ninety in the town.—Biddeford Times.

THAT "OFFICIAL REPORT."

The Chronicle to-day has nothing to say about the Lancaster. We presume it has by this time found out its mistake in treating an official report of the naval board of inspection as a "yarn for the marines" and finds at last that discretion is the better part of valor.—Times, Oct. 12th.

If the nautical editor of the Times will carefully scan this issue of our paper, he will find out exactly what we think of the cock-and-a-bull yarn sent out by some newspaper reporter as an "official report," and accepted as such by the Times. We would suggest to our brother that hereafter, before he jumps up in the air and yells for somebody to "come on," that he be sure he at least knows something of the matter at issue. We always do. For instance; should our brother tackle us on some nice point of theology, we should give up the contest at once; but when it comes to a matter of square yards and blue water, he will have to look over his weather bow at our lee quarter every time.

Capturing a Bear.

It will be remembered that a sad and fatal accident occurred at Madison a few years ago, by a team being frightened at a performing Frenchman and a grizzly bear, and that it cost the city a good deal of money to settle the cost. Other towns resolved that they would not have any more bear performances in the streets.

There was no town that was loaded for bears, after that accident, any heavier than La Crosse. The mayor, Joe Clark, was red-hot, and he told the chief of police, Hatch, never to allow a man with a performing bear to come into the town. Hatch didn't want anything better than a bear fight, and he said he should smile to see a Canadian Frenchman get up a bear dance in that town as long as he walked the streets. When the new mayor, Smiley, took the office, he had only one order to give the police, and that was to keep an eye out for bears. There was consternation in La Crosse on Tuesday, when a boy came up to the police office and said there was a man down town with a performing bear, and Hatch spit on his hands and told Pernue Clark to follow him.

The bear was hitched to the hind axle of a wagon, and the owner was in a saloon taking a drink. Hatch said he would go in the saloon and capture the man, and told Pernue to bring the bear right up to the station. Pernue didn't exactly like the way the thing was divided up, and he suggested that maybe he had better go in after the man and let Hatch take the bear, as he was an old bear hunter, but Hatch said the man was a desperado, and he had better surround him. So Hatch went in and got the unresisting Frenchman, and started off, telling Pernue to hurry up with the bear.

Pernue is a man that, if he wanted a bear, had rather hire a man to go after it, but the eye of the chief was on him, and he walked up to the bear and took hold of the chain and said, "Come along, Mr. Bear." The bear reached up one claw and took hold of Pernue's clothes about the small of the back, and closed his claws and twisted a little, and there was about a pound of coat-collar and pantaloons cloth and shirt that all came off together in a wad, and with a pale face Pernue started toward the lock-up to help Hatch hold the man. He overtook them as they arrived at the calaboose, and Hatch asked him why he didn't bring the bear, and he said he came up to find out of the Frenchman what the bear's name was. He said he never could take a bear if he didn't know its name. He put on a rubber coat to cover the place where the bear stepped on him, and by this time Sam Campbell and Dave Littlejohn, the other policemen, had arrived, and they all went down after the bear.

The boys made a good deal of fun of Pernue's clothes, and Sam said the way to handle a bear was to look him right in the eye and paralyze him. Pernue said he would let Sam paralyze the bear, but before he got him paralyzed on more than one side the bear would rip all the clothes off of him. Arriving at the wagon, Hatch said he would stand on the wagon tongue and hold it down, and they could surround the bear. The bear was lying in the sand asleep, and they got all around him and were just going to pounce on him, when he rose up, and the air seemed full of bears. With one paw he grabbed Campbell by the slack of the trousers, and with the other he clawed Littlejohn on the shoulder, and he ripped their clothes scandalous, while Pernue got behind a dry goods box and Hatch held on to the wagon tongue. The bear stood up on his hind feet with both fore paws full of blue flannel clothing, and the police held a council of war on the wagon tongue.

Finally they got hold of the wagon and hauled it to the lock-up, the bear following, and then they gave the Frenchman his liberty and three dollars if he would take the bear and get out of town, and the last they saw of him he was going toward Winona locked arms with the bear, laughing, and the police went to a tailor's shop to see if it would cost much more to mend their clothes than it would to get a new suit. Now they get together evenings and talk over the bear business, and Hatch asks them why they did not chloroform the bear and use some judgment.—La Crosse (Wis.) paper.

—"Did you slip?" they asked the old gentleman, as they picked him up. "Oh, no," he growled, "of course not. I was trying to see if I could sit down on that coal-hole hard enough to break it. Did it just for the fun of the thing," and he glared at them very savagely, and they somehow felt very foolish.

—At Chautauqua, the other day, a little girl was asked if she were a Methodist. "Oh! no!" she replied. "I am a Brethren, and my mother is a Brethren, too." These were of the United Brethren. At Montreal one of the Plymouth Brethren was asked why they never spoke of Plymouth sisters. "Oh!" was his answer, "the brethren embrace the sisters."

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of the colorless Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. THE WEATHER.

U. S. SIGNAL OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
Oct. 13, 1:30 A. M.

Probabilities for New England:—

Partly cloudy weather and rain, southwesterly winds, falling followed by rising barometer, stationary or higher temperature.

Cloudy.

WE STAND REBUKED.

The CHRONICLE of the 11th inst. contained an item regarding the U. S. S. Lancaster, recently repaired at this navy yard, of which the closing paragraph was as follows:

The usual yarn for the marines which is circulated at naval stations as to the character and sea-going qualities of vessels built or repaired at other navy yards, was sent out by a designing person in New York regarding the Lancaster; and we are informed that some papers whose managers are not posted as to such canards, have copied the story as if they believed it.

The Times copied our item, and then proceeded to hold forth as follows:

The above is a very sneaking way of insinuating that somebody has lied and that some newspaper publishers have believed the lie and helped to circulate it. Now, if the report which has been published (and which we copied from a republican paper,) about the character and qualities of the Lancaster is false, why don't the CHRONICLE say so, and not mouth the matter over in such manner as to suppress the plain statement and insinuate a lie of its own?

Verily, our brother of the Times seems liable to get himself in a state of mind. He is very anxious to have us say that "somebody has lied;" very well, we say it; somebody has lied, as we will endeavor to show our brother, in order that his wrath may not so mightily prevail against us.

Our neighbor goes on to assert that the statement of a Washington correspondent "is that the board of inspection has reported to the navy department, saying practically that the Lancaster is unseaworthy," and then says:

Now, if the CHRONICLE were prepared to prove that no such report has been made, it would doubtless say so in plain language, and not resort to the silly expedient of confounding an official report with a "yarn for the marines." * * *

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald noticed the official report upon the Lapcaster more at length than did the Boston Journal. We copy from the Herald of the 7th inst., (and commend it to the attention of our neighbor, the editor of the CHRONICLE.)

Thanks, brother; the editor of the CHRONICLE will pay attention to what you appear to think is an "official report" of the naval board of inspectors. That "official report" says:

The Lancaster, which is fitted out for duty as flagship of the European fleet, had engines specially designed for her, yet the board reports that they are not at all satisfactory. In one case a slide valve required fourteen men of the engineer force to open and shut it, and this is now being removed to be replaced by one designed in 1863, and used in the navy during the rest of the war. The one now being put in can be worked by two men.

The facts are, that the engines were not designed for the Lancaster, but were built for the Antietam, which vessel was partly constructed at the Philadelphia yard during the war, and was not completed; these engines were stored at that yard, and when the old yard was abandoned, the engines were carried to the League island yard, and were sent to this yard for the Lancaster about a year ago. The valves are the original ones, and the only change made here was the removal of the friction rolls in obedience to an order from Washington. The mechanics here said they would have to be put back again, and they were boxed up and sent with the ship, and the replacing of these rolls was what was done to the valves in New York, instead of their being replaced by other valves. Here is some more of our neighbor's "official report:"

The vessel is fitted with steel boilers, and has been about four years in rebuilding at the Portsmouth navy yard. The report was suppressed as soon as its contents became known at the navy department.

We have not the slightest doubt that an "official report" which said the Lancaster's engines were "specially designed for her," that her boilers are of steel, and that she has been four years in rebuilding, would be "suppressed" mighty quick at the navy department. The boilers are low-pressure horizontal ones of the Martin pattern, made of iron. The ship was docked here Sept. 11th, 1878, and sailed from this port for New York Sept. 12th, 1881, so that she was just three years in rebuilding, instead of "about four," and would have been completed in much less time but for the "democratic economy" in Congress which doled out money in such driblets that not men enough could be employed. The last extract from the "official report" which we have room for says:

The board also finds great fault with the manner in which the battery was mounted on board.

This is very likely true; but no one on this yard is responsible for any shortcomings of the battery, which was mounted under the directions of an officer from Washington, objections being made here to the cutting and alterations required to fit the ship for her new-fangled battery, the first one so mounted in the navy.

The above is all the "attention" we can pay at present to our brother's "official report" concerning the Lancaster, which we inadvertently confounded with "a yarn for the marines"—for which inadvertence we now confess our sorrow.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 12; Lowell, J.

Joshua B. Morrill of Concord was appointed foreman of the grand jury.

Russell vs. Russel and al., in equity, was heard. It relates to a series of loans made by a deceased father to the plff., which the executors seek to have allowed against the plaintiff's share of the estate. Bayant and Sweetser of Boston for plff.; Hatch and Burrows for defence.

Case Huntress vs. Epsom is assigned for trial Nov. 21st, when a view is to be had, and the trial to proceed a week later.

Francis A. Faulkner of Keene, Robert A. Ray, Nathaniel E. Martin, Henry Robinson, and Edgar H. Woodman of Concord, and James A. Edgerley of Somersworth, were admitted to practise in this court.

The grand jury in the afternoon reported one indictment, and were discharged. The respondent is sick, and probably the case will be heard on the 21st of November.

AROUND HOME.

This evening, at Music hall, Edmund Falconer's comedy drama "Eileen Oge" will be performed. The piece was very popular in London and New York; it has five leading comedy parts, and is said to be full of fun and humorous situations.

Burley Tuttle, who was sentenced to state prison for three years for breaking and entering buildings in Greenland, which term of imprisonment would have expired in March next, was on Wednesday, the 12th inst., pardoned by the governor and council, he being fatally ill with consumption. His brother, Elmer Tuttle, who was sentenced at the same time and for the same term, was also pardoned on Wednesday, he being apparently beyond recovery with a kidney disease.

The Col. Robinson Humpty Dumpty Co. had a rather slim audience at Music hall on Wednesday evening, the 12th inst. Some parts of the entertainment were good, and other parts had much better have been omitted—we mean that most contemptible feature, the using of the names of respectible citizens in a manner calculated and intended to be annoying to them, for the sake of pleasing the hoodlum element. Decent people will not patronize such a show, if they know its character beforehand.

Mme. Rentz's Minstrels will give an entertainment at Music hall on Monday evening next.

The sale of tickets for the comic opera "Boccaccio," to be performed at Music hall on Saturday evening by Mahn's Comic Opera Co., commences at Preston's this morning. This opera has never been given here, but the press notices of it and the company are laudatory in the extreme. The Philadelphia Bulletin says:

The bright, sparkling music of Von Suppe's Boccaccio was the attraction at the Arch street theatre last night, and it was sufficient to crowd the house in every part. This opera was a decided favorite here in the spring, and it is gladly welcomed back by all lovers of charming airs and lively choruses. Mahn's Comic Opera company has been considerably strengthened during its abscence from Philadelphia, and as produced last evening Boccaccio is certainly all that the most exacting play goer could desire. The actors and actresses fully appreciate the rollicking mirth of the libretto and the melody of the score, and the result is a jolly, brilliant performance throughout. The chorus was large, and sang in a manner which indicated careful drilling. The scenery added greatly to the charm of the production, it being particularly picturesque, while the costumes were not only rich and bright with color, but designed with special reference to the period in which lived the Florentine novelist.

Rear Admiral Edward T. Nichols, chief of the bureau of yards and docks, and acting secretary of the navy, visited this navy yard on Wednesday, the 12th inst., and received the regulation salute.

The lumber from the schooner Richard W. Denham, towed in here in distress, waterlogged, is being loaded on the Free Wind, Frisbee master, to be taken to New York. The compensation to the schooner which towed the distressed vessel in, $1200, was paid on the 11th inst., and accepted without dispute. The Richard W. Denham was freed of water on the 12th by her own pumps, in about ten hours, and is supposed not to be much injured. She will sail for Bath, Me., where she is owned, as soon as her cargo is out.

The Salter house, No. 27 Court street, was sold at auction by Mr. Wendell at noon on Wednesday, the 12th inst., for $2525, the purchaser being Mrs. Mary N. Jenkins.

Capt. Daniel Deshon died at Greenwood, Mass., Oct. 8th. He was formerly well known among the shipmasters sailing out of Boston, having been in the employ of various commercial firms of that city. He is well remembered by many of the older people of Portsmouth; his wife was a Portsmouth lady, as Miss Hill, and at least one ship was built for him by the late George Raynes.

An extra train was run from Dover to this city on Tuesday evening of this week, to accommodate persons desirous of "going to the circus," the fare being but forty cents for the round trip. The train was well patronized, and would no doubt have been crowded had the evening not been so cold. It's getting late in the season for tent shows.

New Hampshire Items.

The house of Jasper H. Warren of Wolfeboro' was burned early in the morning on the 11th inst., with a portion of its contents. Loss $1200; insured $800.

Arthur O. Page of Hampstead, twenty-one years old, while out on the pond gunning, Oct. 10th, accidentally shot himself. The boat drifted ashore, and Page was found and carried home, but died the next evening.

At the meeting of the Centre District Medical society at Concord, Oct. 11th, an oration was delivered by Dr. H. M. French, and an obituary of the late A. B. Hoyt of Grafton was read by Dr. D. P. Goodhue.

Representatives of the Mann family from various parts of the country have just held a reunion at the old homestead in Orford. The family is a marvel of longevity. The two surviving children of John Mann, who were present, are Joel, aged ninety-two years, and Mary, aged ninety. The former occupied the village pulpit on Sunday.

The thirty-fifth annual session of the grand encampment of New Hampshire odd fellows assembled at Odd Fellows' hall at Manchester, Oct. 11th, L. C. Gould in the chair. Every encampment was represented, and the committee on credentials reported sixty-eight eligible candidates, thirty-eight of whom were present and took the grand encampment degree.

"Boston Town;" by Horace E. Scudder, author of the Bodley books. This is a familiarly told story of many prominent events in early Boston—not the great overgrown city of to-day, which has appropriated to herself so much of the trade and wealth of her lesser New England rivals, but the old time Boston of which we used to delight to hear and read in our boyhood days. It has numerous wood cuts, among them a likeness of Sam. Adams, whose statue stands on new Washington street.

Mr. Scudder tells, in an interesting and agreeable manner, much of historic interest, most of which will be new to the great bulk of his readers, who will prefer his acceptable mode of information to any other. To know what was the condition of many prominent places at the hub, centuries ago, and to learn the reasons for names of places, and to be informed of the prominent men of Boston whose portraits hang in Faneuil hall,—in fine, to be well posted in what formed an important epoch in the history of New England, thisbook should be read. While the author specially intends to captivate the younger eaders by his entertaining manner of composition, there are none too old to enjoy this attractive and instructive publication.

Published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston, at $1.50, and for sale by booksellers generally.

—The season of the year is approaching when many a careless man will catch such a bad cold that he can't tell the truth.

To cough and at the same time be entertaining is impossible. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will reach your case. Price 25 cents a bottle.

The jury in the heresy case against Rev. Dr. Thomas of Chicago, on the 10th inst. delivered a verdict of guilty, and decided to expel him from the ministry, and from membership in the Methodist church. Dr. Thomas will appeal to the forthcoming judicial conference.

KAHOKA, Mo., Feb. 9th, 1880.

I purchased five bottles of your Hop Bitters of Bishop & Co. last fall, for my daughter, and am well pleased with the Bitters. They did her more good than all the medicine she has taken for six years. WM. T. MCCLURE.

The above is from a very reliable farmer, whose daughter was in poor health for seven or eight years, and could obtain no relief until she used Hop Bitters. She is now in as good health as any person in the country. We have large sales, and they are making reliable cures.

Flies and Mosquitoes.

A 15c box of "Rough on Rats" will keep a house free from flies, mosquitoes, rats and mice, the entire season. Druggists.

See Here.

You are sick; well, there is just one remedy that will cure you beyond a possibility of doubt. If it's liver or kidney trouble, consumption, dyspepsia, debility, Wells' Health Renewer is your hope. One dollar. Druggists. Depot Thacher's.

While Robert Berthwaite of Spencer, Mass., was chestnutting in the woods on the 8th inst., a minie ball from an unknown sportsman's rifle struck his right leg before the knee, passing out on the opposite side, and knocking him senseless. He is probably lamed permanently.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a jury that won't work both ways.

The Western Elections.

Returns from Ohio up to the evening of the 12th show that Foster, the republican candidate for governor, is elected, and that the republicans have a good majority in both houses of the legislature, the only question left at issue being the size of the majorities. This insures to the republicans the redistricting of the state for congressmen, so the outrageous gerrymandering of the state which was perpetrated by the democratic legislature several years ago at the bidding of Sam Randall, and which kept the last national house of representatives democratic, cannot be repeated.

The returns from Iowa, up to the evening of the 12th, did not materially modify the previous reports. The reports received by the state registrar indicated a majority for Sherman, republican, for governor, of 34,000 to 35,000, and a plurality of about 50,000; also that the republicans will have forty-four out of fifty senators, and seventy-eight out of one hundred representatives, a majority of ninety-four on joint ballot.

News and Notes.

Mr. Parnell was arrested in Dublin, Ireland, on the 13th inst., and lodged in Kilmainham jail.

Congressman Jorgeasen of Virginia, who has hitherto opposed Mahone, has come out strongly in his support.

A mill in Philadelphia in which thirty-five persons, many of them females, were employed, was burned on Wednesday night, Oct. 12th. One man is missing; one girl was killed by jumping from a window, and at least twenty were injured, of whom half are expected to die. Two girls died before morning from their burns.

Henry Whitney of Norwood, Mass., and a man whose name is not given, started from Annisquam river, Mass., on a gunning excursion in Ipswich bay, early Tuesday morning, Oct. 11th. The boat was found on Coffin's beach, Ipswich bay, a few hours later, full of water, and Whitney's dead body was found on the beach next morning. The boat is supposed to have been capsized by the breakers.

By a collision between two trains on the New York & New England railroad at Hyde Park, Mass., on the 12th inst., two men were killed and five gravel cars smashed.

The "pink-eye" is reported as very prevalent among the horses in Rutland, Vermont.

Robert Jamison of Coleraine, Mass., a Scotchman fifty years old, was arrested Tuesday night, the 11th inst., for abusing his family, and Wednesday morning was found dead in the lockup at Shelburne Falls, having hanged himself with a bed-quilt.

The convicts in the Ohio penitentiary have sent $100 to the Michigan sufferers, raising the money by denying themselves the luxury of tobacco and by the sale of trinkets which they had made.

There seems to be a strain of murder in the blood of the McDermotts of Jeffersonville, Ind. Jim McDermott killed a man in 1846, and was hanged. His son John stabbed his wife to death in 1874, and then committed suicide. His grandson Edward wantonly took the lives of two drunken companions in a bar-room a few days ago.

The British steamer Corsica, from London for Bombay, has foundered off Cape Roca. Only five persons escaped out of a crew of twenty-six.

Charles Keiser and Will Whitson were young men in Chama, New Mexico, and bosom friends. Whitson, who was known as "Tex," held the office of town marshal, and seeing Keiser carrying a pistol in violation of local ordinances, deemed it his duty, notwithstanding their friendship, to disarm him. Keiser refused to surrender his pistol, a quarrel ensued, and Tex proposed that they should fight a duel then and there. It was eleven o'clock at night, but clear. Keiser accepted the challenge, and separating ten paces, they began to fire at each other. In half an hour both were dead. The manner in which they received their injuries was in itself singular. At the first fire Keiser shot Tex almost through the heart. As Tex stumbled and fell he fired four times in quick succession, and one of the balls passed completely through Keiser's body.

The democratic state convention of New York was held in Albany, closing its labors on the 12th inst. The Tammany and Irving hall delegations from New York city were not admitted to participate in the convention, whereat the city rings are very wroth, and Tammany proposes to make trouble.

Eleven dead bodies had been recovered up to noon on the 13th inst., from the ruins of the mill burned in Philadelphia the previous evening.

Allen Fairbanks reported to the Chicago police, Oct. 12th, that his house at Wheaton, Dupage county, was entered at 1:30 o'clock that morning by five masked burglars, who after tying and gagging himself, wife and two hired girls, robbed him of $10,000 in government bonds, and a large quantity of silver. The thieves resorted to torture in order to force the victim to disclose the whereabouts of the money.

Secret service officers at Philadelphia, Pa., on the 12th inst., arrested John Blaylor and Charles B. Watson, in the act of manufacturing counterfeit silver coin. Watson is an old offender. Machinery and metals used in the coinage were captured, as well as a lot of partially finished twenty-five and fifty cent coins. The accused were committed in default of $3,000 bail each.

By the loss of the fishing schooner Guy Cunningham, of Gloucester, Mass., which sailed July 30th on a halibut trip to the banks of Newfoundland, fourteen men perished, five wives were made widows, and thirteen children were made orphans. The schooner, a staunch vessel only four years old, is supposed to have been run down at night by an ocean steamship, as no severe gale occurred about the time of her loss. Another banker is reported to have picked up about seven hundred fathoms of trawl gear, supposed to have belonged to the missing vessel.

New Hampshire Fire Insurance Co.

The recent amendment to the charter for a million dollars capital, and the unanimous vote of the stockholders to issue $250,000 additional stock, is an important movement, and clearly indicates not only a successful stock fire insurance company in New Hampshire, but a large and safe financial corporation, that will aid in developing the industries of the state. Insurance capital is as necessary as banking capital in the prosecution of business enterprises. The merchant, manufacturer, farmer, and all industries, cannot rest in security without the protection and benefits of insurance. If there is an honorable and useful business to be fostered in this state, it is fire underwriting. As people prefer to patronize banks and moneyed institutions in their own state, and deal with men they know, the property owners of New Hampshire naturally look to this pioneer company for protection from fire losses. This increase of capital stock to a round half million dollars, will meet the approbation of tax payers and insurers. During the past eleven years this company has paid over $25,000 in taxes to the state treasury, and paid more losses and more promptly, in New Hampshire, than any other company. The science of fire underwriting has evidently been studied, and the safest rules adopted.

The company early developed noticeable features which led to healthy growth, success and permanency. Care in the selection of responsible, worthy agents, discrimination in risks, close economy, prudent dividends, sound investments, prompt and fair payment of losses by fire, and fair and generous dealing towards all. This sound conservative policy won confidence, patronage and strength each successive year.

The twenty-third consecutive progressive statement shows a remarkable record during the eleven years of its history, and the $850,000 available cash assets is creditable; but more than all that, what gives business popularity and reputation to the New Hampshire company, is the promptitude with which 2620 losses have been paid, amounting to $902,000, during its history, and the laudable desire to deal honestly and honorably with every policy holder.—Manchester Union.

Mr. C. A. Hazelett is the agent in this city.

The South Shore Steamship company has purchased the city of Bangor, a steamer of about 200 tons, which will be run between this city and Boston while the Acushnet is receiving her new boiler. —Times.

The derelict schooner Royal Oak was towed into this harbor on the 8th inst., as first reported, though the report was afterward contradicted. The Cape Ann Bulletin, of Gloucester, Mass., in its issue of the 12th inst. says: "Schooner Wm. E. Terry of this port put into Portsmouth last week, having in tow schooner Royal Oak, of Ellsworth, Me., derelict, which she picked up forty-five miles east-southeast of Thacher's island. The tug S. B. Jones, Capt. Gangloff, took the wreck in tow from Portsmouth and brought her into this harbor Sunday. The schooner had both mast cut away, and was stripped of her rigging. The boat was gone, and nothing could be learned of the whereabouts of the crew."

With about half the precincts of the state to be heard from, it looks as if Foster's majority will be 15,000. * * Returns indicate the election of twenty republican and thirteen democratic senators; two districts included in the above are still in doubt, one being claimed by the republicans, and the other conceded to the democrats. It is thought that the republicans will have from thirty to thirty-five majority in the house. Should the official figures verify the above, the republicans will have larger majorities in both branches of the general assembly than they had in the last body.—Boston Post's despatch, 12th.

Mr. Samuel Shapleigh, Jr., of Eliot, has a dog, "Nero," which is a mighty hunter, the strength of the game pursued having no deterring effect upon him. Nero has this year killed upward of twenty skunks, going off by himself to hunt up the animals, which are generally avoided by dogs almost as carefully as by men. In the country districts there is a widespread belief in the virtue of skunk fat as a remedy for sprains and rheumatic affections, and years ago, when we worked on a farm, we were personally cognizant of several remarkable cures of rheumatism through the use of skunk's fat whether resulting from the inherent efficacy of the grease, or from the patients' faith in its efficacy, we cannot say. The fat of these somewhat unsavory animals is as sweet as that from any other creatures, and Mr. Shapleigh tries out the game brought home by Nero, readily disposing of the proceeds to persons troubled with strained muscles or rheumatic pains.

GUNNERS AT THE NUBBLE.

The following note, evidently addressed to some one in this city, was picked up on Tuesday of this week outside of York Nubble, the address being illegible:

NUBBLE, Oct. 5th.

Dear Chum: Enclosed you will find the fulfillment of my promise. It is cold to-day, but we are having a jolly time. Plenty of game—wish you were here. My brother Charlie, Frank, and Capt. C. M——— are with me. Will you please show the birds to Page, and put a line in the Times? I have a reason for it. If you see Joe, tell him Charlie is coming up Saturday noon. In peace and plenty,

FRANK.

Whether this note was entrusted to some coot, or the coot was entrusted to the note, is not known; certain it is that nothing was found enclosed in the epistle. But as Frank had a reason for wishing to get a line in print, and it is evident the reporter of the Times did not see "the birds," we are going to be charitable, and without seeing, are willing to believe the boys did shoot something; and if they can only agree among themselves as to the number, we shall be glad to publicly acknowledge their skill as marksmen.

It is said that the people of York are sleeping more soundly since the evacuation.

SANDBIRDSHOT.

—The Missouri train robbers transact business on the C. O. D. principle,—Come Ommediately Down.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

For week ending Wednesday, Oct. 12.

Amount of stock at market—Cattle 2365; Sheep and Lambs 6276; Swine 16,288; Veals 53; number of western cattle 1890; eastern cattle 300; milch cows and northern cattle 18.

Prices of Beef Cattle per 100 lbs, live weight—Extra quality $6 62 1-2 to $7 25; first quality $5 87 1-2 to $6 50; second quality $5 87 1-2 to $5 75; third quality $4 50 to $5 37 1-2; poorest grades of coarse oxen, bulls, etc., $3 75 to $4 25.

Brighton Hides 9c per lb.
Brighton Tallow 5c per lb.
Country Hides 7 1-2c per lb.
Country Tallow 3c per lb.
Calf Skins 12 1-2c per lb.
Sheep and Lamb Skins 75c to $1 25 each.

The trade for beef cattle has not been so active as it was one week ago. The cattle from the west cost more at Chicago than the same grades did last week. Mr. A. N. Monroe had one lot very extra beef cattle in market, they were sold for the Boston Markets at 7 3-4c per lb, live weight, that being the highest price which any cattle have been sold for in this market this season.

Working Oxen—We quote sale of 1 pr, 3-yr-olds, girth 6 ft 3 in, live weight 1400 lbs, $175; 1 pr, 5-yr-olds, girth 7 girth 7 in, $190, $145; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 7 in, live weight 2500 lbs, $120; 1 pr, girth 6 ft, live weight 1400 lbs, $60.

Store Cattle—Yearlings, $11 to $17; 2-yr-olds, $22 to $28; 3-yr-olds, $25 to $45 per head. Prices of small cattle depend much upon their value for beef. Trade for store cattle has been dull thus far this season.

Milch Cows—Extra $55 to $80; ordinary $20 to $50; springers $15 to $60 per head. Good cows sell quick; common grades not in so good a demand. We quote sales of 2 at $65 each; 4 at $55 each; 2 at $85, 1 at $42; 1 at $50; 10 at $24 to $55 each.

Sheep and Lambs—There has been but a very fair supply in for the two weeks past from the west. These from the north and Maine were consigned to butchers to slaughter and market at a complaint.

Swine—Fat Hogs—Prices 7 to 7 3-4c per lb live weight. Store Pigs sell dull at prices ranging from 6 to 10c per lb live weight, or $2 50 to 5 50 per head.

—Long range practice—twenty years experience as a cook.

—A San Francisco barber, formerly a prize-fighter, seeing a customer take off his coat and push up his shirt sleeves, instinctively regarded those movements as preparatory to a scrimmage, and gave him a whipping before an understanding could be effected.

—Judge Tourgee says: "A man whose religion will not stand the jostling of politics has none worth saving. True religion is not a bandbox religion. It involves personal activity. Our political life is not worse than that of other nations or other days. Many good people think it is their sole duty to praise God and find fault."

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, Oct. 13th, Mayor Sise in the chair:

Aldermen present, Messrs. Stavers, Martin, Hall, Caswell and Green.

Nathaniel G. Wadleigh was appointed special police without pay at the Concord railroad wharf.

N. J. Coffin's application to be appointed on the police force in case of a vacancy, was placed on file.

The city clerk announced that the appropriation for roads is exhausted.

The quarterly report of the city marshal was submitted and referred.

Mrs. James Kennard was granted permission to repair drain on Austin street.

Langdon M. Perkins was granted leave to encumber South street, to repair a building.

The Boston & Northern Telephone Co. asked permission to connect their wires to trees; also to erect poles, where permission to use trees was refused by citizens. The law referring to this matter, as passed by the legislature at its late session, was read by the mayor, and after discussion, the second request was granted, the mayor to have supervisory power; the first request was referred to the committee on streets, to report.

A. B. Trefethen's bill for work on engine house No. 3, $157, was ordered paid.

Adjourned for two weeks.

HE PROVED IT UNSAFE.

Mr. Charles W. Norton, the well known builder, who is entirely competent to do anything in his line of business from erecting a house or putting sound timbers into a rotten bridge to making the handsomest show-case or fitting an ornamental balustrade to the most erratic flight of stairs, has recently enjoyed a very unpleasant experience. He is engaged in repairing and altering the old house on the corner of Manning and Gates streets, and on commencing operations made a general inspection of the premises, in the course of which he discovered that one of the heavy white oak beams supporting the lower floor was so far gone as to be very unsafe. Having vindicated his professional ability by discovering the danger, and performed his duty by warning all the other men to keep off the weak timber, his next performance was to step on it himself, (the floor-boards having been ripped up,) and tumble through into the deep cellar, bringing up on the bottom with a grand slam, and flattening out a tomato can that he "lit on" as though it had been under a trip-hammer. Both his arms from the elbow to the wrist, and one hip and thigh, were badly bruised, and he was so severely shaken up that his stomach was much disordered for several days; and at last he had to give up work and stick to his home. He appeared in public on Wednesday of this week after five days' confinement, limping around with the aid of a stick. We would respectfully suggest to our friend Charles that he is too heavy, too old and too respectable to gain any glory by tumbling into cellars; and that when he has any more of such jobs which need doing, there are plenty of men who could be tumbled any distance and landed on their heads without harming society any. Don't do so any more.

"BOCCACCIO."

Judging from the press notices, our play-goers are to have a rich treat in Music hall on Saturday evening, in the performance of the comic opera "Boccaccio" by Mahn's opera company. Of this organization the Dramatic News of New York says:

Mahn's Comic Opera company has scored a comprehensive and lasting success in Boccaccio, and will remain at the Grand Opera house for this week at least. The organization is a remarkably good one, and improves vastly upon acquaintance. Its performance is well balanced throughout, and is characterized by complete smoothness from first to last. The success it has attained is a deserved compliment to the manager and the various artists concerned.

The Philadelphia North American speaks thus commendingly:

In spite of the disadvantage of a diffuse and somewhat incoherent plot, "Boccaccio" is the best piece of the kind now upon the American stage. Its score may, without qualification, be pronounced superior in every respect to that of "Fatinitza" or any other comic opera of recent production. In "Boccaccio" Von Suppe has given us a work which challenges the admiration alike of those who can appreciate the best kind of music, and of the playgoer who asks for no more than pretty airs and choruses. The opera is full of melody, but it contains nothing that is trivial or commonplace, and it admirably expresses the sensuous life of pleasure-seeking Florence as that city appears in the pages of the Decameron. There is a careless joyousness in all its strains which is perfectly in keeping with the theme the composes illustrates. It would be hardly possible to speak too well of the performance. Mr. Mahn's company does everything well, but it never sang and played with better effect than in "Boccaccio" last night.

Tickets for this entertainment are now on sale at Preston's. See advertisement.

AROUND HOME.

The Times of the 12th inst. was grieved because the CHRONICLE of that date had "nothing to say about the Lancaster." The Times of the 13th inst. had apparently become aware that we had something to say concerning that vessel, and about our neighbor's "official report" concerning her.

The Pullman train from Bangor, due here at four o'clock last Thursday morning, did not arrive until nearly eight, having been detained by a derailed freight train near Biddeford.

The entertainment arranged by Mrs. E. B. Goodall for the benefit of S. P. C. A., drew a large audience to Franklin theatre on the evening of the 12th inst., and was much enjoyed by all present.

Mme. Rentz's Minstrels at Music hall on Monday evening. Tickets now on sale at Preston's.

The unregenerate on the 13th inst. stirred up the wrath of the righteous. See Times of that date.

The wreck of the ship Calcutta, with her cargo, were sold at East London, South Africa, Sept. 1st, for £1500.

The "Eileen Oge" company did not present that play at Music hall on Thursday evening last, as they advertised to do. One reason given for this action, or failure to act, was that the combination had "busted;" another was that the number of tickets taken here was so small that the company would not play, preferring to husband their energies for Friday evening at Portland, Me.

We warned our brother of the Times, last Thursday morning, that he was "liable to get himself in a state of mind." He did not heed our friendly warning, for the issue of his paper that same evening showed that he was in a state of mind, and had got it bad.

An item in the columns of the CHRONICLE a few days ago concerning the death of Mr. John A. Yeaton gave the impression that Mr. Yeaton went to the hospital in Boston to be treated. His family desire us to correct this statement, as it is erroneous. He went to Boston with his sister to visit some friends in the city and vicinity, and also to avail himself of the advice of eminent physicians concerning his case. Mr. Yeaton, although afflicted with a disease from which few or none recover, had great hopes of getting well. He was brave and cheerful to the last. A young man of singular modesty, faithful and true in the sphere in which he labored, his loss is keenly felt by those who knew him best.

The Golden Cross for September, the official organ of the United Order of the Golden Cross, contains a likeness of John D. Swain, formerly of this city but now of Nashua, who holds the important office of supreme treasurer of the order. It is an accurate likeness, but not a very fine picture as a work of art. Nevertheless many of his friends here and elsewhere will be glad to see this picture of the frank, manly countenance of Mr. Swain.

Thomas Wheeler, alias Barrow, who on the evening of Sept. 9th made an assault on Mrs. Frank Cate of Kittery with a pistol, and afterward shot himself, was sent to the county jail for sixty days for assault, at the recent term of the court in York county.

On Wednesday of this week thirty-eight barrels of herrings were landed from the Mitchell weir— very likely the last lot of any moment that will be taken in it this year. During the recent big run of herring this weir landed about 850 barrels, and probably fully as many more were liberated purposely, or escaped through the breaking of the net. This makes the season's work of the weir a profitable one. The other two weirs (the Lowry weir, set near Fort McClary, and the Harding weir, set just outside of Mitchell's,) were taken up some time ago, after a rather unprofitable season, and too early for them to get a share of the herring crop. The Mitchell weir it is said will be allowed to remain where it is awhile longer, to pick up any stray school of herring which should such happen along.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

THURSDAY, Oct. 13; Lowell, J.

Mercantile Trust Co. vs. Portland & Ogdenburg Railroad Co. Bill in equity by holders of $80,000 of bonds of the P. & O. R. R., for an account of the earnings of the road on the section of the road in this state between Bartlett and the Connecticut river, on the ground that interest on said bonds is not paid. The road is mortgaged to tree trustees resident in Maine. Of these bonds $1,900,000 have been issued. The defendants demur to the bill, and the demurrer was argued by Thos. H. Hackett of Portland, for the defendant, and Messrs. Phelps and Noble of Vermont in support of the position that a part of the boudholders can proceed towards effecting a foreclosure of a mortgage in the absence of the others.

Inge vs. Hodgdon was tried by the jury. Action to recover upon a contract for exchange of lands between the plff., who lives in Ashland in this state, and the deft., who lives in Kansas. The plff. owned a farm of 460 acres in Kansas, improved, etc., subject to a mortgage of $4000. Hodgdon negotiated with him, buying the farm for $11,000 or thereabouts, giving cash and 240 acres of land in Cherokee county, Kansas, but deft. could not convey the latter land, as he says because his wife would not sign the deed. Chase and Strester for plff.; Marston and A. F. Pike for deft.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. To the Ladies.

HAVING decided to suspend my business (Dress-making) until next Spring, I have purchased the exclusive agency for Dr. Lucyan's

Cleansing and Renovating

FLUID, for renovating Silks, Ribbons, Lace, Velvets, Kid Gloves, and for removing grease and soil; also renovating Garments, Carpets, Furniture, etc.; by this Fluid the NICEST LADIES can be cleansed without injury, or losing the dressing; Grease Spots or Machine Oil can be removed from the most delicate shades of silk or wool goods without changing the shade; and it leaves no outline where applied. I shall keep it on hand constantly and shall be pleased to show any lady who may favor me with a call, what it will do, at my residence.

New Hampshire Items.

A despatch of the 13th inst., from Washington, says: "The indications now are that Justice Gray, of Massachusetts, will not be nominated associate justice, but that it will be either Judge Doe of New Hampshire, or Senator Edmunds. The latter can have the place if he will take it, and the story is that the President is very desirous that he shall do so."

Proctor Brothers, kit manufacturers of Hollis, have removed their business to Nashua.

Merrill Goodhue, formerly a resident of Canaan, but late of St. Louis, Mo., was drowned while fishing in Hart pond in Canaan, Oct. 12th. The body was recovered in eight feet of water. His age was fifty-five years.

During the past year at the Salmon Falls cotton mills 4,791 bales of cotton were used, from which was manufactured 1,784,843 pounds, or 9,159,997 yards of cloth, and 311,009 pounds of batting.

Charles R. Morris of Manchester was on the 12th inst. admitted to practice law before the supreme court of the United States.

Some Prophecies.

The male child born in January becomes a robust, healthy man, remarkable for hale appearance and heavy avoirdupois. Hon. A. H. Stephens was born in January.

The woman born in February is of a retiring disposition, domestic and very effeminate. Dr. Mary Walker was born in February.

The man born in March is free of guile, fierce as a lion, and not ambitious for political preference. Samuel J. Tilden was born in the blustering month of March.

April's child shall succeed in all his undertakings, and perform all his promises. Keely, the motor man, was born in April.

The child of May will court the muses and be famous in the world of letters. The Sweet Singer of Michigan was born in May.

The man born in June will be an Apollo of beauty, and make no enemies. Gen. B. F. Butler was born in June.

The man born in July is of a very peaceful, non-combative nature, and mild and winning in utterances. Senator Mahone was born in July.

August's child is not aspiring, is statesmanlike in all his actions, and loves party above self. Boss Tommy Kelly was born in August.

The man born in September is full of patriotism and a warm love of his country and its institutions. Benedict Arnold was born in September.

The child of October is neither malignant nor imperious, but is of a very forgiving and forgetful nature. Senator Conkling was born in October.

The person born in November is an object of commiseration and charity, and will be unable to keep the wolf from the door. William H. Vanderbilt was born in November.

December's child will cultivate the arts of peace and entertain a firm hatred of travelling. "There's no place like home" is a motto he will strictly adhere to. Gen. U. S. Grant was born in December.

—Inquirer: "What is the most common relief for a boil?" The most common is profanity. Kicking the dog, abusing your family and getting into a lawsuit with your neighbor, are reliefs also used.

—First gentleman with the nasal flush—"I tell you, sir, it's the drinkin' in business hours that's ruinin' our populace. Why, see me. I ain't been drunk in my business hours in twenty years. I remember the date because I retired permanently from commercial life in 1861, and that kinder fixed it in my memory."

The gentlemen who essayed to serenade Miss L. a few evenings since, should have had "clear" throats, and their efforts would have been better appreciated. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is the best remedy extant for a "thick" or congested condition of the throat and bronchial tubes, giving instant relief.

—A clergyman preaching against the Swedish seer, drew a graphic picture of the Swedenborgian heaven, which he said had beautiful fields, fine horses, cows, and pretty flowers, when in the midst of his glowing description one of the sisters went into raptures, and shouted "Glory, glory, glory!" This so disconcerted the preacher that he paused, when an elder called out to the shouter: "Hold on there, sister, you're shouting over the wrong heaven."

Terrible Loss of Life.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

—In the mountains—Arabella (whose soul is wrapped in science:) "Charles, isn't this gneiss?" Charles (who is deeply interested in Arabella:) "Nice! It's delicious."

Captain Courtney!

Says: While on the coast of Africa I had three men sick with malarial fever. I cured them with Sulphur Bitters. It is the greatest blood purifier I ever saw. I always keep them in my medicine chest. —Ship Nautilus, Baltimore.

—Mabel (aged twenty) to Edith (aged five:) "There, Edith, do stop hugging me; you'll drag me to death." Edith: "You didn't talk that way to Charley Brown t'other evening, and he weighs ever so much more as I."

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

FELLOWS'
Compound Syrup of Hypo-phos-phites
After numerous experiments Mr. Fellows succeeded in producing this combination of Hypophosphites, which has not only restored him to health, but has since been found so successful in the treatment of disease emanating from loss of nerve power, and consequently muscular relaxation, viz:

Aphonia (loss of voice),	Neuralgia,
Anæmia,	Nervous debility,
Chronic Diarrhœa,	Whooping Cough,
Dyspepsia,	Congestion of the Lungs,
Fever and Ague,	Palpitation of the Heart,
Leucorrhœa,	Melancholy,
Malaria,	Mental Depression,
	Nervousness.

MALARIA.
Persons living in Malarious districts may protect themselves from attacks of fever by the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. Its effects in toning up the system enables us to ward off contagious disorders, and successfully combat disease.

The soluble phosphites and the other life-sustaining principles composing Fellows' Hypophosphites are so carefully proportioned and so judiciously mingled, that their action upon the nerves, muscles and membranes in imparting vitality, strength and healthy action is generally apparent within twenty four hours, and the good effects experienced are of a permanent character.

HOLMAN'S

A Duel or A Wedding.

I am an ardent admirer of female beauty, and ought to have been an artist or a sculptor, but I am neither. I was bookkeeper for Brown & Co.; wholesale dealers in hides and tallow. Henry Bower, a young man of very lively disposition, was employed in the same office. We boarded and roomed together.

One night Henry and I attended one of the lyceum lectures in W——. We had hardly been in the hall five minutes before my attention was fixed on one of the ladies in the front seat. She was a little to the right of me, but as she was talking very earnestly to the lady next to her, her face was turned toward us; and, susceptible as I am, I could not but be impressed by the beauty of it.

Indeed I could not withdraw my gaze from the beautiful young lady before me. She had golden hair, and her bluest of eyes swam full of love and sweetness. Her nose was small and straight, and she had just the prettiest dimple among the blushes on either cheek. And then, such a mouth! What red lips; teeth of pearl, flashing between the roses. Her forehead was smooth and broad, and her neck, I saw, as the fur cape drooped low on her shoulders, white as alabaster and smooth as marble. In brief, I did not hear a word of the lecture.

A month passed without my seeing anything of the beautiful stranger. But about that time I received an invitation to visit my friend, Mrs. Segard, in M——. She is a widow of forty, and is the mother of a certain Miss Segard, familiarly known as Clara. I knew that Mrs. Segard had tried to bring about a marriage between Clara and myself, and I believe I was not much opposed to the match. Clara was a good girl, everybody said; a very pretty brunette, with flashing black eyes, but her form was short, thick and dowdyish. I admire a handsome form quite as much as a handsome face. I might have married her—I really think I should, but for a little affair that happened at U——.

The morning I started for M——, Bowers accompanied me to the depot. While I was buying my ticket, I noticed another gentleman come into the waiting-room. My first thought was that it was my shadow that I saw before me. He was about my height, had a light complexion like mine, and eyes of grizzly gray, and one of them turned in just like mine. He had on a silk hat, tipped on one side of his sandy locks, and so did I; and, furthermore, he carried in his hand a carpet-bag, with a tag marked "J. McD." tied to the straps. So did I.

I looked at him, and he returned the compliment.

"I say," said the stranger, looking down at my carpet-bag, "are you John McDougal, or am I?"

"My name is McDougal. I hope you are an honest man, for, you see, if you should happen to rob a bank, forge a note, pick a pocket, or cut somebody's jugular, I might have to suffer, perhaps swing for it. I can give you satisfactory references as to my character," I answered.

"Yes, that's very good. But, Mr. McDougal, which way are you going?"

"Down. I have just bought my ticket."

"Then I'm going up. I don't think we had best travel together. There's the train starting now. Good-by, Mr. McDougal. I wish you success, and for my sake don't spoil your character."

To get to M——, which, by the way, is a rather out-of-the-way place, a small, one horse town, with one tavern, two churches and a poor-house, it was necessary to leave the cars at U——, and then take a private conveyance to M——, five miles distant. I could have gone by the stage, but that only leaves U—— once a day, at five o'clock in the morning.

So when the cars stopped at U—— I took my carpet-bag in my hand, and got out on the platform.

There was quite a large number of people at the station, but I took no notice of any of them, except a tall, brawny man, in a brown overcoat and slouched hat, who started for me as soon as I stepped off the cars.

I was about to move away when the slouched hat laid his hand heavily on my shoulder.

"You are a villain!"

"Sir?"

"I repeat it. You're a villain."

"A miserable scamp," said a corpulent gentleman, coming forward and scowling fiercely.

Now I felt that I was a match for the latter; but as to the other one I did not doubt but he might work me up into shoe strings in less than three minutes.

"Will you please explain yourselves, gentlemen?" I asked, trying to smile.

"Yes, I will," answered the big one, putting great stress on the "will."

"Certainly," growled the corpulent gentleman, with a smile.

"Come this way, you rascal," said the tall one, drawing me along with him.

His companion followed us out back of the station, where we were out of sight and hearing of the rest of U——.

"Now," said the tall gentleman, turning and confronting me, "I am Captain Augustus Boynton. This gentleman is my father, John Boynton. Do you know us now?"

"Well, really," I replied, wondering in my mind what was coming; "really, I don't know any thing more about you than what you've just told me."

"Hush!" said the captain, and he bent down and hissed in my ear, "I am Carrie Boynton's brother."

"And I am her father," growled John Boynton.

"Ah, really, do you say so?" I could not help smiling, the whole affair seemed so ludicrous. "Give my regards to Carrie."

"Ha! you laugh at us, villain," cried the captain. "Look 'ere," said he, lowering his voice to a horrid whisper; "look at these."

I did look, for just then he drew from the pocket of his brown overcoat a handsome case, and, opening it, displayed a pair of splendid silver-mounted duelling pistols.

"Take your choice."

A cold tremor ran through my frame. Was I to be murdered?

"Choose quick," urged the captain.

"Sir," said I, in a tremulous voice, while the cold drops of prespiration stood out upon my brow, "there must be some mistake. I'm book-keeper for Brown & Co., dealers in hides and tallow. My father was Norton McDougal, my mother was Mary McDougal, my grandfather was——"

"Confound your grandfather! Either marry my sister as you promised to do a month ago, or take one of these pistols and——"

"O, help!"

"Dry up, you whelp!" and the captain clapped his hand over my mouth.

"Choose," said the father, giving me a kick with his boot.

"I'll mar-marry her."

"All right."

And the captain smiled grimly as he returned the pistol to the case.

The elder Mr. Boynton went after the carriage, but before I had ceased to tremble he returned. The captain helped me in, and then, seated between the chivalric father and son, I rode away. There were plenty of people on the street, but I was warned not to shout, if I knew what was healthy for me. We rode at a smart trot for about two miles, I should think, and then the captain drew rein before a large two-story white house, that stood near the road, surrounded by a high white fence. There was a gravel walk up to the front door, and several large cherry-trees stood in the front yard.

"Here we are," said the captain, getting down, and motioning me to follow.

The door opened just as we reached it, and who should fall into my arms but the identical young lady who had made such a strong impression upon my heart the night of the lecture in W——.

"O, John! I knew you would be true," she cried; and the captain snickered as he led the way into the parlor.

But once there I succeded in convincing Miss Boynton that I was not her McDougal. Her father apologized, so did the captain, and the upshot of it all was that I consented to stop over night with them, and I am happy to state that I passed a very pleasant evening indeed.

I learned too, that this J. McDougal, for whom I had been taken, was a gentleman of wealth and leisure, with only one fault, and that was promising to marry every pretty woman he became acquainted with. Then I told my story, and both Mr. Boynton and the captain seemed pleased, and so did Carrie, especially when I offered to stand in McDougal's shoes. And—well, my dear reader, I did about a month afterward. We had a great wedding, and Clara Segard was one of the bridesmaids, and Henry Bower was groomsman. And I am very well satisfied that the other McDougal took the up train instead of the down.—True Flag.

Wm. Hersee, Esq., real estate agent, No. 5 Newark street, Hoboken, New Jersey, says I was taken with severe pains in shoulders and right arm. After using everything I could, and seeing that instead of improving, it became worse, and that my arm was beginning to become of little use to me, I determined to make one more attempt by using some of St. Jacobs Oil. Before the second bottle had been exhausted I was relieved of all my pains as if by magic. I recommend it to all.

—Chicago and New Orleans are the only American cities that license gambling houses.

Lady Beautifiers.

Ladies, you cannot make fair skin, rosy cheeks, and sparkling eyes with all the cosmetics of France, or beautifiers of the world, while in poor health, and nothing will give you such rich blood, good health, strength and beauty as Hop Bitters. A trial is certain proof.

—Americans say, "As black as the devil," the French say as blue, the Spaniards say green, the Italians say as gray, and the Chinese say as white. It must be sad to be a devil and be so miscolored.

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

—The president pro tem. of the senate will draw $10,000 a year—the salary of the vice-president. A senator receives but $5,000.

Castoria.

—The last definition of the legal phrase, "moving for a new trial," is courting a second wife.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritibility and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

—It is difficult to get the noise out of a boy. Of course you can get some noise out of him; but you never can draw off his entire supply. Ten Fourth of Julys and three circus parades would leave him just as full as he was when he began.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

—Lesson for young housekeepers: "How can you tell a young fowl from an old one?" "By the teeth!" "By the teeth? But fowls have no teeth!" "I know they haven't; but I have!"

I would say to my friends, and all who chance to read this, that I have used Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam in my family for a long time, and consider it a very valuable medicine. It cures when all other remedies fail, and I would cheerfully recommend it to those afflicted with coughs, colds, asthma, etc.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

SATURDAY, OCT. 15, 1881.

The United States Senate.

On the 13th inst. Senator Edmunds called up his resolution continuing the standing committees as they were constituted at the last session, the president pro tem. to have power to fill vacancies, and it was passed by a vote of thirty-seven to thirty-five, Senators Davis and Mahone voting with the republicans.

As soon as the result was announced, Senator Logan rose and offered a resolution for the election of David Davis, a senator from Illinois, as president pro tem. of the senate. Mr. Pendleton asked that the resolution lie over one day under the rules, and it was so ordered. The senate then, at 12:40 o'clock, went into executive session. At one o'clock P. M., the doors were re-opened, and the senate again met in open session. Mr. Harris of Tennessee was in the chair, and Bayard in his own chair. Mr. Pendleton rose, and stated that upon reflection and consultation with senators on his side of the chamber he had concluded to withdraw his objection to the immediate consideration of the resolution proposing the election of Senator Davis as president pro tem. Senator Davis was then elected president pro tem. by a vote of thirty-six to thirty-four, neither Mr. Bayard nor Mr. Davis voting. The chair (Mr. Harris) then appointed Senators Bayard and Anthony a committee to escort the president pro tem. to the chair. On taking the chair Mr. Davis made a brief speech, in which he said the high honor conferred upon him came without any expectation on his part. If the compliment had carried any political obligation with it he should have felt constrained to decline it.

News and Notes.

The assassin Guiteau was arraigned in the criminal court at Washington on the 14th inst., and pleaded not guilty. The trial was set down for November 7th. No violence was attempted to be offered the miserable cur. The question of jurisdiction is to be argued and decided prior to Oct. 30th.

The town of Kokomo, Colorado, was destroyed by fire on the night of Oct. 13th. Loss $400,000.

At Hannibal, Mo., Oct. 12th, an old negro servant in the family of Hiram Westfall, after some trouble with her mistress, put arsenic into a dish of oatmeal at breakfast, and poisoned the whole family, consisting of four persons. Mrs. Westfall died that night. The negress was arrested.

Chief of Police Chamberlin of Hartford, Conn., is on trial before the commissioners. The formal charges are that he is not the right man in the right place, has not impartially used his power to suppress crimes, that he has been bribed, that he did not destroy certain gambling tools according to law, and that Hartford wants him removed.

Jack Williams, a negro convicted at Orangeburg, S. C., on the 8th inst., of a brutal outrage upon a white girl eleven years old, and sentenced to state prison for life, was taken from jail on the 13th inst. by a mob, and hanged. No matter.

At two o'clock Wednesday morning, Oct. 12th, a passenger train on the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern road was wrecked south of Waterloo, Ia. The train was going at full speed when a misplaced rail was struck. The entire train, except the sleeping cars, was ditched. The engineer, William Hardy, was killed. In the investigation the bar with which the rail was loosened was found, and footprints were discovered in a cornfield leading to a place where a carriage had been standing.

The Russian minister left Newport, R. I., with several bills to tradesmen unpaid. He says they were extortionate. The creditors have placed their claims in the hands of Gov. Littlefield.

The photograph of the late President Garfield requsted by Queen Victoria, has been forwarded from Cleveland by Mrs. Garfield. It is of the same size and style as the one which hung in the catafalque over the casket, and is silver tinted and handsomely framed.

At Table Rock, Neb., a lumber train broke loose on the grade and ran down, colliding with a construction train, instantly killing Thomas Burns, Mr. Bunker and Frank Kerr.

Adam Foster and James Thomas on the 12th inst. agreed to settle an old family feud, near Vicksburg, Miss., with double-barrelled shot-guns, in a corn field. Foster was killed, and Thomas escaped.

The British consul at Boston has received a despatch from Ottawa announcing that the lighthouse and fog whistle at Cranberry Island, Nova Scotia, were burnt Thursday morning.

In a shooting affray at New Orleans, Thursday, in the street, between Chief of Detectives Thomas Devereaux and Detective Mike Hennessey, in which eight or nine shots were fired, both men were badly wounded; Devereaux is reported dead, and Hennessy cannot recover.

At Rockland, Me., Oct. 13th, the jury in the case of the boys Richards and Grose, charged with the murder of Willie Cain, brought in a verdict of guilty against Richards, and acquitted Grose.

Several Wall street brokers in New York are purchasing large quantities of confederate bonds, paying one-quarter of one per cent. One broker has already bought a million dollars, and advertises for a million more. The bonds are ordered by correspondents abroad, but the brokers refuse to disclose names of their principals. The bonds come from all parts of the south, and the First National bank of Memphis sent on $225,000 worth in one batch.

Thirty-six married couples in Cumberland county, Me., are seeking divorces at the present term of court.

Thursday morning last James Hurley was found in bed at the Elm Tree house, Bennington, Vt., insensible. His room was closed, and a kerosene light burned low near his head. Physicians say asphyxia was caused by inhaling the fumes of coal oil gas. His state is critical.

Charles H. N. Sibley, aged about forty years, an engineer on the New York express on the Bloomington & Rutland railway, either fell, or, while leaning out of the cab, was knocked from the engine by the bridge near Wallingford, Vt., last Thursday, and died soon after. He leaves a widow and two children. He had been an engineer on the road twenty years.

The name of the man drowned with Henry Whitney at Coffin's beach, Gloucester, Mass., was William Nudd. He belonged in Boston, and was about twenty years of age.

Fetched Him.

The manager of a large commercial establishment arrives at the deplorable but incontestable conviction that he is being robbed by one of the most trusted salesmen. Unwilling to provoke more scandal than is necessary, he writes a brief note—"I know all; come to my private office 5-morrow morning" and inadvertently addresses it to his cashier, not the delinquent. Three-quarters of an hour later he receives a bulky letter from his cashier, as follows:

"Inclosed are 60,000 francs. The total amount of my embezzlement is only 72,000. The balance I will raise within a week. For heaven's sake do not expose me, and ruin my innocent family!"—French Paper.

"BOCCACCIO."

This evening, at Music hall, lovers of music and good acting will find several hours' enjoyment prepared for them, in the presentation of "Boccacio" by the Mahn Comic Opera Co. Of the piece the Philadelphia Chronicle-Herald says:

Of this fine opera we have repeatedly spoken, and we can now only reiterate the praises we have already bestowed upon it. The music is highly artistic and not at first readily grasped, while in the wilderness of beautiful melodies many superb numbers pass unnoticed at an initial hearing, but it grows upon one, and the more it is heard the better it is liked. "Boccaccio" was handsomely set and costumed, and the interpretation as a whole was finished and enjoyable, there being but little to find fault with. * * Of the rest of the cast it is not necessary to speak individually; suffice it to say that they were fully equal to all the demands of the roles entrusted to them. The orchestra did its duty well, and the chorus was fine.

Tickets at Preston's. See advertisement.

MME. RENTZ'S MINSTRELS.

On Monday evening next an entertainment will be given at Music hall by Mmd. Rentz's Minstrels. That this is not a company of the "blonde" variety is shown by the following extracts:

Mme. Rentz's Minstrels and Vienna Orchestra, under the management of Kit. Clarke, inaugurate their season Aug. 15th, at Long Branch, N. J., where they play under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Christian Reading-room Society. This exhibits a remarkable advance in the standard of this company, due, no doubt, to the better quality of entertainment they have given during the past three years. At the present time no troupe in the United States carries a higher standard for the refined and elegant quality of its stage performances than the Rentz company.—N. Y. Clipper, Aug. 12, 1881.

Mme. Rentz's Minstrels and Vienna Orchestra, at Long Branch, N. J., Aug. 15th, packed the hall to overflowing, the majority of the audience being ladies. A correspondent says: "Long before eight o'clock the doors were closed, and hundreds of people were turned away. At the close of the entertainment the Young Ladies' Society, under whose auspices the company appeared, made arrangements with Manager Clarke for a return visit, when prices will be raised to one dollar to all parts of the hall. The decision was unanimous that Mme. Rentz's minstrels gave, in all respects, by far the finest entertainment ever seen at our most aristocratic summer resort."—N. Y. Clipper, Ang. 20, 1881.

Strong support is given to the assertion that while the entertainment offered by this company is bright and lively in the extreme, there is nothing indelicate or offensive about it to anny the most refined lady. Tickets can now be secured at Preston's.

AROUND HOME.

The schooner Christie Campbell, of this port, arrived at Gloucester, Mass., on the 13th inst., with 15,000 lbs. of hake; she was from Boston, where she sold 5000 lbs. of cod. The schooner Addie & Hattie, of this port, arrived at Gloucester the same day with 6000 lbs. of pollock.

Mr. John E. Colcord, of this city, has been elected grand patriarch of the Grand EncampEent of Odd Fellows of this state. The report of the grand treasurer shows the following: Receipts for the year, $5409.98; paid out for relief, $1547.11; amount invested, $12,976.28.

George O. Leavitt has given up his appointment as assistant keeper of Boon Island light, on account of ill health, and Oren Lamprey has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

The flag on "the lookout" at the Burnham farm, Gerrish's island, Kittery, was hauled down on Thursday afternoon last, after flying since early in July.—Choate Burnham, Esq., of Boston, proprietor of the farm, with his family, having left their beautiful summer residence for the Hub.

If our friends on the CHRONICLE want any more, they may "call again." We have a file of a few of the most ridiculous of their bulls and blunders, and, should they desire it, we will give the whole list, with variations.—Times.

Go ahead, Hay-seed! We have no particular "desire" in the matter, either way, but have no doubt your patrons would be glad to see something readable in your local columns, and a list of our "bulls and blunders" would be a great improvement over what they usually get. Why don't you give them "the whole list, with variations?" We would gladly reciprocate, if possible, but we can't; we have not "the whole list" of your blunders on hand, the amount of storage room at our command being limited.

The treasurer of Faith Home acknowledges the receipt of fifty dollars from J. Fisher Sheafe, Esq. of New York.—Journal.

The schooner Mentor, Hinkley master, this week discharged a cargo of coal at Kittery point for Solon Frisbee & Co. The schooner War Eagle a short time previous discharged a coal cargo at the same place for these energetic and enterprising young business men.

We are still able, however, to get at the facts and report them correctly, and so that people can understand them.—Times.

This will be glad tidings indeed to the regular readers of the Times.

On Thursday evening last, about seven o'clock, part of a freight train on the Eastern railroad got off the iron near the "know-nothing station" in the yard in this city, delaying the Conway freight for an hour or more. On the same evening the Pullman train from Boston for Bangor was about an hour behind time, having been partially derailed on starting out from Boston.

The Manchester Dime Show will occupy the Franklin theatre stage for one week, commencing on Monday next. This show was well patronized in Manchester for six months last year, and was opened again to good business in August this year; and it has been very strongly commended by the Manchester papers. The advertisement may be found in another column.

"Hazel Kirke" will be produced at Music hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 20th, by the Madison Square Theatre Co. of New York, with Miss Georgia Cayvan in the title role.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

FRIDAY, Oct. 14; Lowell J.

Case Inge vs. Hodgdon was given to the jury on Friday, and the jury found for the plaintiff in $536.75, or $475 besides the $400 previously received by Inge, and interest on the $475.

The following-named gentlemen were admitted to practice: Newton H. Wilson, Manchester; Clarence E. Carr, Andover; Reuben E. Walker, Daniel B. Donovan, Concord; and Charles H. Smith, Newmarket.

In Bullard vs. Connecticut & Passumpsic River Railroad and als., judgment upon the report of referee was ordered, Mugridge and Chase for pliff.; Ray, Drew & Jordan for defts.

The court took a recess until Monday, Nov. 21st.

On Monday night, Oct. 10th, two barns on the James Chaney place at Maryland ridge, Wells, together with much of their contents, were consumed by fire. Aubrey C. Nelson lost four cows, a valuable bull and a horse, eight or ten tons of hay, sleigh, harnesses, carts and farming tools. These were in the barn where the fire started, and could not be saved. Mr. Chaney's cattle, in the other barn, were saved. Mr. Nelson had recently removed to Wells from Byfield, Mass.

A man by the name of Holmes was taken from his carriage, robbed of about $85, and left tied to a tree in Alfred, on Tuesday evening, Oct 11th. The robbers were three, masked, and are described by Mr. Holmes as large men. No clew as to who they may be has as yet been obtained.

Fourteen divorces were granted by the supreme judicial court at Alfred, September term. Nine of the libellants were women.

In March last a suit was entered by George R. Andrews, then city marshal of Biddeford, against Rev. Edward Chase, charging slander against the latter for statements made concerning the marshal at a temperance meeting, and setting damages at $10,000. The defendant's counsel having procured the assignment of the case for trial at the late term of the supreme court for York county, the plaintiff withdrew his suit, paying his own costs.

The "Western Sea" Again.

The United States marshal on the 13th inst. visited Daniel Goodnow's store in Boston, and seized one hundred and twenty-seven packages of punch, rum, whiskey, wine and gin. The marshal next visited the bark "Western Sea," and confiscated some twenty-seven packages of spirits; the proceedings ended with the arrest of Goodnow on a warrant charging him with the illegal distilling, rectifying and sale of liquors. Goodnow it is said admits that the liquors on the Western Sea were shipped without licence, duty, or any conformity with the laws. His case was continued one week before commissioner Hallet. The Western Sea is the vessel which a gang of confidence-men induced Goodnow to buy and place in their charge, with a cargo of cotton, liquors, etc., the cotton being engaged of Goodnow by an "agent" of the Pepperell mills at Biddeford, said agent being one of the swindlers. It seems that Goodnow, who is a wealthy liquor dealer of Boston, is fully as honest as the others.

Byron E. Dean, aged twelve years, son of Chas. E. Dean of Pawtucket, R. I., in driving home his father's cow last Thursday evening, tied the rope with which the animal had been tethered around his wrist. The animal ran, and the boy was dragged until he was dead.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere, 25 cents a bottle. mar 8 eod & ax 8m

—The teacher had been telling the pupils of the life and character of George Washington. "And whose features are familiar to you all, children?" she asked. Instantly twenty hands shot up and twenty voices shouted, "Lydia Pinkham's!"

New Hampshire Items.

A bad case of blackmailing in Lowell, Mass., reached a climax on the night of Thursday, the 13th inst., in the arrest of William H. Towle, late of Nashua. He sent an anonymous letter Wednesday to Mrs. H. M. Thompson, claiming to have formerly done her husband a favor, and demanding that $50 be laid on the doorstep for him Thursday night, under penalty of having her home and her husband's works, the Lowell Felting mills, burned down. He said it would be of no use to arrest him, as another person would carry out his threat if he failed. This letter was handed to Marshal Noyes, who captured the fellow in the very act of taking the supposed package of money from the doorstep. He has confessed all. He was once sentenced at Nashua to a year in jail for adultery, and has been living in Lowell for a short time with the same woman. He once worked for Mr. Thompson.

At a meeting of the governor and council, Oct. 13th, several state officers were re-appointed. Joseph B. Walker and John H. George of Concord, and George P. Twitchell of Keene, were reappointed as trustees of the asylum for the insane; William H. Hills of Plaistow, Albert Demerritt of Durham, and Hiram Parker of Lempster, members of the state board of agriculture. Isaac W. Hammond, deputy secretary of state, was appointed to edit and prepare for publication old state papers.

The city councils, some time since, passed a resolution calling on the railroads to erect gates at the railroad crossings within the city limits, and as yet no notice has been taken of it. Yesterday some school children had a narrow escape at the Franklin street crossing, from getting killed by a "wild" locomotive passing at the time.—Dover Democrat.

Much the railroads care about the orders of municipal governments. All they want of municipalities is occasionally to foot the bills for some railroad job.

The "Code."

Mr. Adams has challenged Mr. Edmunds to fight a duel at Milledgeville, Ga., in order to "wipe out an insult with blood." The insult offered by Edmunds consisted in marking some of the coin in his money drawer, so that Adams was exposed when he stole it.

Senator Mahone was denounced as a coward and a liar by General Early, of Virginia, at a political meeting held in Richmond on Tuesday night, Oct. 11th. A duel is anticipated.

—They had a sham battle in Indiana between two militia companies, and Captain Emmet fell from his horse. Everybody was delighted at the fine piece of acting, and loudly cheered; but the captain got up and shook his fist at the crowd, and then violently assaulted the man who had scared his horse and caused the tumble.

War kills its thousands, but a Cough its tens of thousands; Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, however, always kills a Cough. Price only 25 cents a bottle.

—A girl slid from the arms of her partner in a waltz at Davenport, Iowa, and died instantly. The cause was heart disease.

KAHOKA, Mo., Feb. 9th. 1880.

I purchased five bottles of your Hop Bitters of Bishop & Co. last fall, for my daughter, and am well pleased with the Bitters. They did her more good than all the medicine she has taken for six years. WM. T. MCCLURE.

The above is from a very reliable farmer, whose daughter was in poor health for seven or eight years, and could obtain no relief until she used Hop Bitters. She is now in as good health as any person in the country. We have large sales, and they are making reliable cures.

W. H. BISHOP & CO.

—He had lost his knife, and they asked him the usual question: "Do you know where you lost it?" "Yes, yes," he replied, "of course I do; I'm merely hunting in these other places for it to kill time."

"Just as Good."

One of my friends who had been using Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites for consumption, was induced by one of our druggists to take another preparation of Hypophosphites, which, he said, was "just as good, if not better." The use of half a bottle taught him that, if he would consult his safety, he must return to your Syrup again.

GEORGE C. FOOT,
Mansion-House Hotel, Baltimore, Md.

—Said a drunken Congressman to Horace Greeley, "I am a self-made man." "I last fact relieves the Almighty of a great deal of responsibility," was the reply.

Bed-Bugs, Roaches,

Brain and Nerve.

Wells' Health Renewer, greatest remedy on earth for impotence, leanness, sexual debility, &c. $1. at druggists. Depot at Thacher's.

—An Indian preacher in the west, who received a dollar for every sermon, on being told that it was poor pay, stoically closing one eye answered: "Ugh! poor preach!"

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Daily Chronicle.

The True Story of Pocahontas.

A correspondent of the Springfield Union takes the romance out of the pathetic story of the Indian maiden Pocahontas, who has so long been credited with saving the life of Capt. John Smith, by relating the following bit of information concerning her life and character:—

Soon after the breaking out of the war of the rebellion, an American in England was searching among the old English publications of the time of Capt. Smith for the early history of those redoubtable F. F. V's and others who had inaugurated the war. He found some correspondence from Virginia reprobating the great ado which was being made in England concerning the marriage of Rolfe and Pocahontas. This Virginia correspondent was a lady, who stated that Pocahontas was well and notoriously known in the colony as a lewd little wanton, who frequented the drinking resorts of dissolute young men, prominent among whom was this Rolfe, who was considered a worthless adventurer. Pocahontas was very nimble and could execute most of the tumbling feats performed by the Indian boys, such as turning hand-springs, walking on her hands with her feet in the air, etc., and for pennies would thus disport herself. Rolfe, whom no respectable girl in the colony would think of marrying, conceived the idea of marrying Pocahontas, and taking her to England very much after the style of stage ventures. He and his companions concocted the story of Pocahontas saving the life of Capt. John Smith, and the clever fiction was forwarded to England by a vessel just ready to sail. The story in due time was published in England, and the next vessel carried the news of the romantic (?) marriage, which was of course published. The English mind was now duly "fixed," and long before the romantic news had returned to the colony, Rolfe and his young squaw had taken passage to England, having been helped off by the colonists who had become tired of supporting Rolfe.

The rest of the history which has been handed down to American school children is tolerably accurate. Rolfe and Pocahontas were duly lionized in England and were enabled to return to America with money enough to set up housekeeping and "aboriginate" a number of the F. F. V's. Among their proud descendants was Floyd, Buchanan's Secretary of War, and one of the leading spirits of the late rebellion. Floyd was very dark skinned, but had curly hair. On one occasion a delegation of Sioux Indian chiefs were in Washington and Buchanan was giving them a reception at the White House. All of his cabinet were present, entertaining the Indians through their interpreter. One of the chiefs understood and could speak some English. Floyd proudly drew himself up before this chief and boasted of his Indian lineage. The keen-eyed chief instantly took hold of a lock of Floyd's hair with thumb and finger, and remarked, "Hair looks heap like nigger." Buchanan, the entire cabinet and visitors within hearing burst into uproarious laughter. Floyd was never again known to boast of his Indian origin.

It Don't Pay!

To sling money away, but I invested a dollar for a bottle of Sulphur Bitters which cured me of dyspepsia. It saved me ten dollars in doctors and druggists, bills.—Machinist, Lowell, Mass.

For sale by all druggists.

Dr. Green's Oxygenated Bitters

Are a cheap and simple remedy for dyspepsia and biliousness in all their worst forms. It is a well known preparation, and has been known and endorsed by physicians for many years, and has been used by thousands of sufferers in all parts of the world as a standard and reliable remedy.

—When the fisherwomen of Aberdeen desire to express contempt for one of their own sex, they say, "Oh, she couldn't keep a man." The lady who is unable to take her inebriated spouse home in a creel on her back is considered unfit to enter into the married state.

A Remarkable Coincidence

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

The Ohio Election.

The "Heavy democratic gains all over Ohio," reported on the 12th inst. by our neighbor the Times, did not hold out very well. Complete election returns from the entire state show republican gains of 11,446, and democratic gains of 6,389; net republican gain, 5,057; Foster's plurality, 24,062.

Naval Affairs.

While the performance of "M'liss" was going on at Music hall, Lynn., Saturday evening, a boy in the gallery set a piece of paper on fire, when somebody shouted fire. A portion of the audience rushed for the doors. Two or three persons were slightly injured, but none seriously. Order was soon restored, and the play went on.

The following naval nominations have been sent to the senate by President Arthur.

Captain Montgomery Sicard, to be chief of the bureau of ordnance in the department of the navy, from July 15th, 1881, to fill a vacancy.

Commodore J. W. A. Nicholson, to be a rear admiral in the navy from Oct. 1st, 1881, vice Rear Admiral Donald McN. Fairfax, retired.

Master Timothy G. C. Salter, to be a lieutenant in the navy from August 30th, 1881, vice Lieutenant Spaulding, deceased.

Captain Edward Y. McCauley, to be a commodore in the navy from August 7th, 1881, vice Commodore Samuel P. Carter, retired.

Ensign Hamilton Hutchins, to be a master in the navy from May 22d, 1881, vice Master C. W. Deering, resigned.

Boatswain Joseph McDonald, of the Lancaster, was transferred to the hospital at New York, sick, on the evening of the departure of the vessel for Europe.

Pay Director George F. Cutter has been granted one year's leave of absence from the 1st of November next, with permission to leave the United States.

Capt. Edward P. McCrea, commanding the flagship Tennessee, and chief of the staff of Rear-Admiral R. H. Wyman, died very suddenly on Friday morning on board the steamer Despatch, while making an official call upon Admiral Porter.

New Hampshire Items.

There was a snow storm at Plymouth, Friday night.

James H. Jackson was arrested in Salmon Falls on the 13th inst., charged with stealing a team in Haverhill, Mass. He hired the team at a stable, to go to Merrimack as he said, and then drove it to Boston, leaving it at a sale-stable to be sold, the money to be sent to him at Salmon Falls in a registered letter. When he called for the letter he was arrested by an officer who was on the watch.

Monday evening, Oct. 10th, two young men from Newmarket arrived in this city to attend the St. Mary's ball in city hall. They put up their hired team in a hotel stable, and at midnight left for home. When crossing the wooden bridge on the road home, at the saw mill in Durham, the woodwork, which was rotted, gave away, and the carriage capsized, pitching out the occupants. The horse struggled hard to get free, and got his hind legs badly injured. The buggy was completely demolished, and one of the young men, who fell on his head, was very seriously injured. The town of Durham will have to foot the damages.—Dover Democrat.

News and Notes.

The Scotch cutter yacht Madge, which "cleaned out" everything in the shape of sloop yachts brought against her in New York, in a services of races, was beaten at Newport, R. I., on Friday, by the sloop Shadow of the Boston yacht club. The course was from the Brenton reef lightship, ten miles to leeward and return, without any conditions as to sails, time allowance or men. The Shadow won by twenty-three minutes and two seconds.

John Dillon, member of parliament for Tipperary, was arrested in Dublin on Saturday, and lodged in Kilmainham jail. Mr. John Heffernan, of the Cork branch of the land league, was on Saturday re-arrested (he having recently been released from jail) and locked up in Limerick prison. Other arrests of prominent land leaguers were made on Friday and Saturday, and the most intense excitement and indignation were aroused.

Astronomers are on the lookout for the Star of Bethlehem, last seen in 1572, when it shone so brightly as to be visible at noonday, then fading away assumed various hues until it disappeared. This wonderful star is believed to have been seen in 1264 and 945, and its apparent period extended backward would indicate that it appeared about the time of the birth of Christ. Hence its name. Its place is near the constellation Cassiopeia.

The jury of the international electric exhibition at Paris has awarded gold medals of the highest class to Edison and Brush for dynamo-magnetic machines, and a gold medal to Maxim. Also gold medals to Edison, Brush and Maxim for arc incandescent lights. Edison takes five gold medals in all.—more than any other exhibitor.

At Newmarket, England, Oct. 14th, the American horse Iroquois won the Newmarket Derby, against three others.

Ralph Richards, convicted at Rockland, Me., last week, of purposely drowning another boy, Willie Cain, was sentenced to the reform school during his minority—seven years.

The French war steamers Magicienne and Dumont Dowell, from New York, arrived in Hampton Roads on Friday. Salutes were fired from the forts, and flags hoisted on the Trenton. On coming to anchor the Magicienne ran the American colors to the mast-head, and returned the salute. Gen. Hancock and staff arrived at Yorktown on Friday.

Frank Hudson, murderer of three members of the Lee family, was hanged at Dawson, Ga., Friday. He confessed his crime, and said he had no accomplices. He met his fate in a cool and collected manner.

The Scotch cutter Madge, which was beaten by the sloop Shadow on Friday in a twenty-mile race off Newport, R. I., on Saturday beat the Shadow in a thirty-mile race (triangular) at the same place, by nine minutes and three seconds.

The heaviest storm known in England for years prevailed on Friday. Much damage was done to shipping in the Thames and Mersey rivers. Telegraph wires were blown down all through the country, and much other damage done.

John Noonan, a Washington (D. C.) liquor dealer, on the 5th inst., in a drunken quarrel, shot and instantly killed Florence O'Donohoue, a laborer in the employ of the Washington Gaslight company.

At Carbondale, Ill., Friday, the 14th inst., J. H. Potts, livery stable keeper of St. Louis, shot and killed Kelly Davis of Car Mills, a well-known sporting character. The shooting was the result of a quarrel over a horse-race. Potts was arrested.

Col. Edwin B. Morgan died at his home in Aurora, N. Y., Thursday, Oct. 13th, aged seventy-five years. He was one of the principal stockholders in the New York Times; also one of the originators of the Wells-Fargo express, and held a large amount of express stock. He was elected to Congress three terms, beginning in 1852, and was a very liberal donor to the Auburn Theological seminary Wells, college, the Cayuga Lake academy, and other institutions.

Mr. Sylvester Doolittle, who built the first fleet of boats known as lake boats, and the first screw propellers ever launched for lake service, died at Oswego, N. Y., on Wednesday, Oct. 12th, aged eighty-one years. Doolittle hall, for many years the principal hall of Oswego, and the Doolittle house, its principal hotel, were both built by him and named after him.

"Pinkeye" is spreading in Denver, Col. About one hundred horses are said to be already suffering from it.

Edward Earle was hanged at Sagahill, Hamilton county, N. Y., Friday morning, for stabbing his wife four years ago.

A magazine containing three hundred pounds of nitro-glycerine exploded near Bradford, Pa., Thursday night. Two men are supposed to have been killed.

The commonwealth of Pennsylvania has entered suit against the Standard Oil company for over $3,000,000, alleged to be due in taxes and penalties.

The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad announces that it will take no more grain for Chicago, owing to the overcrowded condition of the elevators.

Robert Martin, charged with the murder of his wife and child, was convicted at Newark, N. J., Friday, of murder in the first degree, and remanded for sentence.

James A. Lanksbury, stopping at Halifax, N. S., under the alias of James Whitford, has been arrested on a telegram from the chief of police of New York. He is charged with bank forgery at Rochester, N. Y.

L. Rosenfeld, traveller for a St. Louis jewelry house, boarded a freight train at Mexico, Mo., on Tuesday night, for Centralia, not wishing to wait for the passenger train. At Centralia his trunk, containing $6,000 worth of jewelry, was missing, and it was discovered that it had been thrown off on the way and robbed of from $1,000 to $2,000 worth of the finest goods. There is no clue to the thieves.

—"How did you come to get married?" asked a man of a very homely friend. "Well, you see," he replied, "after I vainly tried to win several girls that I wanted, I finally turned my attention to one who wanted me, and then it didn't take long to arrange matters."

—On the question of admitting Mrs. Livermore as a delegate to the Massachusetts Republican convention, young Mr. Hoar, of Concord, thought that "there would be as much sense in sending a trained monkey from Melrose as a cultivated woman." Pity Mr. Hoar isn't from Melrose; they might have taken his suggestion and sent him.

—When a man is riding a bicycle he look neither to the right nor to the left, but appears to be gazing about five hundred yards into futurity, as if trying to solve the problem of the hereafterness of the unknowableness of the unknowable hereafter. He is not, however. He is simply wondering, in case of a sudden header, whether his skull would be split wide open, or if he would escape with his nose mashed all over his face.

—General Garfield is quoted as saying in a letter written ten years ago to a lawyer who had opposed the insanity plea in a murder trial: "The whole country owes you a debt of gratitude for brushing away the wicked absurdity which has lately been palmed off on the country as law on the subject of insanity. If this thing had gone on much further, all that a man would need to secure himself from the charge of murder would be to rave a little and tear his hair a little, and then kill his man."

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. EASTERN RAILROAD.

According to our announcement of last week, the time-table of the Eastern railroad was changed on Sunday. The winter arrangement gives us trains from Portsmouth to Boston at 4:05 A. M. and 4:00 P. M., Sundays, and on other days at 4:05, 7:15, 8:20 and 11:00 A. M., and 3:10 and 5:20 P. M.

Trains from Boston for Portsmouth leave at the usual winter hours of 7:30 and 10:00 A. M.; 12:30, 3:15 and 4:40 P. M.,—the latter train reaching Portsmouth at ten minutes to seven, and leaving for Dover at five minutes of seven P. M., and the Pullman train leaving Boston at seven P. M. as heretofore.

The 7:15 morning train from this city arrives in Boston at 9:05, running express between Newburyport and Boston in seventy minutes, and making the time between this city and Boston in one hour and fifty minutes, an encouragement to early risers. The train leaving here at 3:10 P. M. reaches Boston at 5:30, in season to connect with the Fall River line for New York.

Parlor cars are on the 7:30 A. M. and the 12:30 and 7:00 P. M. trains from Boston; and on the 4:05 and 11:00 A. M. and the 3:10 P. M. trains for Boston.

The Sunday trains to Boston carry mails.

THE INTERNAL REVENUE.

The admirable manner in which the internal revenue is being collected in New Hampshire, may be learned from the fact that since October, 1880, but three delinquent tax payers have been found, and that since May last not a single complaint has been made against any one for being a dealer in spirituous or malt liquors without payment of the special tax, as is required by the United States laws. We believe that New Hampshire is the only state where the taxes are so effectually assessed and paid. In Maine, where the liquor law, as it is termed, is sought to be rigidly enforced, parties who may wish to sell fear to pay a government tax, as it is apt to be regarded as evidence against the seller when he is sought to be punished in the state courts, and in that state large numbers of persons are found who sell liquor secretly and who do not pay the United States special tax. Doubtless there are isolated cases of this kind in New Hampshire, but the dealers manage to conduct their traffic with so much secrecy that they are not discovered by the law officers of the United States.

THE S. P. C. A. CONCERT.

Very favorable notices have already been given by the papers of the recent concert for the S. P. C. A. It was surprising how well the choruses were rendered, without words or notes, in such exact time, and many of them difficult for children. Special numbers were very excellent. The song which Mrs. Williams sang so well is a favorite of Miss Emma Thursby's; it is a very popular concert song. Nothing could be sweeter than little Gracie Goodall in her songs. She is not yet six years old, but has a rare and powerful voice. As a little Quaker she was irresistible; as yet too young to be conscious of the meaning of the hearty "encores" which recalled her to the stage, she was more pleased with the sweet flowers so unexpectedly and liberally showered upon her. She and her brother inherit much musical talent. In fact, so little of the programme was indifferent and so much excellent, that criticism would be unfair. Miss Varrel, the young lady who sang three songs so prettily, has a voice of moderate compass and power, but makes the very most of it by very clear enunciation and graceful dramatic manner.

We learn from Mrs. Goodall that she could easily have found eighty voices glad to join her chorus, could she have accommodated them in her parlor rehearsals. This fact shows the need of a children's singing-school in our city; will not one of our music teachers organize such a class? The children were all sorry when the rehearsals were closed, expressing their thanks to Mrs. Goodall, and all "so sorry that their enjoyment was over."

Altogether it may be called a success. Franklin theatre is a most excellent place for vocal performances; it being compact and high, the sound is well diffused, and the softest voice can be distinctly heard in all parts of the hall. A good many tickets were given to the children as a reward for their earnest endeavors to learn their parts, but the public responded very kindly to the call, and a fine audience was secured notwithstanding the other entertainments, and the excursion to Boston. MME. RENTZ'S MINSTRELS.

Of the show to be given at Music hall this evening a western paper thus speaks:

A far more appropriate name would be "Grand Concert of Refined Musical Novelties." Its peculiar nature and title may have led some to suppose that Mme. Rentz's Minstrels was hardly the proper thing for a lady to visit, but the impression is erroneous, as a more refined entertainment could not possibly be placed upon the stage. From beginning to end it was replete with novel specialties and charming vocalism.

The Republican of Springfield, Mass., says:

They presented one of the most enjoyable entertainments ever seen in this city. Where all was so very good it is difficult to individualize, but the musical portion of the entertainment was of an order to surprise everybody.

The Danbury (Conn.) News says:

The large audience present will bear us out in the assertion that it is one of the most charming melanges of melody and refined mirth ever witnessed in this place, and the prediction is confidently made that should they ever return no hall in this vicinity will be able to hold their many admirers.

AROUND HOME.

The performance of Von Suppe's comic opera "Boccaccio," at Music hall Saturday evening, was attended by a small audience, but nevertheless the play was given in a manner to greatly please all who did attend, many of the pieces being encored, and the applause liberal throughout. Many of the costumes were very handsome, and there was much good singing. The entertainment offered deserved a full house.

The house on the Greenland town farm took fire on Saturday, and the roof was burned off. Loss covered by insurance.

Thursday evening, Oct. 20th, the Madison Square Theatre Co. of New York will present the great drama, "Hazel Kirke," on the Music hall stage, with Miss Georgia Cayvan as Hazel Kirke, and the rest of the cast the same as in New York. Miss Cayvan is favorably known here as a reader, but this is her first appearance as an actress before a Portsmouth audience. She is not new to the part, however, having taken it over two hundred times in the Madison Square theatre, with great success. Tickets will be on sale at Preston's drug store to-morrow.

An empty flat car on the Eastern railroad was thrown from the track near Biddeford on Friday afternoon, owing to the draw-bar pulling out. The train, which was bound west, was delayed about an hour.

Oliver Doud Byron will appear at Music hall on Monday evening, Oct. 24th, in "Across the Continent."

We are informed that Mr. Daniel Mason, who for some years has successfully operated the planing and saw mill on Green street, has notified the owner of the buildings, E. C. Spinney, Esq., of his intention to give up the establishment, the filling in of the dock to make the new street having so curtailed the storage-room for saw-logs as to make the property of comparatively small value for a saw mill.

The schooners Daniel C. Baker and Julia A., of this port, arrived at Gloucester, Mass., on Thursday of last week, and the Norma on Friday, all intending to engage in the pollock fishery.

George A. Hammond has been awarded the contract for white-oak knees and red-oak piles for the Kittery navy yard, and Thomas E. Call & Son, of this city, the yellow pine, shingles, and oak lumber.—Times.

"The Mascot" will be given in this city shortly by the Grayson Opera Co., the first organization to produce that pleasing comic opera in this country. The company produced the opera over three hundred times, from which it may be inferred that the members are somewhat familiar with the music.

Among the real estate conveyances left for record in the office of the register of deeds during the week ending Oct. 11th were the following: Portsmouth—Andrew J. Penhallow to Helen L. Chesley, land and buildings, $1000; George W. Walker and others to Charles H. Mendum, land and buildings, $2500; John F. Shillaber to C. T. Shillaber, land, $1. Rye—Henry Knox, Epsom, to Loan Trust Savings Bank, Concord, land, $1000. Newington—Samuel D. Lane of Hampton to Wm. B. Swain of Concord, land, $4250. North Hampton—Eliza P. Philbrick of Rye to Charles Stott of Lowell, Mass., land, $1000. Newmarket—George W. Chapman to J. W. Chapman, land and buildings, $1; John N. Chapman to George W. Chapman, land, $1200; Samuel B. Brackett to Benjamin Mathes, land, $150. South Newmarket—James A. Healey to Peter O'Neil, land, $1500. Epping—C. E. Sleeper to James M. Godfrey, land and buildings, $75; J. H. Witham to Epping Savings Bank, land and buildings, $350; Van Buren Purington of South Newmarket to Charles E. Sleeper, land and buildings, $125; Harriet L. Dame to Charles E. Norris, land, $465.

The Manchester Mirror of last Friday says: "The Dime Show continues to play to splendid business this week, giving a creditable show." This is the show advertised to open at Franklin theatre this evening.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"Peterson's Magazine" for November is on our table, ahead of all others, and better than ever. It leads off with a charming steel engraving after Meyer Von Bremen, "Half Afraid." This is followed by one of those double-size steel fashion-plates, superbly colored, only seen in this unrivalled lady's book. Then comes another engraving, "Lacy Hall," illustrating a love-story; and then some fifty wood-cuts of dresses, patterns in embroidery, etc. There is also a colored slipper-pattern, for braiding, in crimson and gold. The principal article is "A Day at Canterbury," which is profusely illustrated, and is of a character higher than is usually seen in magazines. The tales and novelette are even better than usual, and "Peterson" as is known gives the best. With this number appears the prospectus for 1882, when six original novelettes will be given, and in addition a hundred shorter stories. A series of brilliantly illustrated stories, and articles like "Canterbury," will also appear. Also a paper pattern for a dress every month. The price of "Peterson" is but two dollars a year, postage free. To clubs, the terms are even lower, viz.: two copies for $3.50, with a superb engraving (size twenty inches by sixteen,) "Hush, Don't Wake Them," or a handsome photograph album, as a premium. Or four copies for $6.50, and an extra copy of the magazine itself as premium. For larger clubs, the premiums are even more tempting. Specimens are sent, gratis, if written for. Address Charles J. Peterson, No. 306 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The late Dean Stanley was not very acute either of taste or smell, so that all he ate was much the same to him if it was only tender. Thomas Hughes first met the dean when a lad at a Rugby breakfast where he and six others were plentifully regaled. Mr. Hughes gives many pleasant glimpses of Arthur Stanley, as he liked to be called, in the November "Harper." A full-page portrait of the late dean will adorn the same number.

Extensive Forgeries.

Considerable excitement prevailed among the New York banks on Saturday, owing to the discovery that a large quantity of forged paper, purporting to be signed by Heustis & Hamilton of Fort Wayne, Indiana, has recently been put in circulation. Several of the city banks alone holding some of this paper, but refuse to divulge the amount. The aggregate amount of the forgeries is placed as high as $200,000. The notes were negotiated through Hoag & Luddington, a reputable firm of note brokers. Rufus Story, a director of the Broadway national bank, is said to have been victimized to the extent of $25,000, and the bank holds a large quantity of paper besides. The officers claim, however, that they hold less than $10,000.

Very taking—colds. Very glad—The druggists. The very best remedy—Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

—The wife of Dan Rice, the clown, has obtained a divorce at Erie, Pa. "Dan" is now single for the third time, and is rapidly getting to be an old man.

I would say to my friends, and all who chance to read this, that I have used Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam in my family for a long time, and consider it a very valuable medicine. It cures when all other remedies fail, and I would cheerfully recommend it to those afflicted with coughs, colds, asthma, etc.

E. S. GETCHELL, Augusta, Me.

—When a young man is alone with his best girl he is generally supposed to be "holding his own."

"Rough on Rats."

The thing desired found at last. Ask druggist for Rough on Rats. It clears out rats, mice, roaches, flies, bedbugs; 15 cts. boxes.

Skinny Men.

Wells' Health Renewer. Absolute cure for nervous debility and weakness of the general functions; $1 at druggists. Depot at J. H. Thacher.

—She was a noodle, and he was a noodle, and when their marriage was announced, Simmons, who knew and appreciated them both, exclaimed, with tears standing in his eyes, "Two souls without a single thought."

By the immense sale of St. Jacobs Oil we begin to realize that the world is not slow to recognize what is good for its ailments.

—A singular religious frenzy has broken out in Nicaragua. The people affected believe themselves the recipients of divine communications. Whenever a person feels the inspiration of a "communication" he rushes to the church and rings the bell, when the whole population assemble to hear the message from on high.

Captain Courtney!

Says: While on the coast of Africa I had three men sick with malarial fever. I cured them with Sulphur Bitters. It is the greatest blood purifier I ever saw. I always keep them in my medicine chest. —Ship Nautilus, Baltimore.

—Thirteen travelling dramatic companies have already disbanded this season.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

The great superiority of DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP over all other cough remedies is attested by the immense popular demand for that old established remedy,

DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP

For the Cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Incipient Consumption and for the relief of consumptive persons in advanced stages of the Disease. For Sale by all Druggists.—Price, 25 cents.

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

After numerous experiments Mr. Fellows succeeded in producing this combination of Hypophosphites, which has not only restored him to health, but has since been found so successful in the treatment of disease emanating from loss of nerve power, and consequently muscular relaxation, viz:

Aphonia (loss of voice), Anæmia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Dyspepsia, Fever and Ague, Leucorrhœa, Malaria, Neuralgia, Nervous debility, Whooping Cough, Congestion of the Lungs, Palpitation of the Heart, Melancholy, Mental Depression, Nervousness.

MALARIA.

Persons living in Malarious districts may protect themselves from attacks of fever by the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. Its effects in toning up the system enables us to ward off contagious disorders, and successfully combat disease.

The soluble phosphites and the other life-sustaining principles composing Fellows' Hypophosphites are so carefully proportioned and so fully assimilated, that their action upon the nerves, muscles and membranes is imparting vitality, strength and healthy action so generally apparent within twenty four hours, and the general effects experienced are of a permanent character.

Daily Chronicle.

Water Gas.

Every intelligent person knows that the manufacture of illuminating gas from the decomposition of water, by passing steam over incandescent carbon, has for some years been an accomplished success in this country, and that as a heating gas it is being introduced in a number of important works in Europe, and gives every promise of becoming "the fuel of the future."

We look upon the simple practical methods of manufacture which have been introduced in recent years, and at the head of which we place the "Strong Process," as the foundation for an entire revolution in the use of fuel and in industries dependent for success on cheap and pure fuel of high calorific power.

The Engineering and Mining Journal long ago called the attention of scientists and consumers to the importance of this subject of water-gas, and since then it has been our agreeable duty to record the complete practical success of the water-gas manufacture in many large works. At the present time, about fifty towns and cities in the United States and Canada are using water-gas for illuminating purposes, and in some cases—Baltimore being one—the water-gas has driven the old coal gas completely out, and monopolized the business. Nearly one-half the gas used in New York city is now water-gas. —Engineering and Mining Journal.

"Nothing gives me so much relief for the rheumatism, which has troubled me for years, as St. Jacobs Oil," says Mr. F. W. Brown, Glen Rock, Pa.

—"Court plaster" is what they call kissing girls. The custom will doubtless stick for a long time.

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

—You will seldom find an attorney at law—he knows better.

Castoria.

—The purest water runs from the hardest rock, and the smoothest tongue wags in the hardest cheek.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptons indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

—"Honesty is the best policy." But you have to pay the premiums in this world, and realize on your insurance in the next.

Lady Beautifiers.

Ladies, you cannot make fair skin, rosy cheeks, and sparkling eyes with all the cosmetics of France, or beautifiers of the world, while in poor health, and nothing will give you such rich blood, good health, strength and beauty as Hop Bitters. A trial is certain proof.

—A boy who had gone to see the laying of a corner stone was asked, when he went home, "Well, Charlie, how did you like the ceremony?" "Why," said the disappointed Charlie, "there wasn't no serrimony there. I didn't see nothin' but a man gettin' a lot of newspapers and such trash into a box, an' then shovelin' dirt on to it!"

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

THURSDAY, OCT. 18, 1881.

New Hampshire Tobacco.

New Hampshire raises but little tobacco. Seventy-two acres in Cheshire county produced 141,218 pounds in 1880; Sullivan county, on fifteen acres, had 28,625 lbs., and Coos, on one acre, raised a thousand pounds—or a total of 170,843 pounds for the whole state. In ratio of production we are the 24th state, in value per acre the eleventh state. With two acres less under cultivation than Florida, we raised about 150,000 pounds more than that state. In other words our tobacco was valued at $232.96 per acre, and Florida's at $44.38. Our tobacco costs ten dollars per 100 pounds, while Florida's cost but $7.50.

Virginia Politics.

The "funders" of Virginia — "Bourbons," the "readjusters" call them—seem to be losing their tempers over the political conflict now raging in that state, and to be determined on reviving the old plantation styles. Jubal A. Early denounces Mahone as a liar and coward, the object of course being to force Mahone to fight a duel, and thereby injure his prospects, whatever they may be. Whether Early will be any more successful than he was in the Shenandoah valley, when "about all that was left of Early's army was Jubal A. Early himself," remains to be seen. Mahone was arrested in Washington, D. C., Saturday evening, charged with intending to fight a duel with Early, but was released on his own personal recognizance.

On Saturday H. H. Riddleberger, readjuster, fought two duels, in one of which no powder was burned, while nobody was hurt in the other. Riddleberger first met R. F. Beirne, editor of the Richmond State, but owing to some lack of preparation no shooting was done; he then went to another place and exchanged three shots with George D. Wise, congressman elect from Virginia, but neither one was able to hit the other, though they put bullets through each other's clothing. The seconds interfered before the fourth shot could be fired.

News and Notes.

Gov. Wiltz of Louisiana died on Sunday morning.

William Young, an errand boy in the fancy goods department of Weeks & Potter, wholesale druggists of Boston, was on Saturday arrested for stealing costly perfumery from the store, and disposing of it through the agency of William Walsh, a well known thief, who is under arrest. It is believed that Young has within three weeks stolen at least $5000 worth of Lundborg's perfumery.

A disastrous gale is reported as having occurred along the Gulf coast of Mexico last week, doing great damage on land, and wrecking many vessels.

The mayor of Philadelphia has issued an order to the owner or owners, tenants or agents, of all factories, manufactories or workshops of any kind in which operatives or employes are at work, to the owners or keepers of all hotels, to the owner of every tenement house or building in which rooms or floors are let to either lodgers and families, and to the owners, superintendents and managers of all seminaries, schools, colleges, academies, hospitals and asylums, that they are required immediately to provide and cause to be affixed to their several buildings permanent fire-escapes.

Mrs. Catharine Muller, aged seventy-two years, wife of John Muller of Chicago, died at her home Saturday of hydrophobia. The unfortunate woman was bitten by a mad dog on the 29th of August, but the disease did not make its appearance until Tuesday of last week. Mrs. Muller suffered the most horrible agony, and complained at times of a great craving for water. The moment water was brought into the room she would go into spasms. She died after a terrible struggle. The dog by which she was bitten was killed shortly after the occurrence.

Gen. John C. Fremont has resigned as governor of Arizona, and a Tucson despatch says it is thought Gen. N. P. Banks will be his successor.

The distemper called "pink-eye" has appeared among the horses in Boston. It is a catarrhal influenza attended with fever, and requires skillful and patient treatment.

The troubles in Ireland are apparently on the increase. Riots have occurred in Dublin and Cork, and serious collisions have occurred in many places between the populace and the police. In Dublin on Sunday a mob attacked the Congregational church, smashed the windows and dispersed the congregation.

President Arthur on Monday requested the resignation of Mr. Tyner, assistant postmaster-general.

The marriage of Ely S. Bowen of Peru, Mass., to Miss Ruby Watkins, was performed at the house of the bride's father recently, by Rev. Thomas Allen of Peru. Mr. Bowen is a very genial old gentleman of about sixty-five summers, and he has taken for his better half a lady of about twenty-five, the oldest daughter of S. T. Watkins, late of Northampton. In this case the new wife is stepmother to two daughters older than herself, both students at South Hadley seminary. The happy couple are spending their honeymoon in Boston.

During the great gale of the 14th inst. the British steamer Cyprian was wrecked on the Welsh coast, and twenty-two of her crew drowned. Fifty Berwickshire smacks were out, and it is feared most of them were lost. Twenty fishermen were drowned at Dunbar, and three pilots on the Tyne. The steamer Helvetia, from Liverpool for New York, put back greatly damaged.

It is announced that Watson H. Gilder, who for the last ten years was the late Dr. Holland's assistant in editing "Scribner's Monthly," will become editor of the "Century."

The residence of John Miller, a respectable planter living in Randolph county, Ark., was visited a few nights ago by ten or twelve masked men heavily armed. They surrounded the dwelling, and called loudly for Miller to come out. Miller was absent in attendance at a Baptist association some miles away. The mob entered the house, and taking two boys, aged respectively fifteen and eighteen years, into the yard, whipped them in a terrible manner. The youngest boy, in attempting to escape, was fired on, no less than twenty shots taking effect in his body. He fell to the ground, and the desperadoes, after threatening the lives of Miller's wife and daughter, rode away, remarking that at the next visit they would clean out the ranch and kill every one. The reason for the outrage is not stated.

It is said the forged paper recently uttered in New York has been traced to John Stevens, Jr., of the firm of Stevens Bros. & Co., who a year ago made $800,000 by a lucky turn, and has since been speculating heavily and wildly.

John Redd, colored, murdered a negro woman near Selma, Ala., on Friday, and threw the body in a well. Redd was arrested and put into jail.

Edward Earl was hanged at Herkimer, N. Y., Oct. 14th, for the murder of his wife. He was the cool fellow who on his trial refused to permit the plea of insanity, declaring he committed the murder intentionally, and deserved death. A day or two before his death he wrote to a friend, announcing that Friday would be "positively his last appearance in public; no postponement on account of the weather." He met his fate with great coolness, saying the sentence was just, and he had no desire to live. Earl appears to have been a philosophic murderer, having calculated his chances when he committed his crime, and accepted his bad luck with a true gambler's resignation.

Friday afternoon, at Louisiana, Mo., Edward McQuie of St. Louis deliberately shot his wife, and then committed suicide. McQuie went to the house of his father-in-law, George L. Adams, called his wife out, and shot her, the ball taking effect in her arm, producing a flesh wound. He then shot himself through the head, dying instantly.

The Powhatan, Capt. Matthews commanding, arrived at Newport, R. I., on the 16th inst., from Aspinwall bound to Boston.

It has been decided not to send the Minnesota to Yorktown.

A Great Premium List.

The New York Weekly Express, Established in 1835, is not only one of the oldest and cheapest but best of New York weekly family newspapers. It is now making a great and successful effort to reach a larger and more general circulation than any weekly newspaper in the United States, and to this end is offered an attractive list of substantial and valuable premiums to single and club subscribers. The long established reputation and responsibility of the publishers, who not only publish the Weekly Express, but the New York Daily Evening Express, is a sufficient guarantee of the character of the premiums offered and the good faith that will govern their distribution. Besides the many other attractions of The Weekly Express it publishes regularly, by authority, the Brooklyn Tabernacle Sermons of Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D. The subscription price, One Dollar a year, places it within the reach of all. The office of the New York Weekly Express is 23 Park Row, New York.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable LUNG Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and extensive use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cts. a box everywhere.

HYMENEAL.

The residence of Capt. and Mrs. T. M. Austin was the scene of a pleasant gathering yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the marriage of their daughter Miss Lucie to Rev. G. A. Holbrook. There were present none but the relatives and most intimate friends of the principals. Rev. E. D. Irvine, of Girard, was the officiating clergyman, and as the solemn words were said that made them man and wife, their friends breathed a silent wish that life might ever be as bright and happy as it now is.

The bridge was handsomely arrayed in a cream colored brocaded satin, en-train, and wore diamond ornaments. After the offering of congratulations the guests partook of a most excellent wedding repast, and later the bride and groom left for a bridal tour to New York, Boston and Portsmouth, N. H., returning to Erie in about three weeks.

The presents received were both numerous and handsome. The Grace Mission, with which the bride has long been identified, presented an elegant easy chair, while the infant department of St. Paul's Episcopal Sunday school, over which she has long presided, sent a handsome memento.

Among the guests present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John R. Holbrook and Miss Agnes Holbrook, of Portsmouth, father, mother and sister of the groom, who had made the journey for the sole purpose of seeing the only son and brother wedded.

Rev. G. A. Holbrook is now installed as rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church in Bellevue, O., where they will take up their future residence, not however until they have spent some time in this city on their return from their wedding tour.—Erie (Pa.) Dispatch, Oct. 12th.

"HAZEL KIRKE."

This celebrated play, which has had an unprecedented success, having been performed over one thousand times, will be presented at Music hall on Thursday evening by the Madison Square Theatre Co., with the same cast that won for it such renown in New York and all the other large cities of the Union. The plot of the play is in brief as follows:

Hazel Kirke is the daughter of a well-to-do English miller, and has nursed back to life Lord Travers, whom her father saved from drowning. She is betrothed to Aaron Rodney, a wealthy neighbor, who nobly resigns her when he discovers the love which has grown up between her and Lord Travers. She clandestinely marries the nobleman, and her father, whose irascible temper prevents him from understanding the situation, drives her from home. She is happy with her husband until his mother tells her that she is not his lawful wife, and that he must marry another woman, whose fortune his dead father had stolen. This, she says, is the only course to save the family honor, and Hazel, believing that her husband has deceived her, flies from the place. Her father has lost his eyesight during her absence, and as she opens the window of the old room on a wild and stormy night, she hears him bewailing his misfortunes and charging them to her. She enters and meets Rodney, her old lover, who again offers to marry her. The old man does not know of her presence, and when Rodney asks his consent, he refuses and says he would drive her from his door. After Rodney leaves, she resolves to drown herself, and leaves the house. A moment later a shout that Hazel is drowning is heard, and the old man in his helplessness can do nothing for her. The stubbornness and cruelty that drove her to the attempt to take her own life, flashes upon him. In an instant, and in his misery, his senses leave him. Hazel is saved by Lord Travers, her husband, (the marriage having been a legal one,) who has followed her. Her voice brings the old man back to the world again, and the play ends happily.

Tickets are now on sale at Preston's, and an early call is advisable for those who have a preference for seats.

AROUND HOME.

The supreme court for Rockingham county begins its October term in this city to-day, Hon. Isaac W. Smith of Manchester presiding.

"What will he do with it?" Rev. Edward E. Hale's baccalaureate address delivered at Cornell University last June has been printed by request. It is published by A. Williams & Co., 283 Washington street, Boston, and sold at ten cents a copy. In the address Mr. Hale calls the press the great national pulpit, "to which ten men listen for one who sits in church or chapel on Sunday." Moral: if you will stay away from church, read our paper regularly.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement in another column of George E. Lemon, solicitor of patents, Washington, D. C.

J. M. Tibbetts in another column announces his fall opening of trimmed hats and bonnets, to take place to-day at his stores Nos. 3 and 14 Market street.

The Manchester "Dime Show" opened in Franklin theatre on Monday evening, and will continue through the week. The price of admission is only ten cents, but reserved seats in the body of the house are twenty-five cents each. There was a larger audience than might have been anticipated, considering the counter attraction of Mme. Rentz's Minstrels at Music hall the same evening, and the entertainment offered was above the average given by travelling variety troupes.

The schooner Thomas W. Hyde, a big and fine looking craft, is discharging a cargo of coal at Jones' wharf. Seven hundred and fifty tons of her cargo will go to South Berwick, Me., by gondolas.

Workmen were on Monday engaged in laying the foundation of a new engine house at Concord railroad wharf, for J. Albert Walker.

"The Colonel" was produced at the Boston Museum on Saturday evening, and a large and delighted audience was the result. The Boston Post in its report of the occasion says: "Miss Norah Bartlett, as Mrs. Forrester, did the best bit of acting she has ever done at the Museum." The Traveller speaks of her as follows: "For the ladies Miss Bartlett deserves the first place as the aesthetic, angular, yearning 'Olive,' certainly the most artistic impersonation of the many really good efforts from this young actress. Her postures were a study, and her comedy replete with an unctuous drollery which gained for her a most distinguished success in a cast remarkable for its strength."

Messrs. John S. H. Frink and Charles E. Batchelder have formed a partnership to conduct the business of attorneys and counsellors-at-law, under the style of Frink & Batchelder.

The barkentine Hannah McLoon arrived at the navy yard on Monday with 700 tons of coal for the equipment department of the yard, which will be discharged by C. E. Walker & Co.'s gang of this city. The vessel has also forty tons of coal on master's account.

The contractors' sloop is now lying at one of the mooring buoys off the navy yard, with the "band stand" across her deck, both sloop and band-stand having been thoroughly repaired since the U. S. S. Lancaster knocked them adrift from their station on Gangway rock. It is said the band-stand is to be replaced shortly, and more work done on the rock this fall if possible.

The schooner Richard W. Denham, Hinkley master, towed into this port in distress Oct. 8th, waterlogged, sailed for Portland on Monday, Oct. 17th, her cargo of lumber having been shipped on board another vessel to be forwarded to its destination. No serious injury to the R. W. Denham was discovered, and it is thought most of the water got into her through a disarrangement of her hatches.

A team belonging to Z. W. Slater of Berwick was stolen on Friday night from in front of the residence of a Miss Picould in Salmon Falls, N. H. The team was hired in the evening by two young men, one of whom is named Stevens, and lives in Great Falls; taking two female acquaintances into the carriage they drove to Miss Picould's, and at midnight when they went for the team it was not there.

Rev. C. B. Pitblado has been down east lecturing on temperance the past week. Last Sunday forenoon his wife occupied the Methodist pulpit to the evident satisfaction of the congregation. There were no afternoon services, but in the evening Mrs. Pitblado gave a temperance lecture in the body of the house, which was largely attended, and was a very able exposition of this lady's favorite subject.—Somerville Journal, 15th.

New Hampshire News.

The town fair at Rochester netted about $1000.

James McGlone of Dover last week escaped from the Strafford county jail, where he was serving a sentence of six months for stealing a harness. He was arrested in Lawrence, Mass., Saturday, and lodged in jail again that evening.

The Strafford Guard of Dover, fifty-two men all told, left that city for Yorktown, Va., on Saturday, to take part in the centennial celebration of Cornwallis' surrender to the American colonists and their French allies.

George W. Rollins, a shoemaker of Haverhill, Mass., was arrested in Dover on the 14th inst., for stealing a coat and hat in Haverhill. He sold the coat in Dover for $4, and also sold fourteen pairs of boots, no doubt stolen in Haverhill.

Patrick McDonnell, employed at Sawyer's mills, Dover, fell through a hatchway on Friday evening last, breaking one knee-cap, and badly fracturing one leg below the knee.

Joseph Kay, a farmer of Dover, fell from an apple tree on Friday, the 14th inst., and fractured his collar bone, besides sustaining other injuries.

T. M. Comer, jailor at Columbia, Ga., and John Battrick, a carpenter, and brother-in-law of Comer, had a difficulty Saturday, resulting in the death of the former and the probably fatal wounding of the latter. Pocket knives were the weapons used.

At Cartinville, Ill., Saturday, Lewis Biggs and John J. Nautz, Jr., quarrelled in a saloon as to who should pay for drinks. Nautz knocked Briggs down. The barkeeper interfered, and Biggs whipped out a revolver and shot Nautz through the heart, killing him instantly. Biggs gave himself up.

Portsmouth, N. H.

Pontius Pilate in a Queer Place.

Mr. O'Donovan Rossa was found on a recent morning at the office of the United Irishman in a contemplative frame of mind, caused, as he confessed to a reporter of the New York Post, partly by the conviction that all men, especially newspaper men, are liars, and also by the conviction that even lights of the Fenian cause may be found to be traitors for whom the dynamite is too good.

"Was this Foye, whom the morning newspapers talk of as having betrayed the cause, a light of the cause?" inquired the reporter.

"Yes," mused Mr. Rossa, "I knew him well; he was a trusted reed and a bad egg. He sold himself for ten thousand pieces of British gold. Ten thousand pieces of gold," mused Mr. Rossa, "is a great deal of money. It turned his head, perhaps. Foye had never a strong head; he was injured some time ago; a cask fell on him."

"Of dynamite?" inquired the reporter.

"No, whiskey; he was a liquor dealer. I have suspected for years that he was not to be relied upon, and this confirms my suspicions."

"What was his position in the Fenian army?"

"He was a sort of major-general," said Mr. Rossa, vaguely. "He sold his inheritance. He will be crossed off the books."

"Then Foye is done for completely?" asked the reporter.

"Yes, unless he would turn in that ten thousand dollars, in which case we might reconsider his case. I shall have something to say about him in my own paper next week."

"Well, then, how about this other man, John Barrett, who says that he sold bogus news to the British consul at the rate of ten dollars a week? Was he a genuine Fenian?"

"He was," said Mr. Rossa; "I knew him well; he was a light of the cause, and a bad egg. His story now is that he humbugged the consul, but the Fenian leaders know more about him than he thinks. He was after that ten thousand dollars that Foye got. There was lots of them after that ten thousand dollars."

"Lots of lights of the Fenian cause?"

"Yes," said Mr. Rossa, gloomily. "You see the popularity, the flattery they receive makes them discontented with the slow methods of the league. Most men would rather have $10,000 in hand than a dukedom in the bush."

"Of course," said the reporter. "At the present rate of progress, how long will it be before the English are driven out of Ireland, Mr. Rossa?"

"I don't know," said the alleged dynamite plotter. "The time it will take the Irish cause to succeed no one knows. A barrel of gunpowder will remain quiet for centuries, but when the little match is applied there is trouble. We are making the match."

"But if these traitors continue to turn up right and left the good work will be delayed, I suppose," suggested the reporter.

"Yes, there are Pontius Pilates in every little band of Apostles. But I can't talk to you any more now; I have some letters of importance to write to the secretary of state. I am afraid he will be annoyed at the tone adopted by the London papers, and feel obliged to answer their vile suggestions."

Bleak, chilly March and November are the two worst months of the year for those suffering with pulmonary diseases. Keep Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup near by, and such sufferers will be able to brave the rough weather without danger. Price 25 cents.

—Two sons of Erin, shoveling sand on a hot day, stopped to rest, and exchanged views on the labor question. "Pat, this is mighty hard work we're at." "It is, indade, Jimmy; but what kind of work is it you'd like if ye could get it?" "Well," said the other, leaning reflectively on his shovel and wiping the perspiration with the back of his hand, "for a nice, aisy, clane business, I think I would like to be a bishop."

KANOKA, Mo., Feb. 9th, 1880.

I purchased five bottles of your Hop Bitters of Bishop & Co. last fall, for my daughter, and will be pleased with the Bitters. They did her more good than all the medicine she has taken for six years. WM. T. MCCLURE.

The above is from a very reliable farmer, whose daughter was in poor health for seven or eight years, and could obtain no relief until she used Hop Bitters. She is now in as good health as any person in the country. We have large sales, and they are making reliable cures.

W. H. BISHOP & CO.

—Somebody in describing a beautiful lady says that she has a face "a painter might dwell upon." What a big face!

"Just as Good."

One of my friends who had been using Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites for consumption, was induced by one of our druggists to take another preparation of Hypophosphites, which, he said, was "just as good, if not better." The use of half a bottle taught him that, if he would consult his safety, he must return to your Syrup again.

GEORGE C. FOUT,
Mansion-House Hotel, Baltimore, Md.

—A man excused himself for marrying, by saying that his friends declared that he drank too much for a single man.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Daily Chronicle.

Fruit Scarce.

Drouth and hot weather have injured most crops, but perhaps none more than fruit. The abundance and excellence of almost all kinds of domestic fruit in our markets a year ago make the scarcity and inferiority of everything but grapes the more perceptible this year. The apple crop of 1880 was probably the greatest and the best the country ever produced, while the apples of 1881 are dry and comparative tasteless, as well as deficient in quantity.

The best apples will probably sell at $5 a barrel by Christmas. Peaches, too, have been much inferior this year to those of 1880, both in quantity and in quality. Most of the small fruits were badly affected by the drouth, with the exception of the strawberries, which were unusually delicious and abundant this year. Almost the only fruit that is absolutely reliable is the grape. In spite of the drouth and heat, grapes are so abundant that tons of excellent Concords have been sold at three cents a pound in this city, and the quality of the grape crop is generally good. The reliableness as well as the wholesomeness of the grape is such that even more attention should be given to grape culture than that industry has received during the last ten years.

The failure of fruit is not such as to rob our tables of their most wholesome dessert, but failure is not too strong a word for use in characterizing the fruit crop of 1880.—New York paper.

Multitudes of people who have been in mortal dread of rheumatism, neuralgia and other painful diseases, now rest perfectly easy, knowing full well that St. Jacobs Oil will cure those troublesome ailments without possibility of failure.

The Lewiston Journal says the value of the fur business done in the state of Maine annually exceeds $100,000. The largest individual dealer is a man in Brewer, who handles $35,000 worth per year. The number of fur buyers in the state is not large. The chief sources of supply are in the regions at the head waters of the Andrescoggin, Kennebec and Penobscot rivers, and the streams emptying into them. Sportsmen and occasional hunters furnish a few pelts, but the bulk of the fur is furnished by professional trappers. There are many hundreds of men in Maine who earn their living and support their families by hunting, trapping and fishing, and who do nothing else, except perhaps act as guides for pleasure seekers in the summer months.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

Ex-President R. B. Hayes arrived at Norwich, Conn., Saturday evening, and spent Sunday with Rev. L. W. Bacon and family. He attended services at the Park Congregational church. During the afternoon he took a ride about the city with Rev. Leonard W. Bacon and Hon. John T. Wait, and visited several points of interest.

Up in Country!

Says: While on the coast of Africa I had three men sick with malarial fever.

I cured them with Sulphur Bitters. It is the greatest blood purifier I ever saw. I always keep them in my medicine chest. —Ship Nautilus, Baltimore.

William Drew, who broke into the house of George O. Davis at Marshfield, Vt., last summer, and stole several watches, money, etc., at the same time shooting Davis, has pleaded guilty before the court. Charles Ravey, indicted for criminal assault on a little girl at Waterbury, Vt., has made the same plea.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 19, 1881.

The European Gale.

The great gale of the 14th inst. was terribly destructive on the British and German coasts, and did considerable damage on the French coast. One hundred and thirty vessels are reported wrecked, representing a property loss of £8,000,000, of which £6,000,000 falls on British owners.

Over eighty-five vessels were wrecked on the coast of the United Kingdom, with a loss of one hundred and thirty-eight lives. Fifty-nine fishermen belonging to Burnmouth and Eyemouth are known to have been drowned, and one hundred and fifty others are missing; some of the Berwick boats previously supposed lost took refuge behind May island in the Fifth of Forth. The British barque Snowdonia foundered off North Sunderland, and all hands perished.

Great damage and loss of life throughout north Germany resulted from the gale. The river Elbe rose twelve feet above its normal level, and was covered with wreckage. Several vessels were stranded at Altona. The loss of petroleum was enormous. Five German vessels were wrecked at Bremen, and many members of their crews drowned.

Naval Affairs.

Assistant Engineer Robert G. Denig has been promoted to be Passed Assistant Engineer, from Jan. 17th.

Captain William D. Whiting, Lieutenant A. H. Fleet and Passed Assistant Engineers Theophilus Cook and Levi T. Safford have been placed on the retired list, to date from October 11th.

The sentence of the court-martial dismissing from the service Passed Assistant Paymaster Francis Plunkett has been approved, to date from October 14th.

The sentence of Sailmaker J. C. Crowell, who was tried at the Boston navy yard for scandalous conduct, has been made public. The court martial sentenced him to five years' imprisonment with loss of pay, and dishonorable discharge from the navy. The secretary of the navy remitted the sentence of the court from five years' imprisonment to six months.

The Powhatan, from Aspinwall, arrived at Boston on Tuesday, the 18th inst., having on board the officers and crew relieved from the flagship Richmond.

Commander Schoonmaker, of the U. S. S. Nipsic, at Genoa, Italy, reports to the secretary of the navy under date of October 1st, that the Nipsic arrived in that port from Villefranche on September 17th. The vessel is being overhauled. The Galena was ready for sea at Leghorn, and was under orders to Smyrna. The Quinnebaug was at Marseilles, being overhauled. The health of the vessels' crews was reported to be excellent.

News and Notes.

The post office department has been informed that there is upward of $1,750,000 in the New York post office, the result of accumulation from money orders unpaid since the system was originated. Congress will probably be asked, at its next session, to cover this money into the treasury.

Chief of Police Chamberlin of Hartford, Conn., who was being tried by the police commissioners for incompetency, at a special meeting of the board on Saturday tendered his resignation, to take effect Jan. 1st. Chamberlin is nearly seventy years old, and has been constable or policeman for forty years. The present action is the out-growth of high-handed performances of thieves and gamblers in Hartford during the circuit race meeting.

W. Hezway, while travelling from Pecos City to Eagle Springs, in Texas, Sunday, was attacked by highwaymen. He shot and killed one, and mortally wounded another. He was badly wounded himself.

About 200 coal miners from Germany passed through Columbus, O., Sunday, for the Corning mining regions, where they will go to work on a five year's contract at about two-thirds the price now paid for coal digging.

The steamer Crescent City, of the Pacific Mail line, fell over on her side in a dry dock at New York on Monday. One man was crushed to death and another one hurt; the steamer was not damaged.

President Arthur, accompanied by Secretary Hunt and Postmaster-General James, left Washington on Monday afternoon for Yorktown on the United States steamer Despatch. Secretary Lincoln left in the forenoon on the steamer Fish Hawk, accompanied by Mrs. Lincoln. Gen. Sherman and staff left during the afternoon on the steamer Speedwell. The steamer Excelsior, having on board the committee of senators and representatives and a number of United States senators, also left Washington Monday evening. President Arthur is not expected to return until Friday.

The Scotch cutter Madge, and the sloop Wave of the Seawanhaka yacht club, had a thirty mile race off Newport, R. I., on Monday, the Scotch boat winning by a few minutes, owing to poor seamanship on board the American craft.

Miss "Benny" Hutchins, daughter of Stilson Hutchins of the Washington Post and the Manchester Union, is about to leave for Europe, to pursue a course of study in vocal and instrumental music. She will be accompanied by Miss Howland of Washington, D. C.

Miss Fannie Hutchins, daughter of the government's guardian of the Yosemite, and the first white child born in the great valley, died there a few weeks ago. She was only seventeen years of age, but was known to and popular with hundreds of visitors from all parts of the world.

Mrs. A. B. Dayton, an estimable widow about seventy years of age, committed suicide by hanging herself at the residence of her son, F. A. Dayton, in Northampton, Mass., last Thursday. Though possessed of a competence she fancied herself coming to want.

Geo. W. Draper of Lowell, Mass., shot himself in the breast, Monday, at his lodgings. He claimed to have married a daughter of A. C. Wheelock, but Mrs. Wheelock denied his story and threatened to have him arrested. He is still living, and may recover.

Four houses in Sharon, Mass., were broken into and entered Monday morning. Altogether about $1,000 in money and goods were taken. At the house of Albert Hixon the burglars obtained $200 in money, and a watch; at the house of Sanford Billings a watch and money were taken out of the sleeping room; at the house of Benjamin Leonard a pocket-book, containing $50, and at the house of John S. Middleton, a sum of money and some goods.

An immense gathering of thieves and gamblers from all over the country is reported at Yorktown, Va., in attendance on the centennial celebration. The chief of police, who has but a small force at his command, will probably receive five hundred officers from other towns and cities.

In New York, Monday evening, two strangers boarded the Cunard steamship Bothnia at her pier, and on their departure the carpet in the main saloon was found to be ablaze, portions having been soaked with gasoline and covered with a phosphate solution to cause it to ignite by friction. Bottles which had contained the combustibles were found where the miscreants had thrown them after using their contents. The burning carpets were thrown overboard with much difficulty, but no other damage resulted. There is no clue to the perpetrators, who are supposed to be Fenian "skirmishers." It is stated that explosives have hitherto been offered as freight on this line and other English steamers, but refused. The officers are very reticent.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

Half of the Capital in the Louisiana State Lottery.

After the last drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery it was reported that Mr. John Conners, an engineer on the L. & N. road, had drawn half of the capital prize—$15,000. "I understand, Mr. Conners," said a reporter, "that you held half of ticket No. 6,713, the capital prize in the Louisiana State Lottery." "Yes, sir I did. On Wednesday before last (the 7th inst.) I bought three half tickets of the agent here." "Did you have any trouble or delay in getting your money?" "Not a bit. On my return to Memphis I went to the Bank of Commerce, which collected the money for me. I got every cent of it." Mr. Conners is a fine specimen of the American mechanic, broad-shouldered, well made and intelligent. There is no doubt but that he will put his winnings to good use. The next drawing is on November 8th.—Memphis Appeal, Sept. 20th.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. m.w & s & w 26

At the service at the Wellesley, Mass., Congregational church, Sunday morning, an effort was made to raise the debt of the church, amounting to $7,500. Before the audience dispersed the entire amount, within $1,700, was subscribed, and probably within a few days the balance will also be raised.

A LOOK BACK.

The late George B. Wendell was much respected among his fellow ship-masters because of his excellent business traits. It often has occurred that a ship-master has been found to be a thorough seamen and a smart navigator, but an indifferent merchant. In former days, before the use of submarine telegraphic cables, the ship-master upon long voyages to remote parts was called upon to exercise his judgment in regard to the selection of a cargo for her return voyage, when he sailed his ship upon the owners' account, and the responsibility then incurred was of no small moment. This required an extreme knowledge of markets, products, etc., and the success or failure of the voyage might often depend upon the good judgment, foresight or knowledge of the master.

Capt. Wendell was one of the many who have done credit to the mercantile knowledge obtained in the counting-room of our honored fellow-citizen, Ex-Gov. Goodwin, whence have graduated many excellent business men, some of whom have taken a high rank in other cities. In the days when ship owning was a distinctive feature in the business of Portsmouth, at this counting-room were employed several clerks, and the head of the firm was regarded all along the coast as one of the ablest merchants of New England. He has lived to witness great changes in the interest in navigation, but not long enough to be forgotten by any one of the sons of Portsmouth whose first lessons in a mercantile education were taken in the counting-room beside the Piscataqua, where still, as of yore, the veteran merchant daily repairs.

The venerable ex-governor began his mercantile life in a counting room in what was then called Fore street; then went as supercargo, as did very many of our successful merchants in the early part of the present century; and from supercargo came to be captain and super-cargo, and subsequently to a large extent a ship-owner and importing merchant. But this was in the days of a fleet of sailing ships out of Portsmouth, and before our foreign commerce declined.

AN UNMITIGATED NUISANCE.

We are requested by a correspondent to "suggest to the owner of a certain dog living on Middle street, which animal is in the habit of rushing out from his home, chasing passing vehicles, barking at pedestrians, and making himself generally disagreeable to the neighborhood, that if the animal is kept within proper bounds it will lessen the chance of his soon coming to an untimely end."

ON A LARK.

On Tuesday afternoon a half-dozen persons from the country, of both sexes, in this city attending the session of the supreme court, undertook to celebrate the surrender of Cornwallis by getting gloriously drunk and having their pictures taken in artistic grouping at Davis Brothers' photograph gallery. The drunk was successfully accomplished, but the picture business ended ingloriously; for the crowd, by continual boosting of each other, managed to get up to the studio only to be peremptorily ordered down by the disgusted and indignant proprietors. Some of the party undertook to fight, while others amused themselves by tumbling down stairs and smashing the glass in the picture frames at the street entrance. The city marshal was sent for, and locked up two of the crowd.

SUPREME COURT.

TUESDAY, Oct. 18th; Smith, J.

The court came in at two o'clock P. M. Prayer was offered by Rev. James DeNormandie. Mr. Rundlett of Epping was appointed foreman of the grand jury, and they retired after a few brief suggestions from the court. County Solicitor Harriman was in attendance before the grand jury. The following is the list of jurors:

Alfred T. Rundlett of Epping, foreman; Joshua Moore, Derry; Benj. K. Webster, East Kingston; John S. Hayes, Exeter; James B. Marston, Fremont; Jonathan P. Marston, Greenland; Frederick A. Pike, Hampstead; Charles G. Marston, Hampton; Leroy S. Sanborn, Kensington; John T. Clark, Kingston; Henry C. Smith, Londonderry; Robert Neal, Newcastle; Herbert S. DeRochemont, Newington; George A. Hilton, Newmarket; Wm. H. Kimball, Newton; Thomas J. Knowles, North Hampton; Henry A. Cilley, Northwood; Alfred Fernald, Nottingham; Gilman Harris, Plaistow; Joseph W. P. Carter, Portsmouth, (ward two;) Charles E. Wason, Raymond.

The remainder of the afternoon was occupied in the call of the docket, the court adjourning to ten o'clock A. M. on Wednesday.

AROUND HOME.

To-day is the date set for the first of the horse-trots at the Rockingham park. See advertisement.

Wild strawberry vines in blossom were seen on Sunday last by a gentleman strolling through the woods near Sagamore creek.

The claim of Hannah E. Seavey against the city of Portsmouth, for damages to her property consequent on the laying out of the new highway in extension of Vaughan street, as presented by her attorney, George E. Hodgdon, Esq., has been settled by the city authorities allowing $125, which award has been accepted by Mrs. Seavey.

The schooner Margie, of this port, 190 tons register, has been sold to New York owners. The fishing schooner Helen F. Tredick of this port, 38.59 tons register, has been sold to purchasers in Cape Porpoise, Me, the price paid being reported as $3700.

Mme. Rentz's Minstrels gave a really good entertainment in Music hall, Monday evening, to a small audience. The name of this company appears to be a bit unfortunate; refined people, ladies in particular, are shy of attending their entertainments through fear of seeing and hearing something after the "blonde" style; and those who would flock to see a "blonde" show are shy of attending this one, on account of the positive assertions that are made concerning the refined character of the performances. So between the two, the troupe does not receive the patronage merited by the excellent variety entertainment offered. They give some good singing and extra good instrumental music, furnish much clean fun, and have with them a number of specialists unsurpassed in their several roles; and in dress and speech there is less of open or suggested indelicacy than is ordinarily seen on the stage when a "high-toned" dramatic company is performing some "great moral drama."

Recent coal arrivals to J. Albert Walker are the schooners Thomas W. Hyde from Philadelphia with 746 tons, the H. W. Anderson from Philadelphia with 600 tons, and the Charles S. Bayliss from Baltimore with 729 tons.

Schooner Lizzie Newton, Moore master, from Picton, N. S., with soft coal for the South Newmarket Manufacturing Co., will be towed up the river by the tug Naumkeag. The Lizzie Newton brought in also a few cords of wood, which was purchased by Russell & Odion.

C. L. Brown and James Rand are fitting up the old iron foundry at the Point of Graves for a cider mill, and will put in a steam engine to furnish power for grinding. The presses are from the Dow farm in Rye.

The advance sale of seats for "Hazel Kirke" opened well on Tuesday, and a good number of seats were disposed of during the day, notwithstanding the almost continuous rain. The story is one which cannot fail to be deeply interesting; there are numerous trying situations, and as presented by the Madison Square Theatre company, with Miss Georgie Cayvan in the title role, the piece holds the attention of the audience throughout the evening.

A schooner was reported in the lower harbor on Tuesday with 600 tons of steamboat coal for the department of steam engineering at the navy yard, consigned to C. Campbell & Co. of Chelsea, Mass.

Mr. Oliver Doud Byron, whose dramatic organization is to appear in this city next week, is the proprietor of a handsome summer residence and grounds at Long Branch, N. J., and through his agent has purchased the ties of the branch railroad track over which President Garfield was conveyed to Elberon, and will erect on his grounds a log cabin constructed from the same. The agent received a letter from the superintendent of the road stating that they were the identical ties over which President Garfield rode on his way from Washington to the cottage where he died. As fast as the rails were taken up, the ties were loaded upon a wagon and taken to the building site.

The schooner Breeze brought in about 15,000 lbs. of fish to C. Morris Tredick on Tuesday, and the Rover's Bride about 8,000 lbs., — cod, cusk and haddock. Some of the small boats brought in medium fares, to George Herbert & Co. and Randall & Caswell.

The Dime Show at Franklin theatre, which drew a good audience on Monday evening, had a still larger attendance Tuesday evening; and if the company keeps on giving entertainments as good as those already offered, the house will be crowded the rest of the week. Though the price of admission is only ten cents, the performance is more varied and satisfactory than is generally seen for fifty or seventy-five cents. The only cheap thing about the show is the price of admission. Reserved seats are sold at twenty-five cents each.

Prof. Oscar Faulhaber, instructor in modern languages at Phillips Exeter academy, (late of Harvard,) is now prepared to make engagements for his popular lectures on Germany, France, Austria, Italy and Russia. Prof. Faulhaber is well qualified from his intimate acquaintance with European countries, to render a course of lectures upon these countries and their customs eminently interesting and instructive.

Eleazer Smith was killed on Saturday night by a train on the Boston & Maine railroad, while attempting to cross the track at Old Orchard. The coroner of Saco summoned a jury of inquest, which after a short session on Monday adjourned to Friday. It is said a suit for damages will be brought against the railroad, it being claimed that at the time of the accident the train was moving at the rate of forty miles an hour, and that it was impossible for Mr. Smith to get out of the way.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 450 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. tap15,82

New Hampshire Items.

John Andergee, a colored man, jumped off a moving train on the Boston & Maine railroad at Dover on Monday, fell under the wheels, and had his right foot cut off. He was drunk at the time.

Stephen Dixon of West Lebanon, who about two years ago was badly beaten by a gang of ruffians who were sent to state prison for the offence, recently had his herd of cattle poisoned with arsenic, seven of them having died. It is supposed the outrage was committed by some of the roughs, their term of imprisonment having recently expired. Mr. Dixon is highly respected in his community.

Mrs. Morrill Dickerson, a married woman about sixty-five years of age, who lived in the west part of Hill, fell down the cellar stairs Sunday night, and broke both arms and her neck.

Daniel Cass, a farmer of Bristol in good circumstances, about sixty years of age, disappeared Monday morning, and was found in the evening in the basement of his barn, where he had committed suicide by hanging. There was no apparent cause for the act. He was a widower, and leaves a daughter thirteen years old.

Farmington is building a handsome three-story brick opera house and town building, with a seating capacity of of 1,200, at a cost of $-0,000, which, when completed, will take rank conspicuously among the very best in the state. Farmington is a thrifty, enterprising town, the shoe manufactory of Hon. J. F. Cloutman being the key to prosperity in that region.

At the Franklin street Congregational church in Manchester, Sunday morning, the pastor, Rev. W. V. W. Davis, made a statement of the church indebtedness, amounting to $13,000. Four thousand dollars, he said, was pledged on condition that the balance of $9,000 would be subscribed that day. Only $2,300 remained, and at six o'clock P. M., after an active canvass among absent pewholders, the whole amount was secured. A chime of bells was rung for twenty minutes to announce the final success, and cordial greetings and congratulations followed.

The three companies of New Hampshire militia, escorting Gov. Bell and staff, en route to Yorktown, were very handsomely received and entertained at Providence, R. I., on Saturday, by Gov. Littlefield and officers of the state militia. The delegation arrived at Yorktown on Monday.

A boy named William Maney or Mahoney, whose home was on Spruce street, North Cambridge, Mass., shot himself through the head while gunning at Arlington about ten o'clock Sunday morning. He died instantly. It is thought he had stooped to gather nuts, when the gun was discharged.

In this moist and variable climate colds are the rule rather than the exception. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is just the remedy for every one to take when suffering from a cough, cold or any throat trouble.

The round line of steamers has reduced the fare between Boston and New York to three dollars.

Pure water, fresh air, sunlight, and a bottle of Adamson's Botanic Balsam (in case of cough or cold) will save many doctors' bills and give health and vigor that no money can procure.

An autopsy of the body of an unknown man found in the river at Providence, R. I., Friday, indicates that he was murdered. There is no clue to the murderer.

Don't Die in the House.

Ask druggists for "Rough on Rats." It clears out rats, mice, bed-bugs, roaches, vermin, flies, ants, insects; 15c. per box.

Decline of Men.

The boys in the Massachusetts reform school at Westboro' seem to take vacations pretty much when they please. About twenty of them left last Saturday night.

Save your child from aches and pains and give new life and vigor to its feeble body. Do be persuaded to use the only true remedy, sure and harmless, Dr. Bolman's Pad absorption treatment.

Near Sugar Loaf, Coryel county, Texas Sunday, a mob took James Lightfoot, a horse thief, from the officers of the law, and hanged him to a tree.

It Don't Pay!

To sling money away, but I invested a dollar for a bottle of Sulphur Bitters which cured me of dyspepsia. It saved me ten dollars in doctors and druggists, bills.—Machinist, Lowell, Mass.

Rev. Dr. Thomas, the "heretical" Methodist minister of Chicago, preached in the People's church at Chicago, Sunday. He said that notwithstanding his expulsion the conference could not deprive him of his ministerial functions.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have revived themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor life that can't work both ways.

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are the only pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 1000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

Daily Chronicle.

The Two Lovers.

"You must be stone blind, Glenn!"

Thus spoke Aunt Wealthy Vaugham, sitting erect in her old arm chair, her white cat, Aspacia, perched on her knee.

"Why, Aunt Wealthy?"

"To give the go-by to Charlie Weldon, and encourage that Mr. DeBar!"

Pretty Glenn Leighton blushed and stirred uneasily, but she wouldn't pretend not to hear or understand. She went on with her embroidery, making a blue-green lily by mistake, and Aunt Wealthy stroked her cat, and eyed her sharply over her spectacles.

"It's your money DeBar wants—your money!" she added.

Glenn lifted her flushed cheeks and beautiful eyes. "Oh, no, auntie!"

"I said you were stone-blind!"

"Oh, but dear Aunt Wealthy, you are mistaken! Mr. DeBar is a gentleman, not a fortune hunter. Besides, he is wealthy himself."

"How do you know?"

"Report says so."

"Certainly, auntie."

"Now, I wish you would show some of the Leighton good sense, and be guided by me in this matter."

"What do you want me to do?"

"Hold your tongue!"

"What?"

"Just hold your tongue. Whatever I may say or do in this affair I want you to say nothing—on no account to contradict me. I am going to test this Mr. DeBar."

"How?"

"I will show you shortly. Do you consent?"

"Oh, yes! I am not a bit afraid that Mr. DeBar is after my money."

"You think he cares for your pretty looks? Well, that is most as bad. He won't make any kind of a husband, anyway! He doesn't know your heart and soul; see your faults, and yet love you better than life, as Charlie Weldon does."

Tears sprang quickly into Glenn Leighton's eyes. It was strange that this stranger at Clover-lands, Mr Arthur De Bar, had acquired such an influence over her. She had known him but two short months, and there was no one in the village of Clover, who did not know him. He was staying at the village hotel, with no other occupation than that he did a little sketching and botanizing among the hills.

"Such nonsense for a great strong man! If he hadn't any other business, he ought to learn," Aunt Wealthy declared.

As for Charlie Weldon, he was a farmer's son, and a better farmer than his old-fashioned father, besides being good, refined in his toilet, and sensible. He had known Glenn ever since Miss Wealthy Vaugham had adopted the little five-year old orphan, and there was every prospect that the mutual attachment between the young folks would end in marriage, until Mr. DeBar appeared upon the scene. And now Aunt Wealthy thought it high time for her interference, which she proceeded with.

That evening, when Mr. DeBar was announced, and Glenn went to meet him, as usual, in the long old-fashioned parlors, she found the folding doors were locked, and only the front parlor available. Fortunately the evening was not oppressively warm, and she sat down very comfortably, and in a few moments was in receipt of an offer of marriage from Mr. DeBar.

"I did not intend to confess my feelings so soon. I fear I have startled you, Miss Leighton, but they have overpowered me. From the first moment I saw you I loved you," he said.

Glenn was not exactly startled, for she expected it; but her late conversation with her aunt had its influence, and she stammered out:

"I cannot answer you now; I—I must see my aunt, Mr. DeBar."

"Certainly. She is like a mother to you, is she not?"

"Yes."

"She has made you her heiress, I hear," he added, carelessly.

"She has."

"No doubt a very admirable woman, though I have the pleasure of but a slight acquaintance with her. Consult her? Yes; consult her, by all means. But first give me your promise, dearest Glenn! Tell me that you value my love—that you will marry me."

"I have always admired you very much, Mr. DeBar. The life you live in New York—familiar with the drama, art-galleries and opera—would suit me. I am sure that I would be happy with you."

"And you will go in the fall?"

"If my aunt is willing."

"She must be made willing," with a fascinating smile. "Do not fear; we shall yet be happy, my beautiful little bride!"

Whatever Mr. DeBar might have added was cut short by the sounds on the other side of the folding doors, which were unlocked and rolled open, revealing the stately form of Aunt Wealthy, with her cat at her heels.

"I have overheard your conversation with my niece, since the folding doors are thin," she said, as she seated herself in the chair which Mr. DeBar hastened to hand her. "I must express my pleasure, sir, that Glenn has so good a prospect of being cared for," she went on. "I had hoped, when I died, to leave her a competence; but you know this America, Mr. DeBar—one day we are rich, next we are poor."

Mr. DeBar's jaw fell.

"I have kept a knowledge of my misfortunes from my dear niece, because I could not bear to distress her. She knows nothing of conflict with poverty, and could not bear it. I fear, sometimes, I have brought her up too tenderly. But she will grace any station, and no doubt will be happier in your city home than she has been in her quiet country life. As for myself, when Clover-lands is sold, I can find an humble shelter, and go out nursing among the sick for my daily bread."

"No, no! Oh, Aunt Wealthy, never, never! You will share my home," sobbed Glenn, weeping on her neck.

"Ahem! ahem!" coughed Mr. DeBar, walking the floor, uneasily. "This is indeed—ah!—unexpected."

"Tell Aunt Wealthy that she can live with us!" cried Glenn, looking toward him.

"Ahem! certainly, my dear. Very bad, indeed. When is Clover-lands to be sold, madam?"

"At once."

"Then you must excuse me. I am not exactly prepared to burden myself—ahem!—with two ladies immediately. We had best postpone further plans for the present. I will see you again." And in less than two minutes he had made rather a confused exit from the house.

"Oh, dear auntie—oh, my poor, dear auntie!" sobbed Glenn.

"Hush, you little goose! I did not expect to dupe you. Don't you understand, Glenn? I am testing your Mr. DeBar."

"Oh, Aunt Wealthy, you have nearly broken my heart!"

"Nonsense!"—kissing the girl, with tears in her eyes. "You do love your cross old aunt, don't you? Well, don't fret, Glenn. We are as well off as ever we were."

But the next evening Mr. DeBar did not come, nor the next, nor the next. On the following day Miss Wealthy heard the gentleman was preparing to leave town, and so she quietly prepared herself, and walked over to his hotel. "How is this, sir? Don't you intend to fulfill the engagement with my niece?"

"What do you mean by this intrusion, madam?" cried Mr. DeBar, in a towering passion. "Who gave you liberty to spy upon my actions and call me to account for them?"

"You are leaving town without calling upon us. This looks suspicious."

"Haven't I right to leave town? Are you such a fool, madam, as to think I am going to marry a girl without a cent, and support her old beggar of an aunt in the bargain? Well, then, know, once for all, that I am not, and the sooner you take yourself out of my room the better!"

"Tested, weighed, and found wanting," said Aunt Wealthy, quietly. "A few words more, sir, then I will take myself out of your way." Then she added:

"I have been naturally anxious, sir, that my niece should marry some one worthy of herself and her fortune. You intruded yourself between her and the marriage I wished for her, but if I had proved you a man of heart and honor I could not have forbid Glenn's choice. In case you marry her to-morrow, Mr. DeBar, you will become the husband of the richest woman in the state. My whole fortune, far more than she supposed—five hundred thousand dollars—has been bequeathed to her. But you will not marry her. With many thanks for your politeness, I bid you good morning!"

"Oh, Aunt Wealthy!" cried Glenn; "if Mr. DeBar, who seemed tender, and beautiful, and devoted, cared for my money, how can I be sure that Charlie Weldon don't?"

"Here he comes. We will ask him," said Miss Wealthy.

The brown-cheeked, frank-eyed young man entered the room.

"Charlie," asked Miss Wealthy, "have you heard that Glenn and I have become very poor?"

"Yes, I have heard so; and, dear Miss Vaugham, I have come to beg Glenn to marry me. You know I loved her always; and I want to take care of both of you. Dear Glenn, you used to love me before that city gentleman bewitched you with his graces and wonderful stories. I have no elegant home to offer you, dear, but father will give me all the farm if I am married, and I will work like a horse to make the old place good enough for you."

Glenn rose up, put her arms around Charlie's neck, and laid her burning cheek against his breast; and Miss Vaugham sobbed:

"Oh, land sakes alive! to see the difference between the two!"—Nyack City and Country.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Circumstances Alter Cases.

In the summer of 1879, Manager Walker of the excursion steamer Ella, running from Norwich, Conn., to Watch hill, advertised Sunday excursions, and Rev. Dr. L. W. Bacon, pastor of the Park church, the richest parish in that city, delivered a terrific onslaught against the proposed violation of the Sunday law. He based his attack on the old Connecticut "blue law" that forbids all Sunday travel. His speech was heard by half the citizens of the town of Norwich, and produced a tremendous effect. The Ella made an excursion, and Manager Walker was arrested at New London. He was taken before the police court there, and put under $50 bonds. He made one more excursion on Sunday, and then, in response to a petition signed by influential citizens of Norwich, desisted. Heading the petition was the name of Moses Pierce, president of the Norwich line of steamers, who runs his vessels through the sound every Sunday night of the year.

On Saturday evening, Oct. 15th, Ex-President R. B. Hayes went to Norwich, remaining over Sunday. Sunday afternoon Dr. Bacon hitched up a fine team and took his guest and Hon. John T. Wait, congressman from that district, to ride. They visited the places of interest about Norwich. Monday morning at an early hour Mr. Hayes went out of town, returning, so it is said, to New Haven. Tuesday the local newspapers, in an account of the Sunday's drive, published a copy of the "Blue law" statute which Dr. Bacon, Mr. Hayes and Hon. John T. Wait violated. The statute reads as follows, and is the one that Mr. Bacon appealed to in his phillipic against steamboat excursions on Sunday:

SECTION 6. Every proprietor or driver of any vehicle, not employed in carrying the United States mail, who shall allow any person to travel therein on Sunday, between sunrise and sunset, except from necessity or mercy, shall be fined $20, to be paid to the town in which the offence is committed.

It having been announced that Manager Walker would cause the arrest of Dr. Bacon in retaliation, a reporter called on Mr. Walker and interviewed him on the subject. Said Mr. Walker:

If I had seen Dr. Bacon or Mr. Hayes on this side yesterday I should certainly have had them arrested, but as the affair is past I think I shall do nothing about it. But I should like to ask Rev. Dr. Bacon one question,—whether he thinks it any worse sin to carry a party of poor workingmen, who cannot get away any other day, down to the sea to get a breath of fresh air on Sunday, than for him to go riding with Mr. Hayes on Sunday when he might have gone Monday just as well? The Sunday excursion was perfectly quiet and orderly, and I did not even blow the whistles. No liquor was allowed on board. I did think of bringing the question of the "blue laws" before the public, but am willing to let it rest.

Hon. John T. Wait says that neither Mr. Hayes nor himself can be prosecuted under the law, as they were neither the owner nor driver of the team. As for Dr. Bacon, as the law stands, he can be prosecuted unless it can be proved the drive was a case of necessity.

News and Notes.

Much excitement was created in Washington on the 19th inst. by the report of a collision between the 9th Massachusetts regiment and a Virginia regiment, at Yorktown, Va., the story being that several men were killed that day in a fight caused by a display of a confederate flag by the Virginia troops. Considerable indignation was also expressed in Washington against the Yorktown Centennial Commission, for placing in the corner-stone of the monument, laid the preceding day, specimens of confederate money and a miniature confederate flag.

Daniel Hallisy, nineteen years old, of Boston, was playing with an "unloaded" revolver on Tuesday evening, the 18th inst., when it went off and instantly killed his ten-years-old brother, who was standing close by. On the same evening Michael Morrison of Boston accidentally shot his sister, Mrs. William Churchill, the bullet striking her in the side, but not inflicting a fatal wound.

Three men broke into a house in the town of Alton, Me., on the night of the 17th inst., and bound and gagged a young man and one of two women. The other woman made a noise which attracted the neighbors to the scene, when the robbers became frightened and fled. A man named Tom Jordan, of Oldtown, has been arrested on suspicion.

An unsuccessful attempt was made on Tuesday morning, the 18th inst., at about one o'clock, to rob the safe of the First National bank of Royalton, Vt., by parties entering the bank and blowing open the vault. The noise aroused the people living near, which drove them away.

Ernest Nash, eighteen years old, of Norwich, Conn., and Minnie Ladd, aged sixteen, had a severe attack of love, but their parents discouraged their plans. A week or so ago the girl went away on pretence of visiting a friend. She was joined at Ware, Mass., by her lover, and they were married by a clergyman of that town. The parents of the children were at first discontented, but have become reconciled.

Robbers entered the office of C. H. Park, treasurer of Green county, Tenn., early Tuesday morning, Oct. 18th, and robbed the safe. A hole was found drilled directly over the combination figure inside the nickel plate. About $10,000 was taken.

A young white girl named Sloan, fifteen years old, was outraged and murdered in the most brutal manner at Breckville, Texas, on the 12th inst., by a negro named Lum White, whose wife aided in the commission of the crimes. On the inquest the woman confessed to all the revolting details, when a young man named Hart shot White dead in the court room. White's wife and an old negro man who had lived with the murderers were afterward taken from the officers and shot to death.

"HAZEL KIRKE."

This evening, at Music hall, the Madison Square Theatre Co. of New York will present the drama which has had the longest run of any piece ever produced on the American stage—"Hazel Kirke." Though the story is pathetic, yet so much fun is scattered through the play that it never becomes painful, and the end leaves all the good characters as happy as they should ever be left in a properly-constructed drama. Miss Georgia Cayvan, who appears in the title role, is well known here as an accomplished reader; and if we may judge from the following, which we take from an exchange, she is equally as good as an actress:

If an impersonation can be fitly described by a single word, we may say that Miss Cayvan's "Hazel Kirke" was womanly—which implies pathos without sentimentality, tears without whining, ease without posing.

The advance sale of tickets has been so satisfactory that a much larger audience than has assembled in Music hall for a long time past is already assured; but good seats can yet be secured by calling at Preston's drug store.

AUCTION OF GROCERIES, ETC.

A. A. Payne, on account of poor health and advancing years, will sell the entire stock of groceries, fancy articles, patent medicines, crockery and glass ware, boots and shoes, and other articles, in his store No. 91 Market street, at auction this day, the sale to commence at eleven o'clock, on the premises. This is the largest auction sale of groceries and allied goods that has occurred in this city for years, the stock amounting to several thousand dollars in value.

Auctioneer Morse says he will commence on shelf goods, next gliding into fancy articles and then into light groceries; he will then pitch into the crockery and glass, and either sell or break it all; then he will take up the substantial groceries, such as molasses, sugar, teas, etc., and then assail the foundation of all—boots and shoes—ending with a skirmish among the miscellaneous articles. This sale is bona fide; whoever bids on an article will get it unless over-bidden by some other genuine would-be purchaser, and a lively sale and good bargains may be anticipated.

THE NORTH POND NUISANCE.

Mr. Editor: As with the advancing season the effluvia from the north pond decreases, it is feared we shall neglect to take proper steps to guard against the yearly repetition of them and of the complaints on their account.

If it be true that "the Eastern railroad proposes in ten or fifteen years to fill the pond," must we in the meantime endure the miasma? As life is short, the prospect of ten or fifteen years of discomfort is worthy of some consideration, and of some well directed effort on our part to free ourselves from these unwholesome emanations.

It is of great importance that we should make this city a desirable place of residence, which it never can be with odors the like of which for offensiveness are not found elsewhere. A disease "which cannot be cured must be endured," and should be endured without complaint; but he who suffers from a disease, the remedy being known but he failing to apply it, is unworthy of sympathy or respect if he complains of suffering.

So with us in this matter. Either let us cease complaining, or apply the remedy,—which is a good and sufficient pipe to take the sewerage from the whole length of the pond, and discharge it into the current of the river. The pipe should be open both at the river and the upper (or Creek) ends, and of equal dimensions throughout its entire length; it may be laid so its upper end should be about four feet below high water mark, and need have but little fall—even none at all. At the Creek end a reservoir should be built, say of twenty thousand gallons capacity, to be filled through a self-acting gate which should close at high water; at low tide (or near it) this gate should be opened, allowing the water from the reservoir to rush through the pipe to the river. By this means on every tide all the sewerage would be swept away, and without cause of complaint. CITIZEN.

SUPREME COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 19th; Smith, J.

The following-named gentlemen, returned to serve as petit jurors, reported in the forenoon and took the required oath:

Jesse L. Dolloff and Charles Lane, of Exeter; Lewis W. Bly, Warren W. Bond, Derry; John A. Robinson, Charles H. Harvey, Newmarket; John L. O. Coleman, Josiah W. Hussey and Frederick W. Rogers, of ward one, Joseph P. Foster and Winthrop Hoyt of ward three, Portsmouth; Joseph Webster, Ebenezer L. Duston, Salem; Edwin J. Cate, Northwood; John A. Randall, Nottingham; Isaac Call, Plaistow; James F. Gove, Raymond: John W. Foye, Orin Drake, Rye; Geo. H. Griffin, Alvah S. Sanborn, Sandown; Geo. W. Chase, Jeremiah B. Greene, Seabrook; Lewis W. Woodman, South Hampton; Joseph W. Follansbee, Hampton; John C. Giddings, South Newmarket; Geo. D. W. Robinson, Newmarket; David P. Batchelder, Frederick A. Caverly, Stratham.

Divorces were decreed as follows:

Jennie E. Truesdell from Warren M. Truesdell; parties from Candia; W. R. Patten for libellant.

AROUND HOME.

Frank E. Rowell, Esq., has opened a law office in Trefethen's block, kittery.

The Eastern railroad made a survey of Noble's island last week, preparatory, it is said, to filling it up level and erecting extensive buildings thereon.

"Hazel Kirke" at Music hall this evening.

In the recent cruise around the world the "Ticonderoga" steamed 53,560 miles; her engine made 13,224,401 revolutions, and fires were lighted in the boilers 383 days. During all this time there were no repairs made to the engine except by the engineer's force on board.—Nautical Gazette.

The engines and boilers of this ship were erected by the department of steam engineering at the Portsmouth navy yard, under the supervision of Chief Engineer B. F. Garvin.

The Dime Show at Franklin theatre will introduce a new programme this evening.

Oliver Doud Byron will appear at Music hall on Monday evening next, in "Across the Continent." See advertisement.

The young men and women from Fremont, Epping and other towns, who on Tuesday of this week got drunk and then made things lively for a few minutes at Davis Brothers' photograph saloon, were discharged from custody on Wednesday, on paying for damage done. They came to this city as witnesses in liquor cases, and from their conduct here it would seem quite likely they might be well posted as to the liquor traffic in their respective towns.

One of the most pleasing entertainments of the season will be offered at Music hall this evening, when Hazel Kirke will be performed by the Madison Square Theatre Co. The piece has been played more than a thousand times by the same company.

Harper's Magazine for November, (the concluding number of the 63d volume,) is received by Moses Bros. and W. G. Myers. It contains about eighty illustrations, and the usual large amount of varied and interesting reading matter.

In Saco, Saturday night, the 15th inst., the house of Samuel E. Bickford was entered by burglars, who stole his watch and a considerable sum of money from his clothes, which were within three feet of his bed. An attempt to enter the next tenement failed. On Monday night, the 17th, several houses in Biddeford and Saco were broken into, but in only two places did the thieves get much of value; at the house of Simon C. Andrews they secured $20 and a lot of female apparel worth $100, and from Samuel L. Boynton they stole $25. Entrance in nearly all these cases was effected through cellar windows.

Second Assist. Postmaster-Gen. Tyner was fully cognizant of the star-route abuses two years ago, and wrote a report pointing out the defects existing in the branch of the service. For some reason this document was never made public by Tyner, and this action, coupled with his lukewarmness in the prosecution of the star-routes, impelled Postmaster-General James to request his removal by President Garfield.

—"No, thank you; I never waltz; ma says if any of you young men want to hug me you must do it on the sly. She won't have you messing my dress up, and leaving finger marks on my white waist, as long as she does the washing and has to support me."

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of decolorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cts. a box everywhere. fmth & f qtians

New Hampshire Items.

It is reported that Strong & Burt of Dover, one of the largest shoe manufacturing firms in the state, and having a monthly pay roll of $20,000, are to move to Brookfield, Mass.

The Concord Monitor says: "Barrels suitable for packing apples are in good demand just now, and the supply is said to be very inadequate, a result, no doubt, of the heavy export trade of late years."

There was a large meeting in Dover on Tuesday evening, Oct. 18th, to express sympathy for Ireland, and indignation at the action of the British government in throwing Parnell, Dillon and other prominent Irish leaders into prison.

A shed in Great Falls, attached to a tenement owned by Supt. Furber of the Boston & Maine railroad, was burned on the night of Oct. 17th. Loss $200; insured.

The Dover people are growling because the Boston & Maine railroad is selling excursion tickets from Alton Bay and other points on the Dover & Winnipesaukee railroad, to Boston and return, for $1.50 each, while the price from Dover to Boston and back is $2, tho' Dover is nearer Boston. Dover was very indignant because Portsmouth did not wish to be placed at the mercy of this same Boston & Maine railroad.

The Baptist anniversaries of New Hampshire were held with the Franklin street church in Dover, Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 18th and 19th. Tuesday forenoon Rev. Mr. Leavell of Manchester preached; Tuesday evening was the Sunday school anniversary, when Rev. W. H. Alden, D. D., of Portsmouth, delivered an essay. Wednesday forenoon the annual sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Stoddard of Great Falls. Rev. Dr. Cummings of Concord was moderator, and Rev. R. S. Mitchell of Lake Village scribe.

Sir John Franklin's Expedition.

Capt. Adams, of the Scotch whaler Arctic, recently arrived at Dundee, Scotland, from Davis straits, says he visited the scene of the loss of the Erebus and Terror of the Franklin expedition. He found the house and store of provisions near the Franklin monument in a wretched condition. In Fury and Hecla strait an Esquimaux gave him particulars, which appear to clear up the fate of the last survivors of Franklin's men. After the loss of the ships, seventeen men started overland hoping to reach Hudson's bay. Only three of them survived the journey to the house of the narrator's father. One of these, who is supposed to have been Lieut. Crozier, died first. The deaths of the others followed.

Lady Beautifiers.
Ladies, you cannot make fair skin, rosy cheeks, and sparkling eyes with all the cosmetics of France, or beautifiers of the world, while in poor health, and nothing will give you such rich blood, good health, strength and beauty as Hop Bitters. A trial is certain proof.

Alfred Thomas is under arrest on a charge of poisoning Josephine Hinton, a girl eighteen years old, at Woonsocket, R. I. The post mortem examination disclosed the fact that the girl was pregnant.

Centaur Liniment.
Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

The fishing schooner Sarah E. Babson, of Newburyport, arrived at that place on Monday of this week, having on the previous Saturday sold in Portland, Me., about 200 barrels of mackerel, the proceeds of a four weeks' cruise. The fare brought her $1700.

Castoria.
For sour stomach, constipation, and restlessness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

Nellie Sleeper has taken most of the goods from her millinery store in Waterbury, Vt., and absconded, leaving debts amounting to several hundred dollars.

Ash-Tonic;
A perfected purifyer of the system In 1-2lb. bottles 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, Ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

Three hundred and fifty barrels of fresh mackerel, all large, caught on one trip, were landed in Boston on the 17th inst. by schooner Allen H. Jones, Capt. Winsor, of Duxbury. The catch was worth about $4000.

A Remarkable Coincidence.
It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral: Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

Back Ache
POSITIVELY CURED BY
Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.
Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:
First.
Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition, thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.
Second.
Because they are genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.
Third.
Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.
Fourth.
Because they are a positive cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.
Fifth.
Because over 7000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.
Sixth.
Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

Daily Chronicle.

The Concord Fight.

In the supreme court at Concord, on the 19th inst., the case of John H. Pearson against the Concord railroad corporation and others, was called up by counsel for Mr. Pearson. He suggested to the court that he wished to make a motion that printed evidence in the case, as taken on hearings by the referee at various times, should be made part of the referee's report. Counsel for the Concord road strenuously opposed an immediate hearing on the motion. The order of the court was for a hearing on this motion on Tuesday, Nov. 8th, at Plymouth.

Samuel Hall, thirteen years old, had one of his feet badly crushed on the 19th inst. at Dover, by getting it under a car wheel as a train was starting out.

"Last winter I fell on the ice" writes W. T. Dowdall, Esq., of Peoria, Ill., "and badly dislocated my left shoulder, causing me intense suffering. The first application of St. Jacobs Oil gave great relief, and with the use of less than one bottle I quickly regained my former strength."

Advices from Mazatlan give particulars of the terrible hurricane which visited that port Sept. 29th. A letter just received says a large number of vessels were wrecked and many houses damaged. The rivers rose, and it is said 500 lives were lost in the neighboring towns from freshets.

It Don't Pay!

To sling money away, but I invested a dollar for a bottle of Sulphur Bitters which cured me of dyspepsia. It saved me ten dollars in doctors and druggists, bills.—Machinist, Lowell, Mass.

Prof. King's big balloon, which left Chicago on Thursday afternoon, the 13th inst., with the expectation of landing near the Atlantic coast, had not been heard from up to the evening of the 19th inst., except that it was seen on the day after its ascension, over Sparta, Wis., sailing in the direction of St. Paul.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

The Atlantic house at Salisbury beach, Mass., was burned on Thursday, the 20th inst. Loss $15,000; insurance $10,000. The fire caught in an ell, where some men had kindled a fire under a large boiler to heat water for scalding pigs. Mrs. George Hills was the owner of the property, and occupied it at the time of the fire.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

FRIDAY, OCT. 21, 1881.

News and Notes.

The despatches from Yorktown, Va., on the 20th, did not confirm the reports of serious trouble there on the previous day. The only trouble probably was that some reporter in Washington was drunk.

The military review at Yorktown was successfully carried out on Thursday, and was witnessed by President Arthur, Gen. Hancock, the cabinet and the foreign guests and other dignitaries. Sixteen states were represented. The competition for marching ties between the 13th Brooklyn and the New Jersey troops.

The troubles in Ireland are apparently on the increase. The Dublin correspondent of the London Times says: "The settled determination of the league to endeavor to demonstrate that the land act is worthless, is shown by the fact that the test cases they have selected are almost exclusively those in which the rent is the same, and in many cases even lower than Griffith's valuation." The league has mailed copies of its manifesto and placards, containing only the words "no rents," to every land league branch.

A letter has been received in California from the "Rodgers," dated Aug. 20th, latitude seventy north, longitude 180, bound for Herald island, all well. The location mentioned places the vessel about forty miles south of Wrangel Land and 120 miles southwest of Herald Island.

Mrs. John Fortman of Tarpot, N. Y., aged thirty years, died very suddenly on the 19th inst. Drs. Sweetcox and Sheffer, prominent physicians of Bradford, were arrested for malpractice in the case. They were committed for trial.

A train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul was ditched by a broken rail at Pewaukee, Oct. 19th. Fifteen persons were injured, three severely but none fatally.

Archbishop Williams confirmed 288 children at St. Peter's church, Lowell, Mass., Monday, Oct. 17th—133 boys and 155 girls. The church was packed with people, and the altar was handsomely decorated with flowers.

New Hampshire Items.

Mrs. Brooks of Alton, wife of a shoe manufacturer and lumber dealer of that town, arose from bed at an early hour on the morning of the 18th inst., leaving her husband asleep, and drowned herself in a half-hogshead of water; she was found sitting in the half-hogshead, with her head bowed so as to be beneath the surface of the water. She was about fifty-seven years old, the mother of five children, and highly esteemed. She was at one time in the insane asylum at Concord, and about three years ago attempted to kill herself with a razor, but of late had shown little signs of mental unsoundness.

John B. Berry of New Durham, a prominent citizen of that town, was found insensible in a Dover hotel on the 19th inst., having ruptured a blood-vessel near the base of the brain; the physicians gave no hope of his recovery. Mr. Berry was the son of the Mrs. Berry who was murdered in her house about four years ago by the drunken wretch Pinkham.

AROUND HOME.

There was an entire change of programme at the Dime Show on Thursday evening, and the largest audience of the week, so far, attended the performance. The programme for the rest of the week is—Friday evening, "amateur night," with a number of local performers on the stage, in addition to the professionals; Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, matinee for ladies and children; Saturday evening, last performance of the engagement. The marked absence of boys and young men from the sidewalks and street corners, on the evenings this cheap but good show has exhibited, indicates that many members of the sidewalk brigade are not so from choice, so much as from a lack of any place where they can get cheap and congenial entertainment.

No such "striking" pictures were ever displayed on a bill board in this city, at least within our recollection, as those illustrating scenes in Oliver Doud Byron's play "Across the Continent."

The sale of groceries and fancy articles at A. A. Payne's store on Market street commenced Thursday forenoon, as advertised, and was continued until two o'clock P. M., when it was adjourned to nine o'clock this (Friday) morning, when the heavy groceries will put up to public competition. The light goods and small wares were disposed of on Thursday.

Miss Annie Pixley will appear as "M'liss" at Music hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 27th.

In the list of "deeds filed for record in the office of the register yesterday," published in the Tribune of Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 14th, we notice the following: "Joseph E. Adams to Samuel Adams, part of block nineteen, Groveland addition, $1000." In another column of the paper it is stated that "Samuel Adams, of Portsmouth, N. H., is building a double-tenement house on Hawthorne avenue."

The mourning drapery and emblems in the vestibule of the post-office, placed there by Postmaster Peirce on the death of President Garfield, were removed on Thursday last.

Eleven schooners, three steamers and three gondolas were to be seen at the north end wharves on Thursday last. There were but two schooners at the Concord railroad wharf; at the Eastern railroad wharf, on Noble's island, were two coal schooners, and one schooner discharging ties. There were two schooners above the Portsmouth bridge, afterward towed down by the tug Naumkeag. The three gondolas were loaded with coal, bound up the river.

Hon. Frank Jones arrived in New York on Thursday morning of this week, from Europe. His health is said to be fully restored.

The forecastle of schooner George L. Fessenden, lying at the Eastern railroad wharf, was entered on Wednesday of this week by some person or persons unknown, and $85 stolen from two of the crew; $55 of the money was in gold, and the rest in greenbacks.

The steamer Acushnet, on her trip to this city from Boston, Wednesday of this week, brought a small quantity of English cannel coal for C. E. Walker & Co. This coal has sold in this market as high as $35 a ton, but is now sold at $15. On the steamer's next trip she will bring some American cannel coal, from the west, such as received a prize at the centennial exhibition, and which is sold at $10.50 a ton.

Charles H. Mendum, Nathaniel L. Meloon, Charles N. Oxford and Thomas Reese, have been drawn as petit jurors to report Monday, Oct. 31st.

A note from Gloucester, Mass., dated Oct. 19th, informs us that the schooners W. B. Keen, Daniel C. Baker, Water Lily, Norma, Clara Bella, Rambler, Julia A., and Addie & Hattie, all belonging to the fleet of winter-fishing vessels out of this port, were in Gloucester harbor on the date mentioned. The note says: "Several good fares of mackerel have recently been brought in, having been taken at night. One vessel brought in several fares before it was found out how they were caught."

The schooner Celia, formerly used as a fishing vessel, was on Tuesday of this week taking in stores for a trip to Baltimore. She has recently been overhauled and repaired, and it is said has been sold to a southern port for use as a pilot boat.

A freight train on the Eastern railroad ran off the track at Rowley, Mass., about one o'clock on Wednesday afternoon of this week, and delayed all other freight trains until late in the evening. Passenger trains were not obstructed.

The city, in filling up the dock hitherto used as storage-room for logs to be sawed at Mason's steam-mill on Green street, has so interfered with the arrangements of the establishment that the boards and other lumber turned out by it have had to be removed to other quarters.

The schooner Mary Willey, Williams master, which arrived at this port from Bangor on the 20th inst., brought the timber for the frames of two ice-houses to be built by John Downs and Langdon M. Perkins.

Seventy cords of hemlock wood was shipped by gondola on the 20th inst. from the wharf at Goodrich's tannery to one of the brickyards at Dover point.

One of the city horses, employed on the Vaughan street extension, ran away on Thursday last, and did not stop until he arrived at the stable on Vaughan street. He is a big, heavy fellow, and everybody took good care to keep out of his way.

Foster's Democrat says that Collector Young's third or fourth term is about up, and it is necessary that he be appointed again for the good of the country, and that it is the occasion of the blovilian—whatever that may mean—in the Portsmouth CHRONICLE, on the management of the internal revenue department. Col. Young has been appointed collector but once, and that appointment continues permanent, regardless of administrative or political changes, unless cause is given by the incumbent for his removal; so that it is exceedingly silly to talk about that gentleman's seeking a re-appointment.—Dover Republican.

TWEEDLEDUM VS. TWEEDLEDEE.

In last Thursday's CHRONICLE under the heading "Circumstances alter cases," we published an account of how Rev. Leonard W. Bacon, D. D., pastor of the Park church in Norwich, Conn., who two years ago prevented a steamboat company from desecrating the Sabbath by taking on excursions people who could go on no other day, himself engineered an "excursion" on Sunday, the 16th inst., the reverend gentleman's own team being the vehicle used in the "desecration," and a congressman and ex-president of the United States the passengers.

This reminds us of an incident which came under our personal observation a year or two ago. It was not far from sunset one Sunday afternoon, and the pavilion and floating stage of Major Urch's aquarium were crowded with well-dressed and happy-looking people—gentlemen, ladies and children. Sunday school teachers and members of their classes, church members, summer boarders at the Wentworth and Rye, etc.,—and not less than twenty teams, most of them fine ones, were to be seen hitched at the two ends of the bridge, when a boat containing four men rounded-to alongside the tank containing the seals. That the boat's crew had been on a fishing excursion was evident from the pile of fish in the bottom of the boat; and while many of the people in the pavilion crowded to the side to watch the seals catch the live fish thrown into their tank by the boatmen, others by looks and words expressed their disapprobation of such a manner of spending the day, one gentleman being overheard to remark "Those men seem to have very little regard for the sanctity of the Sabbath." Three of the fishers were apparently indignant, one of them observing: "Those people are here on exactly the same errand as we are,—their own recreation and pleasure; the only difference is that some of them walked and the rest rode, while we came in a boat. They came in the way that suited themselves, and so did we; and I don't see that we are breaking the Sabbath one whit worse than they." The fourth man, evidently the philosopher of the party, quietly remarked: "The gentleman up there is right, and you are wrong. To walk out for pleasure on Sunday is pious and commendable; to ride out for pleasure on Sunday is respectable and proper; but to go sailing for pleasure on Sunday is impious and reckless to the last degree. Please don't growl concerning points of theology on which you are ignorant." The grumbling fisherman at once saw that he was in a false position, and meekly held his tongue.

SUPREME COURT.

THURSDAY, Oct. 20th; Smith, J.

Benjamin R. Perkins vs. Samuel C. Lawrence, Sarah B. Lawrence, Parna Towle and town of Exeter. The court heard arguments of counsel on plaintiff's motion that bill be taken pro confesso, and it was ordered that defendants pay costs to April term, 1881, and answer within ten days, or bill be taken as confessed. Hatch for plff.; Towle for defts.

Carrie T. Dixon vs. H. F. Dixon; libel for divorce; parties of Portsmouth; divorce decreed, with custody of minor children. William H. Hackett for libellant.

Etta L. Clark vs. Melvin J. Clark; parties of Portsmouth; divorce decreed, with custody of child. Geo. E. Hodgdon for libellant.

At eleven o'clock in the forenoon the grand jury came in and reported thirty-seven indictments, and were excused from further attendance.

The following persons against whom indictments had been returned were then arraigned:

Patrick Canney and Olive Austin, both of Portsmouth, indicted jointly for fornication, pleaded nolo contendere; Austin was ordered to be confined three months in the common jail at Portsmouth, and to pay costs of prosecution; Canney's sentence was reserved.

John Reagan and Artie Barney, both of Portsmouth, indicted jointly for fornication; Barney pleaded nolo contendere, and was sentenced to be confined in the jail at Portsmouth three months, and to pay costs. Reagan, who is out on bail, did not appear at this time.

John Hanscom and Phebe Hanscom, of Portsmouth, indicted jointly for keeping a disorderly house, pleaded not guilty; trial assigned for Saturday morning. Respondents represented by Samuel W. Emery.

Barthlemow Hill of Fremont, indicted for aggravated assault on William E. Brown at Raymond on the fifth of July last, pleaded nolo contendere, and was subsequently sentenced to be confined in the Portsmouth jail for the term of thirty days, and to pay a fine of one dollar and the costs of prosecution. In passing this sentence the court took into account the fact that the respondent had already been in jail some three months.

James Flynn of Portsmouth, indicted for assaulting and impeding Edwin Underhill, an officer, in the discharge of his duty, pleaded nolo contendere; sentenced to be confined in jail at Portsmouth for the term of thirty days, and to pay the costs of prosecution.

David L. Ramsbottom of Epping, indicted for breaking and entering the dwelling house of Sarah F. Bennett of Epping and there assaulting the said Sarah, pleaded not guilty; trial assigned for Monday. Hatch for respondent.

Thomas J. Wiggin of South Newmarket, indicted for breaking and entering the dwelling house of Mabel E. Scammon of South Newmarket and stealing therefrom forty dollars, pleaded nolo contendere. Respondent (who is fifteen years old) was represented by Judge Stickney, who addressed the court on the subject of sentence; the court ordered that respondent be sentenced to state prison for two years, and that the sentence be changed to the reform school for three years.

John Smith, a Frenchman, indicted for breaking and entering the house of Thecophilus H. Kimball of Kensington on July 5th, 1881, with intent to steal. Deft., who could not understand the English language, was arraigned with the assistance of an interpreter, and pleaded not guilty. Trial assigned for Saturday.

Frank Gowing and William Walling, two small boys, both of Portsmouth, against whom two indictments were found for breaking and entering the store of James R. Yeaton and stealing therefrom sundry cigars, tobacco, chocolate, and a small sum of money, were arraigned. Gowing pleaded guilty to both indictments; Walling pleaded guilty to one, not guilty to the other. Sentence reserved. Mr. Frink for respondents.

Wm. Hebir and Wm. Wilson, both out on bail, to be arraigned at an early day.

Purrell G. Dow, for larceny of a gold watch of the value of $100 from the person of Thomas Swain at South Newmarket on Oct. 2d, 1881, pleaded nolo contendere; sentence reserved.

John H. Bly and Benjamin H. Purington, both of Fremont, were jointly indicted for larceny of pocket-book and contents, the property of John Mellin, on June 2d, 1880. Bly pleaded guilty; sentence reserved. Purington pleaded not guilty, and will be defended by Mr. Frink.

John H. Bly of Fremont, stealing several cows, the property of Mr. Palmer, Oct. 1st, 1880, pleaded guilty; sentence reserved.

John Sherry of Newmarket, larceny of $700 in bank bills on the 14th of June, 1881, the same being the property of his wife, Bridget Sherry, pleaded nolo contendere; sentenced to hard labor in state prison for term of five years.

John Hartnett of Portsmouth, indicted for manslaughter in striking one Hugh McCann with a mallet on the 24th of August, 1880, of the effects of which blow said McCann died on the 10th of March, 1880. Messrs. Hodgdon and Call appeared, and stated that they wished to file a special plea in bar; granted until Monday so to do. Trial Monday.

John Murphy and James Hebir, both of Portsmouth, cruelty to animals on Sept. 7th, pleaded not guilty; trial Monday. Hodgdon for prisoners.

William Jackson, tramp; plea, not guilty.

Urch vs. Doane and Rand. This was an action brought to recover damages by reason of schooner Gov. Goodwin being carried against Newcastle bridge, of which Mr. Urch is lessee, while being towed from the lower harbor to Doane's wharf in Newcastle. The schooner and tug when near the wharf swung off, and the tug, with the schooner alongside and made fast, struck against the bridge, doing damage to the structure. The jury were empanelled, and went to view the premises, after which they were excused until Friday morning. Mr. Fred. W. Rogers is foreman of the jury. Frink for Urch; Rollins & Emery for Rand, owner of the tug; Wm. H. Hackett for Doane.

The jurors not engaged in the trial of this case were excused until Saturday morning, when trials on the state docket will be in order.

"HAZEL KIRKE."

As was anticipated, the performance of "Hazel Kirke" by the Madison Square Theatre Co. drew a large audience to Music hall on Thursday evening last. And a highly pleased audience it was, all through the evening. Miss Georgia Cayvan was well known to Portsmouth playgoers as an accomplished reader, and her assumption of the title role shew her to be also an actress of superior merit. The support is strong, and much of it excellent; and all through the play the humorous is so artistically sandwiched in with the pathetic that the one does not become wearisome nor the other painful, and the attention and interest of the audience increase from the opening act to the fall of the curtain. It is a good play, well played.

HORSE TROTTING.

The following is the result of the races at the Rockingham Trotting Park, on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, Oct. 19th and 20th:

On Wednesday afternoon, there were two races; in the first, for horses that had never beaten three minutes, with six entries, the first money, $25, was won by John W., entered by E. F. Stoddard, in three straight heats; the second money, $15, by Runaway Boy, entered by Lewis Marden; third money, $10, by Black Diamond, entered by W. F. Harmond. Second race was for horses that had never beaten 2:40; the first money, $45, was taken by Maud Muller, entered by H. C. Rankin; second money, $20, by Buttercup, entered by C. H. French; and third money, $10, by Spot, entered by D. Mahaney.

On Thursday there were two races. First, for horses that had never beaten 2:50; six entries; first money, $25, won by John W., entered by E F. Stoddard, time, 2:51; second money, $15, won by Yankee Locke, entered by W. Fernald; the rest were distanced. Second trot was open to all horses; four entries; first money, $50, won by Unknown, entered by C. H. Davis, time, 2:42; second money, $20, won by Buttercup, entered by G. H. French; and third money, $5, by Charley Knox, entered by E. D. Sykes.

The weather was fair both afternoons, and the attendance good.

"ACROSS THE CONTINENT."

On Monday evening, Oct. 24th, "Across the Continent" will be performed at Music hall by Oliver Doud Byron and his dramatic company. We have never seen it, but everybody has read of it as one of the most successful of the "sensational dramas" produced within the past dozen years. The Buffalo Express says:

"Across the Continent" is substantially the same mixed, varied and lively compound of sensationalism we have always known it to be. Those who like sensationalism will find it to their heart's content in "Across the Continent."

The Courier of the same city thus refers to it:

The play is most powerful and replete with startling effects and incidents—railroad trains, telegraph in practical operation, Indians, hand-to-hand combats, and other devices for electrifying the nervous system. Mr. Byron is a clever actor, and the leader of those who have chosen the sensational order in which to exercise their talent. He has a very fine presence, invests his part with decided interest, and is supported by a numerous and very good company. The ladies are pleasing, and the gentlemen in the cast sustain their parts in a very satisfactory manner.

Tickets on sale at Preston's drug store.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Oct. 20; Bufford, J.

James Davis, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90; and was sent to Brentwood in default of payment.

—Three burglars feloniously and with wicked intent entered a newspaper office in Illinois one day last week. Strange as it may seem there was enough to go around and they each got something. One got sixty-three cents, one got away, and the other got sixty days.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cts. a box everywhere. tu,th & f ot1ans

The Western Union vs. the Mutual Union.

A letter was sent from the executive office of the Mutual Union Telegraph Co. in New York on the 19th inst., to the president and directors of the Western Union Telegraph Co., reciting that the former company had "on special deposit, in trust for the Western Union Telegraph Co.," three fifty-dollar notes and one one-hundred-dollar note, "paid by certain officers and directors of the Western Union Telegraph company—the hundred-dollar bill having come directly from the treasury of that company to a clerk in the employment of the contractors building the lines of the Mutual Union Telegraph company—to induce him to steal from his employers for the benefit of the Western Union Telegraph company, certain documents and extracts from documents which it was hoped might be used to the injury of the Mutual Union Telegraph company. We have also an original letter of Erastus Wiman, of the firm of Dunn, Wiman & Co., one of the directors of the Western Union Telegraph company, directing the payment of the money to the clerk, and requesting that one of the documents thus to be obtained from him should be delivered to the general manager of the Western Union Telegraph company; also the receipt of Thomas T. Eckert, the general manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, for the paper delivered in pursuance of Mr. Wiman's request, which receipt discloses upon its face a knowledge of the source from which the paper was obtained; also a memorandum in the handwriting of D. H. Bates, assistant general manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, specifying certain additional information which the clerk was expected to procure; also an autograph letter of Erastus Wiman, offering to provide the clerk with a situation at a salary of $1,000 per annum in the event of his losing his present situation, and we are credibly informed that the assurances of this letter were verbally confirmed in the strongest manner by Mr. Eckert and Mr. Bates."

The letter further says:

How far this conspiracy has extended we of course can not positively know. The list furnished by Mr. Bates implies the necessity of suborning confidential clerks in the office of the Mutual Union Telegraph company, but before it shall be carried any further we make this appeal to the governing body of the Western Union Telegraph company that it be stopped. If the persons named are so useful to the Western Union company that their services cannot be wholly dispensed with, we respectfully request that their zeal be restrained within the limits of common honesty, and in their efforts to break down the Mutual Union Telegraph company they shall not be allowed to break down all the rules of morality and business honor, and all sentiments of fidelity and loyalty in employes towards their employers. Permit us to remind you that the Western Union Telegraph company is engaged in a business which makes its employes the repository, not only of the papers relating to its own transactions, but of the business and domestic secrets of thousands of others; such a corporation should be the last to be engaged in corrupting the clerks of others.

Capt. Ralph Chandler is ordered to duty at the Boston navy yard, relieving Capt. Milton Haxton, who is placed on waiting orders.

Spring brings the blossoms. Autumn brings the fruit—and also colds, etc., for which nothing superior to Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has ever been offered to the public. It always cures. Price 25 cts.

The New York Tribune says: "The statistics in 1879, or in the last year of the democratic administration of Governor Robinson, was $7,690,416.34. Owing to the economical administration of Governor Cornell and the imposition of a tax on corporations by a republican legislature, the state tax this year is $6,032,829.61, or $1,657,586.73 less than in 1879."

Mr. Harvey, the owner of the mill recently burned at Philadelphia, with such frightful loss of life, was on the 19th inst. committed by the coroner to await the action of the district attorney.

Captain Courtney!

Says: While on the coast of Africa I had three men sick with malarial fever. I cured them with Sulphur Bitters. It is the greatest blood purifier I ever saw. I always keep them in my medicine chest. —Ship Neubilus, Baltimore.

Samuel Garretson of New Brunswick, N. J., aged thirty years, son of a prominent citizen, cut his throat on the 19th inst. because his wife had eloped, and died immediately.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral: Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

Back Ache

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicine for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

This work contains an account of his early life as a slave and his complete history to the present time, interspersed with many thrilling anecdotes of his career. The hundreds of thousands who have been thrilled by the eloquence of this wonderful man will fightly prize the work. In this book the charm of historical truth and the absorbing interest of romance are combined in one. PARK PUBLISHING CO., Hartford, Conn.

Daily Chronicle.

Messrs. Roberts Brothers are early in bringing to notice their books for the young folk, who in a few weeks will be on the tip-toe of expectation for holiday presents. "Cross Patch and other stories," adapted from the myths of Mother Goose by Susan Cooledge, a writer of several well known books, is published by this house at $1.50. The book has forty-four illustrations by Ellen Oakford. The historic incidents in the Goose collection which are treated of by the author of "Eye-bright," are "Cross Patch," "Little Tommy Tucker," "Hark, hark!" Miss Jane (from whose reticule a mouse once escaped, if we may credit the Goose legend,) "The old lady who had a tenement in a shoe," and "Simple Simon." If the young people of to-day enjoy Mother Goose in any such measure as did the old boys who write the notices of this increased source of satisfying information upon certain historic points which "in childhood's happy hour" to the youthful comprehensions were a trifle ambiguous, then indeed the author of "Cross Patch" has been quite as successful in this work as in her several earlier efforts.

The Boston Post of Friday says "As a champion patent man Edison is brilliantly maintaining his old record. His good fortune at Paris has been mentioned, and right on the heels of it the weekly issue of patents at Washington shows that he is credited with twenty-two granted. Of these, twenty relate to devices connected with his electric system of light, making, according to the records of the patent office, sixty now issued to him relating to that system. Edison has taken out more patents from the patent office than any single inventor. Including the twenty-two issued Monday he has in all been granted 209 patents on all subjects, including, of course, the electric light, and the records show he has over 100 additional awaiting the decision of the commissioner of patents, a majority of which will, no doubt, be allowed. He could almost run a patent office himself."

The public are cautioned to ask for Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and take no other. Price 25 cents.

—The most thorough hypocrite in existence is the young man who can successfully assume to love the younger brother of his sweetheart.

Lady Beautifiers.

Ladies, you cannot make fair skin, rosy cheeks, and sparkling eyes with all the cosmetics of France, or beautifiers of the world, while in poor health, and nothing will give you such rich blood, good health, strength and beauty as Hop Bitters. A trial is certain proof.

—Single-minded men succeed. The wedge, says Carlyle, will rend rocks, but its edge must be sharp and single; if it be double, the wedge is bruised in pieces and will rend nothing.

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

—The pope is said to have sunk 90,000 lire in the attempt to run a newspaper. A much less expenditure of lire than this makes a New York paper a success.—Lowell Courier.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

—It is noticed by the Utica Observer that at some time or other the man who does not advertise is brought into prominence, and a red flag is always used.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

It is said the complaints against the Massachusetts Ninth regiment at Yorktown, Va., were gotten up by a New Jersey brigadier-general who feared that the ninth would surpass a crack New Jersey regiment, which he hoped would win the $1,500 silver vase in the competition drill.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

At Jackson, Cal., early in the morning on the 20th inst., the residence of T. Jellcitch was burned, and he, with his wife and two children, perished in the flames.

Pure water, fresh air, sunlight, and a bottle of Adamson's Botanic Balsam (in case of cough or cold) will save many doctors' bills and give health and vigor that no money can procure.

George F. Roberts, an Englishman, was recently robbed of $1,000 on a sleeping car between Indianapolis and Litchfield on the Indianapolis & St. Louis road. Two other passengers were robbed of small sums.

Mr. JAMES I. FELLOWS, Chemist,
St. John, N. B.

Dear Sir: Having used your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites for some time in my practice, I have no hesitation in recommending it to my patients who are suffering from general debility, or any disease of the lungs, knowing that, even in cases utterly hopeless, it affords relief. I am, sir, yours truly,
H. G. ADDY, M. D., St. John.

By the running away of the horses of a stage between Alma and Fayetteville, Ark., Oct. 20th, the driver and a passenger were killed, and two passengers severely injured.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER is a scientific combination of some of the most powerful restorative agents in the vegetable kingdom. It restores gray hair to its original color. It makes the scalp white and clean. It cures dandruff and humors, and falling-out of the hair. It furnishes the nutritive principle by which the hair is nourished and supported. It makes the hair moist, soft and glossy, and is unsurpassed as a hair dressing. It is the most economical preparation ever offered to the public, as its effects remain a long time, making only an occasional application necessary. It is recommended and used by eminent medical men, and officially endorsed by the State Assayer of Massachusetts. The popularity of Hall's Hair Renewer has increased with the test of many years, both in this country and in foreign lands, and it is now known and used in all the civilized countries of the world.

The Land League "Proclaimed."

The Irish Land League was on the 20th inst. proclaimed by the British government to be an illegal and criminal organization. The proclamation warns all persons that the Irish national land league, or by what other name it may be called, is an unlawful and criminal association, and that all meetings to carry out or promote its designs or purposes are unlawful and criminal, and will be prevented and dispersed by force. The proclamation warns the queen's subjects connected with the league to disconnect themselves from it, and to abstain from giving further countenance to it. All the powers and resources at the government's command, the proclamation says, will be employed to protect the queen's subjects in the free exercise of their lawful obligations, and to save the process of law and the execution of the queen's writs from hindrance or obstruction. It calls upon all loyal subjects to uphold and maintain the authority of the law and the supremacy of the queen in Ireland.

New Hampshire Items.

About fifteen hundred excursionists from Alton Bay, Rochester, New Durham, Farmington, Dover and other places, were carried to Boston on the 19th inst. over the Boston & Maine railroad, at $1,50 per head for the round trip, tickets good for several days to return on. One train of twelve cars, and another of nine, each drawn by two locomotives, were required to transport the crowd.

Armington's steam mill at Warren, was badly damaged by a boiler explosion, Oct. 19th. The employes were all at breakfast, and none were injured. Loss, $1,800.

Moses Wentworth has leased his Great Falls hotel to James Martin, formerly of the Westboro house, Westboro, Mass., and Frank H. Martin will serve as clerk. The house is to be repossessed, and put in thorough order. The new proprietor is an experienced landlord, and knows how to cater to the interests of the hungry and weary traveller.

The Coos county supreme court commenced its session at Lancaster on the 18th inst., Judge W. H. Allen presiding. The Towne-Bugbee poisoning case was taken up by the grand jury, and nearly two days taken up in hearing testimony.

A celebration of the bi-centennial of Capt. Ebenezer Eastman, the first settler of Concord, took place Oct. 19th at East Concord, and was largely attended by Eastman descendants, the company numbering several hundred people. It was voted to extend the membership so as to include all bearing the name of Eastman, or descendants of persons of that name. A board of officers for permanent organization was chosen, of which Charles S. Eastman of Concord is president.

The New Hampshire Sunday School Convention is to be holden in Rochester, at the Methodist church, on the 1st, 2d and 3d of November.

News and Notes.

The directors of the Northern Pacific railroad company have offered the position of general manager of that great corporation's lines to Mr. Payson Tucker, the popular and successful superintendent of the Maine Central, and Mr. Tucker is in New York in conference on the matter. The salary attached to the position is $20,000.

A despatch of the 20th inst. from Quincy, Ill., says: "A disastrous break in the 'Sny levee,' two miles above Scott's landing, occurred last night. The water is pouring through the crevasse in torrents, and a vast area of highly-cultivated land is being rapidly inundated. Runners were sent out to warn the people of the disaster, and farmers are using superhuman efforts to save their stock and household effects. The disaster at this time will be much greater than ever before, as a very large area of winter wheat has been sown. Corn and other crops have not been secured, and the bottoms are full of cattle, horses and other live stock. The flood has come upon the people so suddenly and was so unexpected that but few of them are prepared, and the damage will be very great."

At Felldom, Ill., about two o'clock in the afternoon on the 19th inst., Charles Cay and John Burrus went into Wesley Park & Sons' bank, and at the muzzle of two revolvers, compelled Mr. Park to open his safe and give them $8,500. The robbers then mounted horses and rode away. Park followed them to the street, fired upon them, and killed one of their horses. The dismounted robber got on the horse of his pal, and both rode off together. The sheriff of the county raised a large posse and started in pursuit.

It is now intimated that the partners in the shoe manufacturing firm of John Mahon & Sons, of Lynn, Mass., recently reported as under a financial cloud, will not visit Lynn again unless under compulsion. It appears that on the strength of their credit they bought immense quantities of merchandise of various kinds, and turned it all into cash. Business men of Lynn say the two members of the firm must have carried off at least $100,000 each. The Newburyport Herald suggests that the affair will prove to be "one of the most scientific swindles of the age."

King, the balloonist, and his companion, arrived at Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin, Oct. 21st, having been two days in getting out of the woods in which the balloon descended.

Secretary Windom has been nominated for United States senator by the republican legislators of Minnesota.

The Dutch steamship Konigder Nederlander has foundered at sea on the voyage from Baltimore to Amsterdam, and 175 persons are missing.

The body of the unknown man, evidently murdered, taken from the river at Providence, R. I., Oct. 14th, has been identified as that of William Titcomb of Providence, seamen on board the schooner Ella Jane, who was last seen on board Saturday night, the 8th inst.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Enquirer association at Lewiston, Me., was held Wednesday, Oct. 19th, and Solon Chase was deposed from the editorship. Mr. Chase was notified on his return from the west. The Enquirer is to be moved to Lewiston, and conducted by S. A. Berry of Deering.

Superintendent Fairman of the New York insurance department recommends the dissolution of the Universal Life Insurance company, and urges the speedy appointment of a receiver.

A party of Bostonians, accompanied by a pack of valuable dogs, went out to Lead mountain, near Union river, Maine, last week to hunt deer, but there is a state law forbidding hunting deer with dogs, and the natives turned out and shot all the animals.—Transcript.

The Chains of Appetite.

A man goes on for quite a long time drinking—moderately. He thinks he could easily stop if he would. No one who has lived in the world and observed at all can have failed to see the vast, the rapid increase in the use of tobacco. In vain do men plead; in vain do physicians protest, and point out the mischiefs that come from the habitual use of a poison. Many of them use it themselves, and therefore will not see the harm it does. And because the effects are not immediate and fatal, therefore men persist in the habit. Shall I tell you why? Because it is too strong for them. Half of them will tell you, "I can stop if I will," but you will observe that they never "will." Ten million dollars' increase of revenue the last year, wholly from duties on cigarettes!" This is indeed dreadful. They can stop if they will, can they? And yet pay ten millions to wear galling chains? It doesn't do any hurt? Where, then, the great increase in nervous diseases, of paralysis, of sudden death? The habit is manly, is it? Boys think so. It is insidious, it is soothing, it is social, it is cheerful. What if it is? It is also harmful, it is dirty, it is unsavory, it destroys the nerves. Its effects become hereditary; that is the worst of it. His father smoked, good man, and died in his prime, and his children have an inheritance of weak nerves and strong appetites. The chains are born on us!

—If you want to know just how you stand in the community ask your worst enemy and your best friend, and then strike a fair average. Most people make the mistake of asking only their best friends, and taking that as the fair average.

SUPREME COURT.

FRIDAY, Oct. 21st; Smith, J.

Margaret Harrington, alias Hartnett, was arraigned for stealing $175 of one Cornelius Crowley. Plea, not guilty. Trial fixed for Monday. Page for respondent.

Two boys, one named Wilson, aged fourteen, the other named Hehir, being still younger, were arraigned for breaking in the day time into a school house, and stealing a book belonging to Florence P. Whidden. Plea, not guilty; case to stand over for a few days. Solicitor for state; Hodgdon for respondents.

Case Batchelder vs. town of Epping was assigned for Monday week.

The court was occupied throughout the day in hearing the evidence in case Urch vs. Doane, Nickerson and Rand; the testimony was concluded with the exception of one witness, to be examined on Saturday morning.

ANTI-MASONIC EXCITEMENT.

There was a little local war on Thursday and Friday, owing to a dispute between Mr. Daniel Mason, lessee of the steam mill and premises on Green street, and the city authorities—or whoever it may be that is building the new street, as I am not aware that the city councils have ever directed or authorized the building of the street, or indeed had the matter submitted to them for action or approval. However this may be, the street workmen on Thursday moved a large pile of boards belonging to Mr. Mason, which he claimed to be an interference with his rights, so he had the boards moved back again. Friday morning the dispute was renewed and extended, and the mayor ordered up a reserve of police; but Mr. Mason didn't seem to scare worth a cent, and whatever of glory was gained in the battle certainly did not inure to the city fathers. Who is in the right in this dispute I cannot tell; but almost anybody could have told, some time ago, that the parties who should undertake to "back down" Mr. Mason and E. C. Spinney (who owns the mill) would enjoy a time very similar to the traditional one experienced by the monkey and parrot.

SPECTATOR.

"ACROSS THE CONTINENT."

Of this sensational play, which will be presented at Music hall on Monday evening, the Charleston Times says:

For real fun and enjoyment it would be difficult to find a better collection than is found in "Across the Continent." The play is brimful of fun, sparkling, and occasionally intensely pathetic. It is handsomely mounted with fine scenic effects, and above all, there is not a second-class actor in the company. There is simply three hours of solid enjoyment in "Across the Continent."

The Cincinnati Enquirer thus alludes to several members of the company:

Miss Kate Byron was attractive in her dual character. J. H. Banks is one of the most eccentric and amusing Irishmen to be found on the stage, and his specialty acts were very funny. John Pendy aroused the gallery with his song and dance. There are no sticks in the company, the young women being especially attractive. "Across the Continent" is sensational enough for the most sensational.

AROUND HOME.

The "close season" for lobsters ended on Thursday, the 20th inst., and on Friday the first lot to be brought into this market arrived at C. Sullivan & Co.'s—two hundred pounds, taken by Newcastle men.

Mr. Chas. E. Walker is building a two-story house on Brewster street, to contain two tenements, and be fitted with all the modern improvements. The old Brewster house, built in 1796 by Samuel Brewster, father of the late Dr. George G. Brewster, and occupied by the latter as a residence, is to be placed on the lower end of the lot, and the new house will take the original site of the old one. Messrs. Anderson & Junkins, contractors and builders, are doing the work.

The schooner Celia, loaded with produce and having a number of young Portsmouth men in her crew, was taken down the harbor on Friday by the tug Clara Batemen, on her way to Baltimore.

Col. McCaulley, of the marine corps, arrived at the navy yard to-day, to inspect the marines. A salute was fired. We will let the CHRONICLE tell how many guns.—Times, 21st.

Not a single gun was fired on the yard that day, in honor of "Col. McCaulley." There is no officer of that name in the marine corps or navy.

All the fish brought into this port on Wednesday and Thursday of this week arrived in small boats, the supply being none too large for the local trade.

Mr. Wm. H. Wentworth, of Newbury, Mass., passed through this city on Friday with eighteen yearling cattle from his farm in Cape Neddick, Me., on the way to Newbury. The cattle were handsome and sleek-looking, and of mixed Jersey and native breed.

Immense numbers of cabbages have been brought into this city within a few days past, from the surrounding country, a large part of them being put on board of vessels bound to southern ports. One of the largest and finest lots was brought in by Mr. Philip Holmes of Greenland.

The horse attached to James Sanborn's fish-wagon was frightened while standing in front of his fish-market at Liberty bridge, last Thursday afternoon, by a dory that was being carried across the street, and ran away up Water and State streets to Washington street, where he was stopped. The wagon was somewhat damaged, but no other harm was done.

Twelve children were christened in the Unitarian church at Hampton Falls on the last Sunday in September, by Rev. B. F. McDaniel of Exeter.

Mr. Samuel Fernald, of Eliot, lost a few night ago from his pasture a yoke of oxen, three cows and twenty sheep. It is supposed they were stolen by some drover.—Times.

The schooner Satellite, Adderton master, is at Portsmouth bridge this week, having a new mainmast put in by Theodore Fernald of Eliot, Me.

The Dime Show at Franklin theatre will give a family matinee at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Performance as usual this evening.

The Collateral Loan company of Boston announces its 43d semi-annual sale of unredeemed articles. This will be a rare chance to purchase fine goods.

Col. Chas. G. McCawley, commanding the marine corps, made an official visit to the navy yard on the 21st inst., and received the regulation salute.

The "band-stand" has been again placed in position over the Gangway rock.

Eastern railroad employes have for some days days been engaged in digging a well near the track, not far from the powder house, and though they have not reached any great depth they have struck what appears to be a fine supply of water, of a quality similar to that furnished by the aqueduct company.

The time of year for putting up stoves has arrived, and persons in want of new ones can find a good stock at J. L. O. Coleman's store, No. 111 Market street, where also linings, grates, repair pieces, pipes, etc., can be procured.

The auction sale of goods at A. A. Payne's store was continued on Friday, being adjourned at a late hour to nine o'clock this (Saturday) morning, when the large stock of boots and shoes will be offered for sale.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

At the South Parish, Rev. James DeNormandie, pastor, morning service at 10:30; Sunday school at chapel on Court street at 2:45 P. M. Vespers at 7:30.

At St. John's (Episcopal) church, Rev. Chas. A. Holbrook, rector, services at 10:30 A. M.

At the Congregational church, preaching at 10:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. Sunday school at 3:00 P. M. Prayer meeting on Friday evening at 7:30. Rev. Wm. A. McGinley, pastor.

At the Methodist church, Rev. W. W. Smith, pastor, preaching at 10:15 A. M. and 2:45 P. M. Sunday school after morning service, in the church.

A Provincetown, Mass., despatch of the 20th inst., is as follows: "The mackerel fleet made a big catch last night. About twenty schooners are in this harbor with their decks full of fish. They have been dressing since early this morning. Seining mackerel at night is a new departure, and works very successfully, as the fish do not notice the net."

A Gloucester dispatch says that the mackerel fleet is meeting with exceeding success whenever the weather allows of seining operations, and the catch for the season promises to be considerably larger than for several years previously. One schooner, the William M. Gaffney, has landed 1000 barrels in five weeks; another, the Madawska Maid, took 900 barrels in twenty-one days. The schooner Fleetwing recently took 210 sea-packed barrels; the schooner Moro Castle, 140 wash barrels; the schooner Dreadnaught, of Portland, 205 barrels; the schooner David A. Osier, 105 wash barrels; the schooner William M. Gaffney, 140 wash barrels; the schooner Madawaska Maid, 225 sea-packed barrels—all at one haul of the seine.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Old Orchard & Ferry Beach railroad at Saco, Oct. 20th, the following directors were chosen: James T. Furber of Lawrence, Mass., Dr. J. R. Nichols of Haverhill, Mass., Amos Paul of South Newmarket, N. H., M. G. Palmer and S. E. Spring of Portland, Me., and George F. Calef and W. S. Dennett of Saco, Me.

"Mrs. Overtheway's Remembrances:" by Juliana Horatia Ewing, author of "We and World," etc.; with ten illustrations. Boston; Roberts Bros.; price $1.25.

"Mrs. Overtheway" is a name given by little Ida, to a friend of maturer years who lived on the opposite side of the street, whose acquaintance ripened into friendship, and who tells the stories to Ida after their good understanding with each other had become established; they are of the kind of tale which will keenly interest the readers of Ida's age. Myers has it for sale.

—Young husbands very seldom allude to their first baby as "birdie." That may do for the mother during courting time, but who ever heard of a squalling birdie?

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. m.w & s & w 52

—It is the clean table-cloth that catches the early grease spot.

—A young lady who had a romantic experience before she became a bride, was wedded in a neighboring county a few days ago. Three times she had been engaged prior to her final betrothal. Her first affianced died of consumption. Her second was prostrated with small pox, and died a few days before the time fixed for their marriage. Her third intended was accidentally drowned on the eve of their wedding day. Her fourth love lived to marry her. They are now on their wedding tour, and may their honey-moon be sweet and protracted.—Portland Argus.

After numerous experiments Mr. Fellows succeeded in producing this combination of Hypophosphites, which has not only restored him to health, but has since been found so successful in the treatment of disease emanating from loss of nerve power, and consequently muscular relaxation, viz:

Aphonia (loss of voice),	Neuralgia,
Anæmia,	Nervous debility,
Chronic Diarrhœa,	Whooping Cough,
Dyspepsia,	Congestion of the Lungs,
Fever and Ague,	Palpitation of the Heart,
Leucorrhœa,	Melancholy,
Malaria,	Mental Depression,
	Nervousness.

MALARIA.

Persons living in Malarious districts may protect themselves from attacks of fever by the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. Its effects in toning up the system enables it to ward off contagious disorders, and successfully combat disease.

The soluble phosphites and the other life-sustaining principles composing Fellows' Hypophosphites are so carefully proportioned and so judiciously mingled, that their action upon the nerves, muscles and membranes in imparting vitality, strength and healthy action is generally approved within twenty four hours, and the good effects experienced are of a permanent character.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"Arne:" by Bjornstjerne Bjornson. Translated from the Norse by Prof. Anderson, of Madison, Wis.

"Arne," written in 1858, a year later than the recently published "Synnove Solbaken," is thought by many of Bjornson's readers to be his best story, though the translator estimates the story entitled "A Happy Boy," now in course of translation, as surpassing both of these in some respects. There may be repulsive scenes here sketched by the author; in this story he gives us true pictures of his countrymen, and his works, read as they have been in all English speaking circles, have a claim in their natural manner and the purity of the narrative that compels the reader to forget the unpleasant shades of his pen picture when the whole is draped with such exquisite beauty in its conception and excellence. Price $1.00. Sold by W. G. Myers, Congress street.

"Mammy Tittleback and her family; a true story of seventeen cats," by "H. H.," author of "Bits of Travel," "Letters From a Cat," etc. Boston; Roberts Brothers; price $1.25.

The cat is a favorite with many persons, and cat stories have always abounded. The present tale is told in a manner likely to interest the readers for whose edification it was designed. It is in large type and generously illustrated, and the well remembered initials of the author will be a sufficient reminder of the excellence of the story and its attractions for lovers of cat narratives.

"Garfield's Words. Suggestive passages from the public and private writings of James Abram Garfield." Compiled by Wm. Ralston Balch. Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co.; price $1.00.

Our late President, in his journey from the tow-path to the White House, was a keen observer of men and things. He was approachable by men of low estate, and was the peer of the ablest men in the councils of the Nation. As the compiler remarks, "It is indeed remarkable how thickly his speeches and letters are studded with jewels of utterance." Mr. Garfield was a man who knew how to say a thing at the right moment, and we learn of our late chief magistrate's great endowments, just as we are called upon to part with his services. Mr. Balch gives us an admirably selected list of sayings, arranged with method in compilation, under proper heads traceable by a well devised index of subjects. Aside from the great interest just now evinced in all that the lamented Garfield has done and said, there is here a collection of nearly four hundred brief but brilliant sayings, many of which will go down to posterity among the words that an appreciative people ever keep alive. An excellent steel-plate likeness of the deceased stateman is opposite the title page. For sale in Portsmouth by W. G. Myers.

When it was known that Iroquois had won the Derby, proud America swung the hat; and when it was further known that his breeder—Aristides Welch, Esq., of Erdenheim, near Philadelphia, Pa., indorsed St. Jacobs Oil as a remedy for fine stock, America admired the judgment displayed.

—A man whose knowledge is based on actual experience, says that when calling on their sweethearts young men should carry affection in their hearts, perfection in their manners, and confection in their pockets.

KAHOKA, Mo., Feb. 9th, 1880.

I purchased five bottles of your Hop Bitters of Bishop & Co. last fall, for my daughter, and am well pleased with the Bitters. They did her more good than all the medicine she has taken for six years. WM. T. MCCLURE.

The above is from a very reliable farmer, whose daughter was in poor health for seven or eight years, and could obtain no relief until she used Hop Bitters. She is now in as good health as any person in the country. We have large sales, and they are making reliable cures.

W. H. BISHOP & Co.

—An Illinois farmer declared that his daughter didn't earn her salt. She retorted that she would be glad to stand on the same footing as his hired help. He consented, signed an agreement, and soon forgot all about it. That happened five years ago. Now the girl has sued for wages, and got a verdict of $500.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral: Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will only relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

Spoopendyke's Baby.

"Well, well, well," said Mr. Spoopendyke with a grin that involved his whole head, and an effort at a tiptoe tread that shook the whole house. "And so it's a girl, my dear."

Mrs. Spoopendyke smiled faintly, and then Mr. Spoopendyke picked up his heiress.

"It's the image of you," she said, regarding with some trepidation Mr. Spoopendyke's method of handling the infant.

"I don't see how you make that out," said Mr. Spoopendyke. "I don't know when my nose looked like the thumb part of a boiled lobster claw. Do I understand that my eyes bear any resemblance to the head of a screw?"

"I mean the general features," murmured Mrs. Spoopendyke.

"The general features seem all mouth," retorted Mr. Spoopendyke, examining his acquisition. "If our general features are at all alike my visage must remind you of an earthquake. Hi! kitchee! kitchee! What makes her fold up her legs like that?"

"She can't help it," reasoned Mrs. Spoopendyke. "They'll straighten out in time."

"No time like the present," quoted Mr. Spoopendyke, and he took his little daughter's feet and commenced pulling her limbs. "I don't want any bandy-legged girl in this family while I'm at the head of it."

Naturally the baby began to cry, and Mr. Spoopendyke essayed to soothe it.

"Hi! kitchee! kitchee! kitch-ee-ee!" he cleared. "Great Scot! what a cavern! Any idea how much this mouth weighs? Hi! kitchee! kitch-ee-e! You will have to get this mouth roofed in before cold weather. What's the matter with her, anyway?"

"Perhaps you hurt her. Let me take her, please," pleaded helpless Mrs. Spoopendyke.

"She's doing well enough. Hi! you! hold up! Haven't you anything to catch this mouth in? It's spilling all over the neighborhood. Hi! Topsy, Genevieve, Cleopatra, dry up! I am going to have trouble breaking this young one's temper, I can see that. Here, bend the other way once!" and Mr. Spoopendyke tried to straighten up his offspring, without avail.

"Let her come to me, do, please," moaned Mrs. Spoopendyke, and Mr. Spoopendyke was forced to hand her over.

"Well, that's quite a baby," said he, nursing his knee and eyeing the infant. "What're those bumps over its eyes for? What preponderance of intelligence do they represent?"

"You must't talk so," remonstrated Mrs. Spoopendyke. "She is the handsomest child you ever saw."

"Well, she's got to stop biting her nails before she goes any further with this procession. Here, take your hands out of your mouth, can't you? Why don't you put her hands down?"

"Why, all babies do that," explained Mrs. Spoopendyke. "You can't stop that."

"I'm going to try," said Mr. Spoopendyke, "and I don't want to be interfered with in bringing this child up. Here, you, Maud S. Homesetter, put your hands in your pockets! Don't let me see any more nail chewing, or you and I'll get mixed up in an argument. She gets that from your family, Mrs. Spoopendyke."

"Say, dear, don't you want to go and order some things?" asked Mrs. Spoopendyke.

"No," rejoined her husband, "I want to see this youngster. Where's her chin? Do babies always have their upper jaw set right on their shoulders? Kitchee! kitchee! Her scalp comes clear to the bridge of her nose. I don't believe she's quite right. Where's her forehead? Great Moses! Her head is all on the back part! Say, that baby's got to be pressed. That's no shape."

"Get away," exclaimed Mrs. Spoopendyke indignantly. "She's a perfect angel. There's nothing in the world the matter with her."

"Of course you know," growled Mr. Spoopendyke. "You don't want anything more than a fog horn and a misspent appropriation to be an orphan asylum. If I had your faith and the colic, I'd make a living as a foundling's home! She'll be old enough to spank in a week, won't she?"

"No, she won't," said Mrs. Spoopendyke. "She'll never be old enough for that."

"I'll bet she will," grunted Mr. Spoop-onlyke: "If she isn't she'll get it before she matures up to that period. That's all. Let me take her. Here, let's have her."

But Mrs. Spoonpendyke flatly refused.

"Keep your dod-gasted baby, then!" roared Mr. Spoopendyke. "If you know more about babies than I do, then keep her. The way you coddle her one would think she was a new paste for the complexion. If you had one more brain and a handle, you'd make a fair rattle box! Fit you up with a grease spot and you'd do for a second hand nursery."

And Mr. Spoopendyke started off to find his friend Specklwottle, who congratulated him, and started with him to assist in the selection of an overcoat and a pair of ear muffs against the approaching winter.

Mr. W. Galer, of the Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch office, says: "If every medicine possessed the genuine curative properties of St. Jacobs Oil there would be a great diminution of medical graduates. My wife used it lately in a very severe attack of vert go, and the result was very gratifying. Kankin, of the Journal, had something like the mumps a few days since. He bought a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil and it did him more good than all the doctors. It is a splendid thing."

—"My son," said the wise father, deftly laying the skate strap along the shrinking back of his howling son, "I am doing this for your own good." And as the lad jumped clear over the saw-buck he wailed: "Don't make me too good, dad; be not righteous over much, you know."

It Don't Pay!

To sling money away, but I invested a dollar for a bottle of Sulphur Bitters which cured me of dyspepsia. It saved me ten dollars in doctors and druggists, bills.—Machinist, Lowell, Mass.

—"You young scamp," cried an elderly gentleman, as he caught a little urchin in the act of picking his pocket, "aren't you ashamed of yourself? You so young and a thief already!" "Oh, gammon," retorted the urchin, "I like that! ain't you ashamed of yourself—you so old and ain't got a silk pocket-handkerchief yet?"

Pure water, fresh air, sunlight, and a bottle of Adamson's Botanic Balsam (in case of cough or cold) will save many doctors' bills and give health and vigor that no money can procure.

—A spread-eagle orator, at a political meeting, said "if he had the wings of a bird he would fly to every village and hamlet in the broad land, and carry the glad tidings of victory which he was so sure of." A naughty boy in the crowd sang out: "You'd be shot for a goose before you had flied a mile."

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

The Yorktown Celebration.

The final ceremonies in the grand civic, military and naval display at Yorktown took place on Thursday, and all the visiting organizations were on their way home before Friday night. The end of the military and naval exercises is thus sketched by a correspondent:

A prominent feature of the display at Yorktown was the salute to the British flag. About sundown the British flag was shown on the fore of the "Trenton," and a gun fired. Instantly the other ships run up the same colors, and gun answers gun along the line. The echoes are tossed to and fro between the York and Gloucester shores, from the grassy slopes of the old fortifications, and from the distant camps down the river come answering explosions, telling that the army joins the navy in this unusual and graceful act of courtesy toward the mother country. Now the yards are manned and a final salute given the American flag, in which the two French ships join, and so with a hearty greeting to Great Britain, against whose armies and fleets America's hostile guns clamored for liberty and independence one hundred years ago, the celebration was concluded.

News from the North.

The revenue cutter Corwin arrived at San Francisco on the 21st inst. from the Arctic. She learned of the loss of three vessels in Gallowin bay, Aug. 15th; their names were not ascertained. The Corwin reports very heavy weather in the Arctic. The steamer, while attempting to make a second landing on Wrangell Land, had her rudder disabled, and was obliged to cut away in the breakers to save the ship. On Chamesso island she found an astronomical station, bearing the inscription of several British ships, including H. B. M. S. Blossom, 1826, Herald, 1848 over 1849, and the Russian-American company expedition, 1838. At Elephant point the skeleton of a mammoth, with the remains of a musk ox and reindeer, were found.

News and Notes.

The post office at Peekskill, N. Y., was robbed of $1500 by burglars last Thursday night.

A dispatch from Little Rock, Ark., dated Oct. 21st, says: "Two wealthy stockmen were robbed yesterday in the Boston mountains by female outlaws, who pretended to be lost. This is the second robbery by the same persons within a week. It is supposed by some that they are men disguised as women."

At San Antonio, Texas, on the 20th inst., Albert Smith was found guilty of robbing a stage, and sentenced to ninety-nine years in the penitentiary. He might as well have been sentenced for life.

Edmund Davis, an ex-convict, was lynched in Asherville, N. C., Oct. 20th, for an outrageous assault on a Miss Godfrey a few days before. He confessed his guilt.

On Saturday, Oct. 22d, in New Haven, Justice Booth rendered a decision holding Walter E. Malley and James Malley, Jr., for trial before the superior court for the murder of Jennie E. Cramer. Bail was refused.

The charges against the 9th Massachusetts regiment, of discreditable conduct at Yorktown, are denied in toto. Gen. Hancock emphatically denies having reprimanded the regiment, and says he heard only the most favorable reports of the organization.

The British steamer Clan MacDuff, of the "Clan" line, from Liverpool for Bombay, foundered on Thursday night last, on the Welsh coast. Three of her crew landed near Bally Cotton, but the remainder, thirty-nine in number, are supposed to have been lost.

At Greenville, Miss, Oct. 21st, D. L. Love, who recently made a publication reflecting on the virtue of a young lady who had just been married to a Mr. Lanier at West Point, Miss., was killed by Lanier, who had been on the trail of Love since the time of the publication. Lanier was jailed.

Dennis, alias John Shea, was arrested in Boston at midnight on Wednesday of last week, for highway robbery committed in Worcester, Mass. Friday morning an indictment was found, the prisoner arraigned, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to six years in the state prison.

At Newton, Sussex county, N. J., Oct. 21st, W. H. Gibbs, senior editor of the Sussex Independent, who pleaded guilty to an indictment for libel, was sentenced to ten months in state prison and $200 fine; J. J. Stanton, the junior editor, got six months in prison and $200 fine.

The Augusta, Ga., News states that among the bridal presents at the wedding of Miss Douschka Pickens of Edgefield, S. C., and Dr. George C. Dugas of Augusta, last week, was a set of elegant diamonds from the czar of Russia. Miss "Douschka" was born in St. Petersburg while her father was minister to Russia; the czar was her godfather, and she was named for the empress of Russia, Frances Eugenia Olga Neva, the prefix "Douschka" being a pet name, which means "Darling."

Suit was entered in the court of common pleas at Philadelphia, Friday, by Patrick and Rosanna Brady, parents of Annie S. Brady, who was killed by jumping from the window of the Randolph mills during the late fire at that place. Damages in the sum of $50,000 are claimed. The defendants are Charles H. Landenberger, the operator, and Joseph Harvey, the owner of the mill.

In Guttenburg, N. J., Oct. 21st, Martin Kinkowski was found guilty of the murder of Mina Muller in the woods at Guttenburg on the 3d of May last.

A lifeboat was capsized off the Isle of Mann on the 20th inst., while attempting to rescue the crew of the British barque Zebu, which was foundering, and twelve men were drowned. The vessel's crew were saved.

The schooners Samuel Mass and Royal Tar left St. Johns, Newfoundland, early in September, for Fish Harbor, to load fish for the Mediterranean. They have not since been heard from, and no doubt went down in the September gale, with all hands.

The Tremont Gun club of Boston had another pigeon-butchering match in Eliot on Thursday of last week. A couple of small boys who were aiding and abetting the disgraceful performance by looking at it, were hit by shot from the gun of one of the sportsmen, who was too drunk to be able to tell a boy from a tame pigeon.

The burglars who have been operating in Buxton, Biddeford and Saco, recently, appear to be moving westward, as several houses in this town received "professional calls," Wednesday night, the 19th inst. The houses of Capt. Albert Williams, Capt. Jos. Nason, Mrs. Mehitable Nason and Patrick Rice, were entered, but hardly money enough was realized to pay the burglars for their trouble. It was about four o'clock when Mr. Rice's house was visited. His wife was aroused from her sleep, and saw a figure, in a woman's dress, bearing a light, but she supposed it to be some one who belonged in the house, and did not then give an alarm. Entrance was gained to all the houses through the cellar.—Kennebunk Star.

The mayor of Biddeford offers $100 reward for the arrest of the thieves who robbed the house of Simon S. Andrews in that city on the night of Oct. 17th, and $50 for the recovery of the property stolen.

The schooner Lizzie Newton, Moore master, which arrived at this port Oct. 17th from Nova Scotia with a cargo of soft coal for the South Newmarket Manufacturing Co., came down the river from South Newmarket on Saturday, in tow of the tug Naumkeag, and sailed for Parsboro', N. S., to load with potatoes for Boston. Capt. Moore has been sailing in and out of this port for over thirty years, and no vessel under his charge has ever met with any accident here worth mentioning. Capt. Moore informs us that potatoes, which last year brought twenty cents a bushel in Nova Scotia, were held at sixty cents a bushel when he left, and found plenty of buyers at that figure.

Joke on a Correspondent.

Probably no jollier lot of fellows are alive than the Washington correspondents of the American press. They find plenty of time, even when up to their ears in work during the busy session, to poke fun at each other. One of them who furnishes special dispatches to a leading journal, could tell a joke upon himself if he were so inclined. When he first entered Washington he was exceedingly green, but, like most novices, imagined that news-purveying was a trade which could be learned without a long apprenticeship. As he was leaving the capitol on a certain afternoon in the midst of a "short session," he was accosted by some brother scribes, one of whom, with a perfectly serious face, asked him if he had heard the result of the last night's caucus.

"I didn't know there was one," he answered.

"Oh, yes," said the first speaker, "there was a joint caucus of both parties, and after a great deal of wrangling they voted to adjourn Congress on the 4th of March."

"You don't say so!" exclaimed the victim, hurrying off to the telegraph office. A few minutes later this bit of news was on the wires; stranger yet, the editor into whose hands the dispatch passed at its destination printed it just as it was sent, without pausing to reflect that a caucus is invariably a meeting of one party only, and that the short session of Congress ends by legal limitation on the 4th of March, regardless of caucuses, resolutions, votes or any other consideration.—Hartford Times.

"ACROSS THE CONTINENT."

Oliver Doud Byron's combination, which appears this evening at Music hall, performed in Manchester a few evenings since to a very large house. The Union speaks in the highest terms of the company, and the drama which they present. Tickets for this entertainment are selling at Preston's drug store.

THE DIME SHOW.

The Dime Show, under the management of S. R. Hanaford & Co., of Manchester, gave the closing performance at Franklin theatre on Saturday evening to a full house, winding up a week during which the "business" (we believe that is the correct professional term) increased steadily from the initial entertainment. Manager Hanaford does not pretend to run his show other than as a business venture, aiming to make money by giving a really good performance at such a low price of admission as shall draw patronage extensive enough to pay expenses and leave something over; but his show here last week proved to a certain extent to be a "great moral" one, in that it kept the sidewalk brigade away from their usual haunts, and seriously interfered with the receipts of the barrooms.

Friday evening, "amateurs' night," but few seats were empty, the proportion of ladies in the audience being much larger than at any previous entertainment. Some of the "local talent" received bouquets from their acquaintances in the audience, the flowers selected by the donors being generally choice speciments of the cabbage, turnip, beet and other rare exotics. A ridiculous and mirth-provoking contest took place between a dozen or more boys, all of whom took off their shoes and then retired from the stage; the shoes were placed in a cloth, shook up and then tossed up; and at the word the boys rushed in, each essaying to be the first to select and put on his own foot-gear, as the one who first managed that feat was to receive a reward. One of the boys, a shrewd young schemer, wore a pair of base-ball shoes, and no doubt confidently counted on distancing the other fellows; but he didn't, for another fellow won the prize. Much fun was occasioned by the eager attempts of the contestants to secure their own shoes, and the equal eagerness each one displayed to prevent any other boy from getting his; for about five minutes the atmosphere over the stage seemed full of shoes.

Saturday afternoon there was a matinee entertainment, intended especially for ladies and children, and it was largely attended. The audience Saturday evening was a rouser, and the performance gave as good satisfaction as any of the week.

The principal fault in the show was its length, the audiences being detained until after eleven o'clock each evening; however, as the performance was kept going all the time, with hardly a pause, and the numerous patrons of the show seemed to enjoy it to the end, sticking to their positions until the close, we do not know as we need find fault. We believe the Dime Show proposes another week in this city before the spring comes.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, Oct. 22; Batchelder, J.

Isaac Frizelle, drunk, $8.90. Harry Gray, drunk, $8.76. Reuben Rand, Jr., drunk, $9.90. Brentwood in default of payment.

SUPREME COURT.

SATURDAY, Oct. 22d; Smith, J.

Case Urch vs. Rand, Doane and others, was argued by Mr. Emery for Rand, owner of the tug, by Mr. Hackett for Doane and Nickerson, owners of the schooner Gov. Goodwin, and by Mr. Frink for Urch, the plaintiff. The case was given to the jury in the forenoon. In the afternoon a verdict was returned of $470.98, with interest from date of writ, (thirteen months,) to be paid by the owners of the tug Clara Batemen.

Slate vs. John and Phebe Hanscom was next tried. Indictment for keeping a disorderly house on South Mill street in Portsmouth. Verdict, not guilty as to each respondent. The respondents were defended by Samuel W. Emery, a student in the office of Wallace Hackett, Esq., and the young advocate was warmly congratulated upon the unexpected result, as a large number of witnesses were called on behalf of the state. One of the requisites which the court instructed the jury as necessary to be shown beyond a reasonable doubt in the minds of the jurors, it is stated failed to be proved.

The trial of actions on the criminal docket will be resumed on Monday at 10:30 o'clock A. M.

The number of new entries on the docket of civil actions at this term is 115.

PLEASANT MEETINGS.

Langdon Colony, No. 15, United Order of the Pilgrim Fathers, with invited guests, had a very agreeable entertainment on Friday evening last, the attractions being an oyster supper, and a programme of exercises consisting of singing by a select choir, readings by Miss Fannie L. Deverson and Miss Louisa H. White, recitations by Miss Ethel Green, and solo singing by Dr. R. C. Grant. Speeches also were made by the governor of the colony, Charles S. Dodge, and by Messrs. James Janvrin and Horace A. Martin, and Rev. John A. Goss. The evening was spent in a very social manner, and at its close many wishes were expressed for a repetition of the entertainment. This order has great advantages over many of the other similar ones, being a New England institution and having for its aim "to cherish and defend each other in every laudable purpose, and to aid members and friends of deceased members by a system of life insurance, cheaply, and with a certain reliability." Langdon Colony was instituted in March, 1880, has had a continued and healthy growth up to the present time, and is destined to be one of the strongest of its kind in our city.

PILGRIM.

Friends to the number of about eighty surprised Mr. Edwin Pickering of Greenland with a call on Friday evening of last week, the occasion being the 70th anniversary of his birthday, and a very pleasant evening was spent by all, none enjoying it more than the venerable old gentleman himself.

AROUND HOME.

Mr. R. H. Beacham and son arrived home from the far west on Saturday evening, Mr. Beacham having been absent about six months.

A horse, said to belong to a man in Great Falls, fell dead near the Eastern railroad station early Saturday forenoon, soon after being taken out of a stable where it had been put up over night. The animal appeared in perfect health when taken from the stable.

Hon. Frank Jones and wife arrived home by the three o'clock train from Boston on Saturday afternoon, after an absence of about three months in Europe, during which Mr. Jones' health, which had been somewhat impaired by long-continued overwork, has been apparently restored.

City Marshal Entwistle received a dispatch from Kennebunk on Saturday night giving the description of two men who were wanted there for some offence, and the parties were soon after arrested and safely lodged in the station house.

The steam-dredge and scows that have been employed in the improvement of the Exeter river came down from there last week, and on Saturday were lying at C. E. Walker & Co.'s wharf.

The steamer Acushnet, Bird master, on her trip from Boston to this city last week brought a full cargo, and was obliged to leave a large quantity of freight on storage in Boston, for the next trip. She also took a larger cargo than usual from this city to Boston, on her return.

The alarm of fire on Saturday night was caused by smoke issuing from a brick oven in a room over the store of Rider & Cotton, hired by John H. Slater, and used by him for drying herbs which he uses in the preparation of a patent medicine.

Miss Annie Pixley, one of the most charming actresses on the American stage, will appear at Music hall on Thursday evening as "M'liss, the child of the Sierras," supported by her own company.

The police were notified on Sunday morning that a man had committed suicide on Market street. They at once proceeded to investigate, and found what proved to be an effigy on one of the grocers of our city, which had been placed in the doorway of his store. It was removed to the police station, where it attracted a great deal of attention from the perfect manner in which the effigy was gotten up.

There is one person, a colored seaman, stopping at the pest house on Pest island, having been taken there when suffering with small-pox. The city physician goes down there every day, the cost of a boat being one dollar a day; Mr. Slater sends down flour, bread, and other necessaries, and Mr. Floron Barri keeps the patient supplied with coal and wood. The sick man it is said does his own cooking, and takes care of himself.

The schooner Rover's Bride arrived on Saturday with 12,000 lbs., of fresh fish, mostly cod, to C. Morris Tredick. The small boats nearly all brought in good fares, taken Friday night. Capt. Wallace having 700 lbs. on board his boat; the catch was disposed of to various dealers.

Choice potatoes have been selling at a dollar a bushel in Hampton, Stratham and Greenland, for shipment per rail.

Mr. N. F. Mathes of this city is stopping at the Terrace house, Summerside, Prince Edward island. The Summerside Journal of last week, sent on by Mr. Mathes, reports seven inches of snow on the ground. Potatoes he quotes at forty-two cents a bushel at that port.

The schooner Flying Eagle arrived on Sunday with 9,000 lbs. of fish, mostly hake, to C. Morris Tredick.

"Let's strip the light fantastic toe," as our friend chiropodist Emery in Mechanic's block remarked to a coroned visitor from the Agamenticus region, last week, who raised more corn to the acher than any patient the dcotor had seen for an age.

New Hampshire Items.

John Sherry, who has a ticket to the state prison at Concord for stealing his wife's money, finds himself in an uncomfortable fix. He cannot be set at work in the shoe shop, because the prison regulations do not permit Sherry cobblers among the convicts.

An act of the legislature approved in August last provides that no justice of the supreme court of the state shall be an officer in any railroad corporation in this state. In consequence of the amendment some changes have occurred. Hon. Wm. L. Foster, who had for many years served as clerk of the Northern railroad, resigned the judgeship and retained his office in the railroad corporation. Judges Lewis W. Clark (who was clerk of the Suncook Valley railroad) and Clinton W. Stanley (who was a director in the Manchester & North Weare railroad) have resigned their offices in the corporations, and as an additional sum of five hundred dollars has been added to the salary of the judges it is presumed they will, like other folks, pay as they go on the railroads.

The Concord (and Nashua), and the Manchester & Lawrence railroads pay a dividend of five per cent Nov. 1st.

Silver coins having punches are now repudiated, and only received at a big discount. One of our railroad officials possessed a silver dollar which was punched, and to-day he entered a saloon, called for a glass of lager, and to his astonishment the barkeeper handed him back nine dimes and one nickel, each one of which was punched! He sailed in the corner of his mouth as he pocketed them, and said nothing, as he knew the barkeeper was acquainted with his business. Said barkeeper has a special department for coins of this kind, and those presenting one will positively get paid off in the same kind.—Dover Democrat.

Naval Affairs.

The President sent the following nominations to the senate on the 22d inst.: Medical Inspector Philip S. Wales to be a medical director; Commander Robert F. Bradford to be a captain; Lieut.-Commander Colby M. Chester to be a commander, and a number of other promotions.

—One of a party of girls who ran a five-mile race at Rio, Texas, died from over exertion.

—Why any one should expect the newspaper publisher to be more generous in squandering his substance than other business men is something that cannot be accounted for, except on the supposition that some people have an idiotic idea that printers set up type for the love of the work, and that ink and type and printing presses are gifts from heaven to sinful men, who publish newspapers merely for the purpose of soothing the pathway of their fellow-men on the rugged road to fortune, and who hope not for reward this side of the grave.—Texas Siftings.

Thirty-four years of constantly increasing use have established a reputation for Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup second to no similar preparation. It relieves instantly, and cures all coughs, colds, etc.

—One can't be too careful with firearms. A Maine boy carried a pistol in his pocket; one day last summer while he was in swimming, the pistol unexpectedly went off. He has no suspicions as to who took it.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

—A church choir consists of one accomplished musician, and a lot of other folks who are densely ignorant of music. The accomplished one is the member you are talking with.

Captain Courtney!

Says: While on the coast of Africa I had three men sick with malarial fever. I cured them with Sulphur Bitters. It is the greatest blood purifier I ever saw. I always keep them in my medicine chest. —Ship Nautilus, Baltimore.

—"It may be months, darling, before we meet again," he said, squeezing her hand as if that were his last: "mountains and valleys will divide us, forests and prairies, perhaps the river of death itself. Can I do anything more than I have done to make you cherish my memory, and keep your love for me unchanged?" "Oh, yes," she exclaimed, choking down the sobs, "buy me a box of tortoise-shell hairpins before you start."

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching necessitating the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a good rule that won't work both ways.

Back Ache

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 7000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

YORK BEACH IMPROVEMENTS.

York beach has for several years past been a favorite seaside resort with many New Hampshire people, many of them owning private cottages and some hotels. It appears that extensive improvements are to be inaugurated at this resort, so as to do away with many of the present inconveniences. The Lord dwelling-house, situated a little south of the west end of Long beach, has passed into the hands of Dr. E. B. Hammond of Nashua and Mr. Henry E. Evans of Concord, together with seven acres of land. These gentlemen will divide a portion of the land into house-lots, and will enlarge and remodel the Lord house, making a wing on the west 102 by thirty feet, a kitchen twenty-five by thirty feet, and a veranda twenty by forty feet on the front and sides of the house. There will be accommodations for 150 guests. The work of making these improvements has already commenced, and it is anticipated that the dwelling will be covered in by Dec. 1st. It will be known as Hotel Bartlett, and the town of York is expected to lay out a new road by this house towards the Marshall house at York harbor. A steamboat landing is to be constructed near the house, and Mr. S. C. Forsaith of Manchester intends to run a steamer direct to it, which will make a very pleasant way of reaching the beach, in addition to the present stage-drive of eight miles. The only objection which pleasure-seekers have raised to York beach is the inconvenience of getting there. This, it is stated, is likely to be removed by another season, as it is as good as decided upon to run a narrow gauge railroad along the shore to connect with the main line of the Eastern railroad. Besides the improvements going on at the beaches, extensive alterations are being made in the Congregational church building, which is to be turned around so as to face the street, and moved back in line with the court house.—Manchester Mirror.

Capt. Sargent S. Day, of Gloucester, Mass., writes: "I was suffering with rheumatism; I used a small portion of St. Jacobs Oil, and was at once cured. I have also used it for a sprained ankle and bruised foot, and never once found it to fail. It is superior to any other medicine I ever had in my house, and I will never be without a bottle of this great pain destroyer." The captain is wise.

It is estimated that fifty tons of blueberries were shipped from Bath, Me., the past season. Most of the berries were picked in the towns of Georgetown and Phippsburg by women and children. The pickers received about five cents per quart, and they obtained in the aggregate about $6,000.

KAHOKA, Mo., Feb. 9th, 1880.
I purchased five bottles of your Hop Bitters of Bishop & Co. last fall, for my daughter, and am well pleased with the Bitters. They did her more good than all the medicine she has taken for six years. WM. T. MCCLURE.

The above is from a very reliable farmer, whose daughter was in poor health for seven or eight years, and could obtain no relief until she used Hop Bitters. She is now in as good health as any person in the country. We have large sales, and they are making reliable cures.

Henry Ostrander of West Camden, N. Y., last Christmas shot his brother, Geo. L. Ostrander, because their little sister loved George the best of the two. Last Saturday Henry was found guilty of murder in the first degree.

Ash-Tonic;
A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

Barney McEmany of Fairfield, Vt., a professional wrestler, died recently from the effects of injuries received during a wrestling match at the Vermont state fair.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

"Cape Cod Folks" Make Trouble.

On Thursday last the well known publishing firm of A. Williams & Co., of Boston, found suits instituted against the concern (in which damages amounting to $30,000 were claimed) and a keeper occupying the premises on Washington street. On Friday bonds amounting to $30,000 were furnished by the firm, and their store was released from keepership.

The suits for the above amount of damages have grown out of the publication by this firm of a novel entitled "Cape Cod Folks," written by Miss Sally Pratt McLean of Simsbury, Conn. Miss McLean almost accidentally visited Cape Cod, and took the position of a teacher in one of the day schools of that section. The novel is a transcription of her experiences while thus occupied, enlivened by her methods of relating them, comments upon them, and the reflections and illustrations to which they led. Curiously enough, the authoress gave the real names of most of her characters, which gave grave offence to many, while others laughed at the whole matter. The facts of the case becoming known, no little comment was stirred up, and several of the personages wrote letters to the firm of A. Williams & Co., demanding compensation for wounded feelings. No attention was paid; and it was supposed that the matter was dropped, but recently, after what appears to have been the quiet action of some new parties not directly interested in the affair, it was revived, and Atty. Gen. Marston instituted four suits against the publishing firm, two for $10,000 each and two for $5,000 each, representing four of the aggrieved parties, with an intimation that every character represented in the book was to sue in due form for damages, and that these were the avant couriers.

Messrs. A. Williams & Co. did not know that real names were used in the book, and in the later editions every proper name in the book is radically changed. Meanwhile the sale of the book has been greatly stimulated, and copies of the original edition are now sold at high figures, $5 per copy being freely offered.

Civil Rights.

Charles Jefferson, convicted at Kansas City, Mo., of murder in the first degree, has been granted a new trial, on the ground that colored men had been discriminated against by officers in selecting the grand jury that found the indictment, and the petit jury that tried the case. The judge held that such discrimination on the part of the officers was a violation of the fifteenth amendment of the constitution. This settles that colored men in that county of Missouri will be placed upon juries, a right that has been denied them heretofore.

New Hampshire Items.

In the supreme court at Concord, Saturday, the jury in the case of Merrill vs. Perkins, a suit for damages by ejectment from house of defendant for non-payment of rent, returned a verdict of $2,000 for plaintiff.

The battalion of New Hampshire troops which went to Yorktown as escort for Gov. Bell, arrived home on Saturday.

In the supreme court at Ossipee, the suit of N. S. Ryan for $5,000 damages against Charles H. Parker, proprietor of the Granite State News, caused by the publication of a communication in the paper charging that Ryan got drunk and misplaced a switch which threw an Eastern railroad train off the track at Ossipee two years ago, was decided in favor of the defendant.

Mr. C. S. Boynton returned to this city on Saturday from Wilton, Hillsborough county, his native place. He reports that the farmers of that town have this season shipped to market 1,000 barrels of apples, (one farmer sending off 450 bbls., of his own raising,) and the neighboring town of Milford 1,000 more; a large quantity has also been sent from Temple. The apple crop of that section was very large this year.

Naval Affairs.

Paymaster Henry T. Wright has received orders, after being relieved from the Lancaster on her arrival on the European station, to delay his return home for three months.

Passed Asst. Paymaster Stephen Rand, Jr., is ordered to duty in the bureau of provisions and clothing at Washington.

Civil Engineers Wm. P. S. Sanger, Benjamin F. Chandler, Norman Stratton and Calvin Brown, are placed on the retired list from Oct. 15th.

Pay Inspector Charles F. Eldredge has been nominated to be a pay director from Aug. 31st; Paymaster John H. Stevenson to be a pay inspector from Jan. 18th; Asst. Paymaster Charles W. Littlefield to be a passed assistant paymaster from June 16th.

Capt. J. H. Higbee, U. S. M. C., is granted one month leave of absence from Oct. 20th. At the expiration of his leave he will report for duty at the marine barracks of the Boston navy yard.

News and Notes.

Randolph Disbrow, of Trenton, N. J., a member of the New Jersey battalion at the Yorktown celebration last week, had both hands blown off on the 19th by the premature discharge of a cannon. He was taken to the hospital, where both arms were amputated, one above and the other one below the elbow. His injuries are not regarded as fatal. The accident occurred while the artillery-men were preparing to salute Governor Ludlow on his arrival. Governor Ludlow says that Disbrow will be provided for—New Jersey will pension him. The unfortunate man is unmarried.

A young man named Mason, of Beverly, Mass., about eighteen years old, was drowned Oct. 22d while gunning along the Beverly shore, by the capsizing of his boat.

A boat containing seven passengers and four seamen of the lost steamer Clan MacDuff was picked up off Ballycotton, Ireland, by steamer Palestine on the 21st inst., and sixteen others have been landed at Plymouth. This leaves thirty-three persons yet unaccounted for, out of her company of sixty-one. A Norwegian vessel went ashore at Ballycotton, and only two of her crew escaped.

A despatch from Antonio to the Denver (Col.) Republican says that last week Marion Melvin was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of S. de Kasserman, committed in 1879; and Allison, Perkins and Watts, of the notorious Allison gang of stage robbers, were each sentenced to thirty-seven years at hard labor.

Real duels are still fought in the south, but not by the more pretentious upholders of the code. Jack Patrick and Frank Comer, bummers, of Columbia, Ga., had an encounter, by appointment, with knives, the weapons being agreed upon by both. The struggle was desperate and bloody, thirteen stabs being divided among them. Comer died on the spot, and Patrick is still in a precarious condition.

A late passenger train on the Fitchburg railroad ran over and killed on Friday, at Ayer, Mass., John R. Nutting of Townsend, who was walking on the track. One of his legs was broken, and his skull was crushed.

At Middlebury, Vt., Saturday, Daniel Champagne, fifteen years old, was killed by a train of cars which he attempted to board while in motion.

In West Newbury, Mass., Oct. 22d, two boys named Morse and Howard, between twelve and fifteen years old, were gunning for squirrels, when Morse accidentally shot Howard, the gun being loaded with very large shot, a number of which penetrated Howard's body to the depth of several inches, inflicting dangerous wounds.

A boy thirteen years old, son of Capt. W. H. H. Hall of Chelsea, Vt., was out gunning on Saturday, the 22d inst., when he accidentally shot himself in the leg. The wounded limb was amputated, but the boy died in a short time.

Lindy Derby and two other boys were out hunting for ducks near Isle La Mott (Vt.) shore, Tuesday, Oct. 18th, when Derby accidentally discharged his gun, the charge entering his mouth, killing him instantly.

"Billy D." trotted a mile in 2:14 3-2 at Beacon park, Oct. 22d, having a running mate.

—"I have come to the conclusion," said Brown, "that the less a man knows, the happier he is." "Allow me to congratulate you, Brown," said Fogg.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

CHURCH OF THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION.

After several months devoted to frescoing and renovating the Church of the Immaculate Conception, it was re-opened last Sunday for divine worship, and presented a very beautiful appearance, being decorated in the highest style of Christian art. The whole interior is artistically embellished with appropriate designs representing the different periods in the life of Christ. The altar is particularly attractive, being finished in white and gold, and presents a brilliant appearance with its rich furniture, which was specially made for it in New York.

At high mass the impressive ceremonies of the mission opened with a procession through the church, consisting of acolytes, the pastor, Rev. E. M. O'Callaghan, and two missionaries. The pastor then made some appropriate remarks, saying that it was a source of joy and pride to him to resume services in the beautiful church, and he felt sure his parishioners participated in his joy. He next took occasion to introduce to the congregation the reverend missionaries (Children of St. Alphonsus) who had come to labor zealously among them, and hoped their efforts would be crowned with the richest blessings, and be productive of solid and lasting virtues. He also invested them with the stole, giving them full authority to discharge the spiritual exercises of the mission. After the first Gospel, Rev. Father Rosbach, C. SS. R., of Roxbury, Mass., ascended the pulpit, and preached an eloquent discourse, setting forth the objects of the mission in a clear and forcible manner. He took his text from the gospel according to St. Paul—"Behold I bring to you glad tidings of good things." He said when these words were spoken it referred to the birth of our divine Saviour, in whose name they came to preach a mission to the faithful.

The exercises of the mission will consist of morning services at five and 8:30 o'clock, and in the evening at 7:30 o'clock. A sermon on the great truths of Catholicity will be preached each evening during the mission.

RAILROAD LITIGATION.

A bill in equity was filed in the office of the clerk of the circuit court of the United States in this city on Monday, in behalf of Alex. Bruce of Marseilles, Ill., John Shepard of Lowell, Mass., and the Boston & Lowell railroad, against the Manchester & Keene railroad and Messrs. Lane, White & Dearborn, and against Geo. A. Ramsdell, Ex-Gov. Weston and John Kimball, acting trustees, and Sam'l W. Hale, Henry Colony, Senator Wm. P. Frye and Jno. Scruton. The plaintiffs hold $90,000 of the bonds of the Manchester & Keene road, and fear that a proposed sale at auction this week to be held at Keene will impair their rights as bondholders, by reason that they expect that some of the parties named may seek to buy the property at a nominal price, and render the bonds wholly worthless. A subpaena was served on one of the trustees on Monday evening.

"M'LISS."

About a year ago Miss Annie Pixley and her dramatic company performed "M'liss, the child of the sierras," at Music hall. The political contest was then at its height, and the number of people who attended the play was not large; but those who did go, without exception pronounced the entertainment one of the most pleasing they had attended for years Miss Pixley being pretty and vivacious and a singer of far more than usual merit, and the support something extra, while the drama itself is very interesting, the story being fresh and well told, and most of the characters well drawn. The Erie (Pa.) Gazette says "charming Annie Pixley is a talented actress, well supported;" and the Press, of Providence, R. I., says: "Annie Pixley has done the largest business ever done by a star in this city, her receipts for the seven performances netting upwards of six thousand dollars."

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Oct. 24; Batchelder, J.

Frank Welcome, drunk; $9.90; Brentwood.

SUPREME COURT.

MONDAY, Oct. 24th; Smith, J.

The court came in at half-past ten o'clock this morning, and immediately a jury was impanelled in case State vs. Jackson, indicted for being a tramp. The trial of the case occupied about an hour; there were no witnesses called by defendant, and the case was submitted to the jury without argument. After mature deliberation the jury agreed that defendant was guilty in manner and form as alleged and brought in a verdict accordingly.

The next case was State vs. Gilchrist, indicted for malicious mischief in throwing bricks through the windows of the residence of Samuel Wilson on Short street, and although the fact that bricks were thrown by the defendant was established, other legal impediments to a conviction presented themselves, and the respondent was found not guilty.

State vs. John Smith (other name unknown) was next in order. Defendant was indicted for breaking and entering the house of Theophilus Kimball of Kensington on the night of July 5th, with intent to steal. It was proved that Mr. Kimball was aroused by a noise in his house, and moving cautiously along the hall in the second story of his house, and feeling in the dark for the door, he put his hands on the prisoner, and immediately seized him, shouted for assistance, and with the help of his hired man secured the intruder, who was taken to Exeter the same night and lodged in jail. The prisoner, who is a Frenchman, had the aid of an intepreter, and with his assistance testified in his own behalf in explanation of his presence in Farmer Kimball's mansion house at such an unseemly hour. The defendant's story was that he thought he heard some one call him in French, to enter the house, and it was in obedience to this invitation that he entered—which was ingenious, but very gauzy. Prisoner was ably defended by Geo. E. Hodgdon. Case submitted.

AROUND HOME.

Excursion tickets to Boston and back, good to go on regular train on Thursday, the 27th inst., only, and to return on any regular train until and including the 29th, will be sold by the Eastern railroad on Thurday, the fare for the round trip being $1.70 from this city.

George Herbert & Co. on Monday received a considerably quantity of fish from small boats, the following being some of the fares; Capt. Shields, 135 lbs. cod, 200 lbs. haddock, 309 lbs. hake; Chris. Killenbeck, 365 lbs. cod; Thomas Freeman, 138 lbs. cod; Capt. Hunnefeld, 515 lbs. cod; Oliver Adams, 600 lbs. cod; Samuel Robinson, 760 lbs. hake, 210 lbs. large cod, 115 lbs. haddock; John Russell, 1000 lbs. hake, 263 lbs. haddock, 215 lbs. cod.

A number of burglaries were committed in Dover on Thursday night of last week, the several "jobs" all bearing the ear-marks of the scamps who have been operating in Saco, Biddeford, Limerick, Kennebunk and other places in Maine, entrance in nearly every case having been effected through cellar windows. It is not unlikely that the two fellows arrested in this city on Saturday night in response to a despatch from Kennebunk, and who gave the names of Henry Wittingham and William Gilbert, were the Dover operators. They were taken to the eastward on Monday by Deputy Sheriff Lowell of Kennebunk, to answer for numerous crimes committed there and in Biddeford. Gilbert is a well known thief.

A little boy about seven years old, son of Mr. Daniel Broderick, was knocked down and run over by a team at the junction of Howard and Washington streets, about 10:30 o'clock Monday forenoon, one of the wheels passing over his head. He was taken into Mr. C. Wesley Rand's store in an insensible condition, his head being cut and one arm lamed; on recovering consciousness he also complained of internal pains. At first it was feared he was fatally hurt, but a slight improvement in his condition was reported towards evening, and more hope was entertained.

There were over 3000 tons of coal afloat at or near the Concord railroad wharf, Monday.

Three fishing boats moored between the old Marcy shipyard and Peirce's island have boarded by rats within a day or two, and their sails and nets damaged by the teeth of the destructive animals. Damage to the amount of seven or eight dollars was done to one net by a single rat, but the skipper of the boat had the sweet satisfaction of whacking the rat with a club, and killing him. The rats must have swam off from the shore, a distance of a hundred yards or so, and climbed up the mooring ropes of the boats to get on board.

The schooner Cocheco, Seawards, from Port Johnson with coal for the Cocheco Manufacturing Co. of Dover, was towed up the river on Monday by the tug Ann.

Mr. Charles W. Norton narrowly escaped a serious accident one day last week while overseeing the repairs of a house, a "slice" which slipped from the hands of a workman on a floor above striking him a glancing blow on the head, cutting his forehead and nose. Had the slice struck him fairly on top of the head the consequences might have been fatal. We beg leave to suggest to Charles that he take out an accident insurance policy, for a good round sum; Morse & Ilsley will attend to it, if called upon.

William A. Smith, telegraph operator at the Eastern railroad station in Newburyport, committed suicide on Sunday afternoon shortly after five o'clock, by shooting himself through the head in a room in the station. Mr. Smith was about twenty-two years of age, highly respected, and the only son of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Smith; no reason for the fatal act is assigned, but it is known that he had for some days been given to fits of deep melancholy at his home, for which he would give no explanation. It is somewhat singular that this is the second instance of an operator at that station committing suicide, a Mr. Dodge having thrown himself under the wheels of a train a few years ago.

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

After numerous experiments Mr. Fellows succeeded in producing this combination of Hypophosphites, which has not only restored him to health, but has since been found so successful in the treatment of disease emanating from loss of nerve power, and consequently muscular relaxation, viz:

Aphonia (loss of voice),	Neuralgia,
Anæmia,	Nervous debility,
Chronic Diarrhœa,	Whooping Cough,
Dyspepsia,	Congestion of the Lungs,
Fever and Ague,	Palpitation of the Heart,
Leucorrhœa,	Melancholy,
Malaria,	Mental Depression,
	Nervousness.

MALARIA.

Persons living in Malarious districts may protect themselves from attacks of fever by the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. Its effects in toning up the system enables us to ward off contagious disorders, and successfully combat disease.

The soluble phosphites and the other life-sustaining principles composing Fellows' Hypophosphites are so carefully proportioned and so judiciously mingled, that their action upon the nerves, muscles and membranes in imparting vitality, strength and healthy action is generally apparent within twenty four hours, and the good effects experienced are of a permanent character.

The Purest and Best Medicine ever Made.

A combination of Hops, Buchu, Mandrake and Dandelion, with all the best and most active properties of all other Bitters, makes the greatest Blood Purifier, Liver Regulator, and Life and Health Restoring Agent on earth.

No disease can possibly long exist where Hop Bitters are used, so varied and perfect are their operations.

They give new life and vigor to the aged and infirm.

To all whose employments cause irregularity of the bowels or urinary organs, or who require an Appetizer, Tonic and mild Stimulant, Hop Bitters are invaluable, without intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are what the disease or ailment is use Hop Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick, but if you only feel bad or miserable, use them at once. It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

$500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help. Do not suffer, but let your friends suffer, but use and urge them to do so. Use Hop Bitters.

Remember, Hop Bitters is not a vile, drugged drunken nostrum, but the Purest and Best Medicine ever made; the "TWILIGHT FRIEND and HOPE" and no person or family should be without them.

D. I. C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for Drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco and narcotics. All sold by druggists. Send for Circular. Hop Bitters Mfg. Co., Rochester, N.Y. and Toronto, Ont.

HOW TO FIX THE FLY.

At no time during the year are flies more annoying to persons employed in sedentary occupations, than now; the abominable insects seem to be more sticky, hungry and pertinacious, and to have less regard for wild flourishings of the hands and liberal (if not literal) quotations from both the King James and revised versions, than at any other season. Sticky fly-paper has lost its virtue; it will adhere to the sleeve of one's coat, or to other parts of his clothing, the same as in July or August; but the fly now dances a jig on it in disdain, and then takes wing in search of a bald-headed man. Poisons seem to be of no other service than to cause the fly to drop from the ceiling into your soup; and this is a work of supererogation, as the fly is bound to get into your soup anyway, poison or no poison. But there is one way to circumvent and abolish the fly, and take sweet revenge on him; it is easily applied, and never-failing in its effect; we know, for we have tried it—have used it all summer, to the great saving of our temper, and the notable economy of expletives. It is as follows:

When the fly becomes unbearable, put a spoonful or two of "Persian insect power" on a stove cover, or any old dish that will not be injured by being broken in pieces; touch a lighted match to the powder, let it burn, and await developments. If the powder is unadulterated it will burn freely, without flame, sending up a thin, blue, aromatic smoke, which occasions no sneezing or coughing, and no running of water from the eyes, but reminds the ordinary man of the time when, as a schoolboy, he played truant, hooked green corn from a field, and roasted it in a juniper-bush fire. The effect on the fly is delightful to observe. Even in a large, high, well-ventilated room, every fly will be stilled in a half-minute from the time the powder is fired; and they can be seen crawling slowly about on the walls, or stationary on the ceiling or curtains, and flourishing their legs and wings about in a manner indicative of the most pronounced discomfort and discouragement, very delightful to behold. As the smoke disappears and new flies enter the room, more of the powder must be applied; but the expense is small, and the trouble of keeping up the fire is but a trifle compared with the annoyance of fighting aggressive flies all day. Anybody desiring to try this remedy can find the powder at Preston's drug store, of the best quality, and for sale in bulk.

—The young woman who used to sing so divinely, "Oh, had I the wings of a dove," is satisfied with a chicken leg now. She is married.

—Keely, the motor man, has again come into prominence through the completion of his vibratory engine. Keely says of his invention: "Were I to assert that I could make a machine with which, by a certain process, I could create a disturbance of equilibrium so as to produce a pressure of 100 tons to the square inch many persons would be dumbfounded, and yet such is the case."

The popular prejudice against proprietary remedies has long since been conquered by the marvelous success of such a remedy as Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Used everywhere by everybody. Price 25 cents.

Lady Beautifiers.

Ladies, you cannot make fair skin, rosy cheeks, and sparkling eyes with all the cosmetics of France, or beautifiers of the world, while in poor health, and nothing will give you such rich blood, good health, strength and beauty as Hop Bitters. A trial is certain proof.

In Oconee county, S. C., Friday, Wm. Higgins and Solomon Rainey fought, because Higgins insulted Rainey's divorced wife. Higgins shot and killed Rainey.

Dear Sir: Having used your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites for some time in my practice, I have no hesitation in recommending it to my patients who are suffering from general debility, or any disease of the lungs, knowing that, even in cases utterly hopeless, it affords relief. An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching attendant on the skin, as the only certain remedy in the market. The proof of the pudding is that it won't work both ways.

Back Ache
POSITIVELY CURED BY
Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.
Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.
Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.
Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.
Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.
Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.
Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

FAIRBANK'S
ROCK CORDIALS.

ROCK AND RYE.
ROCK AND COGNAC.
ROCK AND JAMAICA.
ROCK AND SCHEIDAM.
ROCK AND NEW ENGLAND.
ROCK AND CHERRY.

Fairbank's Rock Cordials are destined to become the popular cordials of the day. One trial will convince the most skeptical of their medicinal qualities. The Rock and Rye is already a household word. The best physicians recommend it. All leading druggists sell it. If you have trouble with your throat or lungs it will cure it. See that you get a bottle—the style is shown in the cut—with our name in full on the label.

HOLMAN'S PAD

Dr. Holman's Pad is the Original and Only Genuine Curative Pad, the only remedy that has an honestly-acquired right to use the title-word "Pad" in connection with a treatment for chronic diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Spleen and Malarial Blood Poisoning.

Holman's Pad has such complete control over the most persistent Chronic Diseases of the Stomach and Liver, including Indigestion, all forms of Dyspepsia, Bilious and Sick Headaches, Nervous Prostration and Sleeplessness, as to amply justify the eminent Professor Loomis' high encomium: "It is nearer a Universal Panacea than anything in medicine."

Beware of Bogus and Imitation Pads. Each Genuine HOLMAN PAD bears the Private Revenue Stamp of the Holman Pad Company, being the above Trade Mark printed in green.

NOVEL COSTUMES.

Never have plaitings been so fashionable. Some new skirts are entirely in side plaits set to a yoke; others are plain, with two broad box plaits at the back; again we see rows of side plaiting around the bottoms, or the material can be set in box plaits so wide that nine encompass the entire skirt; a rich example in this style having been a costume made for Mrs. A. T. Stewart, of black watered silk and plush. The skirt was of silk, while the upper portion, also silk, was a Feodora polonaise arranged to appear like a basque and overskirt in front, and gracefully draped in the back. The sleeves were close fitting, and a shoulder cape completed the design. The trimming was plush laid in bands on the edges. Gathered flounces nevertheless are quite an idea of the time; so much so that plain woolens and silks are brought out in dress patterns where successive flounces are wrought in floral figures. Often a flounce is added at the waist and also around the neck. Striped silks or woolens are in like manner placed as flounces on plain goods. Basques differing from the skirt are still in favor. Plush or watered silk are the first choice, yet striped goods are much liked. Brocaded basques are worn by those who have them, but new ones are not made up. This is because small figures are going out, and large brocades are manifestly unsuitable. For sake of contrast, the skirt must be of plain goods. A spectacle most are the new huge hats. They spread out in a radius of half a foot each way; equally surprising are the crowns, high and conspicuously pointed, rising like peaks encircled by forests of ostrich plumes. Sometimes these hats are set far back on the head, the brim poised in halo style; again they rest prone over the brow, causing search for a pair of eyes below; or the wide brim may be caught on the left side. Akin to these are the pokes, the mark of relationship being the high pointed crowns; but these are bonnets, and tied under the chin. A gloomily prophetic soul might query as to how the average mortal is to see or hear anything at a church or theatre; a too imaginative spirit might figure out a row of ladies all wearing such hats, and wonder not only how unfortunates in the rear are to get along, but how they themselves are to turn their heads. These however are morbid forebodings; nine chances to ten, that row will be broken by masculine pates, while most encouraging of all is the fact that as yet the large hats and bonnets are in a noticeable minority. Feather turbans are carrying the day. At other times, we thought turbans adapted to young ladies only, but now the observer can discern beneath the mask veil which is a favorite accompaniment, both wrinkles and gray hairs. Nevertheless the wearers are not elderly. They linger still in the shadowy land of middle life, a land however of much larger limits than in smaller towns, since fifty often corresponds to thirty-five elsewhere, etc., etc.

The Biddeford Times of 21st inst. says: "A man living over Brancen's store at Smith's corner is reported sick with the small-pox, and a watchman has been placed there to keep people in the house from coming out, and others from going in. This makes eight cases of small-pox in this city. We should think if the new pest house is not completed, that it would be policy to remove the small-pox patients to the old one before the disease spreads any more than it has. It seems to us to be getting rather too numerous." On the 22d inst. another case of the disease was discovered, and a child died in the family in which the disease first appeared; two more of the victims were reported to be hopelessly ill.

BEADS AND COMBINATIONS.

Beads, beads, beads are the order of the day. We have beaded passementeries, beaded fringes, independent ornaments made of beads, and beaded net works that take the place of overskirts. They shine in a shaded glitter from pale to dark or in cashmere co-minglings. So you see that the results must be sometimes quite rich, to such a degree, really, that frequently they are substituted for brocades as a combination for plain velvet, plush, satin or silk. Nothing certainly can more efficiently contribute to the restoration of the mode in black silks than an experience of the superiority of the Bellon fabrics that are now brought prominently forward. Both in wearing qualities and in finish, they rank pre-eminent among the silks of the day. For wool goods a combination of material is preferred to beads, and the pretty results accruing from unitings of plain and striped material, quite defy my powers of calculation. Mark the word "striped," for it has a meaning. To wit, that small floral brocades are going out, except in case of the flounced dress patterns mentioned above. The Mirabel is a stylish model for a flounced costume, having a plain round waist finished with a sailor collar and full bishop sleeves. If, however, you should prefer one of the pointed corsages now so much used, the Lucinde basque could be substituted. This is pointed back and front, with half long sleeves shirred above the elbow and finished by a ruffle.

GLOVES.

This winter you are nothing if not well gloved. "Well" is here synonymous with "stylish." The loose, wrinkled gloves are of course fashionable, but in the eyes of many people are an abomination. More to my way of thinking are the improved Harris Seamless, very durable and beautiful in fit, with hook and laced cord fastening. They commence with five hooks, that are equal in length to three buttons, lengths increasing to fifteen hooks, corresponding to eight buttons. The Delmont is a handsome glove in the same style, but lower priced; beginning with three hooks corresponding to two buttons, and running to twelve hooks, corresponding to six buttons. Another desirable variety of moderate-priced gloves is the Felix; also with hook and laced cord fastenings, and about the same lengths as the Delmont.

LUCY CARTER.

The deputy marshal of Wyandotte, Kansas, Mr. C. Patterson, says he has had the rheumatism off and on all his life and never found anything to benefit him until he tried St. Jacobs Oil, which always relieves him at once.

Your stomach and liver are the offspring of nearly all your ills. Why in the name of common-sense don't you use Dr. Holman's Stomach Pad, Plaster and Medicated Foot-baths? They won't fail you.

—There is something radically wrong about our professions when a pious minister only gets forty cents for joining a couple, and a wicked lawyer receives forty dollars for untying the same.

The Best Remedy for Chapped Hands is Hegeman's Camphor Ice. It should be rubbed upon the part affected. The warmth of the skin will soften it sufficiently, under ordinary circumstances, but in extreme cold weather, it may be necessary to warm it by the fire. If the hands are badly chapped, apply every night, and protect the hands by wearing an old pair of kid gloves. Hegeman's is the best and most popular of all the Camphor Ices made. Hegeman's Camphor Ice is also a cure for sore lips, chapped face, and sunburn. It is compounded with glycerine, which renders it more emollient than any other Camphor Ice; it will be found a most soothing application to the face after shaving.

He Told the Truth!

I was troubled with liver complaint for years, and suffered terribly. Lake, the druggist, advised me to take Sulphur Bitters. I took three bottles and am now a well man.—Manufacturer, Waterbury.

—A good story is told by Alfred Collier of Labouchere, the well-known English journalist. A gentleman was introduced to him at the Beefsteak club, who mistook the belligerent editor of Truth for the son of a certain well-known legislator in the upper house of the British parliament. "I heard a most forcible speech from your father a few nights ago in the lords," said the new acquaintance. "You don't say so," replied Labouchere. "Poor father! He died many years ago. I often wondered where he had gone."

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

Rumored Assassination of the Czar.

Despatches received on the 25th inst. from Canada announced the murder of the Czar of Russia, but no such news had been received at the Russian legation up to a late hour in the afternoon.

News and Notes.

James E. Anderson, editor of the Leader, a daily paper of Eureka, Nevada, was assaulted on the 23d inst. by J. W. Penrose, and beaten over the head with a revolver; he will probably die.

It is reported that both of the missing Mahons of Lynn, Mass., are in Montreal, and are daily closeted with a lawyer, who will in all probability make overtures for a settlement with the creditors, when the latter have become calmed. One of the Mahons is reported to have $60,000, and the other a larger sum.

The jury of inquest in the case of William H. Titcomb, a young sailor found dead in the river at Providence, R. I., on Monday returned a verdict of murder by some persons unknown.

Isaac Simmons, a colored burglar, wanted in Connecticut and other places, was on Monday sentenced at Providence, R. I., to state prison for fifteen years.

Mrs. Jeffs, of Gloucester, Mass., who shot her worthless husband dead some time ago, has been found guilty of manslaughter.

The steamer Alexandra, of Malmo, Sweden, bound for that port from Newcastle, England, with a crew of twenty men, six adult passengers and four children, all Swedes, returning from America on visits to their friends, it is feared was lost in the recent gale.

George W. Draper was held in the police court at Lowell, Mass., Monday, in $1,000, to answer to a charge of bigamy. Draper is a divorced man, but had not received permission to marry again. About two weeks ago he ran away with a high-school girl named Wheelock, and married her. He was captured in Vermont.

Samuel Packard, bookeeper for Goss, Sawyer & Packard, shipbuilders, of Bath, Me., jumped from the cars at Falmouth, Monday, fell under the wheels, and was crushed to death.

Wm. Hunter of Winslow, Me., while attempting to cross the track of the Maine Central railroad at Benton depot, was struck by a gravel train and thrown down a steep embankment, breaking several ribs and inflicting probably fatal internal injuries.

The steamer Malabar arrived at New York on the 24th inst., from the Philippine islands, with a cargo of 2,325 tons of sugar. This is said to be the first steamer that has ever come from the Philippine islands to the United States, and she brings what is declared to be the largest cargo of sugar ever imported into the United States from any country. The cargo was sold for about $360,000, to Messrs. Havemeyer & Elder, sugar refiners. The cargo will pay duty to the government of about $125,000.

The supreme judicial court of Massachusetts has rendered a decision sustaining the action of Mayor Webster of Lawrence, regarding the discharge of twelve members of the police force by the board of aldermen last January. The mayor refused to acknowledge the authority of the aldermen to remove the officers, all of whom except two have continued to serve. An injunction was served on the city treasurer restraining him from paying them for services, but according to the decision of the court the officers will receive the pay due, amounting to upward of $8,600.

Boston has a half-dozen cases of smallpox.

Arthur Cleveland, a brakeman on the Fitchburg railroad, was killed Monday, near Pequog station, Mass. He was climbing upon the caboose, when an engine following struck the car with such force as to send it against the car in front, striking him in the back of the neck and killing him instantly.

James Finney, a wealthy farmer living near Wallace, Mo., was shot dead by an unknown assassin while eating his supper, on Saturday night last. The affair is a mystery.

Denny Lyons and Frank McGowan, New York bruisers, fought a prize fight near Weehawken, N. J., last Sunday. Both were terribly punished, and Lyons is reported to be dying.

Mosher Burnham, a policeman of Langsingburg, N. Y., was found dead in the street last Sunday morning. He is supposed to have been shot by burglars who robbed a store thirty yards from where the body was found. John O'Hara, Jr., aged nineteen years, and Seth Morrison, Jr., have been arrested on suspicion.

New Hampshire Items.

The volume of business at the Weirs the past season has been far larger than ever before. The number of arrivals in July, August and September are estimated at 150,000. Before next season begins there will be many improvements and additions inaugurated at this point. The railway and hotel accommodations are to be still further enlarged, while new boarding houses will be erected, and more cottages built.

Francena Barrett of Auburn, nineteen years old, attempted suicide by taking Paris green, last Thursday. It is said that she has twice before tried to commit suicide.

Ezekiel Hale is building a $20,000 house in Littleton. Hale has been sued for $15,000 for breach of promise by Miss Farr, daughter of the late Maj. Evarts W. Farr.

By the census returns, it appears that the cereal productions of New Hampshire, in 1880, were as follows: Barley, 3,461 acres, amount produced, 77,877 bushels; Indian corn, 36,612 acres, 1,350,248 bushels; oats, 29,485 acres, 1,017,620 bushels; rye, 3,218 acres, 34,638 bushels; wheat, 11,248, 169,316 bushels. Merrimack county produced the largest number of bushels of corn; Grafton came next, Hillsboro' third.

Capt. Frank P. Flynn, of Lebanon, has been appointed assistant weigher of the port of Boston, with orders to report immediately. Capt. Flynn served throughout the war in the New Hampshire cavalry.

T. P. O'Connor, member of Parliament, and Dillon Eagan, addressed a large land league meeting in Nashua city hall on Monday evening.

George Harris and John Stevens, arraigned before the supreme court at Ossipee for burglary, pleaded guilty, and on the 24th inst. were taken to state prison to serve four years.

Notice to Mariners.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

An Interesting Dispute.

The courts of New Orleans have now before them an injunction suit restraining Mr. Simon Silverman, of Indian Bay, Ark., from collecting $15,000 from The Louisiana State Lottery Company, as it is alleged that Mrs. Emma Clarke of the same town was the rightful owner, and that the ticket had been obtained from her on the promise to collect it, while she was ignorant of her great good luck. The company have had three similar cases in its history. All that is wanted is to know who is the owner. The next drawing will take place on Nov. 8th, and M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., will promptly give any information relative thereto.

SUPREME COURT.

TUESDAY, Oct. 25th; Smith, J.

The verdict of the jury in the case State vs. John Smith, for burglary, on trial Monday, was received. It was adverse to the defendant, who was sentenced to two years in state prison.

State vs. Benj. S. Purington, for larceny, was put on trial. Purington was indicted jointly with John H. Bly, both being of Fremont, for stealing a pocket-book containing money from John Mellen of the same town. Bly pleaded guilty, and was the principal witness against Purington. Batchelder and Foster for defence. Case not concluded.

The plea in bar in case of State vs. John Hartnett was filed Monday morning. Tuesday morning the state filed a replication, which was demurred to by defendant's counsel. The substance of the plea in bar is, that the defendant, Hartnett, having been indicted and convicted for the assault upon McCann, in which, it is claimed, he killed him, he ought not now be tried for manslaughter. The replication of the state is, that when Hartnett was indicted for assault McCann was still alive, and appeared to be recovering, and that upon the indictment upon which Hartnett was convicted of assault he could not have been convicted of manslaughter, and therefore that the indictment is not barred. The demurrer was argued by George E. Hodgdon for defendant, and Solicitor Harriman for the state.

"M'LISS."

The Biddeford Times of the 21st inst. has the following:

Annie Pixley appeared at the Opera house last evening, supported by the McDonough & Fulford Co. It was the first production of "M'liss" in this city, and gave unbounded satisfaction. Miss Pixley's rendition of the character of M'liss showed her to be one of the finest actresses that has ever appeared before our footlights, and well deserves to be called "peer" of all in the business which she assumes. She was supported by one of the best companies that has ever supported a star in this city.

Tickets on sale at Preston's.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

The following we clip from one of our Manchester exchanges:

Manager Smith's double Uncle Tom's Cabin company played to an overflowing house last evening, and the presentation of this ever popular drama has never been excelled by any company which has appeared in this city. The Sherwoods, Sam Lucas and E. W. Beattle in particular were very good, as the applause of the large audience testified.

This company will play in Franklin theatre on Friday evening, Oct. 27th.

ANNUAL REPORT OF FAITH HOME.

In submitting to the public the following abstract of the report of the treasurer of the Faith Home, the president of the board of trustees would say that he regards it as due to the public that accounts should be given of the condition of all institutions in their midst, which have in view the common good; more especially those which are based upon public benevolence, in whatsoever form the appeal may be made. As will be seen by the report, few benevolent institutions in places of this size, can show a better record during their first years of existence, in solid substantial work, than the Faith Home. God has evidently owned and blessed the work begun and carried on in his name. Its friends have remained remarkably true to its interests, and new ones have arisen. To-day, freed from debt, and doing a work which must in its nature and manner appeal to the hearts and command the approval of all who choose to investigate it, it stands awaiting the blessing of God, sent through the beneficence of his people.

Mr. Loyne having resigned June 1st, 1881, in order to take charge of a mission chapel in Manchester, N. H., there had been received in cash up to that date $14,068.10. This of course does not include many valuable donations.

From June 1st to Oct. 1st, 1881, received and expended for the home:

Payment of debts	$1048.77
Total expenses at Home	249.49
Incidentals	21.50
Gifts for furnace	102.00
Gifts for fuel	100.00
Total expended	$1,531.69
Total received	1,551.89
Balance on hand Oct. 1st,	$20.20

The treasurer was materially aided by the kind liberality of many of the local merchants in the prompt payment of the debt. To all who showed this courteous interest in the work the thanks of the trustees are cordially given. Friends gave $585.50 toward the payment of the debt, also $100 for coal for the coming winter; to this was added two tons of coal from a leading dealer.

A new furnace being needed, a "Barstow" of the largest size has been placed in the home, and the first payment of $100 has been made; the final payment being due late this season.

The home is in excellent condition and order. This is due mainly to the cheerful and untiring efforts of the matron now in charge, who, it is only just to state, has given her services, to date. The full number of inmates for this winter is twelve. It is the wish and intention of the present management that the home shall continue in the future as a faith work; not only to carry out the design in which it was established, but because this is the simplest and therefore most practical method of Christian work.

Many donations have been received, varying in value from a carpet or barrel of flour, to a bouquet or basket of fruit; all have been welcome and needful. In June and July there were received forty-nine donations, from thirty donors; in August, twenty-eight donations, from twenty-two donors; in September, forty-four donations, from twenty-four donors; showing that the home has a place in the hearts of many Christian people.

At the recent annual meeting of trustees Mr. James Moses, owing to continued ill health, resigned his position as auditor. A vote of thanks was extended to him for his past services.

The mortgage on the home is now $1750; it is held by the old savings bank, at six per cent interest. During the year a well known citizen has given $500 towards its reduction.

An act of the legislature (June, 1881) having increased the number of trustees, the executive board for the coming year will be:—Rev. Wm. A. McGinley, president; Mr. C. E. Myers, treasurer; Rev. Alfred Eiwyn, Mr. Cornell Franklin, Miss Matida Cutter, Miss E. H. Pearson, Mrs. E. S. Ryder, secretary. The three trustees last named will form the visiting committee at the home.

AROUND HOME.

Excursion tickets to Boston and back, good to go on regular train on Thursday, the 27th inst., only, and to return on any regular train until and including the 29th, will be sold by the Eastern railroad on Thurday, the fare for the round trip being $1.70 from this city.

Mr. George Lane and wife returned on Sunday from a two weeks' trip to Chicago, going and returning by way of Montreal.

The little Broderick boy, who was run over and so badly hurt by a team on Monday, had rallied considerably on Tuesday morning, and strong hopes were held that he would recover.

The schooners Grace Choate and Helen F. Tredick arrived on Monday from their last mackereling trip, the former with twenty-three barrels and the latter with about fifty. The Grace Choate will at once fit out for shore fishing; the other vessel will go to Cape Porpoise, Me., to which port she has been sold.

The scarcity of aqueduct water noticed in many houses for some days past, was in a large measure due to a break in the main pipe, the location of which was discovered on Tuesday. The water will be shut off this morning, to enable repairs to be made.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Portsmouth Shoe Factory, on Friday evening last, Dr. Potter resigned his office as president, and Charles H. Mendum was chosen president of the company.

"The Mascot" will be performed at Music hall on the evening of Nov. 1st, by the company which first performed it in this country.

Wm. P. Locke, late clerk of the steamer James Sampson, has been employed as clerk of the steamer Mystic, in place of Daniel Lydston, resigned.

The Piscataqua Association of Congregational Ministers (Trinitarian) will celebrate its one hundredth anniversary in the North church in this city to-day. There will services in the forenoon at half-past ten o'clock, when a historical discourse will be preached by Rev. Dr. Spalding of Dover. In the afternoon at two o'clock reminiscences of former members will be given. The public are cordially invited. Visiting members and friends from abroad will be entertained by the ladies of the North Parish at noon in the chapel on Middle street.

The father of Mr. Granville Bridges, who lives near York village, was a soldier in the revolutionary war. His name was Daniel Bridges, and he died about thirty years ago. He enlisted at Wolfeboro', N. H., at the age of twelve years, and served through the war. He was at Yorktown with Col. Scammell's regiment, the only New Hampshire regiment that took part in the fighting at that place. Our informant says that Mr. Bridges used to enlarge to him and others as to what a great day it was for the American army when the British surrendered, and how the drums and fifes played "Yankee doodle" as the defeated foemen passed through the lines of the allied forces to stack arms. He served under Washington at White Plains, Monument and other places, was with him at the disbanding of the army at West Point, and often spoke of hearing him deliver his farewell address.

Tobey Brothers of Cambridgeport, Mass., formerly of South Eliot, Me., have contracted to build a private residence for Mr. Charles Sanborn of Magnzine street, Cambridgeport; the house is to be built in Queen Anne style, and will be one of the most elegant of the many magnificent residences of which Cambridge is so justly proud. Tobey Brothers have just completed a large double house of Queen Anne style on Prince street, and have several heavy contracts on hand.

On Sunday evening last two young women, Miss Lizzie Tatner and a daughter of Mr. S. S. Jenkins, were feloniously assaulted in Dover at about the same hour, half-past six o'clock, in places some distance apart. Their cries brought assistance in time to foil the ruffians, but both of the scoundrels escaped. Attempts were made later Sunday night to burglarize the store of John Batty and the house of J. K. Purinton, by forcing open windows, but in both cases the burglars were frightened away.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 450 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. tap15,82

The Editor and the Shoemaker.

One day an editor, hard at work trying to devise a plan to make delinquent subscribers pay their dues, was called upon by a shoemaker who dropped in to give the editor some valuable hints on running a newspaper. The editor, overjoyed at the opportunity, gave the man his best cane-bottom chair, handed him a fresh cigar, and listened attentively. Quoth the shoemaker, as he lit the weed:

"Your paper needs a hundred improved features. You don't grasp the topics of the day by the right handle; you don't set the locals in the right kind of type; your telegraph news is too thin; even the paper itself is poorly manufactured, not thick enough, and of too chalky a white; you don't run enough matter, and what you do run isn't of the right sort; your ideas about protective tariff are internally foolish, and your stand on the Conkling matter was bad, bad. I tell you these things because I want to see you succeed. I tell you as a friend. I don't take your paper myself, but I see it once in a while, and as a paper is a public affair I suppose I have as good a right to criticise as anybody. If a man wants to give me advice I let him; I'm glad to have him, in fact."

"That's exactly it," said the editor, kindly; "I always had a dim idea of my shortcomings, but never had them so clearly and convincingly set forth as by you. It is impossible to express my gratitude for the trouble you have taken, not only to find out these facts, but to point them out also. Some people, knowing all these things perhaps nearly as well as you, are mean enough to keep them to themselves. Your suggestions come in a most appropriate time; I have wanted somebody to lean on, as it were, for some weeks. Keep your eye on the paper, and when you see a weak spot come up."

The shoemaker left, happy to know that his suggestions had been received with such a Christian spirit. Next day, just as he was finishing a boot, the editor came in, and, picking up the mate, remarked:

"I want to tell you how that boot strikes me. In the first place the leather is poor; the stitches in the sole are too wide apart, and in the uppers too near the edge. Those uppers will go to pieces in two weeks. It's all wrong, my friend, putting poor leather in the heels and smoothing it over with grease and lampblack. Everybody complains of your boots; they don't last; the legs are too short, the toes too narrow, and the instep too high. How you can have the gall to charge twelve dollars for such boots beats me. Now, I tell you this as a friend, because I like to see you succeed. Of course I don't know any more about shoemaking than you do about a newspaper, but still I take an interest in you because you are so well disposed to me. In fact—"

Here the exasperated cobbler grabbed a lapstone, and the editor gained the street, followed by old knives, pincers, hammers and awls, sent after him by the wrathful shoemaker, on regaining his seat, swore by the nine gods that no impertinent, lop-eared idiot should ever come round trying to teach him his trade. —Carson (Nev.) Appeal.

The most assiduous parental attention will frequently fail to prevent coughs, colds, croup, etc. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a most valuable remedy to have convenient when needed. Price 25 cts.

—A health journal says that "an attack of hiccoughs may be stopped by holding the head under water." It doesn't say how long the head should be held under water, but we should think two hours would be plenty long enough to stop the worst case of hiccough ever invented.

From John F. Wyman, Postmaster, South China, Me.

Too much cannot be said of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam, as it is the best remedy for coughs, colds, etc., that I have ever seen, and to its wonderful effects I owe my recovery. It is well worthy of praise, and I would advise all to use it who are afflicted.

—It requires no great stretch of science to explain why we have had such a vast excess of weather—such extremes of heat and cold, wet and dryness—this year as compared with previous years. Formerly a large part of the appropriation for the weather bureau was squandered; now it is all expended for weather. Hence the superfluity.

—The scene of politeness was reached by the Nevada mining superintendent who posted a placard reading: "Please do not tumble down the shaft."

Charles Cosgrove!

Who has not been able to attend to his business for years, was interviewed by our reporter yesterday, and says: For years I was troubled with Brights disease of the kidneys. The doctors gave me up. Through an eastern friend I obtained a bottle of Sulphur Bitters. I took five bottles and now I am almost well. Keith sells them.—San Francisco Call.

—"Mother," remarked a Duluth girl, "I think Harry must be going to propose to me." "Why so, my daughter?" queried the old lady, laying down her spectacles, while her face beamed like a moon on its fourteenth night. "Well, he asked me if I wasn't tired of living with such a menagerie as you and dad."

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered, powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

You are sick; well, there is just one remedy that will cure you beyond a possibility of doubt. If it's liver or kidney trouble, consumption, dyspepsia, debility, Wells' Health Renewer is your hope. One dollar. Druggists. Depot Thacher's.

Charles Pond of Hartford, seventeen years old, shot himself in the groin and bowels while trying to kill a snake with a gun which he grasped by the barrel, Oct. 22d. He will probably die.

"I consider it a great pleasure," writes A. J. Dosk, Esq., manager American house, Amesbury, Mass., "to state that the inflammatory rheumatism which so severely affected my feet, yielded at once upon a few applications of the St. Jacobs Oil, which is worthy of the highest recommendation."

Henry Ward Beecher has sold his interest in the Christian Union, and retired wholly from journalism.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

Thursday morning, Oct. 25th, at Portland, Me., Capt. Charles E. Shaw, of schooner Uncle Sam, from Rockland for Boston, accidentally shot his brother, Edmund Shaw, in the back with a charge of shot from a musket which he was oiling. The wounded man lived only two or three minutes. Charles is twenty years old, and Edmund was twenty-nine.

Proof Everywhere.

If any invalid or sick person has the least doubt of the power and efficacy of Hop Bitters to cure them, they can find cases exactly like their own in their own neighborhood, with proof positive that they can be easily and permanently cured, at a trifling cost—or ask your druggist or physician.

Short of Water.

The proprietors of some of the principal hotels in Boston are buying drinking water from farmers who bring them their eggs and poultry, or from the proprietors of the suburban mineral springs. One hotel has been for six months supplied with 100 gallons of pure water daily from a farm in Arlington, and another has opened an old well on its premises, and thus provides its guests the genuine article. It is said that four dollars will buy a barrel of good water, and that many wealthy people are paying that price for it. No satisfactory reason is given for the very bad taste of Cochituate water. Mystic water, though it is so impure that foreign substances can be seen with the naked eye, floating in it, is comparatively free from unpleasant flavor.

Boston, however, is not in so bad a predicament as New York, where it is announced that, unless there be copious rains in the meantime, the supply of water will be exhausted in about two weeks. So desperate is the situation that a large detachment of the fire brigade has been exercised in the use of dynamite as a means of checking the spread of fire in the absence of water, and preparations are making to establish a system of patrol by tug boats fitted with engines to extinguish fires on the water front, and to supply, through great lengths of hose, salt water to engines working at fires in parts of the city remote from the rivers.

The water in the river at Ware, Mass., is so low that the mills have stopped running.

Water is so scarce in Norwalk, Conn., that consumers are allowed to draw it only two hours a day. The result is that some of the shops are closed, and people are short of water even for cooking purposes.

The long-protracted drought throughout Ocean and Monmouth counties, N. J., has dried up the streams and wells. A light fall of rain on Oct. 24th brought but little relief, and in some cases the cattle have to be driven for miles to water. The pastures are dried and burned. The frosts and drought have damaged the cranberry crop alone in Ocean county to the extent of $50,000.

News and Notes.

"Jim" Keene's horse Foxhall won the Cambridgeshire stakes at Newmarket, England, Oct. 25th, beating thirty-one horses, including Lucy Glitters, which latter was the favorite in the betting before the race. Ten to one against Foxhall was bet at the start, the American horse being heavily handicapped on account of previous victories.

Matilda and Emma Williams, two young white girls, fifteen and seventeen years old respectively, on trial for the murder of their father, Robert Williams, near Whitmell, Va., last month, have been acquitted. The murder was an atrocious one, the victim's head having been nearly severed from his body, while lying in his yard in the daytime asleep. The evidence against the two girls was insufficient, and no clue to the real murderer has been obtained.

A resident of Fair Haven, Vt., for quite awhile missed wood from his shed, and finally, to find out what became of it, loaded several sticks with powder. The next morning, hearing an explosion at the house of a neighbor, he ran in and found the fire blown out of the stove, and the griddle-cakes, which the woman was cooking, plastered on the ceiling.

The ship McLaurin, Little master, which arrived at Yokohama, Japan, Sept. 17th, from Cardiff, met a cyclone Aug. 25th, had her decks swept and bulwarks and boats carried away by a sea, and sprung a leak. Next day she had ten feet of water in the hold; the leak was on the starboard side, and after having most of her heavy sails blown away in a fruitless endeavor to get the ship around, the mizzen mast was cut away, and carried away the main yard in falling. The vessel was then got on the starboard tack and the leak partially stopped, and after three days pumping by all hands the ship was freed of water.

Three unknown men boarded a train on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago railroad on the night of Oct. 24th, near Bucyrus, Ohio, and attempted to rob the train, but were opposed by the conductor. After firing several shots without effect, the ruffians became frightened and leaped from the train.

An unsuccessful attempt was made on the night of Monday, Oct. 17th, to rob the national bank at Royalston, Vt. The work was evidently done by professional burglars, who attempted to blow their way into the vault, but failed.

During a rehearsal of C. H. Smith's double "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company in the new opera house at Fitchburg, Mass., on the forenoon of Oct. 25th, one of the Siberian bloodhounds was unmuzzled and was being trained by one of the attendants, when the brute became unmanageable, and attacked several members of the company. One of the colored jubilee singers, R. F. Smith, suffered the most, the big dog biting off the thumb of his left hand near the first joint, and badly lacerating the flesh of the right arm. Two others of the band were also severely bitten, one on the arm and one through the little finger. The dog is a new one, having only been with the company a few weeks.

This is the company that is to appear at Franklin theatre on Friday evening of this week.

A Word to the Girls.

Come here, sis, and sit beside me and let me give you a little talking to. I wish to speak to you of your mother. It may be you have noticed a careworn look upon her face lately. Of course it has not been brought there by any act of yours, still it is your duty to chase it away. I don't mean for you to run at it and shake your skirts and tell it to "shoo" as you would a hen, nor do I expect you to get on the other side of the fence and throw old oyster cans and pieces of barrel staves at it. But I want you to get breakfast, and when your mother comes down and begins to express her surprise, go right up to her and kiss her on the mouth. You can't imagine how it will brighten up her dear old face. Her face has more wrinkles than yours, far more, and yet if you were sick that face would appear to be more beautiful to you than an angel's as it hovered over you, watching every opportunity to minister to your comfort, and every one of those wrinkles of sunshine chasing each other over the dear old face. She will leave you one of these days. These burdens, if not lifted from her shoulders, will break her down. There, there, don't cry, she has not left yet. She is down in the kitchen stringing beans for dinner, and if you feel so badly you might go down and finish them, and let her change her dress and rest an hour before dinner. And after dinner take down her hair and do it up for her. You need not wind it over your finger and fuss to make spit curls as she used to with yours, but give it a good brushing and wind it up, gently and tenderly, as though you enjoyed doing it for her. The young man down in the parlor can wait until you have performed these duties. If he expresses any impatience you may explain to him that you feel under more obligations to your mother than you do to him.—Milwaukee Sun.

Filial Devotion.

Not long ago a young man in Carson got married, and started for California with his young wife. As he boarded the train his father bade him good-by, and gave him his blessing.

"My son," said the aged sire, shaking with emotion, etc., "remember these words if you never see me again. Never go into a place where you would not take your wife."

The couple settled in Mariposa county, and last week the old man went down to visit them. He proposed a bear hunt, and they were fortunate enough to track a grizzly to his lair among some of the boulders in the chapparal. As they approached, the bear roused up and sent forth a growl of defiance which almost shook the trees.

"Go in there and kill him," said the old man, excitedly.

The son held back, further acquaintance with the bear seeming in some respects undesirable.

"Count me out," he said.

"Have I crossed the seas and settled in America to raise a coward?" shouted the father.

"I but recollect your advice when I left Carson," was the reply. "How can I forget your sage precepts? Didn't you tell me never to go where I couldn't take my wife? Now, how would Sal look in there with that bear?"

The old man clasped his dutiful son to his bosom, and as the bear issued forth exclaimed:

"Speaking of Sally, let us hasten home. Our prolonged absence might cause her needless alarm."

In about fifteen minutes they had reached the ranche, the old man a little ahead, and the distance was al out fifteen miles.—Carson (Nev.) Appeal.

PISCATAQUA ASSOCIATION CENTENARY.

The centenary of the Piscataqua Association of Congregational Ministers was celebrated in the North church in this city on Wednesday, the 26th inst.

The following members of the association were present: Rev. Messrs. Peabody of Stratham, Stearns of Epping, White of Newmarket, Spalding of Dover, Rand of South Seabrook, Boardman (and wife) of Seabrook, Fitts of South Newmarket, Eastman of Conway, McGinley of Portsmouth, Street of Exeter, Haines (and wife) of North Hampton, Cutler (and wife) of Hampton, French of York, Me., Davis (and wife) of Sandwich, Hubbard (and wife) of Eliot, Me., Titcomb of Kensington, Borchers of Barrington, Otis of Exeter, Kingsbury of Rye, Lewis (and wife) of Salmon Falls, Potter of Kingston, Chapman of Exeter, Robie of Greenland, Dyer of Raymond, and some others whose names we did not get.

Among the visitors and former members were Rev. Messrs. Greeley of Concord, Quint of Dover, Page of Atkinson, Towne of North Hampton, and T. Robie, M. Childs and W. A. Fiske, of Massachusetts.

Besides the above, many ladies and gentleman connected with the neighboring churches were present, with a considerable local attendance.

The pulpit and table were decorated with a profusion of rare and elegant pot plants, kindly loaned by Mr. Charles A. Hazlett from his conservatory; and two century plants, emblematic of the occasion, from Mr. E. P. Kimball, occupied places on either side of the platform. A beautiful bouquet from Mr. J. H. Hutchinson stood on the desk. Among the plants were portraits of Revs. Joseph Buckminster, Samuel Haven, Nathan Parker, Israel W. Putnam, Rufus W. Clark, Lyman Whiting and George M. Adams, formerly pastors of Portsmouth churches who were members of the association, men who made their mark in this community, and whose memory is dear to their churches to-day.

The services in the forenoon consisted of singing by choir and congregation, reading of the scriptures by Rev. Mr. Peabody of Stratham, prayer by Rev. Mr. Robie of Greenland, and memorial discourse by Rev. Dr. Spalding of Dover.

Dr. Spalding's discourse, which occupied one hour and twenty-five minutes in delivery, was listened to with the closest attention by the very intelligent audience. It was a magnificent production, worthy of the distinguished author. By vote of the association it is to be printed in pamphlet form, and we bespeak for it the attention both of Congregationalists and historians as a valuable addition to the history of this part of New England.

The afternoon services consisted mainly of reminiscences of former ministers, by Rev. Messrs. Robie of Greenland, Quint of Dover, Stearns of Epping, and Haines of North Hampton.

The visitors were entertained at dinner and tea at the chapel on Middle street, by the ladies of the North Parish.

"M'LISS."

This evening Miss Annie Pixley will appear at Music hall in "M'liss," the play in which she has won deserved celebrity as an actress. "M'liss" belongs to the better class of American border dramas, and as interpreted by Miss Pixley and company possesses interest strong enough to fill the Boston theatre with large audiences nightly, for a three weeks' engagement, nearly every season, while its popularity elsewhere is quite as great. Possessing an action that is lively throughout, it has many features that appeal directly to the better feelings of the audience, and is a piece that should win liberal recognition. Miss Pixley introduces during the play several pretty songs; indeed her musical abilities are one of her chief charms. If any have been undecided about going to this entertainment from not knowing its merits we can assure them it will be a good one, unless the play and players have deteriorated greatly since last year.

SUPREME COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 26th; Smith, J.

State vs. Benj. S. Purington, for larceny, continued; evidence closed Tuesday evening. On the coming in of the court this morning, the defendant's case was argued by Charles E. Batchelder, Esq., the county solicitor speaking on behalf of the state. Verdict, not guilty. The principal witnesses against Purington were John H. Bly, (indicted jointly with Purington,) and Bly's wife.

John H. Bly, for larceny, (previously pleaded guilty,) was sentenced to three years in the state prison. On another case against Bly, for stealing, the entry was, not to be brought forward nisi.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 26; Batchelder J.

George Browo, Patrick Peer, Daniel Hurley and James Fleming, for drunkenness, were each directed to pay $9.90, fine and costs; falling in this, the lot went to the county farm.

AROUND HOME.

A horse belonging to Dr. Parsons dropped dead in the harness on Wednesday evening of this week, at the junction of Pleasant and Washington streets, probably from heart disease. The horse was a fine-looking animal, and we should judge a valuable one.

Mr. Hartly W. Mason of York will remove to Portsmouth to spend the winter.

On Wednesday afternoon of this week there were three "brickers" lying at Portsmouth bridge, loaded and ready for a start, the Triton, Card master, and the Satellite, Adderton master, being bound to Boston, and the Hattie Lewis, Coleman master, to Manchester-by-the-sea, Mass. The Hattie Lewis will keep running until the middle of December. The schooner John Frank, light, from up river and bound to York, Me., was at the bridge at the same time.

Mr. Jere. McIntire of York raised during the past season 600 bushels of potatoes and 375 bushels of grain, and cut ninety tons of English hay. Mrs. Mary Grant of York harvested 325 bushels of grain.

The schooner Golden Gate was lying at Tredick's wharf on Wednesday of this week, receiving an overhaul; among other things, she was being calked by Mr. Ben. M. Bailey.

People living near Gates and Water streets, near their junction, complain much of their bad condition, they being gullied out a foot deep in some places, and absolutely dangerous to travel.

Hon. Peter Marcy left this city on Tuesday of this week for his home in New Orleans.

The heavy blow on the night of the 25th inst. gave the boat fishermen who were outside the harbor a hard time. Capt. Shields' boat broke adrift and ran into Capt. Holmes', staving the latter's topsides in; and Capt. Holmes fearing his boat would go down, left her and got on board of John Harvey's. The damaged boat was afterward, picked up by Harvey and Holmes, and towed in. An unknown schooner ran into Capt. Deverson's boat and dismasted her—a close shave of the small craft from total destruction.

Mr. C. H. Smith, of the Academy of Music of Fall River, Mass., under whose management the Mammoth Double Uncle Tom's Cabin company appears at Franklin theatre on Friday evening next, has brought many shows to this city within ten years past, and they have all proved first-class of their several kinds.

There is to be a match race at the Rockingham trotting park on Friday, Oct. 27th, at two o'clock P. M., between George D. Sykes' horse "Charley Knox," and Edgar D. Stoddard's horse "John W.," for one hundred dollars.

The four large lamp-posts for the custom house grounds have arrived, and will be placed in position at the four corners of the custom house lot before the ground freezes up.

J. E. Ham & Co. have disposed of their stock of woollen goods to parties in Boston, and have removed the balance of their stock to the rooms over Thacher's drug store; the store recently occupied by them has been engaged by Winthrop Hoyt, who will remove his shoe business to it from Vaughan street.

As Rev. Mr. Burgess, pastor of the Baptist church at Hampton Falls, was riding with a friend on the evening of Oct. 25th, an axle of the vehicle broke and Mr. Burgess was thrown violently to the ground, striking on his head and being considerably injured. He received a bad gash over one eye, and was insensible for several hours.

The steam tug Three Brothers, of Salem, Mass., has been running on the Piscataqua river for several days, engaged in towing gondolas loaded with coal from this city to Exeter.

The cat case in which so many have been interested, proved a failure, the grand jury finding no indictment against the author of that most hideous outrage. Not very encouraging to "tramp" cats.—Times, Oct. 21st.

The above item of news needs elucidation. As it now stands we cannot tell whether one cat or "many" cats were interested. We should however infer that the grand jury, and not the "cat case," proved a failure if the author of a "most hideous outrage" escaped indictment for his crime. x.

Mr. John N. Brown of Seabrook died on the morning of Oct. 26th, at the age of about fifty-six years. He was a prominent citizen of that place, having held various town offices, and at the time of his death was postmaster at Seabrook village. He was a lieutenant in Co. D, 18th regiment New Hampshire volunteers, during the war of secession, and had been a deputy sheriff of Rockingham county, Newell Locke, another old citizen of Seabrook, had a paralytic shock Oct. 25th, but was better on the 26th.

Rev. C. B. Pitblado will lecture in the Methodist church this (Thursday) evening; subject, "My tour." Admission 20 cts.

The coroner's jury at Biddeford on Oct. 25th made public their verdict upon the accident which occurred at the Boston & Maine railroad crossing at Old Orchard, on the 17th inst. It finds that if Eleazar Smith's death was not caused by the criminal neglect of said company, that at least the company is deserving of severe censure. It also finds that Engineer Stephen Tibbets and Conductor H. P. Flower were guilty of the grossest recklessness and indifference in making the crossing in the manner they did.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cts. a box everywhere. tu,th & f eiJ&n8

The Concord Fight.

In the case of Edmund Burke et als. vs. the Concord railroad, for an injunction to restrain the Concord and the Boston & Lowell railroads from doing any business under the general management provided for by the contract of August 19th, a hearing upon which application took place before Chief Justice Doe, Messrs. Copeland, Bingham and Mitchell appeared as counsel for plaintiffs, Col. John H. George for the Boston & Lowell railroad, and Judge Foster for the Concord railroad.

Plaintiffs insisted that an injunction ought to be based upon proof of the execution of the contract, and that the contract was invalid even if made in good faith, and if beneficial to the stockholders of the road. Defendants contended that without proof of any actual damage done, or like to be done, to plaintiffs' interests, an injunction ought not to issue before plaintiffs' charges in their bill in equity of a fraudulent conspiracy were proved, and that the legal rights of the parties under the contract could only be determined upon consideration of the evidence relating to the interpretation, practical, operation and effect of the contract.

The chief justice proposed that the case be entered at the October term of court; that all disputed facts be found by the referee before the next December law term, and that the case be reserved for argument at the December term. To this proposition, defendants consented. Plaintiffs objected, on the ground that such course would be likely to protract the hearing beyond the December term, and requested that their application for an injunction, upon proper evidence, viz., charter, statutes and contract, be reserved for the consideration of the full court at the December term.

Defendants objected on the ground that such a course would cause unnecessary delay, because the case could not be properly decided at the law term without proof of other facts than the making of the contract and plaintiffs' ownership of Concord railroad stock, and that before December there could, and ought to be, a finding of facts upon which questions of law should be submitted to the court at the December term; but plaintiffs having excepted to the suggestion of the chief justice, that a referee should be appointed and facts determined before the law term, the chief justice adjourned the whole question until the law term is held, Dec. 6th next. At that time the matter will come before the full court in the same shape in which it was presented Oct. 11th. The bill in equity has not yet been served on defendants, and when served, sixty days are allowed by a rule of the court, within which time defendants are required to answer the charges contained in the bill.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

On Sunday, Oct. 16th, burglars entered a house in the town of Varpalanka, Hungary, and murdered a family of nine persons, including an infant and a man aged ninety years, while they were asleep. No arrests have yet been made.

A good Baptist clergyman of Bergen, N. Y., a strong temperance man, suffered with kidney trouble, neuralgia, and dizziness almost to blindness, over two years after he was told that Hop Bitters would cure him, because he was afraid of and prejudiced against "Bitters." Since his cure he says none need fear, but trust in Hop Bitters.

—It kind of broke up the temperance man from down east when he went into the rooms of the Deadwood total abstinence club to find the club believed in total abstinence from water.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It is a powerful salve that won't work both ways.

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased, rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 7000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

FAIRBANK'S ROCK CORDIALS.

ROCK AND RYE.
ROCK AND COGNAC.
ROCK AND JAMAICA.
ROCK AND SCHEIDAM.
ROCK AND NEW ENGLAND.
ROCK AND CHERRY.

Fairbank's Rock Cordials are destined to become the popular cordials of the day. One trial will convince the most skeptical of their medicinal qualities. The Rock and Rye is already a household word. The best physicians recommend it. All leading druggists sell it. If you have trouble with your throat or lungs it will cure it. See that you get a bottle—the style is shown in the cut—with our name in full on the label.

Jersey Cows and their Records.

In view of the heavy prices paid at various public sales of Jersey cattle, the Live Stock Journal comments as follows: If anybody had predicted ten years ago that the mild-eyed little Jerseys would have their $3,000 boom on their butter records, he would have been considered on the borders of lunacy. The breeders of fancy Shorthorns have seldom considered the butter or milk record as worthy of note. They ignored the most valuable characteristic of any breed of cattle for use in a highly civilized country,—their milk and butter production. These yield more annual profit than beef production; and every breed that maintains a permanent foothold in the United States must meet this test or stand aside. Happily, the Shorthorn with its magnificent beef form, can also point proudly to its achievements in the dairy. Its temporary eclipse in this line, through some of its noblest strains, has resulted from the fault of the breeder, and not from the capacity of the breed. But the little Jersey is having her boom upon her honest merit in producing very large yields of golden-colored and nutty-flavored butter. Perhaps her admirers are somewhat extravagant in their valuation of these records. They may not always scan them as closely as they should. As these extreme prices must be based upon a confidence in the truth of these records, the records themselves should be well attested. Tests for a year must also be a safer reliance than for a shorter time. The tests of milk and butter yield for a few days are open to so many errors, that they cannot form a basis for calculating the annual yield. The variability in the yield of some cows in different parts of the season of lactation is very great, while other cows are very uniform through three-fourths of the season, only decreasing gradually during the last two or three months. The circumstances, then—all being favorable—may produce a very large yield for a few days, when the annual yield would be only respectable. If the short test is given, several important points should also be given to assist in forming a correct estimate,—such as the length of time from calving, the season of the year, the food before and at the time of trial,—all these are necessary elements for determining the value of a test.

A strong friend of St. Jacobs Oil is H. T. Duncan, Esq., of the Lexington (Ky.) Press. He says: A short time since St. Jacobs Oil was prescribed in my own family by a regular physician, and it was used with the most satisfactory results, as usual.

At a greenback caucus held in Newburyport a few evenings ago, two members of the party appeared. The list of nominations made has not been published.

Charles Cosgrove!

Who has not been able to attend to his business for years, was interviewed by our reporter yesterday, and says: For years I was troubled with Brights disease of the kidneys. The doctors gave me up. Through an eastern friend I obtained a bottle of Sulphur Bitters. I took five bottles and now I am almost well. Keith sells them.—San Francisco Call.

Blanche Douglas, who has been kept in jail throughout the entire Malley trial on the charge of perjury, was brought before the criminal term of the superior court at New Haven, Conn., Oct. 25th, and charged with the murder of Jennie E. Cramer, jointly with the Malleys.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

—A coroner's jury in New Mexico held an inquest on the victim of a lynching party, and returned a verdict of "committed suicide by horse-stealing."

Portsmouth Chronicle.

FRIDAY, OCT. 28, 1881.

Guiteau's Trial.

In the criminal court at Washington, Oct. 26th, Messrs. Scoville and Robinson, counsel for Guiteau, made an application for the postponement of the trial of their client, and, after hearing arguments pro and con, the judge stated that under all circumstances in the case he would postpone the trial from Nov. 7th to Nov. 14th. Mr. Scoville in his argument stated that in his opinion the court had jurisdiction over the case, and intimated that he would not raise any question on that point. District Attorney Corkhill has received a telegram from Judge Porter of New York, stating that he will assist the government counsel in the prosecution of Guiteau. Judge Lawrence, first comptroller of the treasury, has decided that witnesses for Guiteau living more than 100 miles outside the jurisdiction of the court (District of Columbia) cannot be paid by the government; inside of that radius their expenses can be paid.

Ship Building.

The three-masted schooner Eva L. Ferris, of about 600 tons burthen, was launched from the yard of Atkinson & Fillmore at Newburyport on Oct. 26th. The ship W. W. Lincoln, of about 1700 tons register, was launched from the yard of John Currier, Jr., in Newburyport, on the 27th. This does not look as though American ship-building was wholly "played out." A 2000 ton ship was launched at Kennebunkport, Me., Oct. 24th.

Naval Affairs.

Secretary Hunt on October 26th organized a new board to examine Paymaster J. A. Stevenson for promotion to the rank of pay inspector. The members of the board are Pay Directors C. J. Emery and C. W. Abbott, and Pay Inspector Edwin Stewart.

Communications have been received at the navy department from both of the Arctic relief ships, the Rodgers and the Alliance. The Rodgers was at St. Lawrence bay on August 19th, and had experienced heavy weather and met with vexatious delays. The published report of the finding of a vessel with four bodies near Cape Serdzkamen had reached Lieutenant Berry. The vessel was about to leave for Herald island, and had on board ample stores for the winter. The Alliance was at Hamerfest, Norway, on September 13th, securing a fresh supply of coal and provisions. No trace of the Jeannette had been found. Commander Wadleigh was about to leave on another short cruise to the north, and intended to sail for New York on Sept. 25th.

News and Notes.

Mr. Tyner on Oct. 26th tendered his resignation as first assistant postmaster-general, and it was accepted by President Arthur.

On Oct 27th President Arthur nominated Judge Folger of New York to be secretary of the treasury, and Frank Hatton to be first assistant postmaster-general in place of Tyner, resigned. Postmaster General James was renominated. All were confirmed.

Much animosity has been aroused in Canada by the recent seizure of a lot of Paine's and Voltaire's works in the Toronto custom house. Collector Patters admits that there is no law to sustain his act, but declares that it was done in the interest of morality, and deserves the approval of all good persons. On the other hand, $500 has been subscribed to enable the importer of the books to fight in the courts, and a general agitation on the subject of religious liberty has been commenced, while the clergy are as vigorously responding with attacks on Paine, Voltaire, Ingersoll, and Theodore Parker. Numerous converts to the churches and greatly augmented sales of anti-Christian literature are the immediate results.

At Carterville, Ga., on the evening of Oct. 25th, after the performance of Coup's circus was over, a drunken fight occurred between circus men, deputy marshals and others. A negro was shot dead, and many others shot or badly beaten. A lion and bear escaped from their cages during the melee. The bear was shot and killed. The lion is still at large, and the people in that section are considerably exercised in their minds.

AROUND HOME.

Capt. Louis E. Fagan, U. S. M. C., is detached from command of the marine barracks at this navy yard, and ordered to the U. S. S. Brooklyn, now fitting out in New York to go on the South Atlantic station; on arrival he is to assume the duties of fleet marine officer of the South Atlantic squadron.

Messrs. Wm. B. Hussey & Co., No. 51 Congress street, (Franklin buildings,) have just received a very large stock of boots and shoes, head-wear and gentlemen's furnishing goods, suited for winter service, which they are selling at the smallest living advance on cost prices.

Mr. Robert C. Sides, Jr., of this city, has been appointed first assistant engineer on board the United States lighthouse tender Fern, and has accepted the position.

The headquarters of the 23d regiment United States infantry, to which First Lieut. Fred L. Dodge of this city is attached, has been transferred from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, to Fort Union, New Mexico. Lieut. Dodge has for some time been in command of the military prison at Fort Leavenworth, and whether or no this transfer of the regimental headquarters carries him with it we cannot say.

Newichewannock Tribe, No. 4, Independent Order of Red Men, has seventy members who belong in this city, besides a number in other towns. There is to be a grand celebration at the hall this evening, at which all the members are requested to be present.

Persons having boots, shoes or rubbers needing repairing, can have the work well and cheaply done by J. W. Young, No. 12 Hanover street. Repairing of rubbers a specialty.

Alfred Stavers, No. 53 Congress street, has among his large and varied stock of goods an extensive line of underwear for both sexes, and hosiery and gloves suited for the coming cold season.

Mr. J. E. Lord, the popular elocutionist, will give an evening of dramatic, pathetic, humorous and dialect readings and recitations in the Court street Christian church on Wednesday evening, Nov. 2d.

The city has agreed to move the house and outbuildings of Mrs. Hannah E. Seavey, on the new street, back to the boundary line as laid out. Mrs. Seavey provides the posts for the buildings to rest on in their new locations, and furnishes one man to assist in the removal; all the rest of the expense is to be borne by the city.

The foundation for the tower of the new Advent church, corner of Belknap and St. Thomas streets, Dover, was laid on Friday, Oct. 21st. One of the first bricks laid was procured at the old Roberts farm house at Dover point, which was laid there over two hundred years ago.

A three-decked ship named the Rence was launched at Kennebunkport on the 24th of October, from the Thompson yard. She measures 1925 tons, has the highest class in the French Lloyds for fifteen years, and will be commanded by Capt. Benj. Adams of Bowdoinham, Me., one of her principal owners. She has been chartered to load in New York for San Francisco, at $8.50 per ton.

The Roxbury (Mass.) Horse Guard celebrated the twentieth anniversary of the organization on Wednesday, Oct. 26th, by a parade in the forenoon, a dinner and subsequent intellectual feast in the afternoon, and a ball in the evening. In the list of invited guests present we find the names of Capt. Coffin and Lieuts. Perkins and Perry, of the Portsmouth Cavalry.

Those cattle said to have been stolen from an Eliot farmer a week since, have all been recovered. They were only strayed.—Dover Democrat.

"When Rogues Fall Out," Etc.

The Boston Herald of Oct. 25th, in a supplement, published a long statement with sworn testimony of officials of the Mutual Union Telegraph Co., giving damaging evidence against officials of the Western Union Telegraph Co., and especially against Mr. Erastus Wiman, one of the directors of the Western Union. It is charged, and the charge is supported by affidavits, that Mr. Wiman, of the commercial agency firm of Dunn, Wiman & Co., of New York, and a director of the Western Union Telegraph company, through Benjamin M. Plumb, obtained of G. Fearing, a clerk of the Mutual Union company, a copy of a confidential paper, and that Mr. Eckert, vice president and general manager of the Western Union, and Mr. Bates, his assistant, entered heartily into the scheme, and aided in carrying it out. There is a general feeling of disapprobation of the means by which the paper was obtained, but there is at the same time very little sympathy for the officers of the Mutual Union company, from the fact that the contents of the surreptitiously-obtained paper are not entirely creditable to the Mutual Union. The document, it is understood, is a contract for building the lines of the new company, and it seems the directors are engaged in dividing the money of the stockholders by a contract for building thirteen thousand miles of the line for $14,000,000, whereas, by the testimony of experts, the actual cost of the line would or should be but $6,500,000; so that by these figures, and as is asserted, the managers of the company and the contractors are to divide the excess of $7,500,000. This is a pretty fair profit on conducting business, and beats any swindling city government, except for a short time under Boss Tweed in New York. It remains to be seen how the stockholders like it. The affair, as it is reported, is not very creditable to either of the telegraph companies.

ELIOT, ME., Oct. 26th.

Mr. Editor: The farmers have nearly finished harvesting. The apple crop was pretty good in some localities, but a few orchard owners were too frugal to properly enrich the soil around their trees and saved a little money in the spring, perhaps, but now have no apples to sell. One man here just a generation ahead of the conservatives who think the soil under apple trees does not need artificial fertilizing, realized a thousand dollars from the sale of the product of sixty Baldwin apple trees.

Owing to the light rain-fall of the summer months many wells are entirely dry, and cattle have to be driven to more favored drinking places.

The town is indebted to the liberal public spirit of Mrs. Prof. Farmer, a native of Eliot, for a long row of lamp-posts and lanterns, by means of which the main street of the village is lighted by night, for a considerable distance.

Brick-making affords a remunerative occupation to many men living at suitable places near the river. Several vessels find constant employment freighting bricks from our kilns to Boston and other sea-port markets.

One of our brickmakers had quite a fracas with a horse last week. The obstinate animal refused to draw the vehicle to which he was harnessed; a vigorous beating, long continued, produced no other effect than the exhaustion of the driver, and a more determined resistance on the part of the horse. The driver after taking a rest bethought himself of an expedient by means of which the refractory brute was persuaded to go. Obtaining a stout cod-line the man hitched it to the horse's tongue, and exerting his strength to the utmost succeeded in dragging the creature up the hill. The tension of the cord was so great that it cut into the tongue, and drew it so far from its mooring in his throat that it could not be put into place again. However, our ingenious neighbor was equal to this emergency also. Finding that the protruding tongue would not allow the horse to eat or drink, and was becoming putrid, he took a sharp knife and cut off the portion which protruded beyond his teeth.

An officer of the New Hampshire S. P. C. A. visited the vicinity yesterday, and as he did not seem to approve of such rude surgery the operator is likely to be prosecuted for cruel mal-practice.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, Oct. 27th, Mayor Sise in the chair:

Present, Aldermen Caswell, Vaughan, Martin, Slater, Hartshorn, Green and Noyes.

John Morgan was appointed a special police at the Portsmouth Brewing Co. brewery; Charles R. Green at the Concord depot, and Charles W. Shannon at Christian Shore.

Dennis Shea asked leave to encumber Bow street for purpose of laying a drain. Granted. Proprietors of the Rockingham house had leave to encumber Warren street, for a similar purpose.

Mayor announced to the board that on Monday, Oct. 31st, Mr. Phillips, president of the Eastern Railroad Co., would meet the proper authorities to see what can be done toward abating the nuisance at the north millpond.

Charles W. Bailey asked leave to encumber Manning street for purpose of repairing building. Granted.

The mayor asked, what is the matter with Water and Gates streets? upon an explanation by Ald. Green, it was ordered that the condition of Water and Gates streets be attended to.

On motions of Aldermen Green and Caswell, the condition of troughs on Water and Warren streets, were referred to the proper committee, with power.

On motion of Ald. Noyes, the report of the city marshal was accepted and adopted.

Ald. Noyes stated that there was need of repairing fences at the Almshouse, referred to committee on city lands and buildings.

The mayor announced that under the present circumstances it becomes necessary to concur with the common council in regard to an appropriation, but that the appropriation bill was not drawn up in the proper shape, and that the council will be called together at the regular meeting, next week.

The committee on placing naphtha light on Middle street reported favorably, and the report was accepted and adopted.

The mayor stated that a week later the question about a loan would be brought up.

John S. Rand asked to be appointed a supernumerary watchman. Ald. Green said there was no need of any more policemen. Ald. Martin moved there be two appointed, adding the name of Charles W. Shannon. Voted to proceed to ballot for supernumerary watchman. Ald. Caswell said that he thought that we had plenty of policemen now for this little city, as many as the tax payers can afford to pay for. Ald. Martin said that they can only be called upon to take the places of the others when they are absence. Proceeded to ballot; there were four candidates, viz: Charles W. Shannon, Thomas R. Moore, John S. Rand and Thomas Watkins. On the first ballot, no choice. Ald. Green moved that the appointment be indefinitely postponed, upon which there was a tie vote. On the second ballot, no choice. Ald. Green asked if more must be appointed; are there not enough now? The mayor said there seemed to be enough. Ald. Green thought that one of the candidates had better be pensioned by the city government. Ald. Caswell thought the members of the board had better rise when addressing the chair. On the third ballot Charles W. Shannon was elected by one majority. Voted that further consideration be postponed for one week.

The Mayor said the progress on the new street, which the Eastern railroad or rather petitioners had asked for, had been favorable, and it would be completed in one week.

Ald. Caswell made some remarks about encumbering of streets, among which he mention Warren street. Ald. Martin asked how do you get clear of these encumberances; answer by the members of the board, that the mayor should notify the parties encumbering.

Adjourned for one week.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

C. H. Smith's mammoth double Uncle Tom's Cabin company, which appear at Franklin theatre this (Friday) evening, played in the Academy of Music at Fall River, Mass., Oct. 12th, and the News of that city next day said:

A mammoth house—every seat, with the boxes full, and standers all round the walls—greeted Manager C. H. Smith's Mammoth Double Uncle Tom's Cabin company last evening. The entertainment was lengthened some fifteen minutes with applause. Probably the company is the best ever playing the play in Fall River. So many new features were introduced that the old play seemed like new. Mr. Sam Lucas, the celebrated comedian, won repeated recalls in his scenes. The Sherwood Sisters are "little wonders," and Blanche as Topsy No. 1, Florence as Topsy No. 2, and little Romaine as Eva are almost an entertainment in themselves. The "Double Marks" made any amount of fun, and the "Double Donkeys" are beauties. The bloodhounds are ugly-looking animals, and the company on the stage seemed willing to let them have all the room wanted. With the many attractions that Manager Smith has in his company, it is easily seen why houses are filled to overflowing all along the road. The company would fill the Academy again next week.

SUPREME COURT.

THURSDAY, Oct. 27th; Smith, J.

Case State vs. David L. Ramsbottom, breakink and entering house of Sarah F. Bennett at Epping, and assaulting the said Sarah, was concluded, having been put on trial Wednesday afternoon. Verdict, guilty of simple assault. Hatch for respondent.

Patrick Canney, indicted for fornication, (plea nolo contendere.) was sentenced to pay a fine of $20, without costs.

State vs. Timothy Tewhill of Exeter: indictment for keeping liquor for sale, put on trial. Harriman for state; Hodgdon and Fuller for Tewhill.

Judge Smith overruled the demurrer of the defence in case State vs. Hartnett, indicted for manslaughter in killing one Hugh McCann, and ordered the case to trid. Defendant's counsel entered an appeal on the decision, and the question will go to the law term. Harriman for state; Hodgdon and Call for respondent. Case continued, bail being reduced from $2000 to $1000.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Oct. 27; Batchelder, J.

Michael Monday, drunk, fine $20, costs $6.90; sent to county farm.

John Caten, drunk, fine $10, costs $6.90; jail in default of payment.

HOW IT MAY WORK.

The Boston Journal's Concord correspondent has learned that the newly consolidated lines between Boston and Vermont, over the Concord railroad, will attempt to take the coal for the Manchester factory corporations and other consumers into Salem, Mass., and haul it a greater distance to Manchester than if received at Portsmouth, it being contended that an engine can haul forty cars from Salem to Manchester as easily as seventeen can be hauled from Portsmouth to Manchester; at least the experiment is to be tried, and if it succeeds, the great coal business now done at the Concord railroad wharves in this city will have become a thing of the past. The thirty thousand dollars paid out in this city annually for labor on vessels will be no more seen; there will be no complaint as to crossings at the north end—no need of gates; and as far as upward freight is concerned, the Concord & Portsmouth railroad might then as well be fenced off, with a sign across the track reading: "Closed by reason of consolidation." The experience of New Hampshire railroad property in being given away to Massachusetts management is of such unfortunate kind that it would seem a very foolish operation for the Concord railroad to let the Lowell take charge of it, were it not for the fact that that the Concord road long since ceased to be managed in any interests save those of other corporations which controlled a majority of stock in the Concord.

DANGER-MARK CHANGED.

The black spar buoy which has heretofore marked Goat island ledge, (Pull-and-be-d—d point,) or rather, which has not marked that danger, as it was always under the surface except for a brief period at slack water on each tide, has been moved about seventy-five feet eastward of its old position, where it is expected that it will stand watch at nearly all stages of the tide, if not all the time. Mariners should keep this change in memory, particularly when working down the river, or they may thump the ledge hard enough to do some mischief.

BY WHAT AUTHORITY?

Mr. Editor: A week or two since you reported a meeting between our city government and the Eastern railroad company, in reference to the north pond nuisance, which appears to have resulted in a statement by the railroad officials that it was the intention of their company to proceed with the filling up of the pond, which they thought would be accomplished in a dozen years or so; to this the city government appear not to demurred, thereby leaving it to be inferred that it had no objection to that proceeding. Was this a feeler on the part of the railroad company?

Now, so far as the writer understands, it has always been supposed that the "owners" of this (as of the south) pond possessed only the right to the flowage; the right to use the water; such, at all events, was all that was conveyed by the original grants, and such all that "owners" previous to the railroad company, it is believed, ever claimed. Not only the abuttors upon these ponds, but every citizen, has an interest and right in them, and in their being kept open!

Now, Mr. Editor, the writer would not have it supposed for a moment that he thinks a railroad company would overstep the line of its legal rights; oh, no! but he respectfully submits whether it is not the duty of the city government to look into this matter, and let us know whence and when the railroad company acquired the right to fill up acres of that pond, as it has done, or the scores of remaining acres, as it apparently proposes doing.

The town in granting the right to the flowage, parted—as it seems to the writer—with no right to its ownership of the land under water; and, unless it has done so by subsequent conveyance (and of such, most at least of the citizens have never heard,) it would seem to be a matter well worth looking into by the city authorities.

The writer has delayed noticing this matter, hoping some one more competent would do it. H. G. W.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

For week ending Wednesday, Oct. 26.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

Amount of stock at market—Cattle 2045; Sheep and Lambs 2900; Swine 14,821; Veals 75; number of western cattle 1877; eastern cattle 300; milch cows and northern cattle 19.

Prices of Beef Cattle per 100 lbs, live weight—Extra quality $6 62 1-2 to $7 25; first quality $5 75-1-2 to $6 50; second quality $5 37 1-2 to $5 75; third quality $4 50 to $5 25; poorest grades of coarse oxen, bulls, etc., $3 00 to $4 25.

Brighton Hides 8c per lb.
Brighton Tallow 5c per lb.
Country Hides 7 1-2c per lb.
Country Tallow 5c per lb.
Calf Skins 13 1-2c per lb.
Sheep and Lamb Skins 75c to $1 25 each.

The trade for beef cattle has not improved any over that of one week ago. The quality of the beef cattle in was full as good as that last market. With the exception of sales of a few extra beeves, which were sold at 7 3-4c per lb live weight, prices for western cattle remain unchanged. There has not been any call for shipping cattle, most of the western beeves being sold to butchers for the Boston markets at prices ranging from 4 to 7c per lb live weight.

Milch Cows—Extra $55 to $75; ordinary $20 to $50; springers $18 to $60; farrow cows $18 to $28 per head. Trade for cows has not been so good for the past two weeks as it had been some weeks previous to that time, and prices have fallen off from $5 to $10 per head. We note sales of 1 cow and calf at $60; 1 do $50; 4 milch cows $85 the lot; 11 springers at $40 each; 7 cows and calves $42 each; 16 cows and calves at $32 to $60 per head.

Working Oxen—Sales of 1 pr, 3 year old steers, girth 6 ft 4 in, at $89; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 4 in, live weight 2400 lbs, $119; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 2 in, live weight 2700 lbs, $125; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 9 in, live weight 2800 lbs, $125. There has been a moderate demand for workers.

Store Cattle—Yearlings $11 to $17; two year olds $15 to $27; three year olds $25 to $43 per head. Most of the small cattle that are in a fair condition are sold to butchers to slaughter.

Sheep and Lambs—The supply from the west has been light for several weeks past. Most of the sheep and lambs in market of late come from the Canadas and Maine, consigned to butchers to slaughter and market at a commission.

Swine—Fat Hogs—Prices 6 3-4 to 7 1-2c per lb live weight. Store Pigs—Sell slow at 7c per lb per lb live weight, or from $2 50 to $5 50 per head.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cts. a box everywhere. 4eow

At a meeting of the governor and council, Oct. 26th, a petition for pardon from the state prison of John Currier was referred to Councillor Stowell, to investigate and report. A pardon was refused John Proctor.

At the nineteenth annual meeting of the Exeter Manufacturing Co., Oct. 26th, the following directors were chosen: Eben Dole, Hervey Kent, H. W. Farwell, Thomas Appleton and William J. Dole, Jr. A dividend of four per cent will be paid semi-annually on preferred stock.

Saturday evening, Oct. 22d, the valuable barn of Joseph Moses of Tilton was burned. Suspicion immediately fastened upon a Frenchman named Joseph Bailey, who lived near where the fire occurred, and who had had trouble with Moses. Ten days before a dispute occurred between the two men, and subsequently Bailey was heard angrily to say: "I am not done with Moses yet." During the fire, Bailey made a severe assault upon Mr. Moses. Bailey was immediately arrested on two complaints—one charging him with incendiarism, and the other with assault.

James Perkins, a young man residing below Sawyer's mills, Dover, has been held in $1500 to answer to a charge of criminal assault upon Lizzie Tathner, a girl of fourteen years old, on the night of Sunday, Oct. 23d. Defendant was arrested on the girl's description of her assailant, and was identified by her as the man who made the assault.

Rev. G. L. Demarest, of Manchester, has been chosen secretary of the General Association of Universalists of the United States.

E. L. F. Hunt, a man seventy-seven years of age, residing with his son about a mile west of Whitefield village, was found dead in his room on the morning of Oct. 17th. On a small table near him was a lamp from which the oil had burned out, and an open bible from which he had undoubtedly been reading when he fell dead from his chair.

The Manchester & Keene railroad was put up at auction at Keene, Oct. 26th, by order of the courts. It consists of thirty miles of road in good running condition, but with no rolling stock. The bonded debt is $500,000. Recent improvements cost $57,436, and this debt has priority over all other claims. The sale was made subject to the liens, taking all liabilities with the sale. It was bought by Hon. S. W. Hale for $125,000, he bidding for the bondholders.

—There is a good deal of enthusiasm over Ireland's troubles, of course, but the Cambridge Land League goes ahead of anything else in "agitating." On a nicely painted sign, it announces that "meetings will be held on the second Tuesday of each week." This is quite too utterly often.—Boston Herald.

We need not be physicians to know when we have and how to cure a cold. We can have a special physician always near, by keeping convenient a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents.

The starch mills at North Haverhill will not be started up this season on account of the scarcity of potatoes.

The Best Remedy for Chapped Hands Is Hegeman's Camphor Ice. It should be rubbed into the part affected. The warmth of the skin will soften it sufficiently, under ordinary circumstances, but in extreme cold weather, it may be necessary to warm it by the fire. If the hands are badly chapped, apply every night, and protect the hands by wearing an old pair of kid gloves. Hegeman's is the best and most popular of all the Camphor Ices made. Hegeman's Camphor Ice is also a cure for sore lips, chapped face, and sunburn. It is compounded with glycerine, which renders it more emollient than any other Camphor Ice; it will be found a most soothing application to the face after shaving.

The first Council of the United Fellowship order in this State was organized at Nashua on Wednesday night, Oct. 19th. Thirty-eight charter members were present.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Brush's Stored Electricity.

Mr. Brush, whose lights make bright our Scollay square, and shine in other cities, comes to the front with his way of packing electricity for use when wanted, wasting none. Mr. Brush lives in Cleveland, O., and from the Leader and the Herald of that city the following is abstracted: "Mr. Brush for a number of years past has been hard at work in this direction, overcoming first one difficulty and then another, and all the time retraining from any statements on the subject. He now for the first time makes the statement that by his methods the storage of an indefinite amount of electricity for an indefinite time, ready for use at any moment, is as easy and certain of accomplishment as the regular production of electricity by his dydamo-electric machine. Mr. Brush uses for his storage-reservoirs metal plates, so arranged that they are capable of receiving a very large charge of electricity and of holding it for an indefinite time. The storage reservoirs vary in size as desired, and may be transported from place to place and used as desired. They may be put to any use of which electricity is possible. They can be taken about in wagons by day and left at the houses of citizens, like so much ice or kerosene, and used at night. Each citizen may then run his own electric light as he pleases. The plates can be put on street cars, connected with the axles and made to run the cars without horses. Steam cars may be ultimately run in the same way. Mr. Brush's last invention is only now a case of economy. For some uses it will be cheaper, for others more expensive, than the present methods of obtaining power. The practical character of the invention is settled. The engines can run and electricity be accumulated during the day, and then at night two sets of lights can be run, one set by the power stored up. An indefinite amount of electricity can be stored in this way, and used as wanted. The details of the method cannot now be made public."—Boston Star.

Great joy entered the household of Mrs. Harrigan, 172 E. One Hundred and thirty-second street, New York, when her little boy, who had been pronounced hopelessly incurable from severe inflammatory rheumatism by the doctors, was entirely cured by a single bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, kindly brought by a friend interested in the case.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

The new water supply of Newburyport, Mass., was tested on Oct. 26th as to its adequacy for fire department uses, and the test proved decidedly unsatisfactory.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

John B. Clark has served upon his wife papers notifying her that he has instituted proceedings against her for divorce—the result of recent scandals in Washington. This is not the jovial John B. Clarke who runs the Manchester Mirror, but Congressman John B. Clark, Jr., of Missouri, who was married about a year ago with great eclat.

Proof Everywhere.

If any invalid or sick person has the least doubt of the power and efficacy of Hop Bitters to cure them, they can find cases exactly like their own in their own neighborhood, with proof positive that they can be easily and permanently cured, at a trifling cost—or ask your druggist or physician.

In the Whole History of Medicine

No preparation has ever performed such marvellous cures, or maintained so wide a reputation, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering, and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in throat and chest disorders, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and operation, physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and clergymen recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its healing effects, and will always cure where cures are possible.

"The Children's Garfield Home."

I felt very badly when our President died, and my brother and I think it would be very nice to have a home in the country for little sick children. Mamma thought that each little boy or girl could give from one cent up to twenty-five cents. We thought we could call it the "Garfield Home," and we also thought it would be very nice to have a picture of President Garfield in it. We would like all little boys and girls to join in this. Please put this in the paper, and also put in for the parents to tell the children.

WILLIE P. HERRICK.

Newport, September 27, 1881.

To this letter, inclosing a dollar as the contribution of four children, Willie's mother adds:

The children were intensely interested and affected. Their earnest, child-like prayers and faith touched our hearts, and we have heard the same story from other parents. Great good might be accomplished by turning this tide of children's sympathy and love to practical use.

The Post having declined to act as banker of the fund, the St. Nicholas Magazine for young folks reprints Willie's suggestion in its November number, believing that its young readers will be glad to learn of the project, and to give it practical aid; and the publishers of St. Nicholas have volunteered to receive and credit all subscriptions to the "Garfield Home" that may be sent them, with the understanding that if the total amount subscribed should prove insufficient for the founding of a Home, it may be applied in the form of a "Children's Garfield Fund" to the benefit of the Poor Children's Summer Home, or some kindred charity of New York city. Any persons interested may address or send moneys to "The Century Co., Union Square (north,) N. Y."

Dime Novel Heroes.

Two young scoundrels who recently wrecked a train on the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern railroad, near Cedar Rapids, Iowa, when Engineer Hardy was killed, have been run down by a Chicago detective, who has forced from them a confession of their guilt. The prisoners are Joseph Phillips, aged twenty years, and George Veldenburg, aged sixteen. The former is a native of the west; the latter was brought, with several other boys, about four years ago from an orphan home in New York, and was adopted by a farmer named Shields, living near the railroad. The boys admitted that they had been reading the lives of the James boys, and other similar literature, and had been plotting against the railroad company for several months; their plan was to rob a train and then go to New York, where they expected to be able to fit themselves with an armor of steel shirts, and return to the west to go into business as highwaymen. Both express no regret for their fatal work, but are proud of it. They are in jail in Vinton, Ia., where they will be tried.

Mississippi Law.

A despatch from Greenville, Miss., of Oct. 26th, says:

Lanier, who killed D. S. Love here last Friday, was examined before Judge Valliant, mayor of Greenville, yesterday, and acquitted. Mayor Valliant is one of our most respected citizens, and his decision is indorsed by the entire community. The details of the libel by Love on the wife of Lanier are utterly unfit for publication. It appeared at the trial that Love was an unsuccessful suitor, and persecuted the lady before her marriage, and after that event sought the revenge of blasting her character. In discharging the prisoner, Judge Valliant said:

"I have been a practicing lawyer for more than twenty years, and I have never seen or heard of such a case like this. There is no law to which the defendant in a case like this could appeal. If any one in a position like that occupied by him had sued for damages he would simply have been laughed at. It is therefore my opinion that he did just what I or any other man of honor would do, and I therefore discharge the prisoner, and bid him go hence without delay."

This decision was received with shouts of applause.

News and Notes.

The British Channel squadron has been ordered to the Irish coast.

Steamer Jennie Gilchrist was wrecked against a bridge near Little Rock, Ark., on Thursday night last, through the breaking of some of her machinery, and seventeen lives were lost. Nearly all the steamer's men were drunk at the time of the accident.

The British steamer Calliope has been lost on the Spanish coast, one man only escaping.

Richmond, Va., says: "The remarkable demand for confederate bonds continues, and the boom for these valueless promises to pay is unabated. The best demand for these bonds seems to be here in the capital of the late confederacy, where they were originally manufactured and issued. It is not probable, however, that the scheme for their purchase now being so industriously pursued, originated in Richmond; but nevertheless the demand here possesses wonderful vitality. The brokers are all advertising for them. One leading banking house has purchased nearly $5,000,000 coupon bonds at from $3 to $5 per $1,000.

Levi A. Dowley, once one of the leading business men of Worcester, Mass., committed suicide in one of the hotels of that city, Tuesday, Oct. 25th. Having amassed a fortune in Worcester and Boston, he removed to New York, where speculation reduced him to want, and at the age of eighty years he went back to his old home and died by his own hand.

A despatch from Rome announces the death of Cardinal Edvardo Borromeo, who was master of the chamber and major domo of the palace of Pope Pius IX. He was born at Milan, Aug 3-1, 1822, and was published as a cardinal by Pius IX. on March 13th, 1868.

The body found mutilated in a swamp at Freeport, L. I., in August, has been recognized as that of Miss Minnie Clark of Bridgeport, Conn., who left her home in May last. The facts relating to her disappearance and death it is said are in possession of the officers, but will not be made public until one or more arrests have been made. The body was found by a man who was out gunning, and was cut in two at the waist, the pieces being several feet apart.

The Sporting Life, of London, Eng., calls attention to the fact that the horses over whom Mr. Keene's "Foxhall" obtained a double victory, the Cesarewitch and Cambridge stakes, were far superior to those defeated by Mr. Masque's "Roseberry" in 1876, on the only previous occasion of the same horse securing both stakes in the same year.

Baron Blanc, formerly Italian minister to the United States, has telegraped to Frederic Coudert, consul for the Italian government in New York, that the identity of the Italian brigand Ranlazzo, or Esposito, who was surrendered by the United States authorities under the extradition treaty, has been established, and that an important service has been rendered to the cause of justice.

The annual report of the lighthouse board for the fiscal year which ended June 30th, 1881, has just been submitted to the secretary of the treasury. The total amount which it is estimated will be needed for the general service of the lighthouse establishment during the coming fiscal year is as follows: For the lighthouse establishment, $2,248,000; for lighthouses and fog signals, $530,000.

At Tombstone, Arizona, four cow boys, Ike Clandon, Bill Clandon, Frank McLowery and Tom McLowery, paraded the town for several days, drinking hard, and making themselves obnoxious. The city marshal Wyatt, on Oct. 27th arrested Ike Clandon. Soon after his release the four met the marshal, his brothers, Morgan and Wyatt, and J. H. Halliday. The marshal ordered them to give up their weapons, when a fight commenced. About thirty shots were fired; both McLowery boys were killed; Bill Clandon was mortally wounded, dying soon after; Ike Clandon was slightly wounded in the shoulder, and Marshal Wyatt was also slightly wounded. The others were unhurt.

Miss Nellie Locke of this city is to make her debut as a vocalist next month at Music hall, appearing under the management of Mr. Henry L. Harlow. Those, who have had the pleasure of listening to this young lady bespeak for her a brilliant career.—Journal.

A pair of horses attached to a heavy wagon ran away from in front of Norton's store near the Creek, Friday evening. The wagon was soon run against a telegraph pole, which was broken off, as was also the pole of the wagon. The horses then stopped without doing any further damage.

At the Rockingham trotting park, Friday afternoon, there was a match race for $50 a side between the horses "John W.," entered by Edgar D. Stoddard, and "Charley Knox," entered by George D. Sykes. Mr Stoddard's horse won in three straight heats; time—2:48, 2:46, 2:48.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

THE ANTI-MASONIC WAR.

The war between Mr. Daniel Mason and the parties who are building Short street, or Railroad's street, or whatever it may be called, raged with unexampled fury on Friday. In the forenoon the street commissioner and six men charged upon a pile of boards owned by Mr. Mason, and commenced to remove them; Mason, who claims that the land where the boards were belongs to the property under his control, marshalled his forces in opposition, and the street gang left.

In the afternoon Mayor Sise and Asst. Marshal Gray arrived at the front, ordered up all the men at work on the street, with two teams, and the work of loading the boards on the carts was commenced; but as fast as the mayor's men put the boards on the carts, Mason's men pulled them off and piled them up again. This performance seemed likely to result in a drawn battle, if not in a municipal defeat, so the mayor ordered up the reserves, consisting of the city marshal, and a charge was made all along the line, Mr. Mason and his men making a gallant but unavailing resistance to the terrific onslaught.

Mr. Mason's account of the subsequent proceedings is that he was knocked down, and while struggling on the ground with Joseph Spinney and John Shannon the mayor called out "Don't strike him, choke him;" and that he was choked, and struck under the eye by one of the men or both, and bruised and cut so as to bleed, and had his face scratched. The enemy then by force carried off his sawyer, Mr. Robbins; then came with a warrant for Mr. Mason, and afterward with one for his son, and locked all three up in the police station.

After the mayor's army had bagged the hostile leaders the boards were loaded on carts, and taken to parts unknown to Mr. Mason; his blacksmith shop was invaded, the bellows taken down and an addition to the shop razed; and men were set to work at digging a hole for a cesspool. Mr. Mason and his men having been released on bail by the police magistrate, a picket guard of policemen was maintained during the night over the hole, probably to prevent its being carried off by the pugnacious Mason and his cohorts.

Mr. Mason in the evening said he should at once enter suit against the city for $10,000 damages, for personal injuries and destruction of his business. He also suggested that E. C. Spinney, Esq., would claim a large sum for damages to his property.

There will probably be some music in the police court this forenoon, growing out of this war; concert commences at ten o'clock.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, Oct. 28; Batchelder, J.

Daniel Mason, charged with brawl and tumult and profane swearing, and James Robbins and Clarence Mason (latter so styled, wrongly, in warrant) charged with brawl and tumult, all had their cases continued to Oct 29th at ten o'clock A. M., each being required to recognize personally in the sum of $50 for his appearance at that time. All these cases grew out of the new street which is being built by somebody in continuation of Vaughan street.

"THE MASCOT."

On Tuesday evening, at Music hall, the Grayson Opera Co. will present the pleasing and popular comic opera "The Mascot," with the original cast, including Helen E. H. Carter and the Boston church choir chorus; the company is identically the same as played the piece in Boston, without the slightest detail omitted. A Portsmouth gentleman who recently saw the Mascot performed by this company in Providence, assures us that the opera's recent presentation here, good though it was, "does not hold a candle" to the performance of the Grayson Co., either for singing, acting or richness of costumes. The Grayson Co. was the first to produce the opera in America. Tickets on sale at Preston's drug store to-day.

SUPREME COURT.

FRIDAY, Oct. 28th; Smith J.

William Jackson, previously convicted of being a tramp, was sentenced to the state prison for one year and one day at hard labor, and to pay the costs of prosecution.

David L. Ramsbottom, assault on Sarah E. Bennett, was fined $20, and ordered to pay costs which amount to about $50.

Timothy Tewhill, keeping liquor for sale, verdict guilty. Fined $50, and ordered to pay costs.

THE PLEASURE BOATS.

Most of the pleasure yachts have been hauled out of water, and placed in winter quarters. On Friday the boats owned by Plumer D. Norton and Thomas H. Odion were taken out—and they were about the last of the sloop yachts to be kept afloat, excepting those used for letting purposes. Mr. Odion's boat, by the way, is as fine a pleasure yacht, for her size, as can be found on the river; she sails well in a light breeze, is safe and makes a good showing in heavy weather, and has the best accommodations, so far as comfort is concerned, that we ever saw in a craft of her dimensions. The schooner yacht Wm. H. Russell was hauled in on the ground alongside the old Foundry wharf at the Point of Graves some time ago, and has been fitted with an elliptic stern, which adds much to her appearance, and increases her room on deck; the work was done in the best manner by Mr. William Hunter. The "Humbug" still floats, and probably will until Thanksgiving day, that being the date on which she has always been taken out; whether the Humbug Yachting & Fishing Association will make any more trips this year is problematical, and depends entirely on Vennor, as the members are getting old, and are much more opposed to discomfort than they used to be.

AROUND HOME.

Mr. Daniel H. Spinney has this year raised 575 barrels of apples, of which 400 barrels were No. 1s. Last year Mr. Spinney gathered 1200 barrels.

George Herbert & Co. on Friday received about 2000 lbs. of fish from shore boats, of which Mr. Chris. Killenbeck brought in 1000 lbs.

The Seamen's Home on State street has re-opened under the charge of Mr. Woodbury Wingate, after receiving an extensive and thorough renovation.

The mayor of Biddeford, Me., informs City Marshal Entwistle that the citizens of Biddeford tender Thomas their sincere regards for the promptness exhibited by him in capturing the two fellows who were "wanted" for numerous burglaries they are suspected of having committed in the Maine city and surrounding towns.

Rev. William Rounseville Alger, who preaches at the South Parish to-morrow, is not only an attractive and eloquent preacher but prominent in the literary world. Among his books the "History of the Doctrine of a Future Life" is regarded as one of the few real contributions of this country to theology, and has passed to the eleventh edition. Among his more popular works are "The Poetry of the Orient," "The Friendships of Women," "The Life of Edwin Forrest," "The Genius of Solitude," and recently a little volume to the young entitled, "The School of Life."

The Rockingham County Temperance Association held a session at Chester on Thursday last, and the attendance was large. Rev. J. H. Stearns of Epping presided, and Rev. Mr. White of East Kingston made the principal address, many others making short speeches. The temperance people of the town provided a generous lunch for all the visitors, at noon. The next meeting of the association will be held at Brentwood.

The schooner Cocheco of this port, of 220.42 tons register, has been sold to Rackett & Brothers of New York, on favorable terms. She was owned by seventeen parties, among whom were C. E. Walker, (agent,) Frank Jones, George Bilbruck, Daniel Littlefield, (who built her,) Capt. John S. Pray, heirs of John H. Bailey, Charles Walker, and others. She had been running three years last July, and has paid seventy per cent on her cost. Capt. H. M. Seawards, of Kittery, Me., has commanded her ever since she was built. Another vessel is to be at once built for Capt. Seawards by Portsmouth parties; parties in Dover had informed the captain that if Portsmouth people did not build him a vessel, they (the Dover men) would. The Cocheco was lying at Pier wharf on Friday evening, to be delivered to her new owners at Portland, Me.

The machinery and boilers of the U. S. S. Omaha have been taken out, and on Friday evening it was announced that she would be taken into the dry dock on Monday, preparatory to her being hauled out on the railway for extensive repairs.

Mr. Editor: It was announced by the mayor at the meeting of the board of aldermen on Thursday evening last, that a representative of the Eastern railroad company would meet the proper authority "in reference to the north pond nuisance, on the 31st inst." Any movement in that direction is to be welcomed; but why in the name of common sense should not the cause of the nuisance be first ascertained, and if, as most people believe, it should be found to be caused by the breweries at the head of the pond, why should not they be made to abate it? Why, by the way, is the Eastern railroad made a joint party in the matter with the "proper authority?" Can it read its title clear to the pond? X.

After numerous experiments Mr. Fellows succeeded in producing this combination of Hypophosphites, which has not only restored him to health, but has since been found so successful in the treatment of disease emanating from loss of nerve power, and consequently muscular relaxation, viz.:

Aphonia (loss of voice),	Neuralgia,
Anæmia,	Nervous debility,
Chronic Diarrhœa,	Whooping Cough,
Dyspepsia,	Congestion of the Lungs,
Fever and Ague,	Palpitation of the Heart,
Leucorrhœa,	Melancholy,
Malaria;	Mental Depression,
	Nervousness.

MALARIA.

Persons living in Malarious districts may protect themselves from attacks of fever by the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. Its effects in toning up the system enables us to ward off contagious disorders, and successfully combat disease.

The soluble phosphites and the other life-sustaining principles composing Fellows' Hypophosphites are so carefully proportioned and so judiciously mingled, that their action upon the nerves, muscles and membranes in imparting vitality, strength and healthy action is generally apparent within twenty four hours, and the good effects experienced are of a permanent character.

Price of Kisses.

The ladies of Pine Plains, writes a correspondent of the Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Courier, and the vicinity, are doing much in the cause of charity. A short time ago a number of them got up a Kissing Entertainment. The company was very select. The committee of invitation were very careful to avoid the presence of any disagreeable or unpopular person, and the whole thing was kept very quiet to avoid notoriety. After the company had gathered, the gentlemen were informed that the ladies would permit themselves to be hugged at so much per squeeze, the proceeds to be devoted to a prominent and deserving charity. There was some difficulty in arranging a schedule of prices, and a stampede would have broken out earlier if some of the ladies had been aware of the value at which their charms were estimated.

The following price list was finally adopted: For one go-as-you-please squeeze of one minute, and one kiss, terms cash in advance:

Girls under sixteen	$0.25
Girls from sixteen to twenty	.50
Ladies from twenty to twenty-six	.75
Married ladies under thirty	1.00
Married ladies from thirty to forty	.50
Widows under thirty	.75
Widows over thirty	.50
Maiden ladies from thirty to forty	.50
Maiden ladies over forty	.25

The gentlemen were all gathered in the dining-room, and all the ladies in the parlor. In the library was a committee of two—a lady and gentleman—(the latter being time-keeper,) and they called in the gentlemen one by one. Each was show the schedule of prices and a list of the ladies present, and when one selected the lady he wanted to kiss she was called in, and the transaction occurred in the presence of the committee. In cases where the squeeze was prolonged beyond the schedule of time, or an additional smack was taken, a fine of double the price was imposed for every minute in excess, and in several cases the fines were heavy, but were paid without a murmur. The whole affair was confidential, and none but the committee were to know who kissed who.

It would have been a success had it not been for the presence of a young widow of superlative charms. After she had been called in nine times in succession the other ladies began to murmur, and on the tenth call, when one of the ladies recognized through the partially closed door her own husband's voice, and the time-keeper called out:

"Another fine, that's three"—

The wife exclaimed, "I'm going in there! This thing's gone far enough!" and in she went, followed by all the other ladies, to find the young widow clasped firmly in the arms of the objecting woman's husband.

The hostess endeavored to arrange matters, but failed, and contributions to the charity fund ceased.

—A home thrust: It is related of George Clark, the celebrated negro minstrel, that being examined as a witness he was severely interrogated by the attorney, who wished to break down his evidence. "You are in the negro minstrel business, I believe?" inquired the lawyer. "Yes, sir," was the prompt reply. "Isn't that rather a low calling?" demanded the lawyer. "I don't know but what it is sir," replied the minstrel; "but it is so much better than my father's that I am proud of it." "What was your father's calling?" "He was a lawyer," replied Clark, in a tone of regret that put the audience in a roar. The lawyer let him alone.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, resistive and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 6000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE

It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. These Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier.

SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer with Boils? Why have that horrid Headache? Why feel so dull, with no appetite? Why have Nettle Rash and Eruptions on the skin? Why are your nerves all unstrung, and need a gentle soothing tonic to assist nature to expel the damaging poison from your system? Why let the disease which you have caused, or inherited, become chronic? Why not take Sulphur Bitters to cut and clear the other impurities which situate deep in the blood, like the other preparations which claim to be blood purifiers? Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap rum or poor whiskey drink to be taken by the excesses. It is composed of the purest Roots, Barks and Herbs combined with the Sulphur TRACT OF SULPHUR which enters into and makes it a complete Chemical Specific.

SULPHUR Bitters

The Dose is small—only a Teaspoonful. It is the best and cheapest medicine. Try it and you will be satisfied. Get it of your druggist. DON'T WAIT. GET IT AT ONCE.

Daily Chronicle.

The First Blow for Independence.

The important part played by the men of the New Hampshire colony in the early days of the struggle for independence is not yet—perhaps never will be—known to and acknowledged by the people of the country at large. The historians and literary men of that day were mainly of Massachusetts, and their records magnified their own colony's acts, and made small note of the deeds of others. It is but a few years since that Charles Carleton Coffin, Esq., of Boston, in an address before one of the historical societies, astonished his hearers and nearly all who read the published address, by showing conclusively that the part borne in the battle of Bunker Hill by the New Hampshire troops was vastly greater and more important than they had ever received credit for in history,—in fact, that it was almost solely owing to the stubborn fighting of the New Hampshire men that the final retreat of the patriot forces was a successful retreat instead of a disastrous rout.

At the centennial celebration at Yorktown, Va., Hon. Robert C. Winthrop of Boston, the orator of the day on Oct. 19th, in his address said: "The first blow for independence dates from Massachusetts." That this oft-repeated claim is incorrect, and that the honor of striking "the first blow for independence" belongs to New Hampshire, is shown in the following very interesting rehearsal of unquestionable historical facts by a New York Herald correspondent who wrote from Durham, N. H., during the "Yorktown week:"

From this little village, on a bitter cold night of December, 1774, started the expedition that began the war of the Revolution; and of that band of brave men one of the bravest fell at Yorktown, the long struggle for independence being virtually at an end. While the country celebrates the anniversary of that final conflict it is fitting that the events of the first decisive step of the war be recalled. The last survivor of Sullivan's expedition died here barely a score and a half years ago, and there are yet living in the village gray haired men who heard from their fathers' lips the story of that night, so pregnant with momentous events. To John Sullivan, lawyer of Durham and major general of the Continental army, Chief Justice Peter Livius wrote in 1777:—"You were the first man in active rebellion, and drew with you the Province you live in. You will be one of the first sacrifices to the justice and resentment of government; your family will be ruined, and you must die with ignominy." It was the capture of Fort William & Mary, in Portsmouth harbor, to which the threat of the chief justice referred, and it was with the definite intention of capturing that fort and of carrying away its powder and cannon, in anticipation of the pending war, that John Sullivan and his men sailed from Durham on the night of December 13, 1774, four months before the battle of Lexington, and six months before Bunker Hill!

Paul Revere, who, four months later, brought to Lexington the news of the British march, was sent with all haste from Boston, December 12, 1774, with official despatches from the Massachusetts committee of safety to their brethren in the province of New Hampshire. The king in council had prohibited the exportation of military stores from England to the colonies, and orders were out to seize all munitions of war therein. Revere also brought the rumor that two British regiments were on their way to Portsmouth to occupy the town, and to reinforce the little garrison at the fort.

For months before, John Sullivan had been drilling a company at Durham Falls. In the preceding September he had been in Philadelphia as a delegate to the Continental Congress, and his pen had been active in urging his countrymen to withstand the aggressions of king and parliament. It is beyond doubt that he felt hostilities to be inevitable, and it is no less certain that the news with which Paul Revere rode along the Boston road determined him to instant action. That same day he sent couriers to the men of his company, scattered about the fields, and that night some twelve or fifteen of them gathered around the old church at the Falls, from whose pulpit they had six months been stirred to patriotic action should the necessity befall. In the river at the base of the hill was anchored a gondola—so called here, but as different from the graceful vessel of the Venetian canals as well may be. It is broad and flat bottomed, made for transporting brick and wood through shallow waters, and carrying a great lateen sail, but singularly seaworthy for its shape. The party soberly and quietly embarked. Among them was a young student in Sullivan's office, Alexander Scammell, afterward adjutant general of the Continental army, the valued friend of Washington, and beloved as few men were in the army. He bore himself gallantly in this first conflict of the war, was one of the heroes of Saratoga, and fell at Yorktown when reconnoitring the British works. It is told of him that he only of all Washington's intimates could make the grave soldier laugh. On that cold sail down the Piscataqua, through the harbor and to the fort, the traditions go that he relieved the solemn nature of the mission by gay quips and jokes.

At Portsmouth the party was reinforced by half a dozen men, under command of Captain John Langdon. Captain Eleazer Bennett, who died here thirty years ago, gave just before his death a brief but graphic account of the fight. The veteran was then over a hundred years old. He was still sturdy, well preserved and with all his faculties unimpaired. "I was working for Major Sullivan," he said, "when Micah Davis came up and told me Major Sullivan wanted me to go to Portsmouth and to get all the men I could to go with him. The men who went, as far as I can remember, were Major John Sullivan, Captain Winborn Adams, Ebenezer Thompson, John Demerlit, Alpheus and Jonathan Chesley, John Spencer, Micah Davis, Isaac and Benjamin Small, of Durham; Ebenezer Sullivan, Captain Langdon and Thomas Pickering, of Portsmouth; John Griffin, James Underwood and Alexander Scammell. We took a gondola belonging to Benjamin Mathes, who was too old to go, and went down the river to Portsmouth. It was a cold, clear moonlight night. We sailed down to the fort at the mouth of Piscataqua harbor. The water was so shallow that we could not bring the boat within a rod of shore. We waded through the water in perfect silence, mounted the fort, suprised the garrison and bound the captain. In the fort we found 100 casks of powder and 100 small arms, which we brought down to the boat. In wading through the water it froze upon us."

The Best Remedy for Chapped Hands Is Hegeman's Camphor Ice. It should be rubbed upon the part affected. The warmth of the skin will soften it sufficiently, under ordinary circumstances, but in extreme cold weather, it may be necessary to warm it by the fire. If the hands are badly chapped, apply every night, and protect the hands by wearing an old pair of kid gloves. Hegeman's is the best and most popular of all the Camphor Ices made. Hegeman's Camphor Ice is also a cure for sore lips, chapped face, and sunburn. It is compounded with glycerine, which renders it more emollient than any other Camphor Ice; it will be found a most soothing application to the face after shaving.

The recent scout of Lieut. Mills through New Mexico develops the fact that there are no hostile Indians within its boundaries.

A Remarkable Coincidence. It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first case the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

Naval Affairs.

Passed Assistant Engineer John A. Tobin, U. S. N., who went to Glasgow to attend the International exhibition there, returned on the "City of Rome" last week. He will present an interesting report to the bureau of steam engineering. He was highly successful in obtaining important information from foreign governments relative to proposed new naval constructions, and it has been a long time since any officer has rendered so valuable service to the government of this kind. He will now report on the exhibition of marine architecture and enginery, held at Glasgow, which he attended.

Capt. A. W. Weaver has been ordered to command the United States steamship Brooklyn; Lieutenant George B. Livingston is placed on waiting orders; Lieutenant J. F. Meigs is ordered to duty at the Naval Academy; Midshipman Thomas Snowden and Midshipman John A. Bell are ordered to the U. S. S. Brooklyn, November 10th. Assistant Paymaster Thomas J. Cowie is ordered to settle accounts; Passed Assistant Engineer George W. Baird is ordered to duty in charge of the machinery of the Montauk and Passaic; Assistant Engineer T. J. Hoffman, is placed on waiting orders.

Lieutenant-Commander Charles M. Anthony has been detached from the command of the U. S. S. Manhattan and ordered to the U. S. S. Brooklyn, November 10th.

Lieutenant D. G. McRitchie, is detached from the command of the Mayflower, and placed on waiting orders.

Commander Robert F. Bradford, attached to this naval station, has been appointed captain in the navy, from October 15th, 1881, vice McCrea deceased.

Lieutenant A. H. Vail, Master J. J. Hanker and Midshipman William R. Rush have been ordered to examination for promotion. Lieutenant John D. Keeler has been detached from the command of the Speedwell, and placed on waiting orders; Surgeon Joseph B. Parker from the Wachusett, and ordered to return home; Surgeon William H. Jones from the receiving ship Franklin, and ordered to the Wachusett at Sitka. Second Lieutenant S. H. Jackson, U. S. M. C., is ordered to duty on the Brooklyn.

Captain P. C. Pope, commanding marine guard, and First-Lieutenant Richard Wallack, were detached from the Trenton on the 27th ult., and ordered to proceed home and report arrival.

Lieutenant Frederick Collins, U. S. N., died Oct. 27th of typhoid fever. Lieutenant Collins was born in Maine, and entered the naval academy in 1863. He was graduated in 1867, and for two years he was attached to the Franklin, of the European fleet. He was made an ensign in 1868. From 1869 to 1871 he was attached to the Darien expedition. He became a master in 1870 and a lieutenant in 1871. Since 1873 Lieutenant Collins had been attached to the naval academy, the Darien and coast surveys, and the training-ship Saratoga.

Commodore Shufeldt is cruising on the coast of China in the yacht of the Viceroy, Li Hung, with two Chinese naval officers, for the purpose of locating naval stations. He hopes to organize an Imperial system of naval administration to take the place of the present barbaric methods of governing, equipping and paying the Chinese naval service. Lieutenant Mannix has been made a mandarin, and is busily engaged in studying the Chinese language preparatory to his work as an instructor in naval science.

Secretary Hunt has forwarded an official letter of thanks to Rear-Admiral Wyman, as commander of the fleet at Yorktown, for the admirable conduct and appearance of the officers and men of the navy on the occasion of the recent celebration.

At the Washington navy yard, on the afternoon of Oct. 28th, a disastrous explosion occurred in the fulminate room of the ordnance department. It was caused by the taking fire of a rocket, which one of the workmen was engaged in charging. The inner walls of the building were demolished. George Lawrence was instantly killed, and George W. Gates and Marion Thompson severely wounded.

News and Notes.

The U. S. Senate adjourned sine die on Saturday.

Stratton, who was nominated by Arthur as postmaster at Lynchburg, Va., was not confirmed, but it is reported that he will be appointed during the recess of the senate. A large number of nominations were confirmed, including many consuls, surveyors, and postmasters.

Ezra P. Cook and wife, an aged couple of Bellows Falls, Vt., were found dead in their house Oct. 28th. It is supposed the woman poisoned her husband while temporarily insane, and then killed herself.

The sentence of Martin Kinkowski, convicted of the murder of Mina Miller, has been postponed by Judge Knapp of Jersey City.

The Boston & Maine railroad will pay a dividend of four per cent, Nov. 15th.

Chinese advices state that an encounter took place September 15th, near Ningpo, between Chinese gunboats and pirates. Upwards of 200 pirates were slain, or drowned themselves. Nine were captured alive, and about seventy escaped. Eleven pirate boats were taken. The pirates were in shallow water. The gunboats, unable to get near them, lowered their boats and fought in them.

Steamer Lincoln, Bence master, from Melbourne, Australia, for Sydney, foundered at sea during a gale. All on board, twenty-two in number, perished.

The steamer Great Eastern, the original cost of which was $3,800,000, and which in its day was a sensation in its way, has been knocked down at auction sale for $150,000, being bought in by her owners. Her total cost to her successive owners since the laying of her keel in 1853, including her numberless repairs, has been somewhere near $25,000,000. She has done some occasional good service, as in the laying of Atlantic cables and in the transportation of troops, but has been pecuniarily a bad bargain from the beginning. She is not only the largest steamer ever launched, but promises on account of her unprofitableness, to enjoy that distinction for all time. The largest of the passenger steamers since built are less than one-half the size of the Great Eastern. What disposition her owners now propose to make of this leviathan remains to be seen.

A procession, in Buenos Ayres, in honor of the memory of President Garfield, numbered over 10,000 persons. All along the west cost of South America the demonstrations were solemn and profound.

Allen Johnson, colored, aged about twenty-five, was hung at Charlotte, N. C., Friday, for the murder, under most brutal circumstances and for a few cents, of a blind old negro man named Crump, about the last of January, 1880.

As the treasurer of Beaver county, Pa., was opening his safe last Friday morning, he was knocked down by two unknown men, and $13,000 of county funds abstracted from the safe. The robbers escaped with their booty, without any clue to their identity.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of decolorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

The superiority of Burnett's Flavoring Extracts consists in their perfect purity and great strength.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, Oct. 29; Batchelder J.

A large number of citizens, many of them being of a different class from the ordinary police court attendants, mustered at the city building Saturday forenoon, in anticipation of a grand circus over the cases against Daniel Mason, Clarence Mason and James Robbins, for brawl and tumult, and against Daniel Mason for profane swearing. But the entertainment was exceedingly brief, and not at all according to the programme, for on motion of the city solicitor all the complaints were nol. pros'd, and the defendants discharged. This "most lame and impotent conclusion" of one act in the anti-Masonic war we regard as an outrage on the rights of the press; we had confidently counted on giving to our readers, Monday morning, five columns of police court report, thrilling enough for yellow covers; and to be disappointed in this manner is quite too utterly much.

Charles Allen, Frederick Turner and John Laffin, for drunkenness, were each assessed $9.90, fine and costs. George Wilson, another drunk, was fined $5, costs $6.90. Laffin and Allen went to Brentwood; Turner and Wilson went to jail.

"THE MASCOT."

On Tuesday evening the noted Grayson Opera company, direct from the Boston Museum and Globe Theatre, Boston, will produce their famous opera of the "Mascot," which has made them so popular with the musical public. The Boston Globe says:

A large audience was present last evening at the Globe theatre to witness the production of "The Mascot" by the Grayson Opera company. That Miss H. E. H. Carter, who appeared in her original role of Bettina, is a great favorite here was attested by the good class of people present, and also the enthusiastic reception she received on her appearance. She sang the music of Bettina as she can only sing it, making more of it than any exponent of the role we have heard. Her pure, sweet soprano voice seems exactly suited to the music of this part. In the second act she introduced the song of the "Skylark," by Benedict, and received an enthusiastic encore.

In connection with the opera are the Boston Church Choir Chorus, the St. George Quartette, and the Schillerbund Sextette. Reserved seats are now on sale at Preston's.

THE ANTI-MASONIC WAR.

Another phase was put on this appalling conflict, Saturday, when the army which under the lead of the city authorities won so glorious a victory Friday evening, "backed down" in the police court and withdrew from the further persecution of the Masonic hosts, the prisoners of war being discharged. It is said that Mr. Mason was afterward requested by the leaders of the municipal forces to take charge of the boards captured by the victorious legions on the previous evening, but positively declined to either carry them back or allow them to be brought back. The hole dug on Friday evening by the street men, partly or wholly on the disputed territory, for a cess pool, was still in its place on Sunday, and full of water. The Times of Saturday evening had the following comment on this affair:

The result of this war is looked for with considerable interest by our citizens, who are now beginning to consider the merits of the case. It is simply a question of whether the city has a right to appropriate and fill up a dock which has for years been used in common by several parties. The whole matter, from the beginning, seems to have been conducted in a very unbusinesslike manner, in no way creditable to the city authorities, who, by their action, will undoubtedly involve the city in the needless expense of several thousand dollars, at least more than would have been required to purchase the disputed territory had an attempt been made. Should a suit against the city come out of this piece of boy's-play, legal questions of considerable importance will come up which will put money into the pockets of the lawyers at the expense of the city.

AROUND HOME.

The farmers of Newington are buying quite largely, for fertilizing their land, leached wood ashes brought by rail from Michigan. This article costs two cents a bushel at the shipping points in Michigan, and the Newington farmers pay fourteen cent a bushel for it, the freight charges bringing it up to that price. A thousand bushels have already been delivered, and more is on the way.

The Newburyport Herald of Oct. 28th says: "The Leighton Brothers propose building six new cottages at the Isles of Shoals, Appledore island. Two of them are already finished."

The Eastern railroad has just completed two stand pipes at the station in Newburyport, for the purpose of supplying the locomotives with water. The water is furnished by the Newburyport Water company, and was let on for the first time last Thursday, on which day three engines took supplies from the pipes, the engineers being well pleased with the working of the water.

One brig and thirteen schooners, nearly all from coal ports, arrived at this port on Saturday. Among the number were the schooner Ada A. Kennedy, with 1001 tons of coal to J. Albert Walker,—a vessel that would have been a big ship forty years ago,—and ten schooners bound to Dover, one of them from Rockland, Me., and the rest from coal ports.

"Rev." A. A. Waite gave an expose of Spritualism at Merrimac, Mass., last week, with "Nellie Everett." who last winter figured as a medium, to assist him. Great is humbug.

The New Hampshire State Teachers' Association will hold a convention at Franklin hall in this city on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Dec. 21st, 22d and 23d.

John Harriman of Boston, a bachelor of large property, died in 1878, leaving Charles E. Wiggin of Boston his residuary legatee. The last years of Harriman's life were spent at the Elm house in South Newmarket, kept by Miss Ann Wiggin, a sister of Mr. Wiggin; and suits have now been brought by a relative of Harriman against Wiggin in the Massachusetts court to recover $150,000, and in the United States court for $100,000, the plaintiff alleging that Wiggin secured Harriman's signature to a will while the testator was of unsound mind, and that base influences were used to produce or aggravate the mental derangement for this purpose.——James S. Wiggin, for many years engaged in business at Boston, but of late a resident of South Newmarket, was stricken with paralysis last Thursday in the Elm house, where he boarded, and will probably die.

An additional contribution of $128 for the benefit of the Michigan sufferers, by the South Parish in this city, has been acknowledged by Kidder, Peabody & Co.

Coal freights from Baltimore to this port were last week quoted at $1.80; to Salem, Mass., $1.90.

A pair of six-year-old cattle, raised in Wells, Me., and weighing 3800 lbs., were sold in this city on Saturday for $1.75; another pair weighing 3200 lbs., were sold for $140.

The Eastern railroad is putting in a side track and scales, on Noble's island.

The four gas-posts for the corners of the custom-house lot were placed in position last week. The recent action of the board of mayor and aldermen in unanimously voting to accept the offer of the treasury department to put up four ornamental posts and lamps provided the city would furnish gas for the same, reminds an old ox-alderman that a similar proposition was made by the department many years ago, either while the custom house was in course of erection or soon after its completion, and was rejected by the board of aldermen on the score of economy, though our informant and one or two others voted in favor of its acceptance.

G. Harrison Jenness, Esq., of Rye, went on a gunning excursion to the beach on Saturday, for the first time this season, and captured part of a charge of shot from the gun of a young man belonging in Greenland. He was hit in the body, one arm, the neck and one ear, and was very much annoyed. The bits of lead were picked out by a Portsmouth doctor.

Mr. Oscar G. Sawyer, secretary to Commodore Beaumont, who commands this naval station, represented the New York Herald at Yorktown. The dispatches which he forwarded were very full and interesting.

Wilbur Guilbault alias William Gilbert, and Henry Whittingham, the men arrested in this city on the evening of Oct. 22d, and taken to Biddeford by a deputy sheriff from Kennebunk on suspicion that they had been concerned in numerous burglaries, were on Thursday last discharged from custody in Biddeford, as no proof of guilt could be adduced against them.

An old gentleman from York, Me., a farmer, fell out of his wagon at the north end of Market street, Saturday afternoon, striking his forehead heavily on the ground, and being considerably hurt. He was partially stunned for a while, but finally recovered sufficiently to proceed to his home.

About three o'clock Saturday morning, in Greenland, some person attempted to enter the house of Geo. T. Ball through a chamber window by placing a ladder against the side of the house. Miss Effie Furber, Capt. Ball's niece, who was in charge of the house, Capt. Ball being away, took a revolver from under her pillow, raised the window, and fired at the man, who hastily retreated. Miss Furber is confident that she hit the man in the arm.

James E. White, said to belong in Augusta, Me., bought a lot of household furniture of B. F. Haley at Newmarket recently, agreeing to pay for it at a fixed time. When the bill became due White was not to be found, and his landlady laid claim to the goods, which are still in her possession. Similar transactions are reported on the part of White at Great Falls and other places, involving several hundred dollars.

A young man named Sturtevant, nineteen years old, belonging in Portland, was arrested in that city last week by Deputy Sheriff Murray of Springvale, from whom he had hired a team some days before to go to Alfred, as he said, but instead drove through to Portland. Sturtevant on being arrested confessed that he was one of the gang of thieves who have recently been operating in Biddeford and vicinity, and that the two men arrested in this city also belonged to the gang; but before the news of his confession had been received in Biddeford, the two fellows had been released. Sturtevant was lodged in Alfred jail.

FELLOWS' Compound Syrup of HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

After numerous experiments Mr. Fellows succeeded in producing this combination of Hypophosphites, which has not only restored him to health, but has since been found so successful in the treatment of disease emanating from loss of nerve power, and consequently muscular relaxation, viz:

Aphonia (loss of voice),	Neuralgia,
Anæmia,	Nervous debility,
Chronic Diarrhœa,	Whooping Cough,
Dyspepsia,	Congestion of the Lungs,
Fever and Ague,	Palpitation of the Heart,
Leucorrhœa,	Melancholy,
Malaria,	Mental Depression,
	Sleeplessness.

MALARIA.

Persons living in Malarious districts may protect themselves from attacks of fever by the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. Its powers in toning up the system enable us to ward off contagious disorders, and successfully combat malaria.

The soluble phosphates and the other Elements entering into our well known Hypophosphites are so skillfully incorporated and so perfectly assimilated, that their combined action supplies the required nourishment to impaired vitality, enough and nearly equal to restoring health to the feeble, and to keep the healthy in vigorous condition. Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites has been found a most efficacious and agreeable tonic in the hands of experienced and of a permanent character.

New Hampshire Items.

Hon. T. P. O'Connor, M. P., addressed an immense audience at Smyth's opera house, Manchester, on the evening of Oct. 28th, on the Irish question. On the stage were ex-governors Smythe, Weston and Cheney, editors Clarke of the Mirror and Moore of the Union, Rev. W. H. Leavell of the Baptist church, and many prominent citizens.

In Rochester, Oct. 27th, an old lady named Smith was knocked down by a goat, which butted her after she was down, breaking one of her arms and several ribs. Her life is in danger from her injuries.

Col. George E. Wentworth, a native of Alstead, and nephew of John Wentworth of Chicago, died at Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 15th. He enlisted as a private in the Massachusetts thirteenth regiment, rose to the rank of captain, and was appointed to the lieutenant colonelcy of the eighteth United States colored regiment. He was severely wounded in one battle, and carried to his grave one bullet that could not be extracted.

The house of George Hanson at Mt. Pleasant, Dover, was burned Oct. 28th. Loss $1000; fully insured.

George Prescott stabbed himself for unrequited love in Manchester on Wednesday, Oct. 26th, and the chances are that, as his throat and lungs are badly cut, he will die.

The "old mill store" at Milford, owned and occupied by Gilson & Kendall, grain and grocery dealers, was robbed Thursday night. The safe was blown open and ruined. The robbers got nothing but a little coin. The report was heard over the square. The fire alarm was sounded, and soon the whole town was in a state of excitement, but all search failed to discover the perpetrators. One corner of the store was set on fire, and a large hole burned through the floor.

Isaac Blaisdell of East Rochester, who while at work on his house not long ago fell from the staging to the ground and broke his back, died in great agony a few days later.

Oscar Drake, a Lake Village lad aged thirteen years, had the left side of his face and neck shot away by the premature discharge of a gun with which he was out shooting on Oct. 22d, but the accident had not as yet proved fatal on the 28th.

D. C. Murphy, J. G. Linsley and Henry J. Knowlton are the names of the three men who are to spend the coming winter on top of Mt. Washington. The first two have had the same situation for several years, but this is Knowlton's first winter.

A million dollars fire occurred at Manilla, Sept. 13th.

Mr. Charles Townsend, of Sedalia, Mo., had rheumatism of the worst kind. A sea trip was a failure as to renewing his health, and he was going home to die. An ex-consul of Great Britain advised the use of St. Jacobs Oil, with the result of curing him in two days.

At Lawrence, Mass., Friday, in the case of Dr. Green of Lynn, indicted for criminal malpractice in procuring an abortion, the jury returned a verdict of guilty, and Green was sentenced to two years in state prison.

He Told the Truth!

I was troubled with liver complaint for years, and suffered terribly. Lake, the druggist, advised me to take Sulphur Bitters. I took three bottles and am now a well man.—Manufacturer, Waterbury.

Thursday morning of last week the Temperance league of North Bennington, Vt., caused every saloon, hotel and grog shop to be raided at the same time, with the result that the liquor dealers were taken entirely by surprise, and a large quantity of the ardent was seized.

From John F. Wyman, Postmaster, South China, Me.

Too much cannot be said of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam, as it is the best remedy for coughs, colds, etc., that I have ever seen, and to its wonderful effects I owe my recovery. It is well worthy of praise, and I would advise all to use it who are afflicted.

Prof. E. N. Swormsterdt, the Cincinti prophet, has fixed the 12th of next month for the end of the world. Swormsterdt is a son of the celebrated poet and writer of Methodist hymns, who was formerly conected with the Methodist Book Concernin New York.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching, accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a sure cure that won't work both ways.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 6000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

SULPHUR BITTERS
THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE
It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clear and smooth. These Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by Impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great Blood purifier,
SULPHUR BITTERS.
Why suffer with Rheumatism? Why let your blood become so impure? Why let your system be racked with that terrible Disease? Why let your Liver get torpid? Why let Dyspepsia undermine your health? Why let Costiveness make you miserable? Why let Nervousness make life a burden? Why let Sick Headache, Jaundice, Dizziness, Dry Skin, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tetter, Ringworm, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Ulcers, Sores, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Mercurial Disease, Dropsy, Nervous Complaints, Female Weakness, Sick Headache, Constipation, Kidney Complaints, Gravel, Diabetes, Brain Disease, Mania, Melancholy, Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout, Erysipelas, Piles, Fistula and maintaining the New Hampshire troops, having then received nothing for his personal services—he resigned and returned to his home in Durham, soon to go back to Philadelphia as delegate to the Congress. John Langdon, "after gallant service in the war and priceless service in its civil support," became Governor and the first President of the Senate of the United States. Alexander Scammell fell at Yorktown when adjutant general of the army. Winborn Adams was lieutenant when he fell at Stillwater. In October, 75, Thomas Pickering, with a large band of picked men, captured the British merchant ship Prince George in Portsmouth harbor, and fell in an engagement with an East Indiamen of thirty-two guns. Others of the party fought from the beginning to the end of the war.

"I can highly recommend the well known German remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, to all afflicted with either rheumatism or neuralgia, as it has never failed to cure," writes Mr. F. Hubn, 803 H street, N. E., Washington, D. C.

The British ship Omba, from Batavia bound for Melbourne, Australia, foundered in a gale, and all hands were lost.

Proof Everywhere.

If any invalid or sick person has the least doubt of the power and efficacy of Hop Bitters to cure them, they can find cases exactly like their own in their own neighborhood, with proof positive that they can be easily and permanently cured, at a trifling cost—or ask your druggist or physician.

GREENWICH, Feb. 11th, 1880.

Hop Bitters Co.—Sirs—I was given up by the doctors to die of scrofula consumption. Two bottles of your Bitters cured me. LEROY BREWER.

Twelve deaths from yellow fever occurred at Havana last week.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

Rev. J. M. Spargrove hung himself to a bedpost in Pittsburg, Pa., Sunday evening. He was sixty years old, and financial troubles caused his suicide.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

Mrs. Charles Bethune was burned to death at her home on Cuskel river, N. S., last Friday, through her clothes taking fire while she was warming herself. Her infant was so badly burned that both feet and one hand had to be cut off.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

Allen Henderson got into a brawl with two companions, Sunday morning, in a saloon at St. Louis, Mo., and fired three shots at them; he missed his mark each time, but shot one bystander dead, and fatally wounded another. He was arrested.

The fever-stricken invalid who may have had his recovery retarded by infantile weakness will rapidly recover under the influence of Fellows' Hypophosphites. The yellow-visaged sufferer from fever and ague can calculate on a speedy and permanent recovery from his disease after all else fails.

The ship County of Aberdeen, which arrived at San Francisco Oct. 30th from Rio Janeiro, reports that on Aug. 9th, in the south Atlantic ocean, she passed ten floating corpses. Some of them, from their clothing, appeared to be seamen; others were nude.

The Results of Necessity.

What the ancients suffered for the want of knowledge in medical science, can only be appreciated by contrasting the vast amount of suffering cured and pain alleviated in modern times, by the use of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases. Its introduction was characterized by the necessary withdrawal of a score or more of illusive, quack nostrums, whose evil effects have left living monuments to denounce them. Thus is exemplified the proverb, necessity is the mother of invention.

A Big "Irregularity."

The Mechanics' national bank, of Newark, N. J., closed its doors early in the forenoon, Oct. 31st. It was considered the strongest bank in Newark, the stock standing at 180. The cashier, Oscar L. Baldwin, confesses that he has stolen over $2,600,000.

Naval Affairs.

First. Lieut. F. D. Webster, U. S. M. C., is ordered to the marine barracks at Brooklyn.

Comdr. A. H. McCormack is detached from duty in the bureau of ordnance, and ordered to command the Essex. Lieut. U. R. S. Mackenzie is detached from the League island navy yard, and ordered to the Essex as executive. Lieut. Wainwright Kellogg is detached from the Michigan, and Lieut. Karl Rohner from the Washington navy yard, and ordered to the Essex. Lieutenants W. H. Parker and C. P. Rees, Surgeon M. L. Ruth, Passed Asst. Paymaster Lewis A. Yorke, Chief Engineer D. T. McCartney, and Asst. Engr. F. I. Hoffman, are ordered to the same vessel.

News and Notes.

A lady school teacher in Georgetown, Mass., a day or two since had occasion to correct a refractory pupil, when he drew a loaded pistol and aimed it at her. She ran into the street, and met a committee man who entered the school and captured the dime novel hero, who was at once expelled.

Charles Thurston, a merchant of West Randolph, Vt., was robbed in one of the principal streets of that town on Saturday evening by two masked highwaymen, who knocked him down, and stole a trunk containing valuable papers and $150 in specie. Mr. Thurston was badly injured and there is no clue to the thieves.

Over twenty persons fainted in the North church at Lynn, Mass., last Sunday, from the effect of coal gas.

New Orleans has an original idea. The work of extinguishing fires in that city has been let to the Firemen's Charitable Association for five years, for $100,000 per year.

John Bennett of Boothbay, Me., mate of a Maine vessel, died in Boston and was sent home for interment. The coffin was opened in church, at the funeral, and a number of blotches on the face of the corpse were noticed at the time, but none knew the cause. Since then two brothers of the deceased have been taken ill with the small-pox, and it is feared that the contagion may be quite largely sown between Boston and Boothbay, especially at the latter place, where the coffin was opened.

It is said that Postmaster General James has approved a plan for sending small remittances at a cheap rate through the mails. Cards of two denominations will be issued, one for all sums within $2.50, the other for sums within $5. Figures specifying the amount of remittance will be punched out by the postmaster selling the card, which will be transmitted in a sealed envelope, and the receiver can cash it at any office. The $2.50 card will sell at a premium of two or three cents, and the $5 card at four or five cents. The possibility of fraud on the part of the purchaser of the card is effectually guarded against. These cards will be a great convenience, something of the kind having been badly needed ever since the fractional paper currency was called in.

Immigrants have been pouring into the country for the last three months at the rate of almost 2000 a day—171,803 in ninety days. Notwithstanding the turmoil in Ireland, less than ten per cent of the total immigration is Irish,—16,961; the English, Scotch and Welsh number nearly 30,000, the Germans 59,000, Canadians 19,000, and Swedes 13,659.

A weather prophet named E. J. Couch offers direful predictions for November in the columns of the New York Sun. There will be a continuous succession of storms during the first half, with short and sharp oscillations of temperature, ending with Arctic waves. After the 12th snowfalls will be general. Other phenomena promised include heavy gales brilliant auroras, and earthquakes at unusual places. Couch is evidently trying to make himself as unpopular as possible.

"The story of Four Acorns." By Alice B. Engle, Ill. Boston: D. Lothrop & Co. Price $1.00. Children who like fairy stories will find in this handsome volume a fountain of delight. The author possesses rare talent for interesting the young, and has here turned it to the best advantage. She has furnished a fascinating story, and has ingeniously woven into it bits of poetry and song from famous authors which will find easy entrance into the mind and create an appetite for more. The illustrations are among Miss Lathbury's best, and do their part toward making the volume attractive.

An earthquake was felt in Contoocook, Henniker and Hillsborough, about 1:40 o'clock in the morning, Oct. 31st.

The police authorities of Manchester on Saturday arrested Henry Noyes, Amasa A. Allen, J. G. Davis and Al Rowe for a lot of burglaries extending over the counties of Rockingham, Hillsborough and Merrimack. Allen has recently served a term in the state prison. A large amount of stolen property was recovered.

A case of fatal poisoning by Paris green occurred in Auburn a few days since, evidently a premeditated suicide. The young woman had been an invalid for more than a year, and her mind was doubtless impaired by the disease, which led to the fatal act. Her age was nineteen years. Dr. Chesley, of Chester, was called upon to investigate the facts in the case, and reported to the selectmen of the town, as follows: "That said Francetta S. Barrett died from the effects of Paris green, taken by her own hand, with the intent to commit suicide."

Newell Eaton of Seabrook, fifteen years old, was shot in the mouth on Saturday by Joseph Brown, a boy of about the same age, and had his lower lip perforated, several teeth knocked out, and a hole two inches deep made under his tongue. A double tooth was taken out of the wound under the tongue, but the bullet could not be found, and Eaton is supposed to have swallowed it. One account of the affair is that Eaton was attempting to take the pistol away from Brown; another one is that the boys were in a "grocery" with a number of others, talking about highwaymen, when Brown drew a revolver, said "Here's what I should do, if a man was to tackle me on a dark night," and fired.

Ephraim Chase, a much respected citizen of Hampstead, fell from the roof of his house last Friday, and died shortly.

—An old fellow whose daughter had failed to secure a position as teacher, in consequence of not passing an examination, said: "They asked her lots of things she didn't know. Look at the history questions! They asked her about things that happened before she was born! How was she going to know about them? Why, they asked her about old George Washington and other men she never knew? That was a pretty sort of examination!"

Price of Milk.

WE understand the milkmen of the city have come to an agreement among themselves to charge their customers six cents a quart for milk, commencing Nov. 1. They do this in consequence of the increase in the prices of provisions generally and the greater cost of production in the winter season. This is the price in other cities.

FELLOWS'

Compound Syrup of

HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

After numerous experiments Mr. Fellows succeeded in producing this combination of Hypophosphites, which has not only restored him to health, but has since been found so successful in the treatment of disease emanating from loss of nerve power, and consequently muscular relaxation, viz:

Aphonia (loss of voice),	Neuralgia,
Anæmia,	Nervous debility,
Chronic Diarrhœa,	Whooping Cough,
Dyspepsia,	Congestion of the Lungs,
Fever and Ague,	Palpitation of the Heart,
Leucorrhœa,	Melancholy,
Malaria,	Mental Depression,
	Nervousness.

MALARIA.

Persons living in Malarious districts may protect themselves from attacks of fever by the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. Its effects in toning up the system enables us to ward off contagious disorders, and successfully combat disease.

The soluble phosphites and the other life-sustaining principles composing Fellows' Hypophosphites are so carefully proportioned and so judiciously mingled, that their action upon the nerves, muscles and membranes in imparting vitality, strength and healthy action is generally apparent within twenty four hours, and the good effects experienced are of a permanent character.

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI REUNION.

At an adjourned meeting of the officers of the High School Alumni Association on Monday afternoon, it was decided to hold the reunion on Friday evening, Nov. 25th. The literary and musical exercises will be held in the Franklin theatre, and will probably consist of selections by Harlow's orchestra, a short address by a prominent graduate residing in Massachusetts, selections by a well known lady vocalist, reading of an original poem by a recent graduate, and select readings and other literary exercises by members of the association. At the close of the exercises in the theatre the members will adjourn the Franklin dance hall, where a reception will be held, and will be followed by dancing.

The annual election of officers of the association will be held on the evening following the reunion.

Certificates of membership may be obtained by any person who has ever attended the High School and who has not joined the association, on the payment of one dollar admission fee to the treasurer, Geo. E. Hodgdon, Esq., or to the chair man of the directors, Mr. Chas. A. Hazlett. These certificates will entitle the holders to an equal number of admission tickets, which will be delivered to the old and new members a few days previous to the reunion.

"THE COLONEL."

"The Colonel," at the Boston Museum, is drawing large houses. The play is suggested by what is termed the "æsthetic craze," which has taken a strong hold upon many people. It is well brought out, and the cast at the Museum makes the most that can be produced from the comedy.

Mr. Warren has a part analagous to his personification of the Rev. Aminidab Sleek in the Serious Family. Miss Bartlett has a leading part, one requiring much tact in presenting just far enough the author's idea; the general verdict is that she has made a decided hit, and her representation of Olive is commended alike by press and people.

Mr. and Miss Bayley, from the London stage, are accomplished in their long-familiar parts. The comedy has had a run of over 250 nights in London, and of course it is one of the things to be seen by all who desire to be apace with the times. Queen Victoria attended a representation of this play, the first theatre performance she had visited since 1859.

The Eastern railroad will run a low-priced excursion train from Rochester, Great Falls, Dover and Portsmouth on Saturday, with return tickets good till Monday evening, giving an opportunity to visit the fair, and as well the theatres and churches.

AROUND HOME.

To-day, Nov. 1st, is the Feast of All Saints, one of the most beautiful days in the Christian calendar, set apart by the church not only for the commemoration of the glorious army of Apostles, martyrs and other holy saints, but of the whole "innumerable company" which includes, so many who have passed from our sight whose memory is precious to us, and who having "fought the good fight" do "rest from their labors." To many hearts, therefore, the significance of this festival must find its way, and affection will make it, indeed, what it is in church's the calendar, "a holy day of obligation."

COM.

This evening, at Music hall, the Grayson Opera Co. will present "The Mascot," with Helen E. H. Carter in her great part of Bettinia, the Boston church choir chorus, and the same cast that first produced the opera in this country. Tickets at Preston's drug store.

Engine No. 64, drawing a freight train, jumped the track at the switch near Call's lumber yard at one o'clock on Monday afternoon, and one car followed. No serious damage was done, and the track was soon cleared by the wreckers.

One hundred and twenty-five shares in the Eastern railroad sold at the brokers' board in Boston on Saturday, at $51 per share; 158 shares sold at $50 to $50.75 per share.

The Lynn, Mass., correspondent of the Boston Globe writes that paper as follows: "Two young people residing on Pearl street eloped last Thursday, and have returned to Lynn, man and wife. The lady, who is only seventeen years of age, had been keeping company with the young man for some time, but her parents were opposed to the match, and refused to allow her to be married. On Thursday morning last the young lady quietly left home, and, joining her intended, the couple proceeded to Portsmouth, N. H., where they were married by a local clergyman. The lady then notified the paternal head of her family of what she had done, and the couple returned to Lynn the day following, but were not accorded a very hearty reception. It is said that the girl's father is willing to receive her, but will not allow his son-in-law to enter his house."

Mr. Warren Keen and his gang of carpenters came in on Saturday from the Shoals, where they have been engaged in building a breakwater, and on other heavy jobs, at Appledore. Work has been suspended until spring. Mr. Keen will immediately commence work at the erection of coal pockets for C. E. Walker & Co.

Invitations have been issued to the former patrons of the roller-skating rink to the re-opening of the rink at Franklin hall on Thursday evening, Nov. 3d, under the same management as last year. The exercise is a healthy one and the invited guests anticipate an enjoyable evening.

The train from Boston due in this city at ten minutes before seven o'clock Monday evening had not arrived at half-past eight, owing to accident an of some kind on the road.

The Journal of Summerside, Prince Edward's island, of date Oct. 27th, announces the arrival at that place on Oct. 25th of the schooner Maud B. Wetherell, Hontvet master, from this port with apples. The same paper announces the presence of N. F. Mathes, Esq., of this city, on the island, and his intention to remain there a month or so.

We regret to learn that Mr. Haven L. Scott, superintendent of the county farm, is quite ill.

Major Abbott of Dover has invited the Strafford Guards of that city, the Cadets of Great Falls, and the City Guards of Portsmouth, to have their next inspections at Dover—to close with a supper and a grand ball in the evening. The Portsmouth company has voted to accept the generous invitation.

The U. S. S. Omaha was successfully docked at the navy yard on Monday, preparatory to being hauled out on the marine railway. She will be in a very different condition from the present, when she is again floated.

Judge Folger, late chief justice of the court of appeals of New York state, and now secretary of the United States treasury, spent several weeks at the Marshall house, York harbor, last season.

At Conway Junction, South Berwick, Oct. 30th, Arthur Pierce, seventeen years old, accidentally shot Isaac Packard, a boy about the same age, killing him almost instantly.

A young wife in York, eighteen years old, on Sunday last gave birth to three lively boys. The better the day the better the deed.

Owing to the prevalence of small-pox in Biddeford and Saco, the Pepperell and Laconia manufacturing companies are insisting upon the vaccination of their employes.

Buyers from this city have been through Kittery, Eliot and York, purchasing all the cabbages they could find, and shipping them to Baltimore by rail from Kittery depot. Alexander Thompson of York sold his field of cabbages, estimated to contain 100 dozen plants, for $87.50.

The steamer which is to run between Portsmouth and York next season will carry about one hundred passengers, and a landing will be prepared for her near Roaring rock.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 450 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. sep15,82

—A Texas man was lynched for riding a mule on Sunday. It was another man's mule, by the way.

—Virgil Briggs of Aiken, S. C., set forth to slay his brother, and in the darkness he fell upon Jabez Franklyn by mistake, and got the most awful wallopping he ever got in his life. And as Franklyn wasn't a man who wastes words he said nothing during the combat, and Briggs felt tremendously impressed with his brother's fighting powers, and the next day amazed that brother by asking his forgiveness.

THE SURGEON'S KNIFE.

Mr. Simeon Tistsell, of Sangerfield, N. Y., had been treated for seven years by various physicians for what they called Stricture of the Urethra, without benefit. He finally consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who found his trouble to be Urinary Calculi or Stones in the Bladder. The doctor at once removed the foreign bodies with the knife and then gave his great Blood Specific, "Favorite Remedy," to prevent their reformation. The entire treatment was eminently successful, and Mr. Tistsell's recovery was rapid and perfect.
While "Favorite Remedy" is a specific in all kidney and bladder diseases, it is equally valuable in cases of bilious disorders, constipation of the bowels, and all the ills of life apparently inseparable from the constitutions of women. Try it. Your druggist has it, and its cost is only dollar a bottle. The lucky man is he who puts this advice in practice. Don't forget the name and address, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. The Doctor would have it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine, "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to office practice. He treats all diseases of a chronic character, and performs all the minor and capital operations of surgery.

DIRECTIONS.
For Catarrh, Hay Fever, Cold in the Head, etc., insert with little finger a particle of the Balm into the nostrils; draw strong breaths through the nose. It will be absorbed, cleansing and healing the diseased membrane.
FOR DEAFNESS,
Apply a particle into the ear.

ELYS' CREAM BALM
Having gained an enviable local reputation, displacing all other preparations in the vicinity of Discovery, has its merits place, recognized as a wonderful remedy. A fair trial will convince the most skeptical of its curative powers. It effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation and irritation, protects the membranal linings of the head from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment as directed will cure Catarrh. As a household remedy for cold in the head and snuffles it is unequalled. The Balm is easy to use and agreeable. Sold by all druggists at 50 cts. On receipt of 50 cts. will mail a package. Send for circular with full information.

The World Has Moved.

Hon. Frederick Douglass dined at Young's hotel, Boston, on Saturday, as the guest of the Middlesex club. After dinner Mr. Douglass briefly but very forcibly alluded to the vast change which had taken place since his early manhood, when the man who should have ventured to predict that the time would ever come in this country when a colored man, born in bondage, could dine at a first-class hotel as the honored guest of an aristocratic club, would have been regarded as the most visionary of madmen.

The New Secretary of the Treasury.

Judge Folger, now secretary of the treasury, was born in Nantucket in 1819. His father was a shipmaster, and his mother an English lady. His father removed to Rochester, New York, in 1831. The son was there admitted to the bar in 1840, or about that time, and rose rapidly in his profession. He was at one time county judge, and was elected and served several terms as state senator. During President Grant's administration he was offered the position to which he has now been chosen, but declined it. He was chosen by the people a judge of the court of appeals, the highest New York state court, some years ago; and recently, on the death of the chief justice, was chosen as his successor. In politics he has always been a republican, and belongs to what is known as the stalwart wing of the party.

Troubled Ireland.

Archbishop McCabe of Dublin has issued another pastoral to his people, in which he takes strong ground against the "no rent" manifesto of Parnell and the land league. Despite the land league's advice, the tenant farmers in many places are reported to be paying rent in large numbers, in accordance with the abatements, and many thousands are applying to the land commission to fix their rents. In other places, armed resistance to the police and the landlords' agents has been successful.

"The American Angler" is a new candidate for public favor, the first number having been issued Oct. 15th. It is published at No. 33 Park row, New York, and is devoted to the fishing interests—to "brook, lake, river and sea" fishing, and "fish culture." It is the only journal of the kind in America, and there is but one other (the "Fishing Gazette" of London, England,) published in the English language. The terms are $3 a year, single copies ten cents; and if the interest of the first number can be kept up, it will be of decided value to the anglers and fishermen of all sections.

Seven men and four women perished in the disaster to the steamer Jennie Gilchrist at Rock Island, Ill., last week.

There is a Balm in Gilead.
The success which has marked the introduction of Cream Balm, a catarrh remedy, prepared by Ely Bros., Owego, N. Y., is indeed marvelous. Many persons in Pittston and vicinity are using it with most satisfactory results. A lady down town is recovering the sense of smell, which she had not enjoyed for fifteen years, through the use of the Balm. She had given up her case as incurable. Mr. Barber, the druggist, has used it in his family and commends it very highly. In another column a young Tunkhannock lawyer, known to many of our readers, testifies that he was cured of partial deafness. It is certainly a very efficacious remedy.—Pittston, Pa., Gazette, Aug. 15, 1879.
Price 50 cents.

Mrs. Lorenstein, a lady of Winterport, Me., who was seriously hurt at Searsport recently while landing from the steamer Katahdin, has settled with the steamboat company for $2000 in full of all claims.

Suicide and Dyspepsia.

Mary Phipps fell down stairs in Lowell, Mass., Saturday night, and broke her neck.

A good Baptist clergyman of Bergen, N. Y., a strong temperance man, suffered with kidney trouble, neuralgia, and dizziness almost to blindness, over two years after he was told that Hop Bitters would cure him, because he was afraid of and prejudiced against "Bitters." Since his cure he says none need fear, but trust in Hop Bitters.

The flood in Illinois is higher than ever before known at this season of this year, and the highest on record except that during the spring freshet in 1851. The damage is enormous, all the levees having given way.

The Dangers of the Stock Market.
A man may be incredulous enough to risk his money in the fickle mysteries of a mercurial stock market, but when he gets the itching piles, he goes straight for Dr. Swayne's Ointment. Unlike the bulls and bears of the stock exchange, it will clean you out of hard earned cash, it refunds your money with interest, in the way of assuaging the intense itching, and insuring sweet repose.

Rheumatism
Neuralgia, Sprains,
Pain in the Back and Side.
There is nothing more painful than these diseases; but the pain can be removed and the disease cured by use of Perry Davis' Pain Killer.
This remedy is not a cheap Benzine or Petroleum product that must be kept away from fire or heat to avoid danger of explosion, nor is it an untried experiment that may do more harm than good.
Pain Killer has been in constant use for forty years, and the universal testimony from all parts of the world is, It never fails. It not only effects a permanent cure, but it relieves pain almost instantaneously. Being a purely vegetable remedy, it is safe in the hands of the most inexperienced.
The record of cures by the use of PAIN KILLER would fill volumes. The following extracts from letters received show what those who have tried it think:
Edgar Cady, Owatonna, Minn., says:
About a year since my wife became subject to severe attacks of rheumatism. Our recent was to the PAIN KILLER, which speedily relieved her.
Charles Powell writes from the Sailors' Home, London:
I had been afflicted three years with neuralgia and violent cramps of the stomach. The doctors at Westminster Hospital gave up my case in despair. I tried your PAIN KILLER, and it gave me immediate relief. I have regained my strength, and am now able to follow my usual occupation.
G. H. Walworth, Saco, Me., writes:
I experienced immediate relief from pain in the side by the use of your PAIN KILLER.
E. York says:
I have used your PAIN KILLER for rheumatism, and have received great benefit.
Barton Seaman says:
Have used PAIN KILLER for thirty years, and have found it a very reliable remedy for rheumatism and lameness.
Mr. Burditt writes:
It never fails to give relief in cases of rheumatism.
Phil. Gilbert, Somerset, Pa., writes:
From actual use, I know your PAIN KILLER is the best medicine I can get.
All druggists keep PAIN KILLER. Its price is so low that it is within the reach of all, and it will save many times its cost in doctors' bills. 25c., 50c. and $1.00 a bottle.

Back Ache
POSITIVELY CURED BY
Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.
Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:
First.
Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased vigor as a stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.
Second.
Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.
Third.
Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.
Fourth.
Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.
Fifth.
Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.
Sixth.
Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption.
When death was hourly expected, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting with the many herbs of Calcutta, he accidentally made a preparation which cured his only child of Consumption. His child is now in this country, and enjoying the best of health. He has proved to the world consumption can be positively and permanently cured. The doctor now gives this recipe free, only a ring two three-cent stamps to pay expenses. This herb also cures Night Sweats, Nausea at the Stomach, and will break up a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia, naming this paper.

like a man and do your duty, and from this hour you shall be free." Prince fought with his master until the surrender of Burgoyne, and came home a free man.

SULLIVAN'S GRAVE.

A hundred steps from the site of that pulpit under which he buried the captured powder is the grave of General Sullivan. A little to the side is the house in which he lived and died. Brave soldier, wise and learned councillor, he was member of the Continental Congress, judge, attorney general and governor of his state. His father and mother were emigrants from Ireland—the father descended from the chieftain of a once powerful sept and himself engaged in the service of the Pretender. He was a man of excellent education, and for many years taught school in the towns hereabout. Of the mother it is told that a fellow passenger jocosely asked of her on the passage across, "And what do you expect to do by going over to America?"

"Do?" says she, "why, raise governors for them."

She made good her word, for, of her children then unborn, John became governor of New Hampshire; James was successively judge, attorney general and governor of Massachusetts; and of her grandchildren one, Samuel Wells, was governor of Maine; another, Joseph Wells, was lieutenant governor of Illinois; and yet another, John Sullivan Wells, was member from New Hampshire for many years in the senate of the United States.

Of General John Sullivan many traditions are extant here. When a young man he first announced his intention of practising law in this village—there were then but two lawyers in the entire colony—the citizens, fearful of litigation, held a town meeting and declared that he must leave the place. The young fellow sent a word back again they might try to make him, whereupon they gathered about his house, a hundred or more. From an upper window he made them the offer that he would meet any one of their number in a fair fight; if he was whipped he would leave the town forthwith, if he whipped he was to stay. The gage was accepted; the battle was fought, and John Sullivan lived to be the morning famous citizen of the village. He amassed a handsome fortune, but it was spent in his country's service, and he died very poor. * * *

A maple its leaves now turned to a burning red, stands on the grave of the soldier whose prompt foresight saved us from disastrous defeat at Bunker Hill. In a little while the limbs of the tree will be bleak and bare. In the summer the green will come again; but surely this is not a fitting monument to the man who struck the first blow for our common liberty.

The oldest friends are to-day the staunchest friends of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. They have proven its great worth in all cases of coughs, colds, hoarseness, tickling in the throat, irritation of the bronchial tubes and lungs, etc.

The loss of the Mechanics' bank of Newark, N. J., through its scoundrelly cashier, is now estimated at $2,600,000.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

Earl Dunraven was arrested under a capias in Caledonia, N. S., last week, for shooting moose without a license.

Charles Cosgrove!

Who has not been able to attend to his business for years, was interviewed by our reporter yesterday, and says: For years I was troubled with Brights disease of the kidneys. The doctors gave me up. Through an eastern friend I obtained a bottle of Sulphur Bitters. I took five bottles and now I am almost well. Keith sells them.—San Francisco Call.

Two conductors of the Wisconsin Central railroad are under arrest, and twelve others have been suspended, for conspiracy to defraud the company on passenger fares.

The Results of Necessity.

What the ancients suffered for the want of knowledge in medical science, can only be appreciated by contrasting the vast amount of suffering cured and pain alleviated in modern times, by the use of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases. Its introduction was characterized by the necessary withdrawal of a score or more of illusive, quack nostrums, whose evil effects have left living monuments to denounce them. Thus is exemplified the proverb, necessity is the mother of invention.

Policeman Smith attempted to arrest a negro cotton thief at Union Springs, Ga., Saturday night. The thief cut Smith's throat, and fled. Parties are pursuing the murderer with bloodhounds.

Put on a Dr. Holman's Liver Pad, the best stomach and liver regulator in the world. It insures a sound stomach, good digestion, pure blood, and perfect nerve action.

Jeff Davis, repeatedly convicted at Abbeyville, S. C., of the murder of George Franklin and his sister, has been acquitted on a new trial. The day for his execution was fixed nine times, and he was nine times respited, twice on the scaffold, with the rope around his neck.

During life, to be happy, we must be healthy and protect ourselves from coughs and colds. They are the halters that lead to untimely graves. Adamson's Botanic Balsam cures every time. Price, 35 and 75 cts. Trial size, 10 cts.

In Whitfield county, Georgia, Sunday, Mr. York shot and killed his son Thomas. They cropped together, and some bad feeling had arisen between them. The old man fled, and has not been heard of since.

"Peace hath her victories," etc., and General A. T. Sharpe, of Ottawa, Kansas, so says the Republican, of that city, has found more substantial benefit for severe muscular rheumatism, by using St. Jacobs Oil, than from any other substance he ever tried.

BOATING IN A FOG.

Six gentlemen of this city were down river on the 30th ult., and started to return about sundown, having at the time a light breeze. When about half-way between Whalesback and Fort point a dense fog shut in, making the night quite dark, notwithstanding the moon was high in the heavens; at the same time the wind died away, and the "white ash breeze" had to be brought into requisition, much to the disgust of the excursionists, any one of whom would rather sail two miles than row one. Picking their way cautiously through the numerous coasting vessels in the lower harbor, and more than once having to pull sharply or back water to avoid getting athwart hawse of some craft, the navigators finally raised Kittery point, and then the U. S. S. Plymouth, and from the latter a departure was taken for Clark's island. After pulling what was thought to be about long enough to reach the objective point, a discussion was had as to where the boat was bound to, anyway. One man was certain she was going up Spruce creek, while another was equally certain that she was in behind Clark's island; but just then the ripple of the water on the beach was heard, and pulling for it the party found themselves on the Newcastle shore, exactly abreast of Clark's island.

Coasting up as far as the breakwater cove, a course was shaped from there for Seavey's island, in order to avoid the evil-named point, and after pulling about fifteen minutes without seeing anything but fog, all hands stopped to listen, when the boat was found to be close aboard of Pull-and-be-d——d buoy, the swash and gurgle of the tide as it rushed by it being distinctly heard, though nothing could be seen. Turning the boat so as to bring the noise astern, there was another good spell at the oars and then another stop to listen, when there was the confounded buoy again, this time right ahead! A third attempt to beat the buoy in the race up river was made, at the end of which the bow oarsman remarked, as all hands ceased pulling to listen, "By jingo! if here isn't that blessed buoy right off the starboard beam!"

All this time the moon and the Whalesback fog-horn had been behaving in as erratic a manner as the buoy; one moment the moon would show out ahead for a second or two, a minute later it would be exactly astern, and its next appearance would be broad off one bow or the other; while the sound of the fog-horn would seem to come now from down the harbor, then from Market square, and again from Kittery or some other unexpected quarter. If the things had only kept in one place, as was proper, the boatmen would have got along well enough.

A light air now sprang up, and it was decided to pull dead to windward until the land was raised, if the breeze would last long enough. "If we can only keep her on a straight course she's bound to fetch up somewhere," sagely observed the helmsman; "give way good, while the wind lasts," and away went the boat at a lively rate, this time probably on a straight line, or somewhere near it. But only a dozen or two strokes had been given when the man in the bow, who was backing up his oar so as to aid in keeping a lookout, roared "Hold the boat! back water! here's a thundering old wharf close aboard, right in our way—and there's a house, too."

The man who had located the boat behind Clark's island when she was at Newcastle insisted that this new landfall was "Charley Gray's island," but the rest of the party recognized the old wharf as the one on Goat island, partly torn down by the schooner Mary S. Hontvet a year or more ago. "We've got past that 'blessed buoy,' anyway," thankfully remarked the helmsman, "and it's a mighty short way from shore this boat will go again this night, if I know it;" and after taking a drink of water all around, and lighting their pipes, the navigators crept along shore all the rest of the way to their wharf, where they arrived between seven and eight o'clock, after being about three hours on the passage from Whalesback to town, with the tide in their favor all the way.

—Our ancestors, the monkeys, were not so ignorant after all. They were all educated in the higher branches.

Mr. Wm. Nowell on Monday evening resigned his position as a member of the Portsmouth police force, and on Tuesday morning went to Boston, where we are informed he has accepted a more lucrative situation with Mr. Thomas S. Nowell, also formerly of this city. Officer Nowell, during his continuance on the force, which has lasted for several years, has never made a great deal of noise; but he has been a faithful and efficient public servant, though a quiet one, and is endorsed by his superiors in the department as having been "as good an officer as there was on the force, and good enough for any force." We wish him luck in his new departure.

Plans and estimates for the alteration and modernizing of the fronts of the stores occupied by Wm. P. Walker and Henry Leveen, on Market square, are being made.

A novel sight in the centre of the city is three large stacks of salt hay on the marsh near the south millpond—or what was the south millpond before the mill was knocked away.

Capt. Rackett arrived from Portland on Tuesday to take charge of the schooner Cocheco, recently sold to Portland owners; she will go on the railway at Kittery to be recalked and receive a general overhaul before starting for her new hailing port.

Messrs. Anderson & Junkins, builders, on Tuesday commenced work on the cellar of the double-tenement house which they are to build on the corner of Islington and Brewster streets for Mr. Charles E. Walker.

Price of Milk.

WE understand the milkmen of the city have come to an agreement among themselves to charge their customers six cents a quart for milk, commencing Nov. 1. They do this in consequence of the increase in the prices of provisions generally and the greater cost of production in the winter season. This is the price in other cities.
